All advertisements inserted in this paper, marked "till forbid" will be charged for the time that they are published. No exceptions to this rule in any case.

NEW IN THE TIME.—We say to those who owe us subscription, that we must be pressed and pay us. We have a large payment to make on our office the 1st of October, and we must have the money. We mean what we say. We must have the money. Those who are our friends will respond favorably.

CHOLERA.—For a time in Maysville it is settled that we have no cholera.

THE NEW BRIDGE.—The new bridge across the Iron branch is progressing—slowly.

THE CORN CROP.—The drouth has nearly ruined the corn crop in this section.

[illegible] Dr. John Francis published a polite card in today's paper, and it and then call on him.

[illegible] grass in this section is entirely [illegible]. In fact everything of the vegetable kind is suffering for rain.

FLOUR.—We are indebted to Mr. J. E. Southgate for one box of fruit. Please accept our thanks.

SOLD.—Mr. A. M. Cassidy has purchased the hotel at Carlisle, from W. Kinder for $7,300, and certainly is a clever gentleman and will make a good hotel.

HUGE PUMPKINS.—Mr. [illegible] Sotts of Bath county, brought to this city a few weeks ago a pumpkin weighing [illegible] pounds. Who can beat it?

ANOTHER.—Mr. [illegible] A. Kennan exhibited on Saturday a Bermuda Sweet Potato which weighed four pounds and measured [illegible] and a half inches in circumference.

THE BATTLE OF SEDAN.—We publish on the outside of today's paper a full account of the great battle of Sedan by a French Soldier. It is quite interesting and will repay a perusal.

IMPROVEMENT.—Messrs. James A. Andrews & Co. have made a decided improvement to their store house by building a large apartment to it in the rear. It is now the largest and most commodious store room in town.

ABSENT.—Dr. W. S. Moore is at present absent from his office in this place but will return in a few days. He attends exclusively the County of Bath engaged in the practice of his profession.

READ IT.—Persons wishing to purchase a very desirable Fleming County farm will do well to call and examine that of Mr. Thos. Darnall, living near Elizaville, which will be found advertised in our paper today.

IS AN INCREDIBLE SHORT space of time NATURE'S HAIR RESTORATIVE has been in use by the public. Never. Why? Because it does its work, and leaves no ill effects. See advertisement.

FOR SALE.—The valuable suburban residence of the late Hiram T. Pearce, near Maysville, will be sold at public auction on Thursday, the 29th inst. It is one of the most desirable places about Maysville. See the advertisement in to-day's paper.

METHODIST MISCELLANY.—This is the name of a new Methodist paper about to be started at Covington, Kentucky. Rev. H. F. Walker will have editorial charge of it, and J. G. Downtain, formerly of the Flemingsburg Dispatch will be its publisher. We wish it success.

PUBLIC CISTERN.—The public cistern in front of the Court House is being repaired. This is a move in the right direction. This cistern should be kept in good repair as it is capable of holding enough water to supply the whole town.

WATER SCARCE.—The water is still very scarce in town—all the wells are dry and our citizens are compelled to haul it a great distance. Why could not our city fathers sink a few more deep wells or clean out the artesian well, it will think should, water for a little place like this. Something must be done.

CHILDREN'S DEARY AND SYRUP!—You can obtain all three by the use of [illegible] Preparations. His Pills will relieve the Stomach and create a cheerful feeling, his Purifier will cleanse the Blood, and thereby beautify the Complexion, and his Bitters will invigorate the Vital powers, making strength to the Body.

C. C. NUTT, D. D., President Indiana State University, says: "Dr. Wolfe's Father's House," is a most useful, instructive and entertaining work. We most heartly recommend it.

NIGHT SCENES, has not with unprecedented success in its sales, but it is now in great demand. Well it deserves it.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—We are indebted to M. M. Yeager, the popular County Clerk, for the following list of licenses issued from his office since the 1st of August last:

Jesiah Hammond Louisa A. Underwood.
Oliver Saunders and Levina Day.
John Dudley and Margaret Cole.
E. M. Cassell and Elizabeth Spencer.
J. Marion H. Trimble and Margaret A. Ly.
Martin L. Beans and Adella P. Stone.
John F. Stone and Bloney B. Bedford.

The matrimonial market has ruled dull all summer, but the fall indications are that it will be a little more lively. We have heard of several parties who are in the notion of embarking on the sea of matrimonial bliss. Let the good work go bravely on.

DRINKIT & SORTAT

D. S. BARKSDALE & SON.—We call the attention of the readers of this paper to the advertisement of the above firm. Mr. D. S. Barksdale, Jr., is a young man of business habits and a clever gentleman. Mr. D. S. Barksdale, Sr., is well known to everybody to call on them and examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere. They are selling goods cheap. Read their advertisement in this issue.

