POETRY

"The Last Man."

NOT BY THOMAS CAMPBELL.

I dreamed a dream the other night,
When everything was hushed and still,
Which made each hair stand straight with fright,
Stiff as the porcupine's last quill.
My thought that pettiecoats had grown
To such a vast and monstrous size,
That there was room for both men and women—
And none for man—beneath the skies.

The boast and every creeping thing
Had died. The flowers bloomed no more,
The grass and tender barbs of spring
Were withered on the desert shore;
Ten million leagues of emptiness
Stretched over like a funeral pall;
And on the cold and cheerless scene
The sun's warm rays could never fall.

On Ararat's cloud-curtained peak
The last was stood with pelted face,
Sick, trembling, weary, worn and weak,
Sad remnant of a smothered race.
In vain—alas! poor man! in vain—
His footsteps sought that rest of old.
For clouds of skirts sent him down the plain,
And hid the mountain in their fold.

Still bigger grew those spheres of white,
Until they reached the summit high,
And streamed above the wrecked weight,
Like snowy banners in the sky.
The man looked on the frightful place,
"Make way for petticoats!" he cried;
And plunging down the dark abyss,
Made way for petticoats—and died.

SUT LOVENGOOD.

"Sets Up with a Gal—One Pop Bailey."

By the light of a campfire after a hunter's supper, enjoyed with a hunter's appetite, I am reading aloud Elizabeth Barrett's description of a kiss—

"A ring of amethyst
I could not wear here plainly in my sight
Than the first kiss. The second passed in height
The first, and sought the forehead, and half missed,
Falling upon my hair."

"No, Sut, do you?"

"By grary, I doz. She dodged. They'll all do it, and it's powerful persuasive trick of thejrs, it is. A poor feller is bad cuuf off at sith times, my how, without the soltful pasts a movin' his target, arter he's done pulled his trigger. And sides dat, I say."

"Let me tell you somethis' a heap on the pint. You an' know—everybody doz—that besides being a natural devil, chem jrs are sly critters. I is an awkward as a lefthanded foot adze, with an injun rubber helve, when I is among the sjunsun folks. There's Rissa Ostin, for instance, she is jus' mad about. Its a jury that must be gone through with, if you like pease better nor you do a treshly grubbed bald head; yet somehow I allus gets mixed to make a maxum of the jury—the kiss and now and then the gal, every time jis' takes the fust! Jedice Lynch knows I don't set much store by the article, no how. Hits sorter like hot soup, not very fattenin'—jist a forounnin shadow over vittals, that's all. But the women folks seem to think its somethin' worth fightin for—so must sorter 'let on" you know, or thar'd never be a mouthful of sweet milk about the house. They'd 'thunder aley" it afore it was strained.

"I hearn Tilda Hood, a storekisthe gal, with high heels and a fringed fan, say that, when Doctor Bogg's feller hit fell like as though a hummin' bird, as big as a speckled hen, wer playing a stream of wild honey down her throat, about the size of a wooted bell cord, scented with bargamount and sparkin with spangles, outif she need a rousing big hoop-skirt in the sky, made of rainbows, and heard a mockid bird a whistlin Fisher's hornpipe in her nose, and that she wouldn't a hollered if she could. Well, maybe she wouldent. Sham story or no, folks has some mity queeus ways, anyhow. Denizatte Snodgrass, a home made, natral gal, built out of live meat and blood, an' hair, an' sich, arter first fightin me all over the yard, west and told it—that I kissed like flogging in a poor, flanky slab over raw beef agin a stone chimley. Hit stunck flat and smelt fresh. That ar Snodgrass gal is too durned smart to be real healthy anybhw, and her kissin is no better than any other gal's, what keeps thar mouth wiped. I kin kiss and fly loose as slick as she ken, dad rabbit er.

Now, jist to show you what a perokin' great lummox I is, I'll tell you all what happened to a right peart gal named Pop Bailey. I wer a settin up with her one night at her house, and she wer in a real expectant frame over mind from the way she kept on a sighin' and a lookin in the fire. Her fat wholesome old mammy had left her a sself asleep, leanin back agin the chimley jamb, her pipe hat fell in her bosum and the stem stuck out like the end of a gun arter a volley, while the cat played with her yarn ball on the hath.

T-Thinks, I, I'd best indulge right now. So I began to take an off hand sight at Pop's mouth, well ar I could by the light ove the emberser. Jist as soon as she seed me bowin my nails, up she got and sot a pot ore tye bominy, that were a purtyin sot simmerin in the corner, square in front ove the pile ove embers; saying, "Thar, now, I reckon maybee you'll bile." Then she sot herself back in her chair, crossed her hands, and sot up my target again, purfectly fair for me to shoot, she pretendin to be in a doze. Bile, tne devil. The weitful jinjer. She'd not bile hominy pot so as to cast a big shadder all over her face, and that's what spiled my aim.

Ah! Lordy, boys, how they all dos love a bile of shypess! Well, when I shot that I had a real fine sight, jist about a short hinch below the mark, I pulled trigger. I must do her the justis to say that she dident dodge a bit, for she knew a deuced sight, you know, but still I hit her in a thicket of curls, twixt the eye an' year, greazin my snout slick with old hogs fat. I wiped off the scent ove bit as well as I could on my sleeve, and listened to hear if the old somen still snored. I wer feared to look round, lest Pop must wake up, you know, an' see my target. I foun when I got my bluzzin years sorter quieted, that she wer asnorin—that is, if you'd call horse snortin if a copper still snorin. So I fixe up for another shot, and don't you believe? I hit her on the throat this time, and her a sleepin calm and still as a baby—and hit sounded like throwin a pole ove an ox fit into a tub pre sow slop. Ded shave me boys! I warn't stone blind for a moment, and when I did come to see, the room were full of lightnin' bugs, a hummin like bees, and my legs wer asleep. Pop fairsy flounced out ov the chair, and tuck up the ladder to bed, so sure that she smashed her head afore her head got into the loft, she turned round on the rungs, with her years flat on her nabk, and her eyes as green as bottle. Pop says she in a voice cut into "If I had a blind mule that undent find its own stable door at two trials, I'd jist cut its dad blasted throat so I would." Then she slowly flashed out of sight, and about the time I hearn heard her empty shoes drap hard on the floor I found on I was setting up with a hominy pot. I stuffed a power to find out next who I was and what wer the matter with whoever I might be. The woman's lais, that hung down on my side ove the chair, were scenin ly spinnin round so fast that her foot looked like a wheel, and I'll swar I heard it hum.

