MAYSVILLE EXPOSITOR.

RICHARD H. STANTON. "THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THE STATES, AND THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THE PEOPLE." B. D. CROOKSHANKS.

Vol. IX. Maysville, Kentucky, Thursday Morning, February 6, 1840. No. 38.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, Immediately above the Post Office.

TERMS:

One year in advance, - - - - $3 00
At the end of the year, - - - 3 50
All subscriptions must be paid before any paper will be allowed to discontinue, until the option of the proprietors.

Nothing, 16 lines or under, first insertion, - - - $1 00
Each subsequent insertion, - - - 37
Quarter, - - - - - - 4 50
Half year, - - - - - 8 00
Year, - - - - - - 15 00
Liberal deduction of 15 per cent. made on additional square.

Valuable Distinction.

In the midst of a general, and in many instances merited prejudice against the multitude of the medical remedies of the day, EVANS' Pills have the enviable distinction of an universal approbation. They have not been long before public, but enough that has the full and unreserved testimony of medical men in its favor, if not the voice which, in this country, is entitled to its name. Dr. W. Evans has the satisfaction saying that his CA ROMILE or TONIC PILLS are only recently introduced, and prescribed by the most experienced physicians in their daily practice, but also taken experiment in hundreds of cases, with the symptoms of those diseases in which, and know these to be efficacious. He this to be generally the case in New York, Philadelphia, Albany, Boston, and other cities in which they have an extensive sale. That they should thus commanding approbation and patronage of the most eminent and most intelligent physicians in the country, is a tribute to their worth, and a proof that they are deservedly fast ascribed to their unlimited use and extensive sale.

Perhaps, however, as this distinction is, it is in the merited fame of the intrinsic excellence of the medicine itself. It does not to be a mere idle boast, when we say that it greatest. Dr. Evans does not prescribe Cathartic Pills will cure all diseases by purging the bowels, but he certainly prescribed, and on the authority of daily experience, he asserts, that these medicines, taken as recommended, will cure a majority of the diseases of the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to which human nature is heir to and consequent. The blood is from the contents of the stomach; has a constant vitalizing circulation to and by the of the lungs, and as it performs its duty purifying through the veins and arteries, the purity of the blood should be the Great direction of the physician. Now there various causes that will affect and derange the organs with which the blood has to whatever to do. Thus the stomach be utterly debilitated in one moment, by fat, pie, disappointment, heat of the sun, or any other accident, and the liver be unable to digest its food. In the blood and in this? A nervous action of long time will produce such a disorder, the stomach and liver, and a general retinue of other evils—blood to blame for this? Bilious Pills are recommended for this.

Diseases of the stomach, and bowels, and a general prostrate weakness, and the quaking and consequent loss of energy, be cured by producing the same effects, pel an organ almost out of use for disorder, whenever solid food, and the nourishing the blood and the whole system fault to blame for this? Again, with of little Lungs, it is well known that a cold, occasioned by damp feet or by a of air, will inflame the bronchia, till the bronchia the bronchia and the lungs and create either excessive mucus, or fatally insidious disease, Consumption. Bilious pills are a sovereign remedy for which they usually remedies may prepare to stall cure. Dr. Evans's Pills are the Sure for Sallow Liver, when climate, sedentary or intemperance, or other prostrating have stifled it away, or partially of function, because unable to cover it of the circulation, and instead of being through the gall bladder, leaves through the skin in jaundiced and fails, and to rush upon the stomach liver and excessive quantities. In the some blood to blame for this? Bilious Pills are never affected by the and after the blood has been affected they are in a weakened condition, and only their work and their pa sive action.

DR. W. EVANS prescribes his beautifully SUGAR COATED PILLS, —sickness, medical men who have analyzed and by belief, to be the equal to any in the cases which require the cleansing of the and bowels; and his celebrated CA ROMILE or TONIC PILLS, in cases of of irritability, Stomach weakness, or of debility.

For Fevers, which can be purchased Tonic or separately, are could lastly recommended for the following complaints, and in cases not mentioned, they are sometimes Dyspepsia, Bilious and Liver Affections, Costiveness, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Fever and Ague, Chronic Diarrhoea, Jaundice, Dropsy, Fever and Ague, Consumption of Bowels, Worms, Cholic, Pain in the Side, Headache and Giddiness, Nervous Complaints, Tremors, Spasms, Convulsions, Hysterics, Nervous Fevers, Nervous Weakness, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Gravel, Dropsy, Costiveness, and all blood diseases, and headaches, Nervous Headaches, Restlessness, Want of Sleep, Irritability and melancholy, Nervous Complaints, Tremors, Spasms, Convulsions, Hysterics, Nervous Headaches

REPORT

Of the Select Committee to whom was referred the response of the Treasurer.

Mr. Mathews, from the Select Committee, to whom was referred the response of the Treasurer to the resolutions which passed the House of Representatives on the 15th of December last, would respectfully report:—

That they have been engaged in a laborious investigation of the accounts of the Treasurer, which have accrued since the Forty-second session, made in 1833; but owing to causes for which the Committee are not accountable, they have been unable to make a satisfactory investigation, or such a one as was expected by the House, or desired by the Treasurer. On examination, the Committee discovered several errors in the annual reports heretofore made to the Legislature, by the Auditor of the Treasury and Auditor, as taken from the printed Journals of the House, and many of them of considerable magnitude, and such as to demand correction. They believe, however, that the most important have been corrected by the Treasurer, in his response to the resolutions which have been the subject of this investigation. By reference to the reports of the Treasurer, for the last ten years, it will be at once discovered that they are inaccurate and full of such errors, and do not agree with response now under consideration; nor do they agree in many particulars with the reports of the Auditor, as printed in the journals of the previous sessions. But it is due to the Treasurer, here to state, that in the instances in which the Committee were enabled to make a comparison of the printed annual reports of the Treasurer and Auditor, (where a discrepancy existed), with the original books, they found the Treasurer correct; and so far as the Committee are enabled to determine, they believe that the response to the resolutions of the 15th of December, corrects the errors heretofore existing in the annual reports of the Treasurer, and that the appendix to the Second Annual report, will be found to be a correct exposition of the books in the Auditor's office; and that it will agree with the response of the Treasurer.

But it must be borne in mind, that neither the annual reports, or the response of the Treasurer, nor yet the books in the Auditor's office, can be relied on as giving the House a correct statement of our financial condition as a State; and for the obvious reason that large sums of money have been paid into the Treasury for Internal Improvement purposes, as stated by the Treasurer himself, without first being entered on the books of the Auditor, or without any accounts being kept by the Treasurer, or the persons paying it in, so far as the Committee were enabled to ascertain. The laws of the State intended that the Auditor should be a check upon the Treasurer; but it is obvious to every one, that if the Treasurer is permitted to receive money without being charged by the Auditor, this check is at once destroyed, and the State has no security, save in the honesty of the individual who may happen to be appointed to take charge of the public funds; since it must be evident to every person, that the securities of the Treasurer are not liable for money thus illegally paid into the Treasury.

But the House should think the Treasurer censurable for having received public money without its first being certified and charged by the Auditor, what will they think of the public functionary who has that paid over the public money without receiving any evidence of such payment, whatever? The amount which has been thus received into the Treasury, your Committee were unable to ascertain; for they, after deliberate enquiry, were unable to find any person who had kept, any account, or even memorandum of it; but from the best information, it is believed to be about $350,000—and they are only enabled to arrive at this supposed amount, from the voluntary admissions of the Treasurer, who, much to his own credit, stated (after it was ascertained that he had credits for about that amount over and above his debits,) that all the money which he had paid out was public money, and if he had put out this sum over and above his accounts, (which was evident,) he then came to the conclusion that the excess of his payments over his receipt, was about the amount which had been thus illegally received, and it will be at once perceived that this is a very important balance against the State, growing out of the fact that the Treasurer has not been charged with as much as he should have been, by about $300,000, if not more.

But there is still a worse practice which has grown up, since the establishment of our Treasury, more dangerous, if possible, than that above alluded to; which, although it may be convenient to the public creditors, and the officers of the government, your Committee think should be at once stopped—and that is the practice of paying off requisitions at the Treasury, without a warrant being first drawn by the Auditor, to authorize payment; and your Committee were sorry to learn that this practice had been followed to a considerable extent, though they were unable to ascertain that the loss, as yet, had been thus paid off without any warrant being drawn until after the payment was made, and many indeed of these requisitions, thus paid, had not the signature of the President of the Board of Internal Improvement affixed to them until long after the payment was made by the Treasurer. Or in other words, payments to a large amount have been made on requisitions and drafts, by the Treasurer and the President of the Board of Internal Improvement, but merely attested by the Secretary of the Board, in express violation of law. Hence it will be perceived that, although the Committee were unable to detect the slightest evidence of fraud, yet, if these practices are permitted to continue, fraud may be practiced to an alarming extent, without the possibility of detection; and it is due to the Treasurer to state that he is blamed every thing in the Business in his power to give, or they could explain.

In the case of Internal Improvement expenditures made, the Committee undertook to trace the money from the Treasury of the Board of Internal Improvement, where it was a requisition, and if the President of the Board be present, he signed it, and if not, it was presented to the Treasury and paid without his signature, and for this description of requisitions there accumulated to a large amount, the President is requested to examine, by the Treasurer, which is done without any strict examination; the Treasurer then passes them to the Auditor, who finds no warrant for the given amount, many days after the money has been paid, to cover payments already made, and not to authorise payments to be made. Indeed, in one instance, after the Auditor had refused to issue his warrant on the Treasury for a given sum, on the ground that there was no law authorizing the payment, the Treasurer proceeded to pay the sum, without a warrant, and although the payment was made to the credit of the Lexington and Ohio Railroad Company, for whom the State was endorser, yet the Committee think that payment should not thus have been made under any circumstances.

The committee have thought it their duty thus briefly to state what has grown out of their investigation; and believing the laws to be sufficiently rigid, if attended to assume a due accountability, they have thought it unnecessary to recommend any additional legislative enactment, but would respectfully submit the following joint resolution for the consideration of the Legislature, as indicative of its opinion, as to the manner of distributing the public money.

Resolved, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That it is illegal and improper, in every respect, for the Treasurer to receive any sum or sums of money into the Treasury, from any source whatever, without the certificate of the fact on the record, stating that the same has been audited, and from whom, and for what purpose the same is paid.

Resolved, That it is in express violation of law, and improper, for the Treasurer to pay out money on requisitions from the Board of Internal Improvement, without, or before, a warrant therefor being drawn by the Auditor.

From the New Orleans Picayune, 9th inst.

RECEPTION OF GEN. JACKSON.

As had been previously arranged, the steamers being the venerable ex-president arrived yesterday morning at about 10 o'clock. An immense throng assembled at the wharf to welcome him, and the steamboat vessels in the river, and the house tops, were alive with people waving their hats and handkerchiefs as he approached. The old General looks somewhat the worse for age, but is still, notably active and hearty for one of his years.

The reception, generally, was one of which the aged veteran should feel proud. There was not a little, animosity on the part of some of his political opponents which we consider anything but praiseworthy, but the body of our citizens were out and cordially welcomed the man who in 1815, manfully braved, not only an almost incomprehensible enemy but public opinion, in their behalf. We, in our individual capacity, are among those who have politically opposed General Jackson in thought word and deed—not eleventh hour man, but ever against his political advancement from boyhood to manhood, still we yesterday forgot the politician and thought, only of the man—welcomed him as the "Hero of New Orleans" and the fearless defender of his country, and were happy to forget all else.