LOOK OUT.—Mr. Wm. Williams, who is a clever gentleman, informs us that the County Court of Bath county, has awarded him the contract for building a bridge across Sand Lick, near Sharpsburg, in that county. He informs us that he had to underbid the Bath County Bridge Company, and that he will have to commence the work at once. We hope he may be successful in his undertaking.

NOTICE.—We the undersigned members of the Church of Christ in Fleming County feeling the need of a more efficient and cordial cooperation of the churches in the Missionary work—would respectfully suggest that all the churches in the county meet in convention to consult with our duty in the matter and the most efficient means of accomplishing the same.

For this purpose we recommend that the churches appoint delegates to attend a convention to be held at Flemingsburg, the Saturday before the second Lord's day in October.

We would also request the following preaching brethren to urge upon their respective churches the importance of responding to this call, viz: Joseph Frank, Reuben McCormick, E. B. Challener, R. J. Halland Bale, Retcoff.

Sales &c.

Report of the Executor's sale of the real estate of the late Andrew Griffith, on Shannon, in Mason county, September 1st, 1870:

Homestead farm, 148 acres, at $35.05 per acre. Thomas R. and Mary J. Griffith, purchasers.

Dan. Griffith's place of 53½ acres, sold to James Atkiton, at $105 per acre.

Oak timbered land of 48 acres, near Surlis, sold to Reuben M. Westby, at $41.50 per acre. Total sales of real estate $21,328 40.

The personal property of the deceased, consisting of horses, milch cows, yearlings, furniture, etc., brought good prices, and footed up $567.70.—Maysville Bulletin.

The Clark County Democrat says: Last County Court day brought quite a large crowd of people to town but not as much stock as usual on the market. Cattle stock particularly, was less in quantity by one-half and in quality very different, the best of them not bringing more than 4c. and ranging as low as 3c. There were no very good cattle on the market. There were from 75 to 100 mules, several of which sold from $150 to $200. Sales were but for a drove of broke mules, but they were "nigh" with them. Horses were not very numerous, but the demand was brisk.

STATE NEWS.

Franklin, in Simpson county, wants two white barbers, and promises them a first-rate patronage.

The Rev. S. K. Hall, of Lexington, has received the appointment of State Agent for the Old Fellows' Home and Orphans, University. This institution is to be located at Harrodsburg, Ky., and we understand that $150,000 has already been subscribed, and by the amount yet desired to complete the endowment is $100,000.

The city of Louisville was visited with a tremendous storm on the evening of the 2nd inst. It washed away culverts, damaged sewers and streets, and for a time street railroad travel to be entirely suspended for the time. Terrific thunder and lightning accompanied the storm. Two houses were struck by lightning in the city. In one case, a lady in an adjoining house was rendered insensible for some time, and in the other, a chimney was entirely demolished.

It happens sometimes, but not often, that a man who has no dollars upon one determination to publish a new political paper. Let this we concede, in no place prohibitions from expressing an opinion of public men and public measures and qualifications for office.

The people of the State will be called upon in a short time to express their preference for a person to fill a highly and responsible position of Governor. In the list of names prominently before the people for that office, perhaps none combine so many of the requisite qualifications as Lieut. Governor Leslie, of Barren. He is a gentleman of great legal attainments and a fine orator as a legislator, a gentleman of firmness and unblemished reputation and character. It would seem to us that no one could be chosen more eminently suited for the position. He possesses the confidence and esteem of his acquaintances in the highest degree, and would bring to the position, ripe qualifications, experience and ability.

Gov. Leslie will in a short time be called on to perform the duties of Governor, for the unexpired term of Governor Stevenson, and we feel confident he will do so in a manner that will reflect credit on him in office for the full term.—Columbia Spectator. [illegible]

Why don't the new broom manufacturers with modesty to accept their breeches in repair, of course not [illegible]

The Eighth Congressional District.

The caucus for Congress in the Eighth District, held in Lexington, on Tuesday last, was largely attended. In deference to the unanimous wish of the Democracy, Hon. G. M. Adams has announced himself a candidate for re-election, and will stump the district with his usual energy. For an opponent he has H. F. Finley, Esq., who has been formally nominated by the Bluegrass Democracy in convention. The first, most manly, honorable contest. He is Commonwealth's Attorney for that judicial district, and a man of ability. The decrease of the Radical strength by the newly acquired negro vote has revived the hopes of the party, and they will make a very hard fight when they come to the Eighth District, which they have to the shadow of a chance to carry. Adams will have to contend with every form of outside influence which can be brought against him. Not only will the Radicals in other districts furnish material and but, the latter will be sufficient to warrant solicitations from other States. But all will be operating against the gallant Adams, who after having won two hard fought battles, will carry the district by an increased majority. But it will be by such a thorough canvass of the district as few men can make, and by the friends of Mr. Adams working, as they always have done, and not cultivating over confidence.