"Presently, in comes the old man from hunting, with a yearlin deer slung on his back, and a rifle gun on his shoulder that I tho't had about twenty-nine barrels. His stompin, that stunn all ove his feet waked the old woman up. So drawin her pipe out ove her buzzun, like it wer a bowie knife, she axed him, 'Didee you—shot at—once or twice, awhile ago, old man?' He never answered her, but taking a stool sot down close by, and at me, he said, 'Why, you blasted, hungry looking gallinipper, what have you been doin? Been a spoonin in Moll's hominy, hain't you?'

"Pop hollered down, 'Oh! no pap, if you wer to take the lef off, and hold a match, I could show you the place on the spoon into the pot twixt this and Christmas, and if he did he'd fetch it out empty. I wish if you ain't too tired, pap, that you'd jist tell him so, for I sorter come to myself at tuis, and midnight as it wer, I walked two miles to git to a still house. I wer powerfully tuck down with a bad feel—and in the matter a whole Sundhy's study, an at last the idear struck me how to make a centre shot, every pop, and I hain't made sra gal mad since—that I hain't.

"How do you manage Sut—sneak up on your target, as you call it?"

"N——no, not adzacly. I jist makes a tuch out ov myself, and then gets 'em do all the shootin. I tell you boys, I likes the plan, for besides that hain all dead sure aim I think the flimsy track tastes better than does you go arter it yourself. You say they jist keep comin in a little cluster, and a little closter—thar eyes hair hurt, with a 'you ain still now' sort of a look, and as they fasten to you, they finishes shettin 'em. Then when they hears the report, they blares 'em wide open wakin 'em up, you die Quaker, as plain as thar tongue could, 'Why, what upon the face ov the yearth was that' Then, boys, is the tickish time with you, for you ain't very tearful how you kerries yourself, they'll fall into spitin' and scratchin' immegantly, and they'll cross hair your snout with their nails, a heap quicker nor a cat could with a wooden clothe pin sprung on her tail. Powerful provokin critters an wimmen, powerful provokin indeed. I gits riled, sarten, cos, the, jist they leave a good taste in a man's mouth, sometimes. Don't they? Ha! ha!—Now watch me cut the pigeon wing in these yere ashes."

Mistaken Advertising.

Upon this topic a Chicago paper offers some very sensible suggestions to the business public. The remarks are called forth by a letter received from a subscriber, asking for the address of a reputable commission firm doing business in that city and dealing largely in musical instruments. This firm were extensive advertisers, but had always advertised in what is very properly called the spasmodic fashion, and hence her business much too common everywhere. Many advertisers seem to regard an occasional card of more than ordinary length and strength as more efficacious than a standing advertisement. They forget that the only object of advertising is to cause names to be indelibly associated with their business. Or, if they have this end in view, their practice is inconsistent with their motives. If it be of advantage to advertise a month, it is certainly more advantageous to advertise weekly, and reasoning syllogistically, the fairly logical inference is irresistible. The latter is like the fitful lightning, whose occasional flashes always arrest attention, but as quickly pass away and are forgotten; while the former is the faithful sunlight, ever present to warm, invigorate and fructify. An enterprising merchant, who would permit his daily newspaper to go to press for one I year without carrying his name, place of business and character of his merchandise before readers, would hold himself guilty of a gross and unpardonable neglect of his own interests. Yet, another merchant who allows thousands during the period of a month, is proportionately neglectful. The advertiser who favors the spasmodic system make that system nearly if not as expensive to himself and profitable to the newspaper as the steady, persistent—keeping before the public. Referred to, but the house that should year after pursue the latter course would enjoy a steady growth that would sustain the wisdom of the course and the waste of the other.

Deathbed Sermon.

We clip the following which is going around among our exchanges. It is a fearful warning to those who love the almighty dollar now-a-days better than they do the Lord, although their outward professions of love for Christianity is great. It is a sad lesson which it teaches.

"A gentleman died last week at his residence in one of the up town fashionable streets of New York. He was $11,000,000. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, in excellent standing, a good husband and thrifty citizen. On his death-bed, lingering long, he suffered with great agony of mind, and gave continual expressions to his remorse for what his conscience to him had been an ill-spent life. 'Oh! if I could only live my years over again. Oh! if I could only be spared for a few years longer, I would willingly give all my wealth! I have amused myself in time. It is a life devoted to money-getting that I regret. It is it which weighs me down and makes the pillow of the lifesufferer!" Just ere, he came endeavored to sooth him, but he turned his face to the wall. "You have never prepared my avaricious spirit," he said, to the minister. "You have called it a wise economy and foresthought, but I now know that riches have been a severe curse to my poor soul!" In this sad state of mind, and it must not be supported in any spirit of charity either, but because you feel it necessary to support it. The local press is the power that moves the people.

MAY AND DECEMBER.

The Marriage of the Venerable Zadoc Pratt and the Pretty Miss Grimm—A Grandmother's Daughter and Bride in one Day.

FROM THE NEW YORK SUN, NOV. 17.

The Hon. Zadoc Pratt, ex-member of Congress from Green county, and one of the millionaires of the interior of this State, was recently joined in wedlock to the pretty Miss Grimm, accomplished daughter of the late Francis Grimm, Esq., of this city. The nuptials were privately celebrated in Prattsville, Green county, the residence of the groom.

The fair young bride was tastefully dressed in blue silk, made after the prevailing style, and received numerous compliments on her modest and pretty appearance.

Col. Pratt, the happy groom, is widely known throughout the Union. He was born in Stephentown, Rensselaer county, October 30, 1790. He commenced his career in life without means, but by industry and perseverance has gained an immense fortune. Devoting his attention to tanning, he attained eminent success in that branch of business, and his name still ever is associated with Prattsville and that vast tannery, where, previous to closing it in 1846, he had tanned more than a million sides of leather. He was elected to Congress in 1836, and labored successfully for the public good. His career in Congress will be widely known throughout the Union. In the reduction in postage, his plans for the new Post office building at Washington, and the Bureau of Statistics, which owes its origin to him. Colonel Pratt has been a widower for a number of years. He has now renewed his youth, in a fortunate choice for the blind time, and we will have the best wishes of all who know him for his happiness and prosperity in the new relation.