On leaving the boat a barouche with four horses was ready to receive him, from whence he was escorted by the Lion and Washington Battalion, to the State House, the procession passed along Canal street, through a dense mass of citizens thronged each side, and the numerous balconies were groaning with their fair burthens—ladies waving their handkerchiefs, while the silver headed warrior bowed in acknowledgment of their salutations.

From the State House he was escorted to the public square, in front of the old cathedral, by the veterans of '14 and '15, the members of the legislature, & many members of the citizens. Arrived at the public square he was conducted to the cathedral, where an oration was delivered, after which he reviewed the troops in the square, the cannoniers meanwhile firing a salute, the part of the ceremonies over he was escorted to his rooms at the St Louis Exchange by the military, after which they were dismissed.

New Orleans has won some fame for the brilliancy of her military displays, but the grand pageant of yesterday was a thing of the kind we have ever witnessed. All feelings of rivalry were forgotten and the Legion and Washington Battalion turned out in concert. We never saw them look to more advantage than they did on this occasion, and the sight of other days could be seen brightening in the old soldier's eyes as he contemplated the fine martial display before him. He who had led ray and undisciplined Tennessians and Louisianians to battle and to victory, from the same spot, now to behold a well drilled and disciplined array of troops, and his pleased countenance fully indicated his satisfaction.

In the evening, agreeable to the invitation of the management, the General and his suite attended the St Charles. At the close of the act of the comedy then performing, the curtain was dropped and the anthem played according to announcement. The curtain then rose, and Mr. J. M. Field delivered a popular address from his own pen to the defender of New Orleans, the aged veteran who came "To bless the children of the sires he saved."

The address was received with a storm of dome, and the General twice arose to acknowledge the enthusiastic cheering of the multitude. "Hail Columbia" was then sung by the full company of the St Charles and the whole house headed warrior left the theatre amid the prolonged cheers of an admiring audience of some two thousand souls. Thus ends our brief and hastily written record of a day that will be remembered while New Orleans stands and the Mississippi flows.

Incident.—Amongst the crowd of wretched women, who yesterday thronged the Alms House Office in the Park, was one, who while waiting for her turn to be received, was suddenly seized with the pains of labor, and was taken down stairs, where in a few minutes she gave birth to another unfortunate.—N. Y. Journal & Com.

From the Louisville Advertiser.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

At an adjourned meeting of the Democrats of this city, on Saturday evening last, Jacob Geiger, Esq. was called to the Chair, and Mr. Jno. F. McClellan appointed Secretary.

The Delegation in the State Convention at Frankfort, in pursuance of a resolution adopted at a former meeting, made the following

REPORT:

The Delegates from the city of Louisville, in the Democratic State Convention held on the 8th inst., being required to report to this meeting, beg leave, in discharge of that duty, to submit the following:

The Convention, notwithstanding the extreme severity of the weather, was composed of more than three hundred and fifty members, from sixty counties, and the city of Louisville; and in point of intelligence and influence over the interests of the country, it was all that could have been desired. Its members were deeply impressed with the importance of the duties they were called on to discharge, and therefore labored to produce harmony and a strong organization on the part of the opponents of an unwise, inefficient and prodigal State Administration.

At first, as might have been expected, some diversity of opinion and conflicting views were entertained by some gentlemen Gen. Robert McAfee, Col J. Speed Smith, Gen John M. McCalla, and others, had zealous and intelligent friends in the Convention, but the patriotic course of these gentlemen was worthy of them, and such as could not fail to produce the desired result. Col. Smith took the earliest opportunity to decline a nomination; General McCalla acted in the same manner, so soon as he ascertained that his friends had manifested a disposition to press his claims; and the speech of Gen Moore yesterday was addressed to a to to the Mercer Delegation, withdrawing his name, in which he magnanimously declared that he preferred harmony among his political brethren to personal advancement, and pledged himself to use his influence to cordially cooperate in support of the nominees of the Convention, and in maintaining the principles which he has so long and so faithfully defended.

It was for a time difficult to decide whether the friends of the Hon Richard French, or those of the Hon. A. G. Hawes, would succeed in securing the nomination for the first office. In the talents, integrity and patriotism of both, unlimited confidence was felt. It was admitted on all hands that the characters of the gentlemen were irreproachable, and that either would give entire satisfaction in the office of Chief Magistrate. Ultimately, by urging the seniority of near relatives, (he being twelve or fourteen years older than Mr. Hawes) the friends of Judge French succeeded in carrying the nomination for Governor, in the Committee appointed from the several Congressional Districts of that purpose. The Hon Richard French, and the Hon A. G. Hawes, were then unanimously recommended to the Convention as candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, and the nominations were unanimously confirmed by the Convention.

Of more moment than nomination, we respectfully refer to the printed proceedings of the Convention.

We cannot close this report without referring to the zeal and patriotic resolutions of Jefferson county, in which we participated to afforded to the Democrats the pleasing assurance that the State must be regenerated, struck terror into the breasts of the officers of the present corrupt State Administration and its friends. The movements of the Democrats were openly fair, open and honorable, but they were made with a degree of boldness and unanimity which reminded their adversaries of better days, and caused them to exclaim inwardly—"truth is mighty and will prevail."

The mere reference made in the Address of the Convention to the profligate manner in which the system of improvements has been prosecuted—to the treachery, favoritism and fraud practised under that system—caused the most bitter and unscrupulous of the leaders of the Federal party to doubt whether they can possibly retain power so grossly abused. They seemed to have been suddenly made sensible of the utter exhaustion of the State Treasury and the almost hopeless prostration of State credit, and reminded of the folly of overcropping the State with public works and the corruption of pampered hireling presses. Internal improvements will, in the long run, ruin the State, by bringing out-lies, and double aotaries in violation of law, or, rather, without law. They saw the confused condition of the accounts of the Treasurer, and had heard his complaints that thousands of thousands of dollars had been paid out of the Treasury without warrants from the Auditor, which the Constitution required. They knew that, in the shape of allowances, never anticipated, many thousands had been unjustly paid, to pet-officers, which had never been appropriated by the Legislature; and foreasoning that such mal-conduct could no longer be withheld from the public gaze, it is by no means astonishing that those guilty of it should have exhibited dread of the future consequences of the 3d Monday and a striking want of confidence in themselves.

Confounded and unnerved by the expositions to which we have referred, but one ground of hope seems to be left to the enemies of the present State Administration, and that is, that their misdeeds may be forgotten by the people in a few months, or be lost sight of in the struggle which is to take place on general politics. Their purpose is to remain inert in reference to State affairs—to do nothing towards remedying the evils they have already inflicted on their fellow-citizens, for fear they may be justly charged with additional outrages—and, in the mean time, to agitate national questions with a view to cause them to engross public consideration. They will labor to direct attention to imaginary evils abroad, in the hope that State profligacy, embarrassment, and consequent domestic misery, may be forgotten, or erroneously attributed to other than the true causes. This object they cannot accomplish.

Much as has been said of the bankruptcy of the national Treasury, it may now be proudly contrasted with the condition of the Treasury of Kentucky. One is meeting all its engagements, the other is not. One is paying and gaining strength, the other, like all corporation of the bank controlled by Federalists, has suspended. Our is taking in and will soon have absorbed, the Treasury notes temporarily issued, to serve in lieu of public money locked up by Federal bankers, the others about to put bills of credit, in violation of the Federal Constitution, payable six years after date, to come into the circulating medium, and render it even less tolerable than it is at present. The General Government is saving and paid the last dollar of the public debt under the Administration of the patriot, Andrew Jackson, could rely with confidence on its revenue for the redemption of the Treasury notes it issued, and on keeping them at or above par by keeping the confederacy out of debt. The Government can make no calculations of the sort, as it is largely in debt, without a sufficient Sinking Fund, and can take nothing from its ordinary revenue, either to redeem the bills it could improvidently issue, or pay accruing interest on them.—

The General Government has been reducing its expenditures, heretofore rendered unusually large by purchasing Indian lands, removing Indians, the Florida war, and disturbances on our western and northern frontiers—and that reduction is progressing at the rate of about six millions of dollars per year—whilst the State expenditures have been rapidly increasing, independently of the vast amount appropriated to public works. The General Government has undertaken nothing that it will not be able to complete in a reasonable time—but the Government of Kentucky has undertaken so much, that it cannot complete the works commenced in less than twenty years, and the State must consequently cost, in outlay and interest, a hundred per cent, more than fair or reasonable prices for their construction. It is a policy which forces an enormous amount of labor on the present generation, the fruits of which they cannot enjoy, and must end in throwing a double burden and riveting double taxes on posterity.

Driven to desperation, the Federal party in the Legislature are perpetrating the grossest injustice and flagrantly violating the Constitution, by an appropriation bill, which will pass, and by which they have crowded four thousand to four thousand five hundred votes, into Senatorial Districts, in which they have reason to believe Democrats will be elected, and in other districts, which they expect Federal Senators may be chosen, embrace only seventeen hundred or two thousand votes! In the apportionment of representation in the House, injustice equally glaring has been committed. In all cases they show how obligatory upon them is the oath they have taken to support the constitution, which provides that the apportionment of representation in the Legislature shall be as nearly equal as practicable. Thus they make war on the first and most vital principle of republican government, and manifest their desire to enable a corrupt and gossiping minority to rule the majority.

The position of our political adversaries in reference to State policies is wholly untenable. They must be driven from it by the indignant voice of a virtuous and injured people. To save themselves from being hopelessly involved by an enormous State debt; to prevent every foot of land in Kentucky from being mortgaged for money lenders; to avert a rate of taxation which would convert the yeomanry of the State into shewers of wood and drawers of water," if not into serfs of a favored aristocracy, and "worse than negro drivers" liges," Kentucky cannot do less than assume the position, to which early recollections invite her sons, and for the defence of which, with a few exceptions, they are adapted by education, habit and nature.—We mean that she must take her stand among her Democratic sisters, in favor of frugal government and popular rights—for the many, and against the few—for the power of the people, and against the power which corporations and dealers in paper credits are disposed to exert. The sooner, sooner or later, discover that bank suspensions are relief measures, indirectly enforced by corporations, for the benefit of the receipts of bank facilities, and to the detriment of the productive classes, including the discreet and industrious portion of our merchants. The depreciation of bank paper is an indirect tax on the holders of it, of which the debtor to a bank avails himself, as he obtains its notes to be applied to the extinguishment of liabilities in bank. Instead, then, of legalizing suspensions, it is the duty of those who represent the people to labor for a sound currency, and to require incorporations to do their duties. The currency can never be had while banks are compelled to abstain from excessive issues, and to redeem their notes in gold or silver, on demand.

We shall have no more of two currencies—rags for the people, specie for office holders"—when we abolish or require banks, which hire out their money or credit, to pay their own notes, "without delay."—No more complaint about exchanges, after we shall have taken measures to consume the enormous foreign bills, produce more for exportation, as well as for our consumption. Excessive indulgence in the use of what has been termed the facilities of the "credit system" and consequent overtrading, are the real causes of the pressure which has fallen so heavily upon us; which has arrested improvement and driven thousands of worthy mechanics and artisans from our cities and towns, to seek employment where the enterprise of communities have not been broken down by paper credits. We believe that there is nothing worthy of protection but commerce. Kentucky has been deluded on this subject. We have been so often told that we are a commercial people, that we could see no otherwise than yield credence to the assertion—when, in truth, we are an agricultural people, and our cities must retrograde if they do not engage in manufactures, and procesute them to an extent which will constrain us to vice commerce, to supply our surplus of wealth, but to the more laudable and dignified pursuits of agriculture and manufactures.

Keeping these objects in view, the Democracy must effect a change of the State Administration—and by adhering to the principles they profess, they cannot fail to administer the State Government so as to promote the prosperity and happiness of themselves and their fellow citizens.

