FOREIGN PERIODICALS!

REPUBLICATION OF

The London Quarterly Review,
The Edinburgh Review,
The Foreign Quarterly Review,
The Westminster Review,
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

THE above Periodicals are reprinted in N. York immediately on their arrival by the British steamer, on a beautiful clear type, on fine white paper, and are faithful copies of the originals—BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE being an exact facsimile of the Edinburgh edition.

The wide-spread fame of these splendid periodicals renders it needless to say much in their praise. As literary organs they stand far in advance of any works of similar stamp now published, while the political complexion of each is marked by a dignity, candor and forbearance not often found in works of a party character.

They embrace the views of the three great parties in England—Whig, Tory, and Radical. —"Blackwood" and the "London Quarterly" are Tory; the "Edinburgh Review," Whig; and the Westminster," Radical. The" Foreign Quarterly, is purely literary, being devoted principally to criticisms on Continental Works.

The price of the Re-prints are less than one-third of the foreign copies, and while they are equally well got up, they afford all that advantage to the American over the English reader.

TERMS.—Payment to be made in Advance.

For any 1 copy of the 4 Reviews, $3.00 pr annum
For any two, " 5.00 "
For any three, " 7.00 "
For all four of the Reviews, 8.00 "
For Blackwood's Magazine, 3.00 "
For Blackwood & the 4 Reviews, 10.00 "

CLUBBING.

Four copies of any or all of the above works will be sent to one address on payment of the regular subscription for three—the fourth copy being gratis.

☞ Remittances and communications must be made in all cases without expense to the publishers. The former may always be done through a post-master by handing him the amount to be remitted, taking his receipt and forwarding the receipt by mail, post-paid; or the money may be enclosed in a letter, post-paid, directed to the publishers.

N. B.—The postage on all these periodicals is reduced by the late post-Office law, to about one third the former rates, making a very important saving in the expense to mail subscribers.

AGUE AND FEVER.

FLETCHER'S

CELEBRATED IMPERIAL

AGUE AND FEVER OR TONIC PILLS.

THE proprietors of this invaluable remedy for Ague and Fever or Intermittent Fever, deem it unnecessary to enter into a long dissertation, relative to the disease for the radical cure of which, the remedy now offered stands unrivalled. The universal prevalence of the Ague and Fever, and Intermittent Fever, throughout most of the states of the Union, and the thousands who annually suffer from it, unhappily render it so well known, that to dilate on its symptoms or pathology, seems wholly unnecessary. It may, however, with propriety be observed, that the neglect to cure what is too often called "only the Ague and Fever;" often leads to diseases more fatal in their nature—among which may be classed, diseases of the Liver and enlargement of the Spleen, commonly called Ague Cake, which in too many cases proves fatal.

Thousands of certificates might be published in reference to the efficacy of the Pills now offered to the public, which the proprietors deem unnecessary to publish. Suffice it to say, they have never been known to fail in a single instance. One Box, when taken according to directions, is warranted to cure any case of Ague and Fever, or Intermittent Fever. The ingredients being PURELY VEGETABLE, and entirely free from any deleterious substance, they are confidently recommended as the safest, as well as the most efficacious article ever offered to the Public! The form in which these Pills are put up, (small in boxes,) renders them more convenient than any other, as a man can carry them in his vest pocket without the slightest inconvenience.

FLETCHER'S

"NE PLUS ULTRA" VEGETABLE COMPOUND

CATHARTIC AND DEOBSTRUENT PILLS.

These Pills, now for the first time offered to the Public, have been used in private practice upwards of Forty Years, by a celebrated Physician, formerly a member of the Royal College of Surgeons of London and Edinburg, and Licentiate of Dublin University.

The proprietors deem it unnecessary to enter into any lengthened discussion as to the merits of these Pills—neither will they say, that they "will cure all the ills that human flesh is heir to"—but they lay claim to one great fact, and that is this; they are the very best pills ever invented, not merely as a simple CATHARTIC, as their properties are various. They are a Compound Cathartic, and Deobstruent Pill. They cleanse the Stomach and Bowels without pain or griping; they act specifically upon the Liver and Kidneys, and as a Diuretic, they cause an increased discharge of Urine—restoring a healthful and proper action to the URINARY ORGANS. For monthly complaints, to which Females are liable, they will be found most efficacious in removing obstructions and restoring them to perfect health. It is perhaps needless to add, that if the STOMACH and BOWELS are kept in a proper state, no female should be entertained in reference to the welfare of the body.

We need only say to those who have tried all other Pills, of whatever name, to give the "Ne Plus Ultra's," one trial, and we feel perfectly confident, that they will satisfy all that they are THE PILLS! unequalled as well as unapproachable!!

IMPERFECT IN ORIGINAL

☞ The Irish press speaks with much warmth, upon the subject of the wrongs and afflictions of Ireland. Truly her situation is pitiable, nor can the charity of a world do more than palliate her sufferings.

We copy the article of the Dublin Nation on the subject. It is writen in an indignant and, it may be, somewhat exaggerated strain of eloquence; but counless circumstances compel us to acknowledge its too much truth—

THE LAST RESOURCE.—It is calculated by the English Ministry, as the English Spectator declares, that this year's famine will kill two millions of the Irish people.—Two millions! Do men realize to themselves that tragic fact? Do they know what it means? Does it picture to their minds one man out of every four living in Ireland when the English Parliament met to legislate for our "safety" as dead or doomed to death? One out of every four! Of every hundred, twenty-five; an entire fourth of all this Irish race dying in the unspeakable pangs of hunger. Now, we believe they do not know it. A vague feeling of the enormous calamity floats in men's minds, but a full sense of that desolation and all its consequences no man seems to have realized

Two millions! If all the human beings living in Scotland—men, women and children—had died of some sudden plague, and left that populous kingdom one wide wilderness, without the face of man, the loss of human life would only equal what has fallen on us. If death had swept over some other main branch of the British empire—over Wales or over Canada—Canada, so strong that men watch to see her spring into the attitude of a new western empire, another self-manumitted slave of England—the loss of life would but amount to half what we sustain. The Swiss Republic, the Kingdoms of Denmark, Norway, Saxony, Hanover, Tuscany, Greece—any one of all these sovereign states might be depopulated to the last man, and still fewer of God's creatures be lost than we have flung into the grave, with accursed appathy, in this single year. The plagues which made fearful epochs in the history of the human race —the wars which men regarded as visible scourges of God—the revolutions which shook to pieces forever some ancient and formidable tyranny—none of them all swept over a single land with such desolation as English rule has brought upon us in this one fearful season.

And the fever is coming in the track of the famine—the fever which strikes dead the rich, not the poor. It kills, says Dr. Corrigan, in language of terrible significance—it kills one out of two of the wealthy, for one out of ten of the poor. This scourge is coming, and which of us all can promise himself immunity for a month? Who can be assured that he will not be the next victim of England?

To the proud merchant and upright trader there is, truly, "something more terrible than death itself—the loss of credit." Is not this, too, come or coming? The inevitable progress of scarcety and confusion from the low to the high, has followed its appointed course, and, aggravated by ignorant laws, it threatens to wrap us in a common ruin. Poor-Laws, Bankruptcy clauses, and GREGORY clauses, the natural alarm of English merchants, the spring-tide of emigration drawing an enormous capital and labor from our shores, the thousand confusions that fall like curses on a State without a Government, come to make this ruin complete and signal.

Two millions of our workers dead—fever coming like an avenging angel among the slothful rich—commercial panic and ruin begun—priest and physicians wating the necessaries of life in the midst of quadrupled labor—our landed gentry beggared by public works over which they had no control—our rural shopkeepers about to be robed of their natural customers, heneceforth to be fed and clothed by English contractors at their cost —a time fast coming and inevitable, if we do not stop and forbid it—when this ancient Island, robbed of its gentry, its clergy, its professional and mercantile class, its industrious farmers and skillful artisans, shall present to the eye of the stranger one wide gang of paupers and pay-clerks, slaves and slave-drivers.

Oh, God of Justice and Mercy! to whom our fathers were faithful in persecution, must we endure this? "Out of the depth we have cried to Thee, oh Lord; Lord hare our voices: let Thy ears be attentive to the voice of our supplication.