Miss Grimm, who has thus become an "old man's darling," is well deserving the good fortune that has befallen her in becoming a grandmother, mother and bride in one day, for she is the mistress of an estate estimated at several millions of dollars. For the last two years she, who is now Mrs. Zadoc Pratt, has been wholly dependent upon her own resources for a livelihood. A woman of rare independence, good abilities, and commendable industry, she exercised her talents, and compelled to put forth never involved the sacrifice of personal dignity. With being a member of the Soroosis she herself has practically illustrated female independence by actually supporting herself with her own hands.—She has been for three years past connected with the Ladies' Field and Farm," the well-known agricultural and sporting paper, as an employe in one of the mechanical departments.—She has charge of the office of issue faithfully—and leaves to enter upon her new sphere with the best wishes of all former associates. She falls modestly and gracefully into her new position, and now drives her pony phaeton with the same facility and ease that she formerly manifested in folding newspapers.

The Value of Cheerfulness.

One who has thought deeply and well upon the sources of human happiness, says that there is no greater every virtue than cheerfulness. This quality of mind among men is like sunshine in the day, or gentle, refreshing moisture to parched herbage. Its presence always lies diffuses itself, and communicates the happy spirit that inspires it. The sourest temper must sweeten in the atmosphere of continuous good humor. As will might fog, and cloud, and vapor, hope is cling to the sun illumined landscape, as the blues and moroseness to combat jovial speech or exhilarating laughter. Be cheerful, boys. There is no path but will be easier travelled, no load but will be lighter, no shadow on heart or brain but will lift in the presence of a determined cheerfulness.

Many a child goes astray, not because there is a want of prayer or virtue at home, but simply because home lacks sunshine. A child needs smiles as flowers need sunbeams. Children look little beyond the present moment. If a thing pleases them they are apt to seek it; if it displeases they are prone to avoid it. If home is the place where frowns are more and words harsh, and fault-finding is ever in the ascendant, they will spend as many hours as possible elsewhere. Let every father and mother, if they would be happy. Let them look happy. Let them talk to their children, especially the little ones, in such a way as to make them happy.

Cheerfulness is an excellent working quality, imparting great celicity to the character. As a bishopsaid, "Temper is nine-tenths of Christianity," so are cheerfulness and diligence nine-tenths of practical wisdom. They are the life and soul of success, as well as happiness. Perhaps the very highest, purest, most exalted cheerfulness, is manly working energy, confidence, and every other good quality mainly depend upon it.

The Heart.

The effect of everything that touches the heart is multiplied by the intensity of the heart's own change. Heart, also, it is that it never wearies. Let me remind you of the work done by the hearts in a day. A man's total upward work, his whole effect upon the world, in twenty-four hours, has been reckoned at about three hundred and fifty foot-tons. That may be taken as a good, hard day's work. During the same time the heart has been working at the rate of one hundred and fifty pulses of a day and night could be piled into a great block, that there would be enough to throw a ton of iron one hundred and twenty feet into the air. And yet the heart is never worn, never tired, never deadened after but feasible labors, few of us are hold a pulse, even at sun's length without, after a few minutes, dropping it. But a healthy heart, and many an unhealthy heart, too—though sometimes you can tell in the evening, by its stroke, that it has been vexed during the day, that it has been pained, that it has been tired, that turmoil and worries of life—goes on beating through the night while we are asleep, and, when we awake in the morning, we find it at work, fresh, as if it had only just begun to beat. It does this because upon each stroke of work there follows a period, a brief but a real period of rest, because the next stroke which comes is but the natural sequence of that rest, and made to match it; because, in fact, each beat is, in force, in scope, in character, in everything, the simple expression of the heart's own energy and state.—Appleton's Journal.

The Oldest Relic of Humanity.

The oldest relic of humanity extant is the skeleton of one of the earlier pharaohs, encased in its original robes and ornaments, and bearing hieroglyphics age, which was deposited about eighteen or twenty months ago in the British Museum, and is justly considered of the most valuable of its archæological treasures. The lid of the coffin which contained the royal mummy was inscribed with the name of its occupant, Pharaoh Mycherinus who succeeded the help of the builder of the Great Pyramid, several centuries before Christ. The Monarch, whose crumbling bones are the sacred tenements of a now exciting the wonder gazers in London, reigned in Egypt before Solomon was born, and only about eleven centuries or so after Mizraim, the grandson of Noah and the first of the Pharaohs had been carried to his tomb. Eleven centuries! Why, the deluge would scarcely have been chiffrage when this man of the early world lived, moved, and had his being.

The Last Time.

There is ever something solemnizing in the thought that it is the last time. The parting kiss, the last look, the last word before parting—the last look of life. All these acquire an importance, and interest vastly beyond any which have gone before them, and of themselves. The sun shone bright before his setting, and the farewell word was some ordinary one, of no real weight, the parting kiss was one which we would willingly otherwise have forgotten. But no noon day splendor was so cherished in memory as that, blazing heart that disappeared in an sparkle of gold over the western hill, and no one tone in all our converse dwelt on the ear so long and so clear, as that one parting word which we now shudder so often recalled as that smile of resignation of the pallid dame from whence life was taking its flight.

☞ Hon. Cassius M. Clay, who has been absent from this country for several years as Minister to Russia, is expected in a few days. He left this country fully imbued with the principle of liberating the negro. We hope he returns in favor of liberating the white man.

☞ We have had the pleasure of several visits in the last week from Mr. Jas. C. Barkley, editor of the Chillicothe (Mo.) Constitution. He is at present on a visit to his relatives in Fleming and Fayette counties. We remember him of old as being one of our schoolmates. He reports his paper in a prosperous condition. Long may he live to enjoy its prosperity. Book us for an X.

Hon. Thomas C. McCreery.

The most important matter that will come before the Legislature to assemble on Monday week, is the election of a U. S. Senator in place of Mr. McCreery, whose term will expire on the 4th of March next. There are several prominent names already mentioned in connection with the position, any of whom would do the State honor at Washington should the Legislature choose either of them. Mr. McCreery who holds the place now, was only elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James Guthrie, dec'd. He is strongly endorsed by middle and southern Kentucky for a re-election. We are inclined to the opinion that Mr. McCreery is entitled to another election, from the fact that he has not had time to do himself justice in the Senate. He should be allowed to go at least one more term.—The short time he has served us in the capacity of Senator, he has come fully up to the standard of statesmanship and patriotism which marked the Senate Chamber in the days of the nation's greatness. He is honest, just and true. A noble specimen of the true Kentucky man. A christian gentleman and possessed of rare abilities, and as an orator he is said to be without an equal in the State. The most beautiful trait in his character is that he has never been a politician. He is no politician, he is therefore no trickster. A farmer by occupation—he is fresh from the people—and therefore understands the interests of the people better than any other gentleman mentioned in connection with the place. In view of all the circumstances we think that his selection is the very best that could be made, and we hope he may be chosen. If, however, the Legislature should choose to elect Gov. Stevenson, Hon. R. H. Stanton, or any other of the distinguished gentlemen mentioned in connection with the office, we shall not grumble. The above is only our opinions and we only express themsbecause it is our right.