The meeting was then addressed in a spirited manner by Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Bacon, after which the following was adopted:

Resolved, That this meeting approves the principles set forth in the Report of the Louisville Delegation in the late State Convention.

The following resolutions, offered by Mr. J. M. Hicks, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the members of this meeting will use all honorable means to insure the election of Judge French and Gen. Hon. A. G. Hawes to the offices of Governor and Lt. Governor.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be returned to the Delegation from Louisville in the 8th of January Convention.

On motion, adjourned.

JACOB GEIGER, Ch'n.
THOMAS F. McCALLISTER, Sec'y.

From the Ohio State Bulletin.

THE TWO MESSAGES—VAN BUREN AND SHANNON.

The true Democratic principle, like true ore, is the same every where, at all times, and to whatever use it is applied. Melt it in the furnace several times reduced—mould, hammer and refine it as they may, the pure gold still is there. We recognize in the messages of Mr. Van Buren and Mr. Shannon, the same principle—the same feeling, and the same sound and rational views upon the great subject of internal improvement. Some have pretended to discover a distinction—a clashing of opinions between them. If there is such, we have not been able, after thorough examination and comparison, to discover it. We see, of course, as we expected to see, the subject treated by each in a manner appropriate to his own relation to it, and as his peculiar duty required. Their positions are different, and there fore, though their abstract views are the same, their remarks do not run in the same channel, but each being appropriate to the same state of facts, they can well be unlike in detail, without clashing in opinion.

Mr. Van Buren treats of the subject as a general principle—there are no banks under his immediate supervision—accepting no trust, he is required to act officially—he has no doctrines of temporary expediency to consult—no measures of state policy wherein he has to come in contact with Banks as they are, and devise means for their management and control—he is not party to executive or legislative action concerning them—and he has therefore very properly confined his remarks to the right and the wrong of the system as a whole, excepting in particular cases in which the rights of individuals are involved.

Governor Shannon on the other hand, comes in direct contact with the banking system of Ohio, and is required by his duty to recommend the best and safest course to be pursued concerning it. He has the interest of the people of Ohio to look after, and is bound to adopt the most prudent counsels, and to seek out remedies appropriate to the existing state of things. He finds an immense banking concern existing in the state in which he is not a participator. He finds bank paper occupying almost exclusively, the place of a circulating medium, and a system of credit interwoven with every branch of business which had fixed the standard of value, for labor, for stock, produce, and merchandize—every thing. Whatever may have been his views respecting the utility of Banks—though he might have deemed the whole system a curse and an unmitigated evil from first to last, he was not, surrounded by such facts, at liberty to he would wish to have it, but precisely as he found it—and like a sensible man and wise and patriotic statesman, he set about work of correction and reform—instead of bringing matters their proper level safely, smoothly and without producing that shock—that wide spread ruin, which would follow violent measures. He saw at a glance that the banks could not be struck out of existence at once—any man who had the least, or no money man would have the firmness and abiding good sense to take the course that Wilson Shannon has taken. We honor him for it—the people of Ohio honor him for it, and are prepared to do him little further honor.

The principles of Gov. Shannon, and the measures recommended by him afford a practical application of the principles of the Presidents message, to the present condition of Ohio. Were Martin Van Buren to take his place to-morrow as Governor of Ohio, he would thank Wilson Shannon, with his own message to Congress for his text book, he would unhesitatingly adopt the message of Governor Shannon as its most suitable commentary.

Curious Case of Divorce.—In the Senate of New York, on Friday, Mr. Tallmadge reported a bill to divorce Daniel Frost from his wife. This bill relates to a notable case of conjugal infelicity, which made a good deal of noise here last winter. It seems that this Mrs Daniel Frost was a short time since a young single lady with a lover named, but no matter. The lover grew tired of her, after an acquaintance of great intimacy and familiarity, and devised a plan to get rid of her. Says he to Eveline "There's old Frost—a simple, rusty old fellow—would give his two eyes to marry you; do you just coax him on to do so, and when the ceremony is just beginning, I will step in, take you out of his hands, and marry you myself. It will be such a good joke, that all the country will go into convulsions upon it." The lady bit, or was bitten; executed her part of the Beau's Stratagem; but when the proper time came, the lover did not step in, and Miss Eveline became Mrs. Faost before she knew it—all the time hoping that the next minute would bring Lothario to the rescue, and thinking only of him.—The moment she was wed, she had she had become Mrs. Frost, she spurned the idea of his, to the never thought of recognising or treating him as her husband. On the contrary, she declares herself devoted to the false Lothario, and him alone. David Frost, who was in raptures with the thought of taking to his arms a bouncing blossoming bride, but whose "Dead Sea fruits" have tempted the eye but to "turn to ashes on the lip," now cries mightily for a divorce. Ought he not to have it? "Mr. Speaker, I confirm he ought."—N. Y. Signal.

Not a Fable.—A boy in New York but three years of age, was asked who made him? With his hand a foot from the floor, he promptly replied—"God made me a little baby, so high, and I grew the rest."

From the Western Caringlon Globe.

GEN. HARRISON.

It is a fact, perhaps unknown, to the honest yeomanry of Kentucky, that Gen. Harrison last winter joined the Abolition Society. The old General at that time aware of the intrigues and the yearning of Mr. Clay for the Presidency, had disguised himself of being the favored one, and had no motive (longer to conceal his honest abhorrence of slavery. In a written and published letter of his, the following opinion is avowed:

"Should I be asked if there is no way by which the General Government can aid the CAUSE OF EMANCIPATION; I answer, that it has long been an object near my heart, to see the WHOLE of its SURPLUS REVENUE APPROPRIATED TO THAT OBJECT."

Only think of it, you good natured and hoodwinked Whigs! If Gen. Harrison is elected President, the leading measure of his administration, (of course (as he shows his heart) will be the emancipation of the slaves, by appropriating the whole of the surplus revenue to that object. Kentucky has received and expended fourteen hundred thousand Dollars of the Surplus revenue, and yet not a dollar has returned dollar for dollar whenever Congress shall require it. How is this money to be returned unless by a heavy and ruinous direct taxation upon the citizens of Kentucky? For my obedient servant, I would be opposed even in the extreme, but to enforce its collection for the Utopian and fanatical project of freeing the slaves, would, in our humble opinion, end in little less than a CIVIL REVOLUTION! And yet the author of this scheme of the immediate emancipation is recommended, through party description and party hypocrisy, to the enthusiastic support of the people of Kentucky; and in opposition to a man, who, in his inaugural address, pledged himself that he would neither sign any bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia or interfering with any State policy or regulation on the subject." The Whig members of the Legislature of Kentucky—the very State which last winter sent Commissioners to the Ohio Legislature to complain of the Abolitionists, and invoke the heaviest punishment for their interference—have lately held a meeting, and according to the authorised and published proceedings, responded in the most enthusiastic and spirited manner to the nomination of Gen. Harrison," an avowed abolitionist! In that meeting some tones! Whig proposed that a committee be appointed to correspond with Gen. Harrison, as to his opinions upon Abolition. It was voted down for the avowed reason that it was impolitic. For the same reason it was, that when Mr. Preston, a delegate from this State in the Harrisburg Convention, (a young and inexperienced politician) moved that an address accompany the nomination of Gen. Harrison, Benj. Watkins Leigh, of Virginia, (another slave State) an old politician, and aware of the Abolition propensities of Gen. Harrison, opposed it, and it was voted down. Now it is well known it is customary for all nominations who meet for the public good, (as the Whigs professed they did) or for all National Conventions, political or otherwise, to set forth, by address, the motives which have actuated them, and the principles which they contend. The country has been convulsed for years by the overlasting cry from the Whig party that they have been contending for principles—that the institutions of the country were in danger, &c. If governed by considerations of the public good and the disinterested motives which they profess, why not proclaim what they are, and make the issue at once let us see them and the principles of the present Administration? Because, as every unprejudiced mind will perceive they are ashamed to signed Will Van Buren is a factious and a personal one—the only object being to oust him, and elevate some one else, without regard to any principle whatever. The Whig leaders in this State deceive themselves egregiously, if they suppose the yeomanry of the country can be duped into "enthusiasm" for—they know not what! For Mr. Clay, they toiled and struggled even against hope itself, because they were operated upon by feelings of Gratitude, and hoped, perhaps, to CONFIRMS it. And yet, we suppose, the glaring inconsistency which the Whigs in Kentucky manifest in giving their support to Gen. Harrison, is to be drowned in a senseless clamor against the Independent Treasury—a measure, which the Richmond Whig, one of their most talented and sagacious editors, admits is a mere measure of expediency—involving no principles, whatever, and which can be discarded at pleasure if found unsafe for the protection of the public interests.—This admission was not made to benefit the Administration, (of which this paper is an unflinching opponent) but to benefit his own party; many of the leading whigs in virginia (Mr. Hunter the present Speaker in the U. S. House of Representatives among them) have warmly joined in that measure. The editor was fearful that as Rives and Talmadge (traitor in heart) had professed that the Sub Treasury proposition had severed them from the Administration, that the Whigs who favored it would carry themselves from their party to, impressed, by the great fuss and parade made by R. and T., that there was really some great principle involved in the support or opposition of the measure—a measure which (after all the hits and cry) simply proposes that the public money shall be received and paid out by men appointed by the President and Senate, instead of the Schuylkill Bank, whose fraud amounts to the cool sum of thirteen hundred thousand dollars.

From the Louisville Public Ledger.

THE NOMINATION.

The joy of the Abolitionists, we found, when they heard of the deliberations of the Whig Convention. Poppan's Emancipator says:

"Well, the agony is over, and Clay is—laid upon the shelf. The man of ordinary intelligence can deny that it is the anti-slavery feeling in the north which has done it, in connection with his one ostentatious and famous pro-slavery declaration in Congress. Praise to God for the anti-slavery victory. A man of high talent, distinction, of long public services, of moderate personal pride, has been openly rejected by the party of this Republic, because of his devotion to slavery. Get up a movement of progress there, Gen. Jackson! Let the slaveholders hear the news. Let foreign nations hear it. Let old Connecticut hear it. Let the slaveholder in Georgia, Carolina, Louisiana, Texas, or any part of a country that relies on the Abolitionists—a party that expelled the nomination of Mr. Clay, be dazed to denounce the South as slaveholders, and charge the sin upon servile war. The Whig Convention was controlled by Abolitionists—and that, as a necessary result, Harrison was nominated by them. The institutions of the South, Kentuckians are ready to praise God for a great anti-slavery victory! Can the juice because the anti-slavery feeling in North has laid Mr. Clay on the shelf? Will they assist in verifying the fact that a slaveholder is incapacitated for the Presidency of the United States?" Will they humbly acknowledge that rejection of Henry Clay by the Whig convention, taken in connection with other circumstances, is one of the heaviest blows the monster slavery has received in this country?" So say the Abolitionists of the Federal party; and their words would be verified by the election of Harrison.

We advise the Whigs to hold a State Convention. Such of them as can swallow Mr. Thompson can swallow Mr Letcher.

A few days since we heard that if the Hon. Mr Crittenden would be selected for Mr Letcher, but the week of the gag-bill probably cooled the ardor of the friends of Mr Crittenden. We saw a proposition in the City, no doubt from a distinguished member of the Whig party, that Mr Clay should order to save the Harrison party in Kentucky, withdraw from the Senate of the Union, and step into the shoes of Letcher.

What do these propositions show? they not indicate that the Federal Whigs participate defeat?