When God led His people out of the land of bondage, through such terrible vengeance, their sufferings had not equalled ours. When the Romans meditated abandoning their noble city after its sack by the Gauls—when the brave Dutch nation prepared to go into their ships and sail away from their country for ever, rather than endure the desolating dominion of a foreign conqueror, their case was not more desperate than ours at this hour. But still, in the extremity, some brave voice was heard, exhorting them to one more struggle—one more struggle for their dear country; and the one more struggle, nerved with a last desperate hope, and still triumphant. Oh, if some potent voice awoke our people to their condition, the same success is still to be won. Men would hail it as the voice of one commissioned of Heaven to speak a divine truth. Why should not such a one now—now, in this hour of our extremity, say for Ireland what Ireland will fiat—"In God's name this has lasted too long; we cannot endure more, and we won't. You may send your lawyers to persecute us, or your soldiers to kill us; but, by Heaven's justice, our people shall die tamely of your law no longer. First take our lives. You drew away our resources to your own country; you feed your soldiers plentifully among us, while the native people of the land starve; you leave us pensioners on the alms of a foreign country, your enemy and conqueror; you scoff at our wants, our hopes, our ancient nation—by God's eternal justice, this must end now."

For resolute men there is always hope, and sure deliverance. Always! If not today, to morrow; for justice comes as certain as death. There is a resource in God's Providence of which England takes no account. If our cause be just—and, oh! Heavens, is it not just and gray with patience? —Power fights on our side to which ultimate victory is never denied. As sure as GOD rules this universe, so surely must right prevail in the end. Israel in Egypt were weak in chariots and horsemen to the host of PHARAON but it is not recorded that their slavery was without an end. The scattered colonies of England in America are but a handful in comparison to that tremendous empire, but the issue was victory for the truth. The Catholics of Ireland only raised their angry voices against the arms and numbers of England, but still the right prevailed. For Providence is fighting in the ranks of the just, whether they shake their tyrants with the potent words of truth, or scourge them with the avenging sword.

And if we were silent slaves—if we suffered another year like this to come, and kill its other two millions in slavish silence —the triumph of England, looking complete and irrevocable to human eyes, would, in truth, be but the beginning of defeat. For if our deliverance is not at hand—if our slavery still continue—whether our famished people are to be flung in hideous nakedness and precipitation into their million graves, or to be stark corses on the plains conquered from them again by the ruffian sword of violence, a voice will assuredly be raised, calling on the murderers who slew them in their own land. And children will grow up in the trodden nation, to pray to the Lord that no peace, no rest, no prosperity, may be vouchsafed to England till God's justice to suffeing Ireland prevail, and be made manifest to all men

One more effort, then for Ireland, now, while this generation may still be saved. Let us meet together—all the ranks and classes of Irishmen-in some National Council, and take measures, once for all, for our redemption; that we, too, may not be flung into coffinless graves, amid the bitter scorn and contemptuous laughter of all mankind.

Foreign Correspondence of the Boston Atlas.
COPENHAGEN, March, 1847.

We are on the eve of important political reformations, of which you may, probably, be glad to be informed. The spirit of freedom and progress is rife in Germany, and the connexion of Denmark with the German States has infused so large a leaven that it is now beginning to work even here. As you are doubtless aware, a contest has long been going on between two parties in this kingdom, the German party of progress, deriving its strength from our connexions on the Continent, and the old Danish regime. The indications now are, most clearly, that the latter will yield so important a point that the success of the former may almost be regarded as already achieved. The King has announced his determination to grant a constitution, and we are also in hopes that he will declare in favor of the repeal of some of the preventive policy towards the press.

The example of Prussia has not been lost upon the court of Copenhagen. But in the grant of our constitution a different system is to be followed. We are to have no royal edict, telling us what constitution we are to have, and just how little our handsaw is to be loosened. A commission of twenty-eight members, choosen by our State assemblies, is to be called together in this city. With this view, our several assemblies, four in number, have now been in session these three days. Each is to nominate seven members of the commission. If these delegates can succeed in agreeing, when they shall assemble, upon the form of this constitution, then the king is to promulgate that which they shall unanimously recommend. This is an important difference in favor of this country from the Royal Patent of Prussia.

It is thought, too, that important changes will be made in the form of our primogeniture feature in the transmission of the crown. Heneforth it is proposed to make it hereditary only from male to male. This will present new and important features in the question of the ducal succession.

The next step will probably be adopting the repressive system, (such as now exists in France and England, in the law of libel,) instead of the preventive, or censorship. Prussia has already done this, and Denmark must soon follow her example. It will, probably, be one of the features of the new constitution. The sons grounds on which Count Doenhoff proposes the abolition of the censorship in Prussia, will apply with equal force to the Germanic appendages of Denmark. It is contrary to the spirit of the final act of the Congress of Vienna—is a violation of the promises made directly and openly to the governments of all the German States and to their subjects. It is still more abhorrent to the spirit of our age. Bavaria and Wurtemburg have given in their adhesion, and the next assembling of the German Diet will, it is hoped, strike a decisive blow at the power of this relic of feudalism. Metternich will, no doubt, make it convenient to visit his estates in Johannisberg this Spring, and, by his presence, throw all his weight into the scale of the preventive policy; but I trust that all his efforts will be unavailing, and that the censorship of the press in Germany, assailed, as it will be, by the representatives of three of the most powerful German States, is this year doomed to fall, never to raise its hydra-heads again. The people of Germany are evidently sanguine of success, but yet they cannot, and do not, shut their eyes to the number and the gravity of the obstacles they have to overcome. If they triumph, as I trust they will, so strong has the leaven of Germanism become in Denmark, that we could not, if we would, escape its ultimate adoption here. These are the victories of Peace! Yours, truly, ****

☞ The Monroe (Mich.) Advocate says that there are now in store, at that place, awaiting shipment 76,000 barrels of flour, and as many bushels of wheat, besides ashes, hides and other articles. The amount of freight in the interior is such as to furnish the Southern Railroad Company, with their seven cars, full and constant business until the next harvest.

Late from Monterey.

The schooner Heroine arrived at New Orleans on the 29th ult., from the Brazos. The Delta contains a letter dated Monterey, April 4, from which we make the following extracts:

"Three days ago the Alcade and Priest of a small town some twenty miles distant, on the road to China, came in and reported to Gen. Taylor the murder of twenty-four Mexicans, at Gualopa, a small rancho about six miles from Ramus. The murder was committed, they say, by a party of Americans, who came in the night, and was done in the night. The murdered men were first made prisoners, tied, and afterwards all shot through the heads. The murder is said to have been committed on the 28th ult. On that night a train of loaded wagons, escorted by two hundred infantry and about the same number of horse, under the command of Col. Mitchell, of the 1st Ohio Regiment, encamped at Marin, which is about five miles from the scene of the murder. The mounted men were composed of United States Dragoons, and Texas Rangers, under the command of Capt. Graham of the 2nd Dragoons. Suspicion rests upon some part of this corps, though no clue has as yet been found to discover the guilty. The officers in command—gentlemen, and rigid diciplinarians-are using every means in their power to investigate the matter.

"Gen. Taylor has got his steam up on the subject, and is determined to have hung every one who, it can be proved, has taken part in the murder. The town where these men was killed is but a few miles from the place where the large train was captured and so many waggoners massacred on the 22nd of February. Some fifteen or twenty waggoners who escaped from that massacre came up in the last train, yet there is no evidence they were engaged in the Gualopa murder.

"I passed over the place of the massacre of the 22nd of February a few days ago, and the scene is truly the most horrid and revolting that I have ever witnessed. The remains of the murdered men, yet unburied, stripped of every particle of clothing, lay upon the plains, their flesh devoured by Mexican buzzards and wolves, and their bones bleached in the sun.

"The train was a very large and valuable one, and stretched out from three to four miles in length. The attack was made upon the escort, who were in advance, by a large body of lancers. The escort, forty men, under the command of Lieut. Darbour, of the Kentucky Legion, were all taken prisoners, and are now in the possession of Urrea. The Lancers charged down the train, and lanced without mercy the waggoners as they ran for their lives to the chapparal. More than three-fourths of them, it is thought, were killed, and their bodies shockingly mutilated and disfigured.