Treasurer's Report.

We are indebted to James W. Tate, Esq., State Treasurer, for a copy of his annual Report from October 11th, 1868, to October 10th, 1869. It exhibits the total receipts and expenditures during the past fiscal year, and also the receipts and disbursements as they occurred monthly during the same period. The general balance sheet shows as follows:

Amount to credit Revenue Department 10th October, 1869.	$201,282,52
Am't to credit Sinking Fund proper 10th October, 1869.....	356,783,42
Amount credit School Fund 10th October, 1869.....	63,951,14
Total amount in Treasury 10th October, 1869	$622,017,08

Frankfort Yeoman.

☞ The following are the names of the gentlemen who have been mentioned for the position of Speaker of the Kentucky House of Representatives at the coming session of the Legislature. Hons. Geo. R. McKee; of Garrard; Robt. T. Giss, of Henderson; J. A. McKenzie, of Christian; Elijah C. Phister, of Mason; Col. James S. Christian, of Wayne; George W. Silvertooth, of Hickman; Judge Bunch, of Louisville; Robt. Simmons, of Kenton; and Jos. H. Lewis, of Barren.

The Frankfort Yeoman.

The proprietors of this reliable Democratic paper announce that, as usual, they will issue a daily paper during the session of the Legislature, and offer good inducements to subscribers for the coming year to their regular, Weekly and Tri-weekly editions. To such as send in subscriptions prior to the 1st of January, 1870, the paper will be sent until the 1st of January, 1871, from the receipt of same. The price of the

For the Weekly during the session	50
For the Tri-weekly, per annum..	5 00
Weekly, per annum.....	2 50

Annual subscribers for the Tri-weekly will receive the Daily during the session without additional charge.

The Fifteenth Amendment.

It is pretty evident that Tennessee will not adopt this infamous Amendment. It requires but one quarter of the thirty-seven States to defeat it; that is, ten. Let us see if they can be obtained.—We count for rejection, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio Kentucky, Oregon, California, Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas.—In addition, it has not been ratified by Indiana. The Constitution of the latter State requires that there shall be two-thirds of the whole number of members elected to the Legislature to constitute a quorum to transact any business whatever. When the Amendment was pretended to be adopted that number was not present, as appears from the House Journals. New York ratified it last winter, but on Tuesday, November 3, she elected a Legislature which is against it, and which will very likely pass a resolution rescinding it. As for Ohio, we are well satisfied, in our own minds, that its rejection resolution will stand. Rhode Island has not yet adopted it, although a Republican State, because it makes voters of foreigners who are not now citizens of that State. The regard of the Radicals for the negro, may, however, overbalance their hatred of the foreigner, and thus they may adopt the Amendment.

If Mississippi and Texas hold out firm, this odious proposition is certain to be defeated, despite all the frauds that have been resorted to to procure its ratification. The result will apparently depend upon their action, if we admit Indiana for the Amendment.—Counting Indiana as not having ratified it, and it is beaten, even if, under military pressure, Texas and Mississippi should succumb. But, in that event, an easy method is open for rendering it a nullity. The mere proclaiming of an Amendment as a part of the Constitution does not make it such, unless it is done conformably to law. The fact that its ratification is exacted of Mississippi and Texas as a preliminary of allowing those States their constitutional privileges, and that it was applied to Virginia, which State has surrendered to this species of force, will be sufficient to defeat it before the Supreme Court, if no other reasons could be urged for that procedure. The Fifteenth Amendment is not going into the Constitution, if our Democratic friends, North and South, maintain their political integrity. The Legislatures of nearly all the States which have adopted it have done it as in the teeth of the sentiments of the people.—Cin. Enquirer.

The Income Tax.

This oppressive tax expires in 1870. If it is not again forced upon us by the action of the coming Congress we shall be relieved of it altogether. This is a consummation devoutly to be wished for. It is one of the most burdensome of all the taxes. It netted last year about $41,000,000. It is burdensome because it falls upon the mass of poor clerks, mechanics, small retail dealers, and others with small, fixed incomes, who have a small revenue upon which the tax falls. The rich millionaires do not feel it; and if largely engaged in trade and commerce, they have an opportunity, by some hocus-pocus trick of which they largely avail themselves, to escape it altogether. Let any one examine our published lists of incomes, and he will see it falls with crushing force mainly upon the middle classes, and not upon the rich. There is no necessity, even as a matter of revenue, to collect it. By dispensing with the National bank-notes, and issuing greenbacks in their stead, we can save $25,000,000, which is now given to the bankers. By taxing the bonds, say two per cent., about the same tax which other property pays, we save $40,000,000 more, making a total of $65,000,000. This is a third more than we derive from the income tax. Will not the people insist that the bank and bond tax shall be saved, rather than they themselves shall be burdened with an enormous obligation?—Enquirer.

☞ Mr. Seward is well received in Mexico, but there are intimations in some of the Mexican papers that he may design to promote the absorption of Mexico by the United States. The Mexicans need not be uneasy about his visit on any such ground as that. He was in the land-business and ready for all transactions in land-lines while Secretary of State, but he is no agent of our Government now. His land-office is closed. He has probably as little thought of swallowing as he has of being swallowed by one of her earthquakes.—Cin. Journal.

Stock Items.

The mule market during the past week has been quite active at this point, the shipments having been unusually heavy. Holders still demand high prices, not withstanding the report of a dull market in the Southern States. As we write, a drove of sixty head of mules and horses are passing along the street en route for the South.

$30,000 worth of mules were sold in Madison county week before last. Two year olds sold from $100 to $180.

Mr. Harrison, of Shelby county, sold last week, 20 two-year old mules at $150 apiece, for which he paid in February last $77 apiece.

Dr. Alfred Hurst, of Woodford, sold last week one-half of a colt by Tatler, out of a Membrino mare, to Richard West, of Scott, for $1,000. Tatler is the horse which Mr. Alexander sold last spring for $17,000.

M. C. Portman, Esq., of Lincoln, sold on Wednesday last to Caldwell & Cohen, of Boyle, forty head of two year old mules, unbroke, at $165 per head each.