THE NINTH DISTRICT.

The District Convention which met at West Liberty on the 1st inst., resulted in the nomination of Hon. John M. Rice as the candidate for Congress. He defeated Hon. John M. Elliott, who was only defeated by about two votes. The election of Mr. Rice by a majority larger even than he received two years ago is beyond question. For more than a year of this term he was harrassed with an impudent contest by a man who was wholly unfitted for the place, and who in defeated he called a thousand votes. Contrary to general expectation, Radicalism failed to take Congress against the outrage sought to be perpetrated in the Ninth Kentucky District and himself, and he was confirmed his election by a majority of 2,000. Beigler, his contestant, pocketing several thousand dollars at the hands of the speculation. The question of his eligibility being thus settled beyond dispute, it is matter of congratulation that we are not to have the election of another contest in any Radical who may wish to get a year's expenses at Washington, paid.—Frankfort Yeoman.

Rev. Nathan Lord, late President of Dartmouth College, died at Hanover, last Friday morning, aged 77 years.

Hon. J. Burney Marshall, of Memphis, brother of Hon. Humphrey Marshall, and for many years a noted journalist, in Louisville, fell from a window in Memphis a few days since, and was killed instantly. It is supposed that he took his seat in the window and fell asleep.

What Does Reason say.

The little mosquoes who bitten by a deadly serpent resorts to a certain plant, eats of it, and escapes the effect of the poison. The Indians, Roman Indians on the other hand, must depend on reason and experience in selecting the means of protecting health and life against the poisonous influences. Now, what does reason say on the subject? Does it say tell us what we should do to safely, rules is the best way to protect a against the invisible poison which generates diseases? Surely it does. The next question is, what guide shall we follow in choosing a medicine? Reason replies, let your guide be experience. Well, experience of eighteen years, comprised in one unbroken series of satisfactory testimonials, assures us that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters possess strengthening, regulating, and antiseptic properties which are not combined in the same happy proportions in any other preparation extant. This therefore is the antidote to which reason bids us resort, when our health is imperiled either by the malaria which produces epidemic disorders, or by any other cause, whether inherent and constitutional or connected with our habits, occupations and pursuits.

The venom of a cockroach equals in heavy more subtle and dangerous than that which stings, yet air and the wholesome food at the disposal of the poor, in the cities of the Western Texas, Mexico, Central and South America, and in the tropics generally, are rendered pure and wholesome by the invigorating influence produced by these invaluable elements of health, when taken into the system in a robust condition. Upon the amount of resistance which the vital system can oppose to the deleterious influences that assail it, the safety of life and health depends, and it is because the natural vitality of the system is increased and regularity to the most important functions of the body that it can be recommended and guaranteed as an invaluable preventive medicine.

BRIGHT VISION.—In common with many others we have felt a lively interest in the publications which Dr. Ayer has been making of the cures of failure of the hair and gray hair is premature. His researches are and the results are more thorough and satisfactory than any of our readers believe. The result is, our hoary sires under the name of Ayer's Hair Vigor, have given it a fair trial, and with full satisfaction. It would be unnecessary to give testimonials. Our readers have seen them, of course, of their original color, with the exception of not, which hair has started in a year of the early which was entirely bald.—Democrat, Abington Pa.

PARTIES AND WEDDINGS.—If you are going to have a party or wedding go to H. C. Ashton & Co. and they will fix you up in style in the way of fancy cakes of all kinds and confectionaries. For they keep the largest stock of goods of that line of any house in town, and sell them low.

Several Reasons why Chase, Bigelow & Co. Should Sell Lumber, Shingles, Doors, Sash, Blinds, Flooring, &c, Cheaper than can be had at any place point south of Pittsburg.

1st. They keep a larger stock than any other establishment.

2nd. Their acquaintance on the Allegheny and tributaries enables them to buy their stock cheaper.

3rd. They have the very best machinery and every convenience for manufacturing.