"Urrea, by last accounts, was at Linares, expecting reinforcements. It is rumored that he has four pieces of artillery with him. Marin, Ceralvo, Mier, and China will be garrisoned by our troops, and will render our communication with Camargo entirely safe. The troops here are in excellent health and condition.

"The number of regiments whose term will expire in May or June, now in General Taylor's column, is thirteen. How their places are to be filled I cannot devine—perhaps you can inform us."

AN ADVENTURE.—James Gordon Bennett of the New York Herald and his wife, are now traveling in Europe. Both of them write letters for the Herald. From Mrs. Bennett's last, dated "Rome, March 20th," we copy the following marvellous paragraph, from which it would seem that she came near being made a "brigand's bride." Some folks may think that she would have made no bad exchange:

I must now relate to you a little circumstance that occurred to us on our journey here. You recollect I told you in my last, that the roads, of late, are infested with banditti, and that it was dangerous to be out after dusk; and so it seemed. The day we dallied a little too long after dinner, and were rather too late on the road, and I kept jesting, every now and then, "Ah, there they are!" to the postillion, who was already a little alarmed. All of a sudden I heard a shrill whistle, and saw at a distance a tall looking fellow making towards us as fast as he could. I called out to our courier to look out; but he, thinking, as usual, it was nothing, paid not much attention; when, in an instant, the carriage was surrounded with the most frightful looking fellows I ever looked at. One fellow seized the heads of the two forward horses, and the postillion remained perfectly mute—did not say a word, for he dared not. The other came to the carriage, and demanded what we had: "Your gold—your gold." I happened to have a very beautiful little pair of pistols in my pocket, which I had purchased only the day before, when I heard of these fellows. They are really what you call pocket-pistols, not being larger than a child's hand. I handed one to my courier, and I fired the other; it grazed the fellow's coat. The other happened to not be loaded. They had but one carbine among them, and that they fired after I fired, without any injury to any one. I think I shall never forget it. One of the fellows—the chief of the band, I believe,—exasperated to the highest degree, put his arm round my waist, and dragged me forcibly out of the carriage. At this moment the sound of wheels was heard, and two carriages came up, one filled with bishops, who were going to Rome for the Holy Week, and also a very brave young Englishman, who was well armed. Seeing these they dropped me and took to flight. Had it not been for them, I suppose I should, ere long, have been the brigand's bride.

☞ The New Orleans Delta of the 5th inst. says:

LOUISIANA LEGION.—Col. Ormsby, Major Shepherd, Adj't Riddle, Surgeon Caldwell and Mathews, Capts. Harper, Bulletin, Stewart, Schræder, Howe, Kern and Saunders, Lieuts. L. White, and Hiltonyin all 28 officers, including the Staff, and 405 men of the Louisville Legion, arrived here yesterday from the Brazos. They will be mustered out of service in this city.

Anti-Rent Rioters.

A correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer, writing from Albany, says:

As an indication of some of the darker signs of the times, I transmit the following extract of a letter from a highly respectable gentleman, a resident of Columbia county, to a friend in this city. It gives some interesting passages in the "anti-rent" history of that disturbed community.

The lands in Taffinkanick have been parcelled out by the recently organized band of Indians in that town, among themselves. I know a number of farms here, which are intended for that gang. The division, or rather the contemplated division, embraces a large portion of the lands in that town, and they actually intend to take and retain forcible possession of them. This may be relied on not as a fancy sketch—it is sober reality. This band is made up of over one hundred—all sworn to secrecy the most inviolable—and all pledged to appear in disguise and armed, whenever ordered out by the leaders. There are already indications the most unmistakeable of the intention to extend this same organization to other towns in the south part of the county.

"Their present plan is to do little more than to hold on to their present usurpations until the adjournment of the Legislature, they fearing that some laws of a penal character will be passed. But as soon as the Legislature does adjourn, unless something of a stringent character is done, you will see a succession of acts of a somewhat appalling nature. I speak only of what I know, and you may rely upon what I tell you. A portion of the lands of this country in this 19th century, are acutely carved out, in anticipation, as perfectly as were those of England by William, the Norman, and this, too, among as desperate a sett of men as you can well conceive.

"Not one man alone of our good citizens, but numbers of them, have been compelled to turn their houses into castles, and are obliged to defend their hearths by arms. The —— still hold the farm they have occupied, and keep in the house about sixty stand of arms, and nearly as many men every night, and a larger number every day.

"The quiet and peaceable citizens of that vicinity are becoming restive, and will not much longer submit to all this violence. Self-preservation and self-protection will soon out-weigh all other considerations."

THE LICENSE QUESTION IN NEW YORK. —The popular vote throughout the State of New York has been overwhelmingly in favor of licensing the sale of intoxicating drinks. This result, of course, is not to be attributed to an increasing appetite for liquor on the part of the people at large. It is the natural consequence of the injudicious manner in which the advocates of temperance have of late urged their cause upon public notice. Nothing could be more fatal to the cause, as almost any one might have seen, than to bring it before the people as a thing to be agitated, wrangled about, and voted upon at the polls. And in the next place the temperance people go too far in seeking to forbid by law the sale of liquor. The enactment of such a law begets hostility, even where it did not before exist. Men may be willing to do wright, and at the same time very averse to being compelled to do right. It is singular that the love of our people for personal independence is not more generally considered. Those even who talk most about this are often the most ready to violate their own professed belief.

The result of this vote upon the license law will be a good lesson to many of those people who are always seeking to accomplish the ends of morality by the force of law. They injure by their intemperate zeal the cause they profess to aid. Intemperance is no more popular than it was before. Liquor drinking is not recommended by this vote. But the people protest against these efforts to make them sober and moral by the force of laws, with their pains and penalties.—Courier & Enquirer.

Most of the States have elected delegates to the next Congress. According to the Richmond Whig, the delegates already elected stand, Whigs 88, Locofocos 71, showing a Whig majority of 17 in States which sent the last Congress a Locofoco majority of about 50. If, in the States which are yet to elect their delegate, there shall be no changes in favor of the Whigs, the Locofoco majority in the next House of Representatives will be only six, while, if the Whigs shall realise all the gains which they now confidently anticipate, the Whig majority in the next House will be nearly thirty—showing a Whig gain of nearly one HUNDRED MEMBERS OF CONGRESS in the short space of two years—two years of Locofoco government! Oh, this popular war and this popular Administration.—Lou. Jour.

A THOUSAND DOLLAR BILL ABANDONED. —The Boston Atlas says that on Monday forenoon a man went into the Eagle Bank with a $1000 bill on the State Bank, and asked for small bills for it. The teller told him to carry it to the bank from which it had been passed to him instead of doing so, he sent it by a boy in the office to the Globe Bank. A figure one on the bill had been written over, and attracted the notice of the teller at the Globe, who after questioning the boy who sent him with it, went over to the State Bank to see if the bill was a good one. The bill proved to be genuine, but the man, who had watched the movements of the teller, did not think proper to wait the result of an inquiry at the State Bank, and has not been heard of since. It is now supposed that the bill was stolen.

THE RUINS OF BABYLON.—It appears by letters lately received that new discoveries have been made among the ruins of Babylon. Mr Ledyard has continued his search to Ninavel, near Mossoul, when he has already found some beautiful bas-relief, and a colossal lion. He has also found a great number of small lions in bronze, ladies' necklaces, a copper helmet of great beauty, and a multitude of small articles in gold and silver. Also a quadrangular pillar covered with inscriptions and designs. They are all in good state of preservation.—Lou. Jour.

From the New York Gazette and Times.

AN IDEA OF WAR.

The trophies of war are thus described in a letter from Vera Cruz to the Auburn Advertiser. The writer presents truly and without exaggeration one of those scenes of the prowess of "Rough and Ready." TAYLOR says is "enough to fill the whole land with mourning:"

"Never had I beheld such destruction of property. Scarcely a house did I pass that did not show some great rent made by the bursting of our bomb shells. At almost every house I entered I could trace examine the destruction occasioned by those dreadful messengers of death, some one of the family—if the house did not happen to be deserted—would come to the door, and, inviting me to enter, point out her property destroyed, and with a pitiful sigh exclaim, 'La bomba, la bomba!' (the bomb.) My heart ached for the poor creatures.