Four two year old mules were sold at Atlanta, Ga., on Friday, 5th inst., for $1,400. They ran-red from a year to sixteen and a half hands high. They were well broke to either single or double harness. They were sold by W. E. Hunt, of Bowling Green, Ky., to Mr. S. P. Salter, of Macon. It is the intention of Mr. Salter to exhibit them at the forthcoming State Fair. They will undoubtedly take the premiums over any others that are likely to be there.

Lexington Observer & Reporter of Pittsburg, is shipping some fine Fayette mules to that place. The city smoke and coal dust will open its dingy eyes at one of them, for as a bystander remarked who saw it, "it is a mule is a mule." His mulership is 18 hands high, and weighs 1485 pounds."—Paris Citizen.

Great Inducements!

Subscribe For The Democrat!

In order to increase our circulation we will send the Democrat from now address from now until the 1st day of January 1871 for TWO DOLLARS. This is nearly fourteen months.

We call upon our Democratic friends throughout the county to exert themselves in our behalf. With a very little trouble each one of our subscribers can procure us another name. The amount is small and trifling and is within the reach of nearly every citizen in the county.

The flourishing condition of a county newspaper is a true indication of the county's prosperity. In fact the home paper is the mouth-piece of the people. In the proportion as we are encouraged you will be profited. It is your duty to stand by us and patronize us liberally. We desire to make the DEMOCRAT second to no paper in the State, and will do so if our friends will only help us a little. Fleming county can support a larger paper than the Democrat, and just as soon as our subscription list will justify us we will enlarge it.

We offer the following inducements to new subscribers, the names to be accompanied by the cash:

One Subscriber 1 Year	-	$2 00
Two do "	-	3.75
Three do "	-	5.50
Four " "	-	7.25
Five " "	-	9.00
Ten " "	-	17.50
Twenty " "	-	35.00

And larger Clubs in proportion.

No Clubs at these rates will be received only for Cash.

We will furnish to new subscribers the Democrat and Demorest's Magazine for $4.50;

We will also furnish to new subscribers the Democrat and the Farmer's Home Journal for $4.25.

Try, friends, and get us some new names. Call on your neighbors and speak a word for us. We will do as much for you. Every little will help us a great deal and it will not injure any one pecuniarily. We earnestly hope that our friends will do us this act of kindness and we shall not be ungrateful or unthankful.

Removal of the Federal Capitol.

Hon. Garrett Davis has written a letter to Gov. Stevenson in which he earnestly opposes the removal of the Federal Capital to St. Louis. We regret that our limited space prevents our publishing the letter. We endorse the letter fully, and can see no necessity whatever for the agitation of the subject. The establishment of the Capital in that city would not materially benefit St. Louis, and would not contribute to the purity of Congressional legislation. No large commercial city should desire the Capital or should have it. The danger would be that they exert too much influence upon legislation. Besides, the removal of the Capital would entail upon the people, an outlay of not less than one hundred million of dollars, which is altogether unnecessary. Mr. Davis' views on the subject are sensible and statesmanlike, and will meet the approval of the people.—Paris Citizen.

Law of Newspapers.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place to which they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bills and give due notice to discontinue.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice should always be given of the removal.

5. The Courts have decided, that refusing to take a paper from the office, or removing and leaving it unpaided for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1869.

Local Matters.

Mr. A. T. Cox. is authorized to act as our Agent, in Maysville.

WANTED.—A boy to learn the printing business, about 12 or 14 years of age. Must come well recommended and possessed of energy and industry. A boy from the country preferred. None will be taken for a less time than two years. Apply at this office.

JOB WORK.—We are now getting up some very fine Jobs at this office, at prices as low as any office outside of Cincinnati. We ask our friends to call and see samples and give us their orders. We will do the work cheap.

CARDS.—Wedding and visiting cards printed at the shortest notice and in the most fashionable style. Call and give us an order.

SALT.—Kenner keeps a large quantity of salt on hand.

EGGS.—This article is very scarce in our market at present.

WANTED.—A T. McDonald advertises for butter and eggs to-day. See his card.

HOGS.—Large droves of hogs pass through town daily. This looks like business.

RAILROAD.—A Maysville paper says that work on the railroad bridge over Limestone creek was commenced last week.

APOLOGETIC.—We got knocked a little out of joint by taking holiday thanksgiving, this accounts for a slight decrease in our reading matter this week. Please excuse us.

HORSES SOLD.—Mr. M. A. Trimble sold two fine saddle Horses on last Monday for $180 and $175. Mr. T. started south yesterday with a drove of mules.

ANOTHER.—We attended another supper at H. C. Ashton & Co's one night last week. The cooking was splendid and the eating good as—usual.

HUNTING.—Everybody and his neighbor went hunting Thanksgiving day. Much murder was committed in the rabbit family.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—Last Thursday was Thanksgiving day. The closed doors of our business houses was a token of its observance by our citizens. Business was entirely suspended.

FINE HOGS.—Mr. Dennis Bell, weighed twelve logs at our town scales last week that averaged three hundred and sixty-four pounds! Some pork, that.

TO THE LADIES.—Any of the ladies who wish to take "Godey's Lady's Book," or "Demorest's Magazine," or any other magazine will do well to call on us. We can furnish it for less than the usual subscription price.

CHASE, DIMMITT & COLLINS.—This Maysville firm have been shipping a large quantity of lumber to this place and still continue to do so. We hope they may continue to do a landsome business in this section. They are an enterprising set of gentlemen. See their card.

CHINA PALACE.—When you go to Maysville do not fail to drop in at R. Alberts China Palace. It is the biggest thing to be seen in that city. Mr. Albert has just imported a large stock of toys and we advise our friends to call on him when they visit Maysville.

JAS. A. ANDREWS & CO.—We notice among the fresh arrivals at J. A. Andrews & Co. fresh buckwheat, hominy, hominy, mercant, corn meal, coffee, sugar &c. This is the best grocery in town to get anything you want. Call and try them. They always sell a good article and warrant it.

BEE HIVE, No. 10.—The Bee Hive swarmed last Monday. One hundred and six dollars and twenty cents in Greenbacks passed over the counter in cash that day. Look at his advertisements and see the reasons.

MISTAKEN.—Our friends frequently send us orders for miscellaneous newspapers. We do not keep them for sale. Send your orders to Jos. I. Dorsey, P. M., and they will be attended to.