We, however, discover the Lexington Reporter denies that a meeting was held in Frankfort by the Whigs, the object of which to back of Manlius Thompson, and the more available candidate for Lt Governor. The Reporter does not know, or pretends not to know, that such a meeting probably distrusts it—as it has certainly been kept in the dark in relation to movement which was made in order to get rid of Mr. Thompson. We know, however, that such a meeting was held, and that a committee was appointed, which caused a portion of the Federal Frankfort to view Mr Thompson as dead weight on the party.—Louisville Advertiser.

Secrets best kept at home. We will reveal them the first opportunity men the first time it will subserve interest.

PROPOSALS.

For publishing for six months, a semi-weekly paper, to be called the MAYSVILLE MONITOR RIVER MONITOR, at Maysville, Ky.

The publishers of the Maysville Monitor, with a view of furnishing a cheap and safe medium of information, during the Gubernatorial contest, and to disseminate widely as possible through Kentucky, true democratic doctrines, will issue the Maysville Monitor, and RIVER MONITOR, to be forded to subscribers at the low rate of DOLLAR per copy.

The Monitor will be commenced the first day of March next, on a sheet of paper, and it is desirable that such as wish to subscribe, should send in their names on that day.

☞No orders will be filled unless accompanied with the CASH.

PUBLIC SALE.

On the 20th day of February next, at the Court House door of Scott County, on Johnston's fork of Licking, and commences from its mouth in Kentucky, Will be sold to the highest bidder, the Real Estate of said deceased. The tract of land, and mills, cattle and hogs, consists of a large tract of land, on which is the dwelling, and all the out houses

THE MAYSVILLE MONITOR.
February 6, 1840.
ADVANCE PRICE—$2 PER ANNUM

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS:
FOR PRESIDENT,
MARTIN VAN BUREN,
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
R. M. JOHNSON.

State Electors,
NATHAN GAITHER, of Adair,
THOS. A. HICKEY, of Fayette.

District Electors,
1st. JOHN L. MURRAY, of Calloway, Co.
2 COURTNEY BRADLEY, of Henderson.
3 EDWARD S. FORD, of Warren.
4 EPENETE THORNTON, of Pulaski.
5 THOS. F. MOORE, of Mercer.
6 MARTIN HARDIN, of Hardin.
7 JOHN ROWAN, Jr. of Nelson.
8 DAVID KEYSERLING, of Bracken.
9 LEWIS GARRARD, of Clay.
10 MATTHEW FLOURNOY, of Fayette.
11 THOMAS MARSHALL, of Franklin.
12 JAMES BRUNDUSKE, of Mason.
13 JOHN W. TIBBATTS, of Campbell.

FOR GOVERNOR,
CHRISTOPHER FRENCH, Of Montgomery Co
FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR,
ROBERT G. HAWES, Of Hancock Co.

LOUISVILLE LOTTERY—Question for debate on Monday evening next—Should the interests of the State be regulated by law?

ALTERNATIVE. NEGATIVE.
R. Samuels, W. B. Tolle,
Cobb Collins, B. D. Crooksbanks.

Both sides and the public generally are invited attend.

THE PRESIDENCY—A letter from the Hon. Amos Davis, received this morning, informs that Blair & Rives were elected public printers on the 30th ult.

ANOTHER DEFINITIVE FIRE IN NEW YORK!—Just the Boldface American of the 30th ult. learns that another destructive fire has occurred in the City of New York, involving the loss of nearly two millions of dollars. Several store houses, filled with most valuable merchandize, together with other houses, were entirely destroyed. The cargoes of two ships from Canton, chiefly consisting of Teas, Silks, &c. placed on deposite in one of these stores, are totally destroyed.

The Insurance offices, it is said, will sustain heavy losses by the destruction of houses of merchandize.

THE RIVER.—During the past week, the river rose to a greater height than it has been for last spring. The great quantity of floats caused a considerable destruction of fences on the shores, carrying away a number of flats and other boats, some very valuable.

It commenced falling on Tuesday evening and has fallen slowly ever since. We hear of no passengers just from Wheeling, that place, as above, on the Southern side of the ice, was generally all broken up—on the other, for many miles, it was clear of the ice, however, the ice, however, has passed off.

BURGLARY AND BURGLARS. The Store of Mr. Tuttman, at the corner of Market and Second Streets, in this City, was entered on Friday night last, and robbed of about one hundred Dollars worth of Dry Goods. The loss consisted principally of cloths, casimeres, &c.

The Young Men's Tipperance Club of this City, held another enthusiastic meeting on Friday night last. Our white-headed young friend F. T. Hord, Esq. and Gen. Richard Gex, distinguished themselves by their able and patriotic speeches—the latter, particularly, in defending Gen Harrison from the vile falsehood" of having voted "to sell a man for debt"—a charge that is not against him—earned a wreath of glory which is withered.

"The laurels I earn won, were weeds."

We did our young friend Hord satisfy his hearer while making his speech, as we believe we have heard him say more than once, he would not support Harrison, for he had voted for him at the last election, and felt regretty time he thought of it?

MR. WISE'S SPEECH—INFAMOUS SLANDERS OF THE REPUBLICAN EAGLE—Exposition, No. 1.

We presumed our readers in our last number, the speech of Mr. Wise, made and he has by of the friends of the administration Congress, was a most powerful effort—such as we had never heard surpassed. We then too, that the effect it was destined on the Whig ridden-County, would be immensurate with its able and convincing merit. That has spread alarm and consternation among the cohorts of the enemy—they writhe and struggle in agony, under the lashes of the injury it will inflict over corrupt and unhallowed cause—and have resorted to the vilest, the most base of the Republican Eagle, which upon most occasions when the democratic party take stand in defence of their principles, with shrieks mock-dignity poise itself, upon its lofty indifference, and deigns to give its opinion on notice of the movement—in its number herein, too conclusively the disappointed. They know and feel, that principles will and must triumph over the people, and they know and feel, that have exposed them in all their rottenness corruption, they know, that the Eagle cheated him, and assailed him, on the most slanderous and blasphemed manner.

Not in the world, which denotes an honorable, high-minded disposition, but in the vile, assassin-like manner of a base coward—in the most contemptible slander. This too, who has sworn upon the altar of his country, to inculcate the precepts of that holy religion, Christ, the saviour of the world shed his precious blood, and the whole institution of humanity has, he who seeks to direct, sanctify, incendo or otherwise, in honor of his reputation—he who has more than a midnight assassin, who assassinates in secret, unsuspected, and not in good to such the dead. But how incomparably of such a character, such a base, such a heart, and drawn to high heaven?—shall we notice it? Shall we witness against thy sin? is one of the injunctions of God to Moses, he preserved in heaven a very, very, more than all others, it is for this profession to keep silence command, and Let the Eagle should, instead of argument, the personal slander, he sneers at the "Mr. Wise's speech, is but in accordance his characteristic pusillanimity and baseness. It never reasons, where alone will succeed, in part of its system of tactics, to attacks where it is sure to wilify. The cause of the Editor makes, from the beginning, it was as wise to oppose fire to burn water, as to shine at midnight, or to from a Whig paper, or to expect him to give a sensible argument, or to deduce a [illegible] to another reason, inquire of the weakness of the Editor, why Mr. Wise should [illegible] his reputation blackened by slanderous [illegible] of the sublime man in Kentucky, is daily increasing in popularity, and upon more than one occasion, has been a source of terror to the mercenary leaders of the Whig party. "Detraction loves a shining mark," and he has been an ordinary man, a man of mediocrity of talents, he would have passed unnoticed and unharmed. But it was otherwise, and the flood gates of calumny are thus opened upon him. Like the fabled pillars of Serbi, he can stand the lashings of their fury, unjustly and unmoved. The shafts will be dashed upon him. Like the fabled pillars of Serbi, he can stand the lashings of their fury, unjustly and unmoved. The shafts will be dashed upon him. Like the fabled stipes by whom it is controlled, cannot affect the well earned reputation of such a man—Let his friends in Congress go to his own County, there where he is known best, and seek information as to his standing. His fellow citizens will tell them, that they have for years honored him with the greatest trust they could confer. They have sent him year after year to the State Senate, and last summer gave him five hundred votes majority for Congress. Though sick upon his bed nearly the whole session, and in a Whig District where the usual majority against him was twelve hundred, he came within a little upwards of three hundred votes of beating the Whig candidate! And, yet the Monitor has the accusing him of being not much better than a thief!—Why say in reference to that charge, that in your foul throat, you have perpetrated a base falsehood and slander!

We are not done with him yet. There is a further reckoning to make with the Eagle, perhaps of more importance than the above—The Editor undertakes in accordance with his boastful promise of last week, to expose the misrepresentations made by Mr. Wise in his speech—and strange too that he should deem a man of his character, important enough to notice in any way. How well he has fulfilled his promise will appear in the sequel. Mr. Wise in his remarks, referred to two, three circumstances, as conclusively indicating an alliance between the Federalists and Abolitionists, by which Gen Harrison has been nominated as their candidate for the Presidency. The first circumstance noticed was the assembling of two abolition Conventions, one at some place in Pennsylvania, and the other at Utica New York. Both of these conventions, said he, had nominated Gen Harrison, or recommended him as a suitable man to run for the Presidency. These facts the Eagle replies to, as follows: "Gen Harrison has been nominated for the Presidency by a convention of abolitionists, either in New York or Pennsylvania, or both, Mr Willis is entitled to the credit of being the first herald of the fact—we never heard of such a nomination until it was asserted in his speech." There is both logic and fairness in this answer to our first question, and at both conventions was he nominated—is a convention sometimes,—we have to forget, and sometimes still more so to slander.

Well, Mr Willis also asserted that Gen Harrison had been charged by a Cincinnati paper, with belonging to an abolition society in that neighborhood, and that as yet the Whig papers there had not contradicted it. The Eagle in answer says: "The unblushing falsehood of the Cincinnati paper was promptly contradicted. We deny it. An Indiana paper absurd the Editor of the Cincinnati paper for making the charge, but did not contradict the charge itself. This induced the Editor to notice the fact, that the Whig papers in Cincinnati had remained silent upon the subject, and he took occasion to reiterate his statement, and call upon Gen Harrison's friends, if they could, to put quit him of the imputation. Have they done it? Has any one of the papers at Cincinnati, where the charge was made, and where, in fact, if it exists may be known, ventured to deny or contradict it? Be answer, not! Either, then, the charge must be true, or, the fear from an apprehension of driving off the abolitionists, dare not deny it. Which is it?

But again: The Eagle says: "Gen Harrison was in favor of colonizing the negroes, that very fact brings him directly athwart the abolitionists and holding doctrines of the abolitionists, who are for the immediate and general emancipation of slaves, without compensation, and their sentiment among us." Mr Willis had asserted that Gen Harrison, at Chevlot, Ohio, on the 4th of July 1838, had in an address delivered at that place, declared that the subject of emancipation was "near to his heart," and he would be rejoiced to see the whole surplus revenue of the nation, devoted to that object. But, says the Eagle, "was a Whig, and a Abolition doctrine, and therefore Gen Harrison is not an abolitionist. It will be recollected, that the Whig party in the Legislature, at that time ago, when there was no demand for abolition votes, and no occasion for his accommodating himself to their purposes. Resolutions and resolutions are changed, and "emancipation" may mean something more than colonization—Gen Harrison is dimming, that Gen Harrison then only to colonise the blacks, may be not now desire the abolition of slavery among us, and it is to be too great a change of his sentiments to make in so short a period as six years. Let it be recollected, that Mr Clay himself, turned a somersaut in the Senate, on the same that. The difference between their cases may consist only in the inducement to change, presented to them by the Federal party at the services. The U. S. Bank brought Mr. Clay over—the chance of being made president by the Abolitionists, may have prevailed with Gen Harrison.