"During my peregrinations I came to a lofty and noble mansion, in which a terrible bomb had exploded, and laid the whole front of the house in ruins. While I was examining the awful havoc created, a beautiful girl of seventeen came to the door and invited me into the house. She pointed to the furniture of the mansion torn into fragments, and the piles of rubbish lying around and informed me, with her beautiful eyes filled with tears, that the bomb had destroyed her father, mother, brother and two little sisters, and that she was now left in the world alone! O. war, war, who can tell thy horrors? Who can picture thy deformities?

"During the afternoon I visited the hospital. Here lay upon truckle beds the mangled creatures who had been wounded during the bombardment. In one corner was a poor, decrepit, bedridden woman, her head white with the sorrows of seventy years. One of her withered arms had been blown off by fragments of a shell. In another place might be seen mangled creatures of both sexes, bruised and disfigured by the falling of the houses and the bursting of the shells. On the stone floor lay a little child in a complete state of nudity, with one of its poor legs cut off just above the knee! The apartment was filled with flies, that seemed to delight in the agonies of the miserable creatures over whom they hovered, and the moans were heart-rending.

"I went about from cot to cot and attempted to condole with the sufferers, by whom I was greeted with a kind smile. Not even this abode of wretchedness had been exempt from the accursed scourge of war! A bomb had descended through the roof, and after landing on the floor exploded, sending some twenty already mangled wretches to the, sleep that knows not waking."

"In the course of the afternoon the army took possession of the city of Vera Cruz, and the streets were thronged with our troops. After visiting every thing worthy of note, at sunset I returned on board, having received a lesson in the horrors of war which I shall not soon forget. Yours truly,

"E. CURTISS HINE."

GENERAL SCOTT.—The sagacity and good judgement exhibited by Gen. Scott in all his relations with the Mexicans are producing the most favorable results on the minds of the people. By various little courtesies and kindnesses manifested to the officers and soldiers of the captured garrison of Vera Cruz, and by a respectful regard to the prejudices and customs of the people, he has succeeded in a great measure in softening their antipathies and allaying their jealousies against our country and Government. One act of generous concession to the army of Vera Cruz produced the most kindly feelings among men, who a short time before had exhibited the most deadly hostility towards our country. On the capitulation of the town, Gen. Scott intimated to Gen. Landero a wish to be introduced to those of his officers who had distinguished themselves in the defence of the town. Some six or eight officers were accordingly presented to General Scott, who complimented them highly on their valor and good conduct, and refused to take their parole. This act of magnanimity was not thrown away upon the Mexicans. In all the towns through which they passed they gave the most favorable reports of the liberality and generosity of the commander-in-chief of the American forces.—N. O Delta, May 5.

☞ The Matamoras Flag, speaking of Gen. Taylor's exceeding popularity with the troops under his command, says:

"It is pleasing to hear the returning volunteers, those who have battled with him, speak of old Rough and Ready. With one accord they all unite in his praise; and his bravery and military skill, as displayed in the battles and brilliant victories to which he has led them, has stirred up feelings within their breasts which can never be effaced. Napoleon never had more the love and confidence of his troops than has Gen. Taylor. We have heard volunteers say, not in a spirit of bragadocia, but in cool, sober earnest, that under him they would cheerfully go into battle with odds against them six to one, and feel assured of victory. Many with whom we have spoken disclaim ever having looked to the possibility of a defeat at Buena Vista; victory, nothing but victory, was ever thought of. The countenance of Gen. Taylor during the long engagement wore the appearance of triumph, and all who noticed him augured victory from his looks."

The new morning line, between Louisville and Cincinnati, will commence operation on Tuesday next. On that day the Mountain, commanded by Capt. J. H Barker—who will also do the clerking—will leave here, and on the following day the North America, Capt. J. E. Montgomery, and so run, leaving alternately, for the season. Our old acquaintance, John Boffinger, will also act in the capacity of clerk, upon the last named boat. He says that he intends to have a Bulletin Board on his boat, upon which the Editors of Cincinnati and Louisville will find all the latest news, and other items of intelligence, that will most particularly interest them. Do that, gentlemen, and you may be assured you will have constant visiters on every morning of your arrival. May your enterprise meet with success.—Cin Enquirer.

TRI-WEEKLY HERALD.

J. SPRIGG CHAMBERS, EDITOR.

Maysville, May 14. 1847.

The Citizens of Lexington, have held a public meeting for the purpose of making arrangements to receive the bodies of their citizens who fell at Buena Vista.

A public meeting was held in Shelbyville, on Monday last, composed of Whigs and Democrats, to express their sentiments towards Gen'l Taylor. Col. Chas. Todd presided. We have not yet seen the proceedings of the meeting.

The Citizens of Louisville are making very handsome preparations for the reception of the Legion, shortly expected home.

The Louisville Journal of yesterday announces the name of Garrett Duncan Esqr. of that City, as the nominee of the Convention of delegates, assembled at Lagrange, to select a whig candidate for Congress in the Louisville district.

Mr. Duncan is a gentleman of remarkably fine manners—urbane and popular, and an effective and talented speaker, and will worthily represent the Louisville district in the National Councils.

☞ The Illumination of New York City in honor of the victories obtained by our arms in Mexico, which took place on the 7th inst, is represented to have been a magnificent spectacle.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Atlas, in a letter of the 8th says:

It is quite needless for me to attempt anything like a description of the scene in New York yesterday and evening—suffice it, however, to say that, 'confusion was confounded' and patriotism seemed run mad—more boys were firing squibs—more children of a larger growth discharging pistols and small artillery—more horses running away, and more raising the devil in general than ever I saw before. At night-fall there must have been, on a moderate calculation, at least one hundred thousand people around the park—men, women and children were jammed in and made up such a crowd that you might have cut it like a plum pudding—short men and children had no sight at all.

To-day all the flags are drooping at half mast—the bells are to be tolled and minute guns fired in memory of the gallant dead.

INDIANA VOLUNTEERS.—The Ind. State Sentinel speaking of the recent requisition upon that State for a regiment of Volunteers, says:

SIX companies have already been reported to the Adjutant General as being nearly full; and probably by the time this is ready, others may be received. They are all filling up in an incredibly short space of time; and notwithstanding labor is in great demand, and the season exceedingly busy, we have no doubt but that half a dozen regiments could be promptly raised. Those boys who wish to be accepted must hurry, or many will be disappointed.

FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.—The Pittsburg Commercial Journal has the following by telegraph from Philadelphia.

MAY 9, 7 o'clock, P. M.

There was a fire to-day, commencing on the corner of Pratt and South streets.

William's extensive Cabinet Warehouse, Chesnut's Grocery Store, Kernan's Bakery, Middleton's Tobacco Warehouse, and Dowell & Hamilton's Store, are destroyed.

The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

Latest from the Rio Grande.

We yesterday received through the Post office the following letter from Camargo.—N. O. Delta, 6th.

(Correspondence of the Delta.)

Preparation of Gen. Taylor for a March to San Luis—India-Rubber water-bags—necessity for a speedy reinforcement of troops—Return of Volunteers.

CAMARGO, April 16th, 1847.

EDS. DELTA: In compliance with my promise, I seize a pen to address you a few lines, although I scarcely know of anything that might be of interest to your readers, except that there is no longer a doubt of Gen. Taylor's intention to advance upon San Luis Potosi, so soon as he can obtain a sufficient number of men and means of transportation for the enterprise. I have satisfied myself of this by the General's requisition upon the Quartermaster's Department for a large number of India rubber bags, calculated to carry water. Several thousand of these were yesterday sent up in a train. Each one is capable of holding from four to six gallons. This seems to me conclusive evidence of a contemplated march through the waterless country between Buena Vista and San Luis.

On the other hand, the disbandment of the volunteers, whose term of service is shortly expiring, will leave Gen. Taylor with but a very small force. Several regiments of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky, and one from Mississippi and Arkansas, will before long return home. You will perceive by this, that unless new forces are sent here, it is scarcely probable that any active operations will take place in this quarter.

Camargo is almost entirely deserted by the Mexicans. But few, and those in the Government's employ, are remaining.