LEASED.—Messrs. C. L. Stanton & Co., of Maysville, have leased the Upper Blue Lick Springs, for a term of years. They design pushing the sale of the water to all parts of the United States.

THANKS.—We were invited to no less than a half dozen Thanksgiving dinners, to which we did not go. We preferred to stay at home and put up with "pinching fare," which means very little and thanks. We tender our sympathies to those who invited us and they may thank us that we did not come.

TERRIBLE.—We omitted to mention last week that the "mouth piece" of one Hiram Walker came in contact with a "boulder" which flew up of the hands of Alfred Harrison. It is hardly necessary to state that Walker swallowed two of his own teeth.

IN TOWN.—Our friend Wm. P. Stockwell of the house of Wm. Glenn & Son of Cincinnati, was in town last week. He called to see us but we were absent at the time.

COUNTY COURT.—Last Monday was a cold, wet, disagreeable day, but notwithstanding a very large crowd of people were in town—business was brisk and everything moved lively. A good deal of stock was offered for sale and some very good sales were made. Money circulated quite freely. Take it all in all it was the busiest day that we've seen in Fleming during the present year. Our subscription list increased considerably.

A QUESTION SETTLED.—The editor of the Louisville Journal is the author of the article on "thanksgiving" which appeared last week.—We hope this will lay at rest the rumor that it was from the pen of C. E. Jones. Mr. J. had nothing to do with its construction whatever.

KISSING.—Craddock of the Paris Intelligencer says that editors in Bourbon country are allowed to kiss all the brides. If we were in undertaker that job here we would expect a six shooter to be drawn on us in five minutes. Don't come here Craddock, 'taint the fashion in Fleming.

DR. WEAVER.—We call the attention of the people in Poplar Plains and vicinity to the professional card of Dr. R. D. Weaver, who has located himself at the Plains. The Doctor is a young man of experience in his profession and from what we learn of him we can cheerfully recommend him to the public. Give him a call.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.—We call attention to the eloquent appeal of Mr. D. Regan, to be found in our advertisement columns. If you owe him for boots or shoes get ashamed of yourself and 'go and pay him.—Read his card.

FOUND.—The little girl named Castel, who has been lost from her parents, and of whom we made mention a week or so ago has been found. Her father traced her to Illinois, and there found her and brought her home.

A CARD.—We invite the especial attention of our friends in the Hillsboro neighborhood to the card of Dr. J. J. Jones, to be found elsewhere in our paper today. The Dr. has sold his interest in his drug store at Hillsboro, to his brother Dr. M. G. Jones, and will hereafter devote his entire time and attention to the practice of his profession. The Doctor is a splendid physician but the people of his town and community know him so well that anything we could say in his praise would be but a repetition of what they already know. At any rate we wish him abundant success.—Dr. M. G. Jones will continue the same business at the same old stand. Call and see him.

PERPETUAL.—A gentleman writing from the country sends us word to write opposite to his name on our subscription book the word "perpetual." We believe the gentleman in question entertains political principles the opposite of those expressed in this paper. What a rebuke this ought to be to some of our democratic friends in Fleming county who boast of their democracy and do not now or ever did take this paper. It is the duty of every democrat to take it. There are at least six hundred of you in the county that are able to take it, and it is your duty to subscribe for it at once. The gentleman we refer to takes our paper from county pride, and we thank him for his kind assistance and hope that many more who do not take our paper will come forward and do so, from the very same cause. The letter written to us, was of a private nature and we do not feel at liberty to publish his name, suffice it to say he is one the best and most influential gentlemen in the county.

ONCE A MONTH.—We are in receipt of this excellent magazine for December, published by T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia. With the opening number for 1870 the page of "Once A Month" will be enlarged, and the quantity of reading matter increased. During the year it will be liberally illustrated. One copy one year $200, three copies $5.00.—Specimen numbers 15 cents. Address T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

A SPLENDID PRIZE FOR THE LADIES!—The finest, most pleasing, and costly engraving ever published in America, to be presented as a premium to each subscriber to DEMOREST'S MONTHLY, a Magazine of practical utility in the household, a mirror of the fashions, and a literary conservator of surpassing interest and artistic excellence, acknowledged to be the Model Parlor Magazine of America.

The engraving, 28 by 35 inches, is from the original painting, entitled, THE PIC-NIC OR 4TH OF JULY.

The painting took a whole year, and is considered the finest of the entire list of numerous popular productions of Lilly M. Spencer. The engraving was the labor of four years, by three eminent artists—John Rogers, John Halpin, and Samuel Hollyer; the last named having been induced to come from Europe to America expressly to finish it. The engravers have ably seconded the successful labors of the painter. None but artists can fully appreciate the skill and labor lavished on this engraving. The general effect is very fine and impressive, and the delicate finish to the details will bear the most minute inspection. The union of line and stipple is executed with unusual ability, and their skillful combination has greatly contributed to the success of the engravers in this unsurpassed proof of their artistical genius.

The work of the engraving alone cost over seven thousand dollars, besides the cost of the copyright, and is acknowledged by competent judges the most elaborately finished large work of art ever engraved in America.

Fine copies of this magnificent Picture, on heavy plate paper, worth $10 each, are to be given as a Premium to each Subscriber to DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, Yearly Subscriptions only Three Dollars, and Ten Cents (which is to be sent with the subscription), for the postage on the engraving, (which Demorest will securely close up on a roller.)

This is certainly the largest, most liberal and splendid premium ever offered to single subscribers by any publisher, and affords, as they and economical way for any one to secure an elegant work of art, a Parlor Picture which is only next to a piano in the way of ornamentation, and a perpetual reminder of a day which ought to be cherished and held in remembrance by every true American.

The reception of this magnificent picture will take every one by surprise, and we do not venture anything in saying that $10 will not procure another that combines so much of interest and beauty.

Specimens of the Magazine, with circular giving full particulars, will be sent to any given address, post free, on receipt of 15 cents. Address, Demorest's Monthly, 838 Broadway, N. Y.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR.—"Take it all in all," says the Sunday-School Times, "this is the best magazine for children in the world. High praise, certainly, and not meant to depreciate other periodicals for the young, but a simple expression of the writer's estimate of the exceeding care, taste and ability with which THE CHILDREN'S HOUR is edited. For beauty of illustration and typography, it is certainly surpassed in this or any other country; and we see by the Prospectus for 1870, that its pictorial attractions are to exceed in beauty those of any previous year. Old and young read this magazine with delight and profit, and we know not how to speak or write in unqualified terms of praise.—The style of its articles is simple and earnest. They give, in easy forms of language, the highest truths.