But last: The Eagle concludes its exposure of Mr Willis misrepresentations, by asking, "Does it follow, that because the Liberator rejoices in the defeat of Mr Clay and the Whig Convention, on the answer proof of his being a slave holder, that, therefore, Gen Harrison was an Abolitionist?" It was from the Liberator that Mr Willis received the extract, but from the Emancipator. That foul vehicle of incendiary doctrines, did rejoice to see the result, and assert that if Mr Clay was defeated before the convention, but for the reason that they esteemed General Harrison's nomination a great anti-slavery victory! Are the extracts from the speech of Mr. Clay's failure to receive the nomination, and the anti-slavery feeling that accompanied his rejection, it breaks out in this strain—"Set up a monument of progress there. Let the winds tell the tale. Let the waters roll the echo, from shore to shore. Let foreign nations hear it. Let O'Connel hear it. Let the slaves hear it. A slaveholder is unanimated for the Presidency!" And in another place, says: "Praise to God for a great anti-slavery victory! Infamous and fiend-like exultation! Not a victory over Mr. Clay, but a victory of abolition—a victory in the nomination of one who is better disposed towards abolition than Mr. Clay. This is the truth, and this is the victory of foul incendiarism—of amalgamation. "Yes, said Mr. Clay the favorite of the Democracy! Did he not have the largest number of votes in that body? And why was he not nominated? Because of the anti-slavery feeling of the abolitionists would not support him—Gen. H. they would support, and Mr Clay and his friends were forced to yield to the clamors of the fanatics, and give way to their choice. Deny it who dare. It is a truth that the world should know. Aye, let the world know it—let the whole south know it—let Kentucky know it! The representatives from Kentucky in that convention yielded to the abolitionists, and the whigs, their constituents, sanction and approve their conduct. But this not all. The Harrisburg convention felt that the abolitionists had carried their object, and to conceal the truth from the people of the slave holding States, refused to adopt an address. They did not make known to them the influence that prevailed in determining the choice of the convention.

And these are the boasted expositions of Mr. Willis' "misstatements," made by the Eagle. We hold them up to the public. We call on judgment. Does it appear that a single statement he has made, is untrue? Is there one of his positions overthrown? Is there sophistry, is there either liberality or honor, indicated in the conduct of the Editor, who has so [illegible] and slandered?

"Less-Foo Misrepresentations—No. 2," appears in yesterday's Eagle, and is enough to make the most forced impression, that the writing bearing more than Gen Harrison's shallow letter to the Richmond Whig, in which he says he did not wish to sell white men, for debt, but to sell criminals. The pitiful artifice was exposed at the time the letter was written, and Gen Harrison's friends were mostly ashamed of the puerility and weakness of his defence. But that the people of this State may see for themselves, we quote the whole paragraph, prominentially, that Gen Harrison voted in the Ohio Senate, to sell white men as slaves, for the non-payment of their debts, or both, or that the bill containing the provision, applied to all fines, and costs, without distinction; so that if a man should be fined for any offence of court, or any such offence, for which a fine might be imposed, a white man was liable to be sold as a slave. This was one proof, and this we will prove. Mr Willis spoke the TRUTH when he alluded to the subject, and it is worse than vain now to deny it.

THE STATE TREASURER. Have the Whig papers yet said any thing about the abuses connected with his office, by the State Treasurer? Have they said any thing of the report of the Committee of the House of Representatives, by which said abuses were brought to light? Oh, no! good honest souls, they keep the people in the dark about a matter of this kind but they open their brazen throats as wide as the mouth of hell, whenever, when an officer of the administration happens to violate his trust—they a muse their readers week after week, with pointless wit about leg-treasurers, swartwouters &c, but when one of their immaculate friends steps aside from the line of purity and correct deportment in office, they are as dumb as oysters. We call upon them, if they have a spark of honor left, to show the sincerity of their professions, by condemning the conduct of their fellow-whig, the Treasurer. Speak out, if you dare, in his defence!

The report alluded to, appears in our paper to-day—we commend it through a friend at Frankfort. The Whig members of the Legislature tried to suppress it, altogether, and at last consented that 150 copies should be printed! One hundred and fifty copies, for nearly an hundred thousand voters! What think the honest people of Kentucky, of the conduct of their representatives, in thus attempting to suppress the answer to a fine, in which they are deeply interested, and where they have the right, of all others, to know the facts? They would keep you in the dark as to the corruptions which have crept into the Treasury,—they would stifle inquiry into the frauds of that very pure and righteous Whig, who controls the treasury, and refuses to answer the question, whether such would have been the case, had he happened to have been a democrat?

MASON COUNTY ABOUSED—Mr. WILLIS' SPEECH. The slumbering energies of Old Mason have been aroused, and the spirit which has so long feebly flickered in the bosoms of her democracy, begins to impart a warm and invigorating influence. Last Monday week was a proud day for the little band of faithful republicans, who amid every disadvantage, still have the resolution to adhere to their principles. Though few in numbers, and poor in pecuniary of this world, we thank God, they are steadfast in their integrity, and no human power can drive them from their impregnable position fortified and strengthened as they are by a spirit that defies all discouragement. Neither the frowns of power, the sneers and taunts of a corrupt aristocracy, nor the abolitions and Dutchery of oily-tongued demagogues, have been able to wean them from a cause, which is not less dear to them than life. Proscribed, oppressed and powerless as they have been, they may yet teach their opponents, that the sling of David, is sometimes more effective, than the strength of Goliah.

Short as had been the notice, the meeting held at the Baptist Church on Monday week was large and highly respectable—indeed, it was the largest assembly of democrats that we have ever seen in Mason. The weather unauspicious, and our country friends generally, were not apprized that a meeting was to have been held. At 11 o'clock, however, some of them attended—the respectable and independent yeomanry of the County—republicans of the old School. The best spirit prevailed and greater enthusiasm we have never witnessed in any assembly. The resolutions, published last week, spoke their sentiments, and were adopted with a spirit and unanimity, which must have shocked the Whigs, by which the principles and doctrines avowed, were entertained by the meeting.

Maj Wm T. Willis, of Green, for the last six years, a prominent member of the State Senate, was present and invited to address the meeting. And what shall we say of his powerful, eloquent and altogether inimitable speech? It was a giant effort—such as we have never heard equaled, and only when surpassed—abounding with arguments the most irresistable and convincing, facts undeniable and inconvertible, illustrations the most pleasing, and occasional bursts of eloquence, thrilling and spirit-stirring in the highest degree. Should this ever reach the eyes of Mr Clay was defeated before the convention, but for the reason that they esteemed General Harrison's nomination a great anti-slavery victory! Are the extracts from the speech of Mr. Clay's failure to receive the nomination, and the anti-slavery feeling that accompanied his rejection, it breaks out in this strain—"Set up a monument of progress there. Let the winds tell the tale. Let the waters roll the echo, from shore to shore. Let foreign nations hear it. Let O'Connel hear it. Let the slaves hear it. A slaveholder is unanimated for the Presidency!" And in another place, says: "Praise to God for a great anti-slavery victory! Infamous and fiend-like exultation! Not a victory over Mr. Clay, but a victory of abolition—a victory in the nomination of one who is better disposed towards abolition than Mr. Clay. This is the truth, and this is the victory of foul incendiarism—of amalgamation. "Yes said Mr. Clay the favorite of the Democracy! Did he not have the largest number of votes in that body? And why was he not nominated? Because of the anti-slavery feeling of the abolitionists would not support him—Gen. H. they would support, and Mr Clay and his friends were forced to yield to the clamors of the fanatics, and give way to their choice. Deny it who dare. It is a truth that the world should know. Aye, let the world know it—let the whole south know it—let Kentucky know it! The representatives from Kentucky in that convention yielded to the abolitionists, and the whigs, their constituents, sanction and approve their conduct. But this not all. The Harrisburg convention felt that the abolitionists had carried their object, and to conceal the truth from the people of the slave holding States, refused to adopt an address. They did not make known to them the influence that prevailed in determining the choice of the convention.

And these are the boasted expositions of Mr. Willis' "misstatements," made by the Eagle. We hold them up to the public. We call on judgment. Does it appear that a single statement he has made, is untrue? Is there one of his positions overthrown? Is there sophistry, is there either liberality or honor, indicated in the conduct of the Editor, who has so [illegible] and slandered?

"Less-Foo Misrepresentations—No. 2," appears in yesterday's Eagle, and is enough to make the most forced impression, that the writing bearing more than Gen Harrison's shallow letter to the Richmond Whig, in which he says he did not wish to sell white men, for debt, but to sell criminals. The pitiful artifice was exposed at the time the letter was written, and Gen Harrison's friends were mostly ashamed of the puerility and weakness of his defence. But that the people of this State may see for themselves, we quote the whole paragraph, prominentially, that Gen Harrison voted in the Ohio Senate, to sell white men as slaves, for the non-payment of their debts, or both, or that the bill containing the provision, applied to all fines, and costs, without distinction; so that if a man should be fined for any offence of court, or any such offence, for which a fine might be imposed, a white man was liable to be sold as a slave. This was one proof, and this we will prove. Mr Willis spoke the TRUTH when he alluded to the subject, and it is worse than vain now to deny it.

THE STATE TREASURER. Have the Whig papers yet said any thing about the abuses connected with his office, by the State Treasurer? Have they said any thing of the report of the Committee of the House of Representatives, by which said abuses were brought to light? Oh, no! good honest souls, they keep the people in the dark about a matter of this kind but they open their brazen throats as wide as the mouth of hell, whenever, when an officer of the administration happens to violate his trust—they a muse their readers week after week, with pointless wit about leg-treasurers, swartwouters &c, but when one of their immaculate friends steps aside from the line of purity and correct deportment in office, they are as dumb as oysters. We call upon them, if they have a spark of honor left, to show the sincerity of their professions, by condemning the conduct of their fellow-whig, the Treasurer. Speak out, if you dare, in his defence!

The report alluded to, appears in our paper to-day—we commend it through a friend at Frankfort. The Whig members of the Legislature tried to suppress it, altogether, and at last consented that 150 copies should be printed! One hundred and fifty copies, for nearly an hundred thousand voters! What think the honest people of Kentucky, of the conduct of their representatives, in thus attempting to suppress the answer to a fine, in which they are deeply interested, and where they have the right, of all others, to know the facts? They would keep you in the dark as to the corruptions which have crept into the Treasury,—they would stifle inquiry into the frauds of that very pure and righteous Whig, who controls the treasury, and refuses to answer the question, whether such would have been the case, had he happened to have been a democrat?

From our Correspondent.

WASHINGTON CITY, Jan. 25, 1840.

The House sat on Wednesday last and John Quincy Adams finished his portrait again. It is absolutely necessary for the old gentleman to regulate himself as often as Mr. Shandy wound up his watch in the days of Dr. Slop and Obadiah. He swore he was no abolitionist—He swore against slavery in the abstract—declared that petitions should not be acted upon if received; but that they should be voted down as received by the members present. In saying grace before meat, and in returning thanks, I think it would be as well to particularize but one or two down abolition petitions, I think Franklin's manner of a sing-grace over the beef barrel would answer; I would make one business of them all and trust to the good sense of the union to sustain me in my course. Hint was given by the Speaker, and on Thursday he made one of the most extraordinary efforts that ever awoke the echoes of a Hall of Jurisprudence or judgment. He rated bar-room and tap-room loafers most soundly. He was indignant at all idea of a tax on ardent liquor he hated liquor as he hated plaza: and as he loved his enemies, he drank it as a mortification. He wound up by eulogizing old Mr. Adams, and vowed, you honor, that the only way to settle the hash, was to leave the matter to a committee of one, and that that one should be—He of Massachusetts. Mr. Bynum then obtained the floor and the House adjourned. On Friday, Mr. Bynum Commenced his speech, after going on a spell, lashing the whigs, and proclaiming that they endeavoring to make the doctrines of abolition acceptable to the south, so as to give Harrison a full vote, he became to particularize and rub a Mr. Peck New York, who was a member of the House of Representatives, in a most flagrant manner, violated his trust, outraged the constitution, and disgraced the State. Yet a Whig Legislature, knowing the facts, had re-elected him to the same office!! Col Davidson had by his own confessions, paid out $30,000, of the public money, without authority, and had received a large amount of money for purposes of internal improvement, without keeping any account thereof! But the very scrupulous and honest Whigs of the Kentucky Legislature, had winked at these abuses, and licensed him by his re-election, to perpetuate further outrages upon the rights and constitution!