To-morrow I start for Monterey. It is believed that Urrea, with a considerable force, is still in the neighborhood of Marin, a little village a short distance from Monterey. Gen. Taylor's order is, that no small or broken than a thousand ought to travel between the two places.

Your friend, H.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
Plan del Rio, 50 miles from Vera Cruz,
April 19, 1847.

Sir: The plan of attack, sketched in General Orders, No. 111, (published in last evening's "Union,") therewith, was finally executed by this gallant army, before two o'clock, p. m., yesterday. We are quite embarrassed with the results of Victory—prisoners of war, heavy ordinance, field batteries, small arms, and accoutrements.—About 3,000 men laid down their arms which the usual proportion of field and company officers, besides five generals, several of them of great distinction. Pinson, Jarrero, La Vega, Noriega, and Obando. A sixth general, Vasquez, was killed in defending the battery (tower) in the rear of the whole Mexican army, in the capture of which gave us those glorious results.

Our loss, though comparatively small, in numbers, has been serious. Brigadier Gen. Shields, a commander of activity, zeal and talent, is, I fear, if not dead, mortally wounded. He is some five miles from me at the moment. The field of operations covered many miles, broken by mountains and deep chasms, and I have not a report as yet, from any division or brigade. Twigg's division, followed by Shield's (now Baker's) brigade, are now at, or near Xalapa, and Worth's division is in route thither, all pursuing, with good results, as I learn, that part of the Mexicans, numbering, six or seven thousand men, who fled before our right had carried the tower and gained the Xalapa road. Pillow's brigade alone, is near me at this depot of wounded, sick, and prisoners, and I have time only to give from him the names of first Lieutenant F. B. Nelson, and 2d C. G Gill, both of the 2d Tennessee foot (Haskell's regiment) among the killed, and in the brigade 106, of all ranks, killed or wounded. Among the latter, the gallant Brigadier General himself has a smart wound in the arm, but not disabled, and Major R. Farqueson, 2d Tennessee; Capt. H. F. Murray, 2d Lieut. G. T. Smith, and first Lieut. W. P. Hale (adjutant) all of the same regiment, severely, and 1st Lieut. W. Yearwood, mortally wounded.—And I know, from personal observation on the ground, that 1st Lieut. Ewell, of the rifles, if not now dead, was mortally wounded, in entering, sword in hand, the entrenchments around the second tower. Second Lieut. Derby, topographical engineers, I also saw, at the same place severely wounded, and Capt. Patten, 2d United States infantry, lost his right hand. Major Sumner, 2d U. S. dragoons, was slightly wounded the day before, and Capt. Johnston, topographical engineers (now lieutenant colonel of infantry) was very severely wounded some days earlier while reconnoitering. I must not omit to add that Captain Mason and 2d Lieut. Davis, both of the rifles, were among the very severely wounded in storming the same tower. I estimate our total loss, in killed and wounded, may be about 250, and that of the enemy 350. In the pursuit towards Xalapa (25 miles hence) I learn we have added much to the enemy's loss in prisoners, killed, and wounded. In fact, I suppose his retreating army to be nearly disorganized and hence my haste to follow, in hour or two, to be joined by our train.

In this hurried and imperfect report I must not omit to say that Brig. Gen. Twiggs, in passing the mountain range beyond Cerro Gordo, crowned with the tower, detached from his division, as I suggested the day before, a strong force to carry that height, which commands the Xalapa road at the foot, and could not fail, if carried, to cut off the whole, or any part of the enemy's forces from a retreat in any direction. A portion of the 1st artillery, under the often distinguished Brevet Col. Childs, the 3d infantry, under Capt. Alexander, the 7th infantry, under Lieut. Col. Plympton, and the rifles, under Maj. Loring, all under the temporary command of Col. Harney, 2d dragoons, during the confinement to his bed of Brevet Brig. Gen. P. F. Smith, composed that detachment. The style of execution, which I had the pleasure to witness, was most brilliant and decisive. The brigade ascended the long and difficult path of Cerro Gordo, without shelter, and under the tremendous fire of artillery and musketry with the utmost steadiness, reached the breast-works, drove the enemy from them, planted the colors of the 1st artillery, 3d and 7th infantry the enemy's flag still flying—and, after some minutes of sharp firing, finished the conquest with the bayonet.

It is a most pleasing duty to say that the highest praise is due to Harney, Childs, Plimpton, Loring, Alexander, their gallant officers and men, for this brilliant service, independent of the great results which soon followed.

Worth's division of regulars coming up at this time, he detached Brevet Lieutenant Colonel C. F. Smith, with his light battalion, to support the assault, but not in time. The General, reaching the tower a few minutes before me, and observing a white flag displayed from the nearest portion of the enemy towards the batteries below, sent out Colonels Harney and Childs to hold a parley. The surrender followed in an hour or two.

Major General Patterson left a sick bed to share in the dangers and fatigues of the day, and after the surrender went forward to command the advanced forces towards Xalapa.

Brigadier General Pillow and his brigade twice assaulted, with great daring, the enemy's line of batteries on our left; and though without success, they contributed much to distract and dismay their immediate opponents.

President Santa Anna, with General Canalizo and Almonte, and some six or eight thousand men, escaped towards Xalapa just before Cerro Gordo was carried, and before Twigg's division reached the national road above.

I have determined to parole the prisoners—officers and men—as I have not the means of feeding them here, beyond to-day, and cannot afford to detach a heavy body of horse and foot, with wagons, to accompany them to Vera Cruz. Our baggage train, though increasing, is not yet half large enough to give an assured progress to this army. Besides, a great number of prisoners would, probably, escape from the escort in the long and deep sandy road, without subsistence—ten to one—that we shall find again, out of the same body of men, in the ranks opposed to us. Not one of the Vera Cruz prisoners is believed to have been in the line, of Cerro Gorde. Some six of the officers, highest in rank, refuse to give their parole, except to go to Vera Cruz, and thence, perhaps, to the United States.

The small arms and their encoutrements, being of no value to our army, if we or at home, I have ordered them to be destroyed; for we have not the means of transporting them. I am, also, somewhat embarrassed with the —— pieces of artillery—all bronze—which we have captured. It would take a brigade, and half the mules of this army, to transport, at most 50 out of the 200. I shall take for service with the army; but the heavy metal must be collected and left here for the present. We have our own seige train and the proper carriages with us.

Being much occupied with the prisoners, and all the details of a forward movement, I hasten to close the supplies which are to follow from Vera Cruz, I have time to add no more—intending to be at Xalapa early to-morrow. We shall not, probably, again meet with serious opposition this side of Perote—certainly not, unless delayed by the want of means of transportation.

I have the honor to remain, sir, with high respect, your most obedient servant.

WINFIELD SCOTT.

P. S. I invite the attention to the accompanying letter to President Santa Anna, taken in his carriage yesterday; also, to his proclamation, issued on hearing that we had captured Vera Cruz, &c., in which he says: "If the enemy advance one step more, the national independence will be burried in the abyss of the past." We have taken that step.

W. S.

I make a second postscript, to say that there is some hope, I am happy to learn, that Gen. Shields may survive his wounds. One of the surgeons, in charge for paroling the prisoners of war is, to diminish the resistance of other garrisons in our march.

W. S.

Letter from General Taylor.

General Taylor's response to the Resolutions of the New Jersey Legislature, it will be seen by the subjoined letter to Mr. Senator Miller, has been made to Gov. Stratton. His handsome reference to the services of Jerseymen at Buena Vista will be noted with gratification by our readers:

HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF OCCUPATION,
Camp near Monterey, March 27, 1847.

Dear Sir: I have had the pleasure to receive your letter of February 4th, accompanying the Joint Resolutions of the Legislature of New Jersey, and must express my thanks for the kind expressions which you are pleased to employ. The Resolutions have been acknowledged in a letter addressed to Gov. Stratton.

It cannot be otherwise than highly gratifying to receive public and official manifestations of the approbation of the people of a State conveyed through its Legislature, and I am sure that the troops of my command will not fail to appreciate, and signalize as they ought, the action of the Legislature of New Jersey—a State identified with almost trying and the most brilliant scenes of the Revolutionary War. Even since the date of the Revolution it has been their fortune to give yet another proof of courage and devotion upon the field of Buena Vista.