Terms: $1.25 a year. Five copies for $5.00. Specimen number, 10 cents. Sewing Machines, Cabinet Organs, Dolls, Tool-Chests, Books, &c., &c., given as Premiums for Subscribers. Address T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR 1870.—The publishers of this popular family magazine have issued a Prospectus for 1870 that is full of promised excellencies and attractions; and as they have always kept their word, their readers may count on a rich dispensation of good things during the coming year. Among the original papers to be given, we notice, "Marvels of the Insect World," accompanied by ten splendid full-page illustrations "Gardening for the Ladies;" "A New American Society Novel;" "A Series of Powerfully Written Stories and Domestic Novelets;" "A Series of Temperance Tales for the Times;" "A Series of Strongly Written Articles on Woman's Work and Woman's Wages;" "A New Cookery Book," &c., &c. In the departments of Fashion and Illustration, the HOME MAGAZINE will continue to maintain its superior artistic excellence and beauty. The publishers offer rare inducements in the way of Premiums for Subscribers, such as Silver-Ware, Sewing Machines, Cabinet Organs, Books, &c.

Terms: $2.00 a year, with a large reduction for clubs. Specimen number, 15 cents. Address T. S. Arthur & Sons, Philadelphia, Pa.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—Peterson's Magazine for December is on our table in advance. It is a splendid number, with two steel engravings, mammoth fashion plate, a colored pattern in Berlin work, and nearly fifty wood cuts. We do not wonder at the immense circulation of "Peterson,"—said to be the largest in the world—for it really gives more for the money than any other. Every lady ought to subscribe for it. Its Mammoth Colored Fashion Plates are always the latest and prettiest. Its stories are the best published anywhere. In 1870, in addition to its usual quantity of short stories, Five Original Copyright Novelettes will be given, among them "The Prisoner of the Bastile," by Ann S. Stephens, "The Secret at Bartram's Holme," by Jane C. Austin, "How it Ended," by Frank Lee Benedict, &c., &c. About 1,000 pages of reading matter will be given in 1870, 12 Mammoth Fashions and 14 superb Steel Engravings. The Magazine will be greatly improved. The terms, however, will remain two dollars a year to single subscribers. To Clubs it is cheaper still, viz: four copies for $6.00, with a large engraving, (24 inches by 16,) "Our Father Who Art in Heaven," as a premium to the person getting up a club; or eight copies for $12.000, with both an extra copy of the Magazine and the engraving, as premiums. We can speak, from personal knowledge, of the beauty of this Engraving. Now is the time to get up Clubs for 1870.

Specimens of the Magazine sent gratis. Address Charles J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

How Hostetter's Bitters Cure Dyspepsia.

THE WHOLE STORY IN A NUTSHELL.

The food taken into the stomach is to convert the food into a cream-like semi-fluid, called CHYME. This is effected partly by the action of a solvent, called the gastric juice which exudes from the coating of the stomach, and partly by a mechanical movement of that organ, which churns, as it were, the dissolving aliment. The CHYME passes from the stomach into the duodenum, or entrance to the bowels, where it is subjected to the action of the bile, and the nutritious portion of it converted into a fluid called Chyle, which every-only becomes blood.

Now, it is evident that if the great solvent, the gastric juice, is not produced in sufficient quantity, or if the mechanical action of the stomach is not sufficiently lively, the first process of digestion will be but imperfectly performed. It is also clear that if the liver, which plays such an important part in changing the nourishing portion of the chyme into the vital fluid of the blood, is subjected to any unnatural condition, the second process will not be thoroughly accomplished. The result of the two failures is dyspepsia, complication with biliousness.

The remedy is which HOSTETTER'S BITTERS operate in such cases is this: they invigorate the cellular membrane of the stomach, which secrets the gastric juice, thereby insuring an ample sufficiency of the fluid to completely dissolve the food. They also act upon the nerves of the stomach, causing an acceleration of the mechanical movement necessary to reduce the food to a homogeneous mass. They also act specifically upon the liver, strengthening it, and so enabling it to produce an ample and regular supply of bile, for the purpose of converting the nutritious particles of the Chyme into Chyle, and promoting the passage through the bowels of the useless debris.

In this way, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS cure dyspepsia and liver complaint. The explanation is plain, simple, philosophical, and

THE ONLY RELIABLE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA

In the Known World.

DR. WISLAKE'S GREAT AMERICAN DYSPEPSIA PILLS and PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL are a positive and infallible cure for Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and no matter of how long standing.

They contain the secret, alonde of this dreadful disease, and exterminate it, root and branch, forever.

They alterate more in a week than any other thing can in a month.

They are noted for curing the most desperate and hopeless cases, when every known remedy has failed to effect a cure.

No form of dyspepsia or indigestion can resist their penetrating power.

Dr. Wishart's

Pine Tree Tar Cordial.

It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree, obtained, by a peculiar process, in its concentrated form. It is the most powerful medicine known for coughs, it invigorates the digestive organs and restores the appetite, it cures the distressing kidney complaints, it purifies the blood, and expels from the system the corrupt matter that generates in the blood, it also cures the worst forms of kidney affections which stops the air passages and lungs. In healing properties it is one of the irritated surfaces of the lungs and throat, penetrating to the seat of disease, destroying the germ and healing inflammation. It is the result of years of study and experiment, and is offered to the afflicted with the confidence and assurance of its power to cure the following diseases, if the directions are adhered to for a reasonable period, viz:

Consumption of the Lungs, Cough, Sore Throat and Breast, Bronchitis, Liver Complaint, Blind and Bleeding Piles, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Croup, Diptheria, &c.

A medical report, having been made by honorable collegiate diplomas, defines his entire time to the examination of patients at the office parlors. Association with him are three consulting physicians of acknowledged eminence, whose services are given in the public interest gratuitously.

This opportunity is offered by no other institution in the country.

Letters from any part of the country, seeking advice, will be promptly and gratuitously responded to.

Medicines, carefully packed, and forwarded to any place of DRAFTS OR POST-OFFICE ORDERS.

MISCELLANEOUS CARDS.

"We call the attention of our readers to the remarkable testimonials of great benefit by Dr. C. W. Roback's celebrated Scandinavian Medicines. We do not knowing them to be genuine. The great value shown in the following letters, copies of which appear below, prompts us to advise our readers to write to them, that they will give a reward of ten thousand dollars to any person who will show that any of the letters referred to are not authentic. They have been sent unsolicited, and the company have in their possession over 5000 of a similar character. Any Druggist can satisfy the most skeptical of the value of those truly wonderful Agents, Roback's Stomach Bitters, Roback's Scandinavian "Blood Purifier and Blood Pills."