The Sub-Treasury, the U. S. Bank and other important questions were ably examined.—The subject of Internal Improvement is Kentucky, also received the attention of the Speaker. He exposed the folly of the Whigs in the course they had pursued upon this subject, and entered into a minute explanation of the proceedings of the Legislature of other States, resulting from a similar policy to that now pursuing in Kentucky. It was not a matter, said Mr Willis, in which the democratic party could be required to share the responsibility, for it was susceptable of proof from the Journals, that a large majority of Whigs were always found advocating the internal improvement before the Legislature of Kentucky, while a majority of the democrats invariably opposed them.

Gen Harrison's nomination for the Presidency was next alluded to by Mr. Willis. He regretted that the cancer of abolition, had high impartial manner, giving to Gen Harrison full credit for the purity of his intentions & the patriotism of his motives. He believed him to have been an inclinient Gentleman, and sincerely established the fact by an examination of his conduct, when Governor, and by the support of the alien and sedition law administration of John Adams, and was now the candidate of the combined forces of Abolition and Federalism. The abolition influence of the North had prevailed in his selection, and that he might not be misunderstood upon this subject, he referred to some facts, which he declared gave him no doubt. Before the meeting of the Harrisburg Convention, an abolition conventions had been held in Pennsylvania, by which it was declared that no one who was [illegible] of Jackson's and National Republican [illegible] Whig party, and Mr Willis, go beyond the convention, and assume by constructive and implied power, to fasten their aristocratic measures upon the nation, the democracy contend for a strict construction of that instrument, treating the exercise of any power not expressly granted, as a usurpation of all their principles, their measures, and interests, clearly manifested the aristocratical inclination of the one, and the liberal and republican tendency of the other.

Mr. Willis spoke of the charges that had been made against Gen Harrison, Vindicated it manfully from the charge of extravagance and corruption—showed that the government did not owe a dollar it was not prepared to pay, and moreover, that if the Whig increase, the United States Bank and the several States, had paid their debts to government, it would surpass in wealth any nation on the Globe. Here he made a most beautiful and eloquent eulogium upon the condition of our country—alluding in the happiest manner to the extension of our commerce, the power and efficiency of our navy, the respect and consideration with which our government was regarded by every nation of the earth, and the general happiness and prosperity that distinguished the people. He alluded to the necessity that existed for the issuance of Treasury notes—the U. S. Bank was indebted to the Government and would not pay—the State Banks had suspended with the government's money in their vaults—the Whig merchants of New York, and other large cities, had asked for and obtained an extension of time for the payment of their bonds—these circumstances, said he, made that measure necessary.—But the federal party, anxious to destroy confidence in the government, and prevent it from obtaining the means of carrying on its operations, that they might ascribe the evil to the administration—opposed it. They forgot, however, that Mr. Clay, had no objection to such a measure in 1812, and absolutely voted to issue Treasury notes. He it alluded to the charge against Federal office holders, and showed to the satisfaction of all present, that at least half of the Federal offices were Whigs. If life had the regulating of that matter, said Mr Willis, instead of Mr Van Buren, he should be very much disposed to pursue the advice of holy writ, and "do good unto all men, but especially, unto them of the household of faith." Gov Seward of New York, the very liberal and patriotic Whig, who had recently been elected in that State, at one fell swoop had turned out of office nearly three hundred democrats, and appointed to their places those of the household of faith." Gov Ritner when in office did the very same thing. In Kentucky was it any better? Are not, said he, all your officers from Governor down to a constable, any Gimlet's so than democrats—your State officers, Bank officers, magistrates, county attornies, sheriffs, constables &c? Such a thing as a democratic officer was rare as a white crow. And yet, said he, the Whigs tell us of our illiberality!

Mr Willis examined many of the measures which had been projected and supported by the Whig party, and in a very particular manner, that of Mr Crittenden's "dog bill!" We shall not pretend to describe his remarks upon that subject. Suffice it, they were in a strain of lofty indignation, altogether beyond the power of description. The meeting manifested its feeling in a hearty response to the Sentiments of the Speaker. But next, the defalcations which had been charged to the officers of Gen Jackson's and Mr Van Buren's administrations, came up for consideration. Mr Willis not only repelled here, but he fell upon those who have so boldly laid their charges at the door of the administration, and followed up his attacks with blows, that could not fail to have fallen heavily upon their heads.—He took up the case of Swartwout, the Whig President of a Whig meeting in New York—the nominated Whig candidate for the Vice Presidency upon a ticket with the "gold-like Daniel Webster!" He presented the case of that most righteous Whig officer, Mr Lovie of the Schuylkill Bank, who had forced the public to the amount of millions. He came nearer home, and alluded to the case of Mr Clay's son-in-law at Nashville—to the care of Mr Bell's father-in-law at the same place, both of whom were defaulters to a large amount.—Our State Treasurer, Col Davidson, a Whig of course, was brought to the attention of the audience. He had said it appeared from a recent report of a committee of the House of Representatives, in a most flagrant manner, violated his trust, outraged the constitution, and disgraced the State. Yet a Whig Legislature, knowing the facts, had re-elected him to the same office!! Col Davidson had by his own confessions, paid out $30,000, of the public money, without authority, and had received a large amount of money for purposes of internal improvement, without keeping any account thereof! But the very scrupulous and honest Whigs of the Kentucky Legislature, had winked at these abuses, and licensed him by his re-election, to perpetuate further outrages upon the rights and constitution!

The Sub-Treasury, the U. S. Bank and other important questions were ably examined.—The subject of Internal Improvement in Kentucky, also received the attention of the Speaker. He exposed the folly of the Whigs in the course they had pursued upon this subject, and entered into a minute explanation of the proceedings of the Legislature of other States, resulting from a similar policy to that now pursuing in Kentucky. It was not a matter, said Mr Willis, in which the democratic party could be required to share the responsibility, for it was susceptable of proof from the Journals, that a large majority of Whigs were always found advocating the internal improvement before the Legislature of Kentucky, while a majority of the democrats invariably opposed them.

Gen Harrison's nomination for the Presidency was next alluded to by Mr. Willis. He regretted that the cancer of abolition, had high impartial manner, giving to Gen Harrison full credit for the purity of his intentions & the patriotism of his motives. He believed him to have been an inclinient Gentleman, and sincerely established the fact by an examination of his conduct, when Governor, and by the support of the alien and sedition law administration of John Adams, and was now the candidate of the combined forces of Abolition and Federalism. The abolition influence of the North had prevailed in his selection, and that he might not be misunderstood upon this subject, he referred to some facts, which he declared gave him no doubt. Before the meeting of the Harrisburg Convention, an abolition conventions had been held in Pennsylvania, by which it was declared that no one who was [illegible] Whig party, and Mr Willis, go beyond the convention, and assume by constructive and implied power, to fasten their aristocratic measures upon the nation, the democracy contend for a strict construction of that instrument, treating the exercise of any power not expressly granted, as a usurpation of all their principles, their measures, and interests, clearly manifested the aristocratical inclination of the one, and the liberal and republican tendency of the other.

Mr. Willis spoke of the charges that had been made against Gen Harrison, Vindicated it manfully from the charge of extravagance and corruption—showed that the government did not owe a dollar it was not prepared to pay, and moreover, that if the Whig increase, the United States Bank and the several States, had paid their debts to government, it would surpass in wealth any nation on the Globe. Here he made a most beautiful and eloquent eulogium upon the condition of our country—alluding in the happiest manner to the extension of our commerce, the power and efficiency of our navy, the respect and consideration with which our government was regarded by every nation of the earth, and the general happiness and prosperity that distinguished the people. He alluded to the necessity that existed for the issuance of Treasury notes—the U. S. Bank was indebted to the Government and would not pay—the State Banks had suspended with the government's money in their vaults—the Whig merchants of New York, and other large cities, had asked for and obtained an extension of time for the payment of their bonds—these circumstances, said he, made that measure necessary.—But the federal party, anxious to destroy confidence in the government, and prevent it from obtaining the means of carrying on its operations, that they might ascribe the evil to the administration—opposed it. They forgot, however, that Mr. Clay, had no objection to such a measure in 1812, and absolutely voted to issue Treasury notes. He it alluded to the charge against Federal office holders, and showed to the satisfaction of all present, that at least half of the Federal offices were Whigs. If life had the regulating of that matter, said Mr Willis, instead of Mr Van Buren, he should be very much disposed to pursue the advice of holy writ, and "do good unto all men, but especially, unto them of the household of faith." Gov Seward of New York, the very liberal and patriotic Whig, who had recently been elected in that State, at one fell swoop had turned out of office nearly three hundred democrats, and appointed to their places those of the household of faith." Gov Ritner when in office did the very same thing. In Kentucky was it any better? Are not, said he, all your officers from Governor down to a constable, any Gimlet's so than democrats—your State officers, Bank officers, magistrates, county attornies, sheriffs, constables &c? Such a thing as a democratic officer was rare as a white crow. And yet, said he, the Whigs tell us of our illiberality!

Mr Willis examined many of the measures which had been projected and supported by the Whig party, and in a very particular manner, that of Mr Crittenden's "dog bill!" We shall not pretend to describe his remarks upon that subject. Suffice it, they were in a strain of lofty indignation, altogether beyond the power of description. The meeting manifested its feeling in a hearty response to the Sentiments of the Speaker. But next, the defalcations which had been charged to the officers of Gen Jackson's and Mr Van Buren's administrations, came up for consideration. Mr Willis not only repelled here, but he fell upon those who have so boldly laid their charges at the door of the administration, and followed up his attacks with blows, that could not fail to have fallen heavily upon their heads.—He took up the case of Swartwout, the Whig President of a Whig meeting in New York—the nominated Whig candidate for the Vice Presidency upon a ticket with the "gold-like Daniel Webster!" He presented the case of that most righteous Whig officer, Mr Lovie of the Schuylkill Bank, who had forced the public to the amount of millions. He came nearer home, and alluded to the case of Mr Clay's son-in-law at Nashville—to the care of Mr Bell's father-in-law at the same place, both of whom were defaulters to a large amount.—Our State Treasurer, Col Davidson, a Whig of course, was brought to the attention of the audience. He had said it appeared from a recent report of a committee of the House of Representatives, in a most flagrant manner, violated his trust, outraged the constitution, and disgraced the State. Yet a Whig Legislature, knowing the facts, had re-elected him to the same office!! Col Davidson had by his own confessions, paid out $30,000, of the public money, without authority, and had received a large amount of money for purposes of internal improvement, without keeping any account thereof! But the very scrupulous and honest Whigs of the Kentucky Legislature, had winked at these abuses, and licensed him by his re-election, to perpetuate further outrages upon the rights and constitution!