We have advices of another revolution in Mexico, headed, it is said, by Canalizo, and directed against the existing President, Vice President and Congress. It is known that Gen. Santa Anna had left San Luis Potosi for the Capital, and that a portion of his army had marched in the same direction, perhaps with the destination of Vera Cruz. While these intestine divisions prevent Mexico from putting forth her strength in defensive war, it is much to be feared they will equally incapacitate from making peace.

I remain, my dear sir, with the highest respect, your obedient humble servant.

Z. TAYLOR.

Hon. J. W. MILLER, U. S. Senator.

SICKNESS IN THE CABINET.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, in his letter of the 7th inst., says:

Mr. Buchanan was suddenly taken ill, last evening, so much so that Dr. Thomas had to be called in, and prescribe for him. He is still confined to his bed, though evidently doing better. Mr. Walker is still unable to speak, though otherwise doing better. If he could be persuaded to desist but a week from the severest and most unremitting application to the public business, his recovery would be beyond a doubt, but that seems to be impossible; the entreaties of his physician notwithstanding. Yet that is the man who is so shamefully abused by the partizan press, for having, under the most trying circumstances, devoted all the energies of his powerful mind to serve the cause of the States and the commercial honor of the country.

During the day yesterday it is estimated that there could not have been less than five hundred people stopped at the house of WM. WISEWELL, on main street, to see the picture of Santa Anna. He is represented upon the mule which he took from his traveling carriage—the mule at full speed, his hat off, and he looking back to see if he is pursued. The picture would have been more complete had people stopped at the same hour, and seen the original of the whole one; as it is, it is a good one, the scene which it illustrates being very happily hit off. It was painted in a great hurry, but still reflects great credit upon the artist, Mr. J. L. SMITH. Some public house ought to secure it, for it would, without doubt prove a source of attraction to the proprietor.—Ib.

At the monthly meeting of the Washingtonian Temperance Society, on Tuesday evening last, in the absence of the President and Secretary, Dr H. J. MOFFETT was called to the Chair, and RICHARD H. COLLINS appointed Secretary.

On motion, the following were elected delegates to attend the Annual Meeting of the Northern Kentucky Temperance Union, at Georgetown, on the 1st Wednesday in June. Rev. W. J. Ellsworth, Thomas Daulton, " R. C. Grundy, John F. Fisk, " John Young, R. H. Collins, " Jonathan Stamper, Dr. D. H. Moffett, John Armstrong, Otho H. Davis, John M. Breeden, N. D. Hunter, Dr. M. F. Adamson, Charles B. Coons, " S. K. Sharpe, Ebenezer Jenkins, " H. Marshall, E. D. Anderson, W. H. Wadsworth, A. M. Janary, W. P. Conwell, Charles B. Ryan, J. W. Rand, Dr. L. J. Frazee, W. W. Richeson, Wm. H. Wise, Gen. R. Collins, Daniel Bonivell, John L. Kirk, John R. Clark, Samuel S. Miner, John W. Welman, David Clark, John A. Robinson, Daniel Spalding, Thomas Jackson, Joseph F. Brodrick,

Rev. Mr. GREEN addressed the meeting in defence of the resolutions offered by him several meetings previous, and read in connexion the substitute proposed to be offered by Dr. H. G. Moffett. He concluded by offering the following resolution, which passed with great unanimity.

Resolved, That the expectation that the City Council will judiciously and independently circumscribe and control the evil of tippling houses in this city is a vain expectation, and that the friends of Temperance and good order must and will look for relief from another quarter.

Rev. Mr. GREEN then offered the following resolutions, which also met the hearty approbation of the meeting.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the city of Louisville has, in the late contest upon the license question, achieved a victory more blessed in its consequences and glorious in its character, than any which has ever been achieved in the tented field of battle.

Resolved, That we tender, in our own behalf, and that of the whole State, our thanks to the friends of Temperance and good order in Louisville for their late vote and decision upon the License question, and that Maysville stands pledged to follow the noble example of her sister, and to respond to her vote in due time, in language not to be mistaken.

Resolved, That the whole License system is an outrage upon morality and common sense, and a disgrace to the statute book, and that Louisville in voting no-License has proclaimed a sentiment and uttered a decision which at no distant day will echo and reecho throughout the entire State.

Moved that the proceedings be published in the papers of the City.

The meeting then adjourned.

Rev. Mr. PHILLIPS, of Indianapolis, is expected to preach at the Baptist Church next Sabbath at the usual hours.

DEATHS.

In Madison Co., Miss., on Tuesday evening, the 27th ult., at the residence of her parents, after a painful illness, ELIZABETH MAY, only daughter of Charles C. and Frances A. Shackleford, aged 2 years, 5 months and 13 days.

At his residence in Bourbon County, on the 11th inst., of Typhoid Fever, 3 minutes past 3 o'clock, p. m. Col. ZACHARIAH WHITE, in his 43d year.

Who can restrain the tear of sympathy over the grave of a good and noble spirit! Fresh and vigorous with all the buoyant hopes of a glorious future, such was the subject of this brief notice, student but gentle, a devoted husband and affectionate father and brother, and true friend. He has left a large family and friends to mourn their irreparable loss. He was esteemed and beloved by all who knew him, for his many excellent qualities and general worth. His toils and sufferings upon this earth have ceased, and his family and friends have the sweet assurance that he has exchanged a struggling mortality for a blissful immortality. The name and many virtues of the deceased will never be forgotten while memory lives. "Peace be to his ashes."

"If it be sad to speak of treasure gone,
Of dear friends called so soon away,
If light from the world has been taken, while
Yet kindling on to the perfect days!
Then shall our griefs, if these things mournful be
Flow faith, oh! thou of many gifts for thee.
Hath not thy voice been heard amongst us heard
And that deep soul of gentleness and power,
Have we not felt its breath in every word,
Dost from thy lips, as Hermon's dews to show's.
Yes in our hearts thy noble thoughts are burn'd.
Of Heaven thou were, and thither have returned."

J. L. H.

Paris Citizen.

In Cincinnati, on Tuesday evening, the 11th inst., at half past 9 o'clock, JANE FINDLAY, wife of Lewis Whiteman, of this city, in the 43rd year of her age.

The deceased was the loved and admired centre of a large circle of relatives and friends. Praise were needless—all loved her who knew her. She died of consumption, after a lingering illness, and in her death evinced pre-eminently the triumph of a Christians hope beyond the grave.

"Sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust."
Truly, if ever one did, she realized the poet's vision, and neared the narrow portal
"Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him,
And lies down to pleasant dreams."—Cin. Atlas.

TESTIMONY IS NOW RECEIVED From all Quarters of the Globe.

THE following letters are presented with a view of more fully showing the opinions of Physicians in relation to the Medical value of Dr. Sunyne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry.

Dan. Swayne—Dear Sir: Having used your Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, in my practice, I was requested by your Agent, Dr. Crutcher, to express my opinion in writing, of its properties as a remedial agent. I most cheerfully comply, as I feel by so doing, I will discharge a debt I owe to the community at large, and Physicians in particular. As much as I detest quack nostrums and patent nostrums, I was induced from the failure of the most potent expectorants, recommended in our materia medicas in some cases of diseased lungs, to try your preparation of Prunus Virginia or Wild Cherry.—It is sufficient to say that I was so much pleased with the result of that, and subsequent trials, that I now prescribe it in preference to all other remedies where an expectorant is indicated. In the much dreaded Pneumonia or Disease of the Lungs, in that alarming form in which it appears in Kentucky, I regard it as an invaluable remedy in the treatment of that disease. To all who know me I have said enough, but as this may be seen by persons out of the vicinity of Frankfort, I will briefly add, that I have been engaged in active practice of my profession for 12 years, and am a regular graduate of Transylvania, and this is the first Patent Medicine I ever thought enough of to express an opinion in writing. J. H. ELLIMAN, M. D.

Frankfort, Ky. Jan. 7th, 1847.

The above certificate is from one of our Physicians living a few miles from here. He is doing a very good practice, and is considered a good physician, and stands fair; he is a bachelor, and a regular graduate. DR. WM. R. RITCHIE.

Druggist and Apothecary.