The Bands of Orion.

"Canst thou loose the bands of Orion?"—Job. The three bright stars which compose the girdle or band of Orion, never change their form, they preserve the same relative position to each other, and to the rest of the constellation from year to year and from age to age. They present precisely the same appearance to us which they did to Job. No sooner does the constellation rise above the horizon, however long may have been the intervals since we last beheld it, than these three stars appear in the old familiar positions. They afford us one of the highest types of immutability in the midst of ceaseless changes. When heart sick and weary of the sentimental vagrancies we observe in this world, on whose most enduring objects and affections is written, the melancholy dooms 'passing away,' it is comfortingto look up to that bright beacon in the heavens that remains unmoved amid all the restless surges of time's great ocean. And yet, in the profound rest of these stars, there is a ceaseless motion; in their apparent stability and everlasting endurance there is a constant change. In vast course, with incomprehensible velocity, they are whirling round invisible centres, and ever passing into new relations. They appear true motion less and changeless, because of our great distance from them, just as the foaming torrent that rushes down the hillside with the speed of an arrow, and in the widest and most vigorous course, filling the air with its ceaseless shouts, appears from an opposite hill frozen by the distance into silence and rest—a form motionless, changeless glacier on the mountain side.

Wasn't Pushing Him.

Some time ago on the Sabbath, we wended our way to one of the churches, and instead of a sermon, heard an address on some missionary subject.

After the address was concluded, two beetboxes were sent round for contributions. Parson L——— was one of the takket-bearers, taking the side upon which he was. Immediately in front, and upon the next seat neighbor, gentlemanly Bill Friend Bill K——— a great mass of infinite humor and full of dry jokes. Parson L——— extended the basket and Bill slowly shook his head.

"Come, William, give us something, now," said the Parson.

Can't No it."

"Why not? Is not the cause a good one?"

"Yes, but I am not able to give anything."

"Pooh! Pooh! I know better—you must give a better reason than that."

"Well, I can't too much money; I must be just before I am generous, you know that."

"But, William, you owe God a larger debt than you owe any one else."

"That's true, Parson; but then I aint pushing me like the balance of my creditors."

The Parson's face got in rather a curious condition as he passed on.

Todhunter's Trial.

We dropped in at the examining trial of Capt. Ryland Todhunter, before Judge Graves at Lexington, on Wednesday. Being unable to remain until the examination closed, Mr. McMillan, our ex-constable, who is attending law lectures at Lexington reported for us.

The commonwealth was represented by W. P. C. Breckinridge, county attorney, and the prisoner by Beck, Huston, Hunt and Kinkead.

The evidence was mainly the dying declarations of the deceased. It appeared that Todhunter's mules had trespassed upon Robinson's corn, and after requesting Todhunter to keep them out, which not being done, R. shot one of them. On last Sunday Todhunter met Robinson on his way to church, and asked him if he shot his mules. Upon the reply that he did, Todhunter said: "You shoot where you please and I will shoot where I please," and immediately pulled his pistol and shot R.'s horse, and the same shot took effect just below the navel of R. and brought him to the ground. T. shot him twice after he was down, once in the breast and once in the side. R. had a pistol, but did not have time to pull it out. The case was continued for argument upon the question of bail, until yesterday, when the application for bail was refused.—Kentuckian.

THE COON AND THE CARPET-BAGGER.—The Baton Rouge Advocate is responsible for the following good story of the coon and carpet-bagger:

"Is that coon lively?"

"Oh yes, sir," replied the black possessor of as wild a specimen as ever made tracks in the Comite Swamps.

"Well, I want a real lively fellow; put him on that root," pointing to a lower knot of a very tall oak, and the coon went up the tree like a greased streak of lightning.

"You satisfied, boss, he's lively?"

"Well, yes; but I don't want a coon in a tree top."

The boatman looked up the tree, whistled, and scratched his head for an idea, and said: "Well, boss, dat coon am like a carpet-bagger; werry promisin' when he's down, but when he's up he aint no use to nobody."

☞ A Liverpool woman, to ascertain whether the fire in her stove was out, poured gun-powder on the embers—The fire had not gone out, but she did not the window.

"Sammy, run to the store and get some sugar." "Excuse me, ma; I'm somewhat indisposed this morning; send father, and tell him to bring a paper of tobacco along."

The Cincinnati Enquirer.

All those who have perused this sterling and influential Democratic paper, which was always good and reliable, have been struck with the marked improvements which, during the past year, have been made in it, rendering it, even, as de from its political character, one of the best family newspapers published in the United States. The paper is worthy of general circulation. We observe that its energetic proprietors have offered premiums to the amount of two thousand five hundred and seventy-five dollars, mostly in greenbacks, as a reward to those who send the largest list of subscribers to their Weekly edition. In addition to this, every subscriber will receive a copy of the Enquirer Manual, a valuable statistical work, difficult to be dispensed with by those who take an interest in political affairs. We hope to see a spirited competition among our Democratic friends for these liberal premiums.

DOTY'S WASHING-MACHINE,
LATELY MUCH IMPROVED—AND THE NEW UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER
Improved with ROWELL'S PATENT DOUBLE CONSCRIBERS, and the PATENT STOP, are now unquestionably far superior to any other washing machine ever invented, and will save their cost twice a year, by saving labor and clothes.
These who have used them give testimony as follows:
"I would not be without your washer if it could be purchased for ten times its cost if I could not get another." "I feel that we feel that we are masters of the position."—Rev. Wm. Bishop M. E. Church.
"It is worth one dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune.
"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Monday's for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.
"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer.
"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and confidence."—Rev. DR. BURGESS.
"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you my dear Sister, after a year's use, is thought more of than any article of furniture I purchased with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.
"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry, and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work, with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using this machine in dispensed with."—Wm. M. F. Round, superintendent of Infant Department of St. Catherine's Asylum, N. Y. City.
PRICES.—A Fair Offer.
Send the retail price, Washer $14, Extra Wringer $5, and we will forward either or both machines free of freight, to place where no one is selling; and we sure are we they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if, any one wishes to return the machines free of freight, upon its being delivered in good order.
We believe further our people should permit the purchaser of washing machine to handle fifty-two days in his pay, when it can be better shown personally, with the machine, its merits, than by circulars, &c. Address

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the glow and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved from usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,