The Sub-Treasury, the U. S. Bank and other important questions were ably examined.—The subject of Internal Improvement in Kentucky, also received the attention of the Speaker. He exposed the folly of the Whigs in the course they had pursued upon this subject, and entered into a minute explanation of the proceedings of the Legislature of other States, resulting from a similar policy to that now pursuing in Kentucky. It was not a matter, said Mr Willis, in which the democratic party could be required to share the responsibility, for it was susceptable of proof from the Journals, that a large majority of Whigs were always found advocating the internal improvement before the Legislature of Kentucky, while a majority of the democrats invariably opposed them.

Gen Harrison's nomination for the Presidency was next alluded to by Mr. Willis. He regretted that the cancer of abolition, had high impartial manner, giving to Gen Harrison full credit for the purity of his intentions & the patriotism of his motives. He believed him to have been an inclinient Gentleman, and sincerely established the fact by an examination of his conduct, when Governor, and by the support of the alien and sedition law administration of John Adams, and was now the candidate of the combined forces of Abolition and Federalism. The abolition influence of the North had prevailed in his selection, and that he might not be misunderstood upon this subject, he referred to some facts, which he declared gave him no doubt. Before the meeting of the Harrisburg Convention, an abolition conventions had been held in Pennsylvania, by which it was declared that no one who was [illegible] Whig party, and Mr Willis, go beyond the convention, and assume by constructive and implied power, to fasten their aristocratic measures upon the nation, the democracy contend for a strict construction of that instrument, treating the exercise of any power not expressly granted, as a usurpation of all their principles, their measures, and interests, clearly manifested the aristocratical inclination of the one, and the liberal and republican tendency of the other.

Mr. Willis spoke of the charges that had been made against Gen Harrison, Vindicated it manfully from the charge of extravagance and corruption—showed that the government did not owe a dollar it was not prepared to pay, and moreover, that if the Whig increase, the United States Bank and the several States, had paid their debts to government, it would surpass in wealth any nation on the Globe. Here he made a most beautiful and eloquent eulogium upon the condition of our country—alluding in the happiest manner to the extension of our commerce, the power and efficiency of our navy, the respect and consideration with which our government was regarded by every nation of the earth, and the general happiness and prosperity that distinguished the people. He alluded to the necessity that existed for the issuance of Treasury notes—the U. S. Bank was indebted to the Government and would not pay—the State Banks had suspended with the government's money in their vaults—the Whig merchants of New York, and other large cities, had asked for and obtained an extension of time for the payment of their bonds—these circumstances, said he, made that measure necessary.—But the federal party, anxious to destroy confidence in the government, and prevent it from obtaining the means of carrying on its operations, that they might ascribe the evil to the administration—opposed it. They forgot, however, that Mr. Clay, had no objection to such a measure in 1812, and absolutely voted to issue Treasury notes. He it alluded to the charge against Federal office holders, and showed to the satisfaction of all present, that at least half of the Federal offices were Whigs. If life had the regulating of that matter, said Mr Willis, instead of Mr Van Buren, he should be very much disposed to pursue the advice of holy writ, and "do good unto all men, but especially, unto them of the household of faith." Gov Seward of New York, the very liberal and patriotic Whig, who had recently been elected in that State, at one fell swoop had turned out of office nearly three hundred democrats, and appointed to their places those of the household of faith." Gov Ritner when in office did the very same thing. In Kentucky was it any better? Are not, said he, all your officers from Governor down to a constable, any Gimlet's so than democrats—your State officers, Bank officers, magistrates, county attornies, sheriffs, constables &c? Such a thing as a democratic officer was rare as a white crow. And yet, said he, the Whigs tell us of our illiberality!

Mr Willis examined many of the measures which had been projected and supported by the Whig party, and in a very particular manner, that of Mr Crittenden's "dog bill!" We shall not pretend to describe his remarks upon that subject. Suffice it, they were in a strain of lofty indignation, altogether beyond the power of description. The meeting manifested its feeling in a hearty response to the Sentiments of the Speaker. But next, the defalcations which had been charged to the officers of Gen Jackson's and Mr Van Buren's administrations, came up for consideration. Mr Willis not only repelled here, but he fell upon those who have so boldly laid their charges at the door of the administration, and followed up his attacks with blows, that could not fall to have fallen heavily upon their heads.—He took up the case of Swartwout, the Whig President of a Whig meeting in New York—the nominated Whig candidate for the Vice Presidency upon a ticket with the "gold-like Daniel Webster!" He presented the case of that most righteous Whig officer, Mr Lovie of the Schuylkill Bank, who had forced the public to the amount of millions. He came nearer home, and alluded to the case of Mr Clay's son-in-law at Nashville—to the care of Mr Bell's father-in-law at the same place, both of whom were defaulters to a large amount.—Our State Treasurer, Col Davidson, a Whig of course, was brought to the attention of the audience. He had said it appeared from a recent report of a committee of the House of Representatives, in a most flagrant manner, violated his trust, outraged the constitution, and disgraced the State. Yet a Whig Legislature, knowing the facts, had re-elected him to the same office!! Col Davidson had by his own confessions, paid out $30,000, of the public money, without authority, and had received a large amount of money for purposes of internal improvement, without keeping any account thereof! But the very scrupulous and honest Whigs of the Kentucky Legislature, had winked at these abuses, and licensed him by his re-election, to perpetuate further outrages upon the

AGENTS FOR THE MONITOR.

L. Moss Licks, Ky. D Bellingell, P. M, Augusta, " Saml Keene, Esqr. Tuna " Otho Hughes P. M. Millersburg " O J Miller, or A W Billie, Maysick " David Bassett, Germantown " Andrew Cameron Cynthiana " Wm A Withers North Middleton " N. G Darnell Flat Rock " Harden Rogers Mt Carmel " Dr E Logan Flemingsburg " R R Lee or Thos Threy, Sharpsburg " Sanford Allen P M Blizzville " Garrett Chord P.M. Owingsville " J W Barnes Carlisle " Joel Hanson P M Concord " Saml Stevenson P M. Vanceburg " Thos E Redden P M. Greenupsburg " Maj J C Stevens Germantown " James Savage P M Helena " Claiborne T Wood P M Minerva " W P Thomas P M Hurrodsburg " J G Donegby P M Ripley Ohio Dr Bennet P M Aberdeen " Eli Davidson P M. Dunbarton " Wm Waddle-2

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the post office in Maysville, on 31st December, 1839, which if not taken out three weeks, will be sent to the general post office as dead letters.

A Peter D'Archer
" Alexander
H R Auffleber
Mary Ayres
Saml P Ames
Mrs Charlotte Alexander
Thos Hoes
Col Jas Bridges-2
Wm S Bridges
Geo Boyle
Nathaniel R Bland
Fergus Baker or Hugh Bell
W W Bryan, late of missouri
Wm Bean
Obid Breyfield
John Burrows
Lewis Bent
John Brady
Jas Brittain
John Burns
Hugh Barr
miss Sarah Brookens
Thos Barrett
Henry Italic
Jas H Blair
Geo Burnaugh
Jas C Ball
Daniel Breslin
W P Beale
Frederick Bollinger
Rev R J Breckenridge
Jesse M Bell
Jas Bernard
Lewis Baxter
Samuel Boddijen
Jer Brickley, Lewis ccmiss Calista Ann Blanchard
Geo Brown
Stroder Brakley
col James Byers-2
Capt Wm T Barnard
Nathan Cretcher
mrs Hannah Coleman
Geneline Cannwell
Lucius W Crain
Wm Chen
Marshall Curtis
Cyrus Clarige
Wm E Cox
Nelly Coleman colored woman
miss Mary Coleing
Cornelius Cannwell
Lucius W Crain
Wm Chen
Marshall Curtis
Cyrus Clarige
Wm E Cox
Nelly Coleman colored woman
miss Mary Coleing
Cornelius Cannwell
Zadock Collins
Jas Brock & Kilgore
miss Cole
Elijah Cooper
Andrew Clement
H B Cahill
Capt Jas B Campbell
Dr Wm Delany
Jas Davis
Ann Davis
Jas M David
David Daily
Thos L Duran
A O David
Mrs Mary Dently
E—William Fryh
Edward Eaden
J—F Erskine
miss Mary A Edwards
Perry Estes
P—Lewis Fitch
Thos Fraine
Thos J Farley
Fry
Washington Ford
Geo Forster
Thos H Forman
Julius Fego
miss Sara Fleming
Robert Crawler
T S Forman-2
G—Robert Gibson
Jephta Gillett
Wm L Graham
Hiram Garretson
Geo Gosling
German Letters
H—Marshall Henry
Saml Hitchman
Xavier Hickman
ored girl
J & M Hornbrook
Cleo Haywood
Jno C Harrington
G Harthorn
John Hayden
Thos T Hayzel
David P Higgins
Adam Hubbard
Bernard Houston
Hall & Spencer
col Fiel Hawkins
mrs Mary Harn
J—Welch Jellison
miss Margaret Johns
John T Jones
John T Johnson
Jas John H Key
Michael Knight-2
Saml Kerchival
Samuel Kenner
Michael Kelly
Isaac Kershner
—Sally Ann Latham
Jr M V Long
mrs Susan Lovely
James Lain
Jas G Lain
Abner Long
Joel Lafferty
Wm Lemmons
Thos Lemon
Anthony Light
M—John Mitchell
Adeline Moffard
Jayler Madden
Wm Waddle-2
J M Milton
John Marshall
James Murren
John Miller
Mrs Mooney
Elizabeth Mangan
Wm Martin
Jas McDowell
Wm March
Geo McFarland
Walter Lindsey 2 Moss
Thompson Morrison
Robert W Morrison
Uriah B Mitchell
James Mcglasham
mrs Mary A McClellan
Thos McFarland
Lewis McFarren
mrs Elizabeth McKee
A J McClintock
mis Josephine McQuistion-2
G Murphy-3
G Murrire-3
Harry C Mills-2
James Menach-2
miss Catharine Miner-2
Wm H Moss-2
—Norris Nelson
mrs Elizabeth Nash
S H Nicholson
H B Nicholson
H P Nelson
P—Joseph L Palmer
H Porter
Wm Part
C C Payne
Hiram Price
Hiram Price
Wm F Patterson
col Elizabeth Payton-2
Q—Joseph Queen
John Quail
H B Reese
Robert Reed
Houston Rollins
Jas B Ross
William Reed
Mary Ann Reagan
Harrison Ryder
Sanford Ramey
Nimrod H Robinson
W W Ross
Thos L Rees
D W C Ross
Jas Ryan-2
Robertson Rails
mrs Charlotte Rodger
Rev Dr Rogers
S—miss E A Stubblefield
mrs Jane Stith
miss Eliza J Summers
mrs Mary Saunders
Wm Smith
John Sheppard
Simon Spencer
Morgan Sharp
Henry Sharp
Edmund Stallman
Steven Stevenson
Silas Shepherd
Gabriel B Smith
James Sullivan
Wm A Sheehy
Lewellen J Steel
Patrick Sheridan
Elias Sayler
Thos A Shepherd
mrs Sarah J Stevenson
Wm Smithers
James Stone
Arthur Strecter-2
John Seward
mrs J B Stocking
Wm F Stanton
John Stith
miss Mary Sexton
T—Anthony Toner
Daniel Tuohy
Saml Thomas
John Tumbleston
Matthew Tagar
Chas Townsend
Geo W Thompson
W Thompson
miss Lucinda A Tolle
Lewis D Tolle
C—Mark Usher
V—Wm Vochel
C A Vaughan
Jacob Van Dike
Wm Vanmeter
M V Cancamp
—Sarah Wall
John Wills
miss Louisa Willett
Wm Wise
John T Waddle
Wm S Wright
John William
mrs Margaret Walsh
Josiah Wick
Owen Waters
miss H Waters
miss Mary E Walk
miss Nancy J Wa
—Sally Ann Williams
mrs Lucy A Wood
Edward T Wait
Conrad Weigel
miss Ann Williams
John T Wood
W R Wood
miss Martha Wood
Richard Wood
miss C R Wood
G Weeds-4

J. C. COLEMAN, P. M.

Doctor Shackleford, CONTINUES the practice of Medicine, Surgery and Midwifery, in all the varieties of his profession, to the inhabitants of Maysville and the adjoining country. Office on Second Street, below Market Street, and next door to his residence. Maysville, January 14, 1838.