☞ Since the introduction of my article to the public, there have a number of unprincipled individuals got up nostrums, which they assert contain WILD CHERRY, some are called "BALSAMS," "BITTERS," and even SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY, but mine is the original and the only genuine preparation ever introduced to the public, which can be proved by the public Records of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The only safeguard against imposition, is to see that my signature is on each bottle.

NAUTILUS (Mutual Life) INSURANCE COMPANY, 58 WALL STREET, NEW YORK.—After mature deliberation, the Trustees have become convinced, and the experience of old established companies fully warrant the conclusion, that the advantages of Life Insurance on the Mutual plan, may be extended and diffused with great convenience to a large class of contributors, and with equal security to all the assured, by requiring no greater amount of the premium to be paid in cash than the company will require to meet its engagements with promptitude and fidelity.

It has accordingly been determined that in all cases where the annual premium shall amount to $30, and 60 per cent thereof shall have been paid in cash, an approved note may be given for the remaining 40 per cent, payable twelve months after date, bearing six per cent interest. The interest to be paid annually, but the principal not to be called in unless the exigencies of the company require it, giving sixty days notice, and then only by assessments pro rata to the extent that may be required to meet the engagements of the company.

It is confidently anticipated that a system, the operation of which is so fair and equitable, so well calculated to place the benefits and blessings of Life Insurance within the reach of all, and at the same time enable each contributor to share equally and fully not only in its beneficent security, but also in its profits of accumulation, will meet, as it is believed to deserve the favor and confidence of the public.

The particular advantages offered by this company are:

1. A guarantee capital.
2. An annual participation in the profits.
3. No individual responsibility beyond the amount of premium.
4. Those who insure for a less period than life, participate equally in the annual profits of the company.

The Nautilus company confines its business exclusively to insurance on Lives, and all Insurance appertaining to Life.

DR. J. F. BRADDEE'S
Celebrated Vegetable Medicines.
THE CORDIAL BALM OF HEALTH.
An excellent medicine, prepared and sold only by me or my authorized agents. It is acknowledged to be peculiarly efficacious, in all inward weaknesses, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, depression of the spirits, trembling or shaking of the hands or limbs, shortness of the breath, consumptive habits; it thins the blood, eases the most violent pains of the head or stomach, and promotes gentle respiration. By the nobility and gentry, it is esteemed as being pleasant to the taste and smell, gently astringing the fibres of the stomach, and giving that proper tensity which a good digesiion requires. Nothing can be better adapted to nourish the constitution, after a nocturnal debauch with wine and is highly esteemed for invigorating the nervous system and acting as a gentle restorative on debilitated constitutions, arising from bilious complaints contracted in hot or cold climates. Those who have the care and education of females, or are of sedentary habits, should never be without the cordial balm of health, which removes diseases of the head, invigorates and improves the mind, and quickens the imagination. And it is recommended to the weak, the relaxed and debilitated as a speedy restorative; also in consumptions, spitings of blood, or loss of blood, pain in the breast and side, inward weakness or loss of flesh, also in dyspepsias. It is valuable in diseases attended with such symptoms as difficulty of breathing, sense of cold, as if water was poured on the patient, flying pains in the arms, limbs, back and belly, like the gravel; the pulse is sometimes scarcely to be seen, quick, frequent sighing, and sometimes a sense of suffocation, as from a ball or lump, alternative fits of crying, the stomach frequently disordered, the bowels sometimes relaxed, nevertheless, even sunk in the head. The value of this medicine is daily demonstrated, in removing the most dangerous effects of nervous debility, and nothing has given it greater fame than its success in those complaints which take a deep root on the constitution, and are so fatal to the happiness of mankind; it is also good for the whooping cough. I have not used this valuable medicine in my practice without success, in the diseases mentioned.—Price, $2,00 per Bottle.

THE ANTI-IMPEGINIS.
For the cure of the scurvy, scrofula, leprosy, weak eyes, bilious pleurisies, liver complaints, gleet, or in women, the whites or schirous, or bearing down in the womb, ulcers of the throat, and all disorders originating from an impure state of the blood. These admirable drops strengthen the constitution, purify the blood, and promote the circulation of the blood to affect which is evidently the work of time and perseverence in the use of medicines adapted to those salutary purposes. Disorders of the blood are generally many years in acquiring that strength which renders them almost insupportable in their operation. It cannot therefore be reasonably expected, that a single bottle of any medicine will operate like a charm, and change the whole system so long impregnated with deleterious matter; neither should patients be disheartened, if after taking one bottle they should find themselves, in their own apprehensions, rather worse; it is a predicament frequently caused by the moving of malignant matter, and is in fact a very favorable symptom. These drops are gradual, gentle, and almost imperceptible in their operation, sweetening the blood, stimulating it, and giving strength and tone to the nerves, enlivening and invigorating both body and mind. To remove those hard schirous and often indolent tumors that effect the glans of the neck, under the chin, arm pits, groins, hands, arms and wrists, the most obstinate symptoms of the king's evil, struma or scrofula, the whole materia medica has been tried with very little success, and the unhappy sufferer left to drag on a life of misery, but when the anti-impegiinis manifest to health and vigor, if recourse was had to it, there is no relief to be erred upon the crutches. The directions given with each bottle are plain, and its operation attended with little or no trouble, as no further precaution is necessary than such as is taken usually to prevent it. It is well established as a fact, an impure scrofulous taint will remain in the habit for years undiscovered, and will invade the noble organs of the human frame before the patient can be aware of his danger. The anti-impreginis strikes at the root, and not at the branches, and with peculiar advantage, affects the human body. It is a sure and speedy cure for violent coughs, or inflammations on the lungs or livers attended with spitting of blood, or violent pains in the side. Diets will be fresh, as chicken, squirrel, veal, lamb, soft pies, custards, puddings, soups, milk, tea, coffee, chocolate, rice and sago, and Iceland moss, which can be had at the drug shop, made into tea, or young mullen roots, not gone to seed, bruised fine and made into strong tea, beach or sycamore bark, an equal quantity of each, made into tea, or fresh water, poured over slippery elm, or the inside bark of yellow poplar, and wild cherry, an equal quantity of each, made into a tea, or tea of bruised rattle root. Either of these used in place of water.—Price $2,00 per Bottle.

Patent Specific,
A PREVENTATIVE AND A CURE FOR THE CHOLERA.
Prepared solely from vegetable matter.
The dose for a grown person will be one large tea-spoon-full. If the patient should be taken very violently, the dose may be enlarged to two tea-spoons-full, and repeated every ten, fifteen or twenty minutes, until the body becomes in a hot perspiration of heat. Immediately at the first attack, there will be bricks applied to the bottom of the feet and knees, as warm as it can be well borne, and mustard plasters used and immediately applied to the pit of the stomach and under the shoulders, as warm as they can well be borne, and sage, penny-royal, peppermint, or spearmint tea—either of those drank frequently as warm as it can be borne, until the body becomes in a hot perspiration of heat and if the complaint should be very violent, and the patient far spent, there will be two ounces of red cayenne pepper steeped in a pint of French Brandy or Alcohol by cutting it fine, and the stomach, breast and bowels will be frequently rubbed with the same. After the patient feels relief from the complaint, there, it will then be taken three or four times through the course of the day, until the stomach and body gains its usual strength. Children from three to nine months old may take one third or the half of a tea-spoon-full at a dose, and repeated in the same manner, or just as often as the child is able to bear it. From one to three years old, it may be given one half to three parts of a tea-spoon-full given at a dose and repeat ed in the same manner. From three years old up to ten, the dose may be enlarged a little according to age, children from three years to four years, the dose may be mixed with the same quantity of fresh water; the phial must be shook every time before using. Besides the Cholera, this medicine is good for the phthisic, cramp or cold hives, bad colds, hoarseness, spasms, cramps in the breast or stomach, cholics, violent pleurisies, pains in the small of the back and weakness. The above medicine is made and sold by me only, or my authorized agents Price from $1 to $2 per bottle.