4th. They understand their business and bring to bear upon it their energies.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever one so much in demand as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. As a family cathartic, for every country and every climate, in this and other lands, Ayer's Cathartic Pills, the common purgative medicine, are in demand. Being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take, and are the safest cathartic that can be used by any one, for they are harmless in all cases.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills, being the best purgative medicine known to mankind, are used in all cases and conditions in all climates; and, being unalterable, they can be depended on, wherever they may be taken, with safety and speedy. Their power over disease is wonderful, for they have been proved to cure many dangerous maladies which other cathartics do not even touch, and which yield to no other medicine. They purge all the bowels to be healthy, and cleanse the system when it is foul, expelling the humors which lay there, to breed sickness, and sometimes death, if not expelled. They purge out the fevers, inflammations, and obstructions which they find there, and by so doing they cure the diseases which they cure. They purge out the beginnings of fevers, and by so doing they prevent the fevers which would be produced if they were not taken. They purge out the beginnings of many a disease which would be produced if they were not taken. They purge out the beginnings of many a disease which would be produced if they were not taken. They purge out the beginnings of many a disease

THE DEMOCRAT

C. H. STRONG,
EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, SEPT. ..... 15, 1870.

STATE SOVEREIGNTY—WHITE MANHOOD—TO AFFILIATION WITH NEGROES, EQUAL RIGHTS CANNOT BE ACCORDED. THIS WE DO NOT WAGE. THIS IS LIBERTY.

FOR CONGRESS.

HON. JOHN M. RICE,
OF LAWRENCE.

W. K. Thomas, the sailor of Jefferson County, died at Louisville on Sunday last.

The census will show a population in New York City of less than 950,000, so says Radical authority.

The Democratic and Conservative State Convention of Tennessee, met in Nashville, on Tuesday last. It is probable that Andrew Johnson was nominated for Governor.

Vermont, the little State which Stephen A. Douglass always said was a "good place to emigrate from," has again gone Republican. A nastier little hole does not exist outside of Nasty creek.

The consumption of beer in the principle cities of the country during the past five months has been immense, and it is a difficulty to the Internal Revenue Department to furnish the stamps required. The cause of this is that the Dutch have been drunk ever since the war between Prussia and France commenced.

How singular it seems that all the Radical journals in the country with but few exceptions take side with Prussia against France. The French people have put on the garb of a Republic Prussia still groans under a despotic form of government. The house of the nobility and liberty would destroy the French Republic while they (Prussia) one doctrine and practice another.

Hon. John M. Rice.

In the absence of the proceedings of the Democratic Convention which was held at West Liberty, on the 1st inst., we know nothing in regard to the nomination of the distinguished gentleman whose name heads the article in our last weeks paper. We publish in another place the full proceedings by which it will be seen that the contest between Hon. Jno. M. Rice and the Hon. Jno. W. Kendall for Morgan County was very close. The Convention was not very largely attended by delegates though all the counties save one was represented. The Convention did very wisely in nominating Mr. Rice. He was undoubtedly the choice of a majority of the Democracy of the district. He has made us an able member of the last Congress, and he will make us a better one in the 42d. From the singular fact that he will be troubled with no contest for his seat after his election as he was last term, he will doubtless canvass the district when our people will have time for him. We place his name at the head of our columns with pride and pleasure, and we doubt not he will be returned to Congress by a majority of at least eight thousand.

A FIZZLE.

The Great National—Republican—Nigger—Nine-ring Party of the Ninth District which was to meet in grand conclave, last Thursday, in the City of Maysville, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress simply—did not come together and fetch forth its august offspring or corruption, we are not posted. Delegates went from this county, or rather we are told were there from the hills of Carter, and some from Shep Rand's neighborhood, a few from Sam McCoy's old dominions and a good many from Mason were in attendance, but the Convention did not meet and we are not privileged to announce any birth from this old carcass, and can only say that it was a miserable abortion. We can only account for it in this way, that the Democratic majority is so large in the district that no decent Republican would dare to race and there being a good deal of competition between Shep Rand, Tom Thomas and Zeigler, that the Convention had to assemble to could have made up a ticket between the three.

Service in Full Death.

Yesterday morning a young man, a son of one of the best families in the City of Cincinnati, educated, genteel and talented, died a miserable death in the City Hospital. His fine social qualities opened the quickest which completely ruined him. He is but one of the victims of the demon of intemperance, and an intellect which gave the brightest promises fell darkened with the wild ravings of delirium tremens.