The Eloy.
This medicine is for the cure of consumptions, liver diseases, breast complaints, sore pains, pleurisy, ulcers on the legs, white swellings, or any other outward gatherings, quinsy, dyspepsia, or indigestion, swellings, violent headaches arising from foul stomach, nervous diseases which are caused by colds, rheumatic or nervous diseases, gout, weak eyes, small worm or tape worm, ulcers of the throat or nose, violent pains of the limbs, scrofula, fungus, fits, bad cough or pain in the breast of long duration, inflammatory rheumatism, fevers, shakings or agues, inflammations, mortification, inflammation of the lungs, palpitation of the heart andaneurisms.

Price from $1 to $5,00 per Bottle, which will be sold only by me or my authorized agents.

Prospectus of the Maysville Herald,
TRI-WEEKLY AND WEEKLY.
THE undersigned proposes to publish a Tri-Weekly and Weekly paper to be called "THE MAYSVILLE HERALD," which will be devoted, in its political department, to the advocacy of the great principles of National Policy maintained by the Whig party.

Relying mainly for support, upon a Commercial and Trading people, the Editor will seek to bring prominently into view, the advantages which Maysville presents to the surrounding country, as a market, for the products of the South, the manufacturers of the North and East, and the productions of the agriculture and domestic industry and skill of Northern Kentucky and Southern Ohio.

The HERALD will contain the latest Political and Commercial News, foreign and domestic, and keep its readers well advised of the state of those markets most frequented by the Merchants and Traders of that section of country in which it is published. It will also contain the largest amount of Literary and Miscellaneous matter to be found in papers of its class.

The subject of faciliting intercourse between the City and surrounding country, so important to the prosperity of both, will receive such attention as may be necessary to place it properly before those most interested in the result.

We shall foster and encourage, by all the means in our power, the Manufacturing and Mechanical interest, from a conviction that no town or country can prosper greatly, where citizens neglect to give to their surplus products all the value which reproductive industry can bestow, before making them the subject of her commerce.

So soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, we intend to publish, for the benefit of our Farmers, such information upon the subject of their noble pursuit, as experience and the application of the principles of science have developed, or may hereafter make known.

In short, we will aid, to the utmost of our power, by all legitimate means, in bringing into action the springs of prosperity, upon which the happiness of those most interested in our labors depends.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY!!
WILL WONDERS NEVER CEASE!
More evidence of its surpassing & healthful restorative virtues! Read below.

SPRINGFIELD, MAY, 14, 1845,
Messrs. Sanford & Park:

GENTS—I take this method of informing you of a most remarkable cure performed upon me by the use of Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

In the year 1840, I was taken an inflammation of the bowels, which I labored under for six weeks, during which time I was confined to my bed. In the fall of 1841, I was attacked with a severe cold, which seated itself upon my lungs, and for the space of three years I was subject to a hard cough. I tried all kinds of medicine, and every variety of medical advice, but to no benefit, and thus I wearied along until the winter of 1844, when I heard of "Wistar's balsam of wild cherry."

My friends advised me to give it a trial, though I had given up all hopes of recovery and had prepared myself for the change of another world.—Through their solicitations, I was induced to make use of the genuine Wistar's balsam of wild cherry. The effect was truly astonishing. After five years affliction, pain and suffering, and after having expended four or five hundred dollars to no purpose and the best and most respectable physicians having proved unavailing, I was restored to entire health by the blessing of God and use of Dr Wistar's balsam of wild cherry.

I am now enjoying good health and such is my altered appearance that I am no longer recognised when I meet my former acquaintances.

I have gained rapidly in weight, and my flesh is firm and solid. I can now eat as much as any person, and my food seems to agree with me. I have eaten more during the last six months than I had eaten five years before. Considering my case almost a miracle, I deem it necessary for the good of the afflicted, and a sense of duty to my fellow men (who should know where to lief may be had) to make this statement public.

May the blessing of God rest upon the proprietors of so valuable a medicine as Wistar's balsam of wild cherry. Yours respectfully,
WM. H. BAMER.

NEW SERIES OF THE Congressional Globe and Appendix.

CONGRESS, at its last session, through the Joint Library Committee of the two Houses, having authorized a large subscription for the Congressional Globe and Appendix, and the Senate, by resolution, having directed, the made of preparing the reports of its proceedings, and authorized the Secretary of the Senate to contract with the undersigned, stipulating that the reports, when written out, shall be subject to the revision of the speakers, the Congressional Globe and Appendix is now offered to the public, not only as an authentic, but as an official report of the proceedings of Congress, made under the eye, and published by authority of the body.

The undersigned originated the mode of journalizing the proceedings of Congress, which thus adopted, is to be perfected with the sanction and under the supervision of Congress. Their publication was the first and only one that gave each successive step in every measure in both branches of Congress; a brief of all the debates; every important vote, and an Appendix, including at full length all the revised speeches delivered during the session.

The work, as it is now to be conducted by them, will be found a most perfect political history. The senators from the States, and the representatives from every section of the Union, bring with them into Congress a knowledge of the feelings, sentiments, and interests of their constituencies. Public opinion and the public information, as it exists among those they represent, are embodied by them; and, in the concible of Congress, the wisdom of our times is brought to the test, and is there concentrated, in directing the political movements of the entire country. The impulses thus given through Congress from every quarter, react upon the nation as a whole, and all its component parts are made to move in co-operation. The press cannot be more usefully employed than in condensing and again spreading abroad the intelligence of our free country, tending to such a result, worthy of being maintained and improved. We shall enter upon our new undertaking without being distracted or burdened by any associate labors of the press; and, thus unencumbered, shall hope to make the new series a step in advance of the former in all points of execution. With a view to accomplish this, we shall be (one other exception) in attendance on Congress.

The reports will not be affected by our party bias. We believe every Congressman will bear witness that our reports are full and fair.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress, and printed on superfine double royal paper, with small type, (brevier or nonpareil,) in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages. The speeches of the members in this first form are condensed, the full report of the prepared speeches being reserved for the Appendix. All resolutions, motions, and other proceedings are given in the form of the Journals, with the yeas and nays on every important question.

The Appendix is made up of the President's Annual Message, the Reports of the principal officers of the Government that accompany it, and all Speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages during the session.

During the first month or six weeks of the session there is usually more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congressional Globe and one of the Appendix; but during the remainder of the session there is usually sufficient matter for two or three of each every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix together will make near 1,500 large quarto pages, printed in small type, (brevier and nonpareil.) We furnish complete indexes to both at the end of a session.

We have on hand the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the last fifteen sessions of Congress, making together fifteen large royal quarto volumes, which we will sell, unbound, for $41; or bound, with Russia backs and corners, for $56. These two work that the last volumes should apply for them immediately, as they are in demand. Congress subscribed for 341 complete sets during the last two sessions. The proceedings of Congress for the last nine years cannot be procured from any other source, Gales & Seaton having stopped printing their Register of Debates in 1837.

We will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried or lost in the mails, but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply all the lost numbers.

TERMS:

For one copy of the Congressional Globe $1
For one copy of the Appendix 1
For six copies of either or part of both 5

The money may be remitted by mail at our risk. The safest and best way to remit it is, to pay the amount to the Postmaster where you reside, and take from him a receipt according to the following form:

POST OFFICE,——, 184 .

"Received from A B ——dollars, for copies of the Globe, for which I have deducted one per cent, and charged myself, in my account with the General Post Office, with the balance. The postmaster of Washington City will pay the balance to Blair & Rives, or to their order on the back of this receipt. "——Pm.

The rules of the General Post Office Department authorize such receipts to be given and paid here when the amount does not exceed 10 dollars. When it exceeds 10 dollars, it is best to remit as much as possible in bank notes, and the postmaster's receipt for the balance. The postmasters receipt should be made out directed to us, and not to the postmaster of this city, as some are in the habit of doing.

Proprietors of newspapers who publish this prospectus, and send us one copy of the paper continued, marked and with a pen, to attract our attention to it, shall have their names put on our books for one copy of the Congressional Globe and Appendix during the session.

Our prices for these papers are so low that we cannot afford to credit them out; therefore no person need consume his time in writing for them unless he sends the money.

At the commencement of this session, expecting that the debates would be very useful and interesting, (and they have come up to our expectations,) we printed several thousand surplus copies of both the Congressional Globe and Appendix, for the purpose of supplying all persons who might subscribe during the session with complete copies of either or both. We will be able to furnish the back numbers to all who subscribe before the 4th of next March.