The above extract from the Courier Journal, is sad in its own sad tale. It is but a single instance among thousands that we read of in our exchanges—weekly. The blighting curse of intemperance is preying upon the fair youth of our land, and the hope of our country. Sooner or later it will bring our nation to ruin and our people to penury and want. Something must be done to bar the downward march of this evil. There certainly must be a remedy for it somewhere. The temperance organization in our state is not the first effort to extract its course, but it may fail. Temperance organizations do a good deal in their way, but they will never succeed until the churches of our land join hands and shake and make a common war against intemperance. Let the churches stick up boldly in their faith and frown down all drain-drinkers and expel from the church all those men who are casual drinkers and we will have no drunkards. The same rule professed by the Christian church in its first days of requesting that bar-rooms and private tippling had better throw off an cloak of religion. To preach sobriety and not practice it is a fraud. Members of the church should be the leaders in the cause of temperance, and in the language of the eloquent Bain, "your efforts will be rewarded." Make it a point to attack the drain-drinker, and we will have no drunkards, and if we lessen the number of our friends who drain-drink, we can relieve a legislature of sober men from all the annoyance, the horrors and the horrible results of which the one above recorded is but a drop in the bucket. Let the church purify herself in this regard and the temperance cause will flourish. We offer no apology for this article. The same sentiment was uttered in a public lecture at the Court House a few days ago. We endorsed the sentiment then, it is ours now—and we utter it freely—Stop drinking in the churches and the influence of it will be felt and appreciated outside.

Welcome The New Republic.

Under this head we find a very good article in the Cincinnati Enquirer, of Friday last. It suits our own notion so well in regard to the New Republic that we transfer it to our editorial columns. Our sympathies have always been with the French people and now that they have established a government like the one we love, we hope they will obtain the aid and sympathy of the whole American people. The Enquirer, says:

"From the Mediterranean to the English Channel, from the Bay of Biscay to the Alps, France hails the correction of the Republic with a unanimity unparalleled in the history of any country. She adopts the government of the people. For eighteen years the Republic of France has been only suppressed, and destroyed. Love of republicanism illumates the heart of every true Frenchman, and in her trials, tribulations and revolutions she turns to a Republic as her refuge from her evils. She has been the friend of every people struggling for liberty. Without France, the Republic of the United States would never have been established, and her patriotic services would have been put to death. She naturally turns her eyes to this Republic, which she founded, and helped to rail and in return. Shall we pay the debt of gratitude contracted by our fathers, or shall we turn our back on our friend, France, just early sky and our friend, France, just early sky and say the people of France, has had no quarrel with the people of Germany. The present war was inaugurated by despots to perpetuate the reign of despotism. The French people, France people, we repeat, have no cause of war, but, on the contrary, have every reason to love and sympathize with each other, struggling, as they soon will be, to establish universal freedom. To a great extent they are peoples of kindred tastes and sympathies. In every department of science and intellectual effort they lead the Continent. In 1848, they combined, and, by joint efforts, drove the despots from their thrones, or, coerced them into granting constitutions establishing civil liberty. The war was avoided by the action on the part of Prussia against Napoleon, and not the French people; for it was he and not they who sought to prevent the unity of the German people. France has rid herself of the despots and their natural sycophancy. She no longer menaces Germany, but tenders peace, and its guarantee the abolishment of standing armies. We have no idea that the despot, Frederick William, will accept this proposition, but lovers of liberty and constitutional government throughout Germany will, and their voices will ere long be potentially heard. The people of the United States have never withheld their sympathy from any foreign nation struggling for liberty, or the creation of republican institutions. Why should they do it now? In the past, both when it is our ancient ally, the land of Lafayette and Rochambeau? The duty of our government is plain—prompt and immediate recognition of the new Republic is demanded. In 1848, while the throne of Louis Philippe was burning in the street, and without waiting to hear from home, Mr. Rush, our Minister at Paris, formally recognized the Republic, and his prompt action did much to give at least, the example is worthy of imitation. Not only that, but public meetings were everywhere held, welcoming the new Republic into the family of nations.

It is falsely said that the French people are unfit for self-government. Their history contradicts this. The first Republic was crushed out by an alliance of European despots. In 1830 she would again have established a Republic, if it had not been for the treachery of Thiers, and Talleyrand. With one hand they obliged to meet the invader, while, at the same time, with the other they are engaged in the work of National Reform. Who, under such circumstances, can withhold his sympathy, especially as a Republic in France means, sooner or later, Republics in all countries of Southern and Central Europe? It is for this reason that the despot of Prussia will seek to crush it out, and in that work he will have the good will of the Tory aristocracy of England and the brother despots of the continent. But it is enthusiastically received by the Republicans of Spain, Italy, Poland and Ireland. In this array shall the United States be joined with the despots or with the people? Our ancestors once had such a case presented to them in the land. French Revolution, and they almost immediately were our friends and allies against its enemies. Nothing is needed of this country but its moral influence, and it should be given, without distinction of party or sect, to the new Republic.

The Government at Washington has promptly recognized the Republic.