Commission Merchants.
ROUNDS & REED.

HAVING purchased the large and commodious warehouse formerly occupied by William Parker, on the corner of Front and Wall Streets, opposite the lower grade, we have the pleasure to inform our friends and the public generally, that we are prepared to receive and forward any description of property confided to their care. Also, to hale and press Hemp and Tobacco. They will pay strict attention, to give general satisfaction.

ROUNDS & REED.

Maysville, Jan. 17, 1839-tf

LIST OF LETTERS, Remaining in the Post Office at Carlisle, Ky., on the 1st day of Jan. 1839, which if not taken out in 3 months will be sent to the General Post Office as dead letters.

Rev W G Allen 2.
Newton Bishop, George Bastman, Wm Brackenridge, Mrs B Birchfield.
A. Campbell, Reba J Carter, PeterCock Josiah Collier, Preston Campbell
Susan Dougherty, George Dorrell, John Edward, John Gardner,
Kader Hutchins John Hughes, Michael D. Hudnick, J. Jas Harris,
William R. Jones
John Long, Thos N Mathews
Miss Hulda Ore, Andrew Ogden, Miss Sarah A Ogden,
Mrs Elizabeth Perrin, John F Pepper
Jonathan Parish, Thomas Payne, Francis Parker 2, James Parker, John Potts, Angelina Piper, John Rogers, James Rogers,
Allen Spicer, William Secrest, Dr O H Stout, Nelson Slane, Charles Sparkes, J Henry Smith, Wm Somers, A J Smedley, Halle Viney, William Victor.
Thos Wood, John Williams, George Wood, Eli Weaver.

JOEL HOWARD, P. M.

Copper, Tin and Sheet Iron Ware,
JOHN O. REED

Respectfully informs his friends & the public, that he continues to manufacture at his old stand, corner of Main Cross and Sycamore Streets, a short distance below the Market House, towards the river, all the various articles in his line of business, and where he keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Copper and Tin Sheet goods, which he will positively sell at the PITTSBURG PRICES, and on terms as accommodating as they can be bought in the city, or elsewhere, without any exception.

His long and well tried experience in business together with his strict attention to business in his employ, will enable him to execute all orders with neatness and despatch, and he pledges himself that his work shall not be excelled in quality of material, workmanship, or cheapness. Merchants and all others wishing to purchase, are invited to call and see for themselves.

Cooking, coal & wood stoves
AND COMMON GRATES,

of all sizes, are constantly kept on hand for sale. Maysville, Sept 8, 1836.

Newton Cooper,

Of the late firm of Nicholson & Cooper, continues to carry on the

TINNING BUSINESS,

At the old stand, opposite the Eagle Book Store, on Market st. where he will be thankfully received and punctually filled.

He keeps constantly on hand a supply of Cookin, Parlor and Wood Stoves.

Maysville, Nov. 23, '39.-1y.

Western Reserve Cheese,

20 CASKS this day received, and for sale by G. W. DUNLAUGH.

Pure Sperm Oil,

100 GALLONS Sperm Oil received this day received and for sale by G. W. DUNLAUGH.

Dec 12.

CIGARS.

20000 PRINCIPE & Havana Cigars, assorted brands, among wh ich are the CANONES, AMARILLO, COLORADO & PAJIZO, just received and for sale by DO-T. A. SEATON.

Corner of Front & Market Street.
Maysville, Nov. 21 '39.

MONEY WANTED.

WISH all that are indebted to me by Note or Book Account, to take notice, that unless they pay up on or before the 24th of January next, they will find their accounts in the hands of proper officers for collection. Necessity compels me to this course, I owe money and am bound to have what is justly due me. therefore I hope that no one feeling themselves indebted to me, will disregard this notice.

MARTIN SMITH.

Maysville, Dec. 4th 1839—3t

N. B. I have on hand for sale, 20 or 30 bushels of RADEN CORN, which I will sell for One Dollar per bushel, in the cor Also 25 or 30 bushels of fine BEETS which I will sell low. M. S.

A Second supply of Winter GOODS!

JUST received at KELLY'S CASH STORE No. 24, Front Street, which will be sold as usual at our exceedingly low prices.

Also, a large supply of Pilot, Mohair and Blanket OVER-COATS, which we will sell lower than can be bought (the same quality) in Cincinnati.

Maysville, Nov. 23, '39.

'The beginning of the year.'

WE are making preparations to go east for a Spring stock of Goods as early as possible, so soon as we may be enabled to do so—that time depends upon the success of our friends and customers, solely. All those who are indebted to us and ought to pay us, we hope will do so, and not forget or neglect us, and give this notice the earliest attention.

WM. ANDERSON & SHARPE.

Maysville Jan. 2, 1840.

W. Markland,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, MAYSVILLE,

WILL regularly attend the Courts in Mason and the adjoining counties. Office on Main Cross street, one door south of the office of the Maysville Insurance Company, second story.

Nov. 28, '39.

Nicholas D. Coleman,
Late of Kentucky,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,

HAS located himself in Vicksburg, Miss. and will practice in the Circuit Courts of Warren, and adjoining County—also in the High Court of Errors and appeals—the Superior Court of Chancery—and in the Federal Court

Feb 21, 1839

T. Throop, & J. E. Shepard,
Attorneys at Law, Flemingsburg Ky.

WILL regularly attend and practice in the Courts of Fleming, Nicholas, Bath, Lewis and Mason.

They will promptly attend to collections of debts, and other professional business entrusted to their care.

January & Boston, Leach & Dobyns, George Herbert, Lee, Rees & Dobyns, Pearce, Faint & Brodrick, } Maysville

Oct 17, 1839—tf

Eagle copy.

James C. Coleman,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW,

MAYSVILLE, KENTUCKY,

Will make Collections and remit to order

L. J. Procter
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Maysville, Ky.

Will make collections and remit to order

Office No 6. main cross street.

DR. A. SEATON,
Late of Boston, Mass.
Druggist and Apothecary,

Corner of Front and Main Cross Streets,

Aug 8, 1839

Wall Paper.

1600 Rolls Wall Paper of the greatest patterns—fine and common.

15 rolls Border Papers, for rooms,
2000 rolls of Gumpa Papers,
325 remains Medium and Cross Wrapping Paper
30 do Tea Paper,
100 do Cap Writing Paper—ruled or plain,
50 do Post or Letter Paper—ruled or plain.

Any of the above will be sold low for Cash or Barter at the market price.

Also, Ainsworth's Comprehensive Dictionary, in the English Language, 4 vols octavo, Richardson; Clarke on the Holiness Tree and Silk Worm; London Junks Ink; Stocking Boards for Engines; James' Military Dictionary; Bewick's Quadrupeds; Fashionable Puzzles; Scott's Life of Napoleon; Tomlin's Cavalry Exercises; Davies' Arithmetic; Bourdon's Algebra; Robin Day; History of the Navy of the United States, by Cooper; Richelieu by Bulwer; Cheverly; Wilhelm Meister and Sandfort; Ainsworth's Adventures of a Book, by Dr. Carpenter of Chillicothe.

For sale by EDWARD COX,
Front st, Maysville.

INSURANCE AGENCY.

THE LEXINGTON
Fire, Life and Marine Insurance Company,
CAPITAL 300,000 DOLLARS,
BY THEIR AGENT,
CHARLES B. RYAN,

CONTINUE to take risques of all kinds against FIRE or WATER—insure land and grant and sell Annuities, at as low a rate of premium as any office in the West. Owners of Slaves can insure their adventures to call. Office on Main Crossstreet, west side a few doors from Front.

Maysville, February 8, 1838-tf

TO COUNTRY MERCHANTS.

New Wholesale Store,

PEARCE, FANT & BRODRICK, One door below Clarke & Ryan's Warehouse, Market Street,

HAVE just received from the Eastern Cities, a large stock of foreign and domestic dry goods, comprising almost every article in the dry goods line. Our goods were bought for cash principally, and we plead ourselves to sell upon as favourable terms as any house in the West, for Cash or approved paper at 6 months. We respectfully invite nothing to purchase to give us a call.

HIRAM T. PEARCE.
ROBERT C. FANT.
JOSEPH F. BRODRICK.

Maysville, Sept. 19, 1839.

Biggers & Clement,
MERCHANT TAILORS,

No. 6, Front Street, Maysville, Kentucky.

HAVE just received, and are now opening, a fine assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, vestings, and trimmings of every description, to gether with a stock of gentleman's clothing suitable for the season. Their goods have been selected with great care, and they flatter themselves, that they will be able to turn out the good buyer, as cut to his exact measure. They intend to keep always on hand, a constant supply of ready made clothing, of all sizes, and will also make to order any article that may be desired. Work intrusted to their care will be done in the most expeditious manner, and according to the approved model, at reasonable prices. They dedicate themselves to use every exertion to please, and hope to receive a generous share of public favor.

April 4th 1837

GOELICKE'S
Matchless Sanative.

Medicine of great value to mankind although not equally famous as the vegetable, mineral and animal kingdoms, and comprising a three fold power—a medicine, which though designed as a remedy for consumption, is possessed of such mysterious influence over many diseases of the human system, as to effect radical and perfect cures in many cases where all other remedies are inadequate.

Many certificates might be adduced to show that the Sanative has effected the most astonishing cures in almost all of the diseases to which humanity is subject; but it is deemed unnecessary, as the general popularity which the Sanative has obtained, recommendation to fails to the public. The following is a brief statement of the principle diseases to which it has successfully been applied: Incipient and confirmed consumption, pales, epilepsy, convulsions, dropsy, piles, insanity, indigestion, pleurisy, gout, gravel, spasms, fevers, rheumatism, diabetes, rheumatism, spine complaint, partial deafness, nervousness, Ague, Weakness, Consumption, and delirium tremens

Price $2 50 per half ounce.

The above medicine is for sale at the store of the subscriber at Vanceburg, Lewis co.

TH-S. E. REDDEN.

Vanceburg, Ky. Nov 7 1839.-6mo

The Public will take Notice

THAT they are forwarded not to trade in any way, with two negroes employed in driving my waggons on the Turnpike. They are not allowed to swap or trade horses, nor hire or sell the same. and Tavern Keepers and the keepers of Wagon Stands are warned to credit them for their bills, as I will not be answerable for such debts or any others that they may contract.

Commission merchants are requested not to hand them with any loading to be sent over the river—or on the Turnpike. They are not allowed to swap or trade horses, nor hire or sell the same. and Tavern Keepers and the keepers of Wagon Stands are warned to credit them for their bills, as I will not be answerable for such debts or any others that they may contract.

WM. GORHAM.

Millersburg, Dec. 19.—3mo

Glass.

42 BOXES Flint Tumblers,
20 do. prest. 6, 7 and 8 Sets,
4 boxes French Tumblers, fine,
73 do. Viols, assorted,
27 do. Decanters, &c

Also fine cut and plain Wines, Cordials, Jellies, Decanters, Bowls, Dishes, Molasses Cans, Lamps and Shades, Lanterns, Pickle Jars, Preserve Jars, quart and half—all of which will be sold at the lowest prices. Call and see.

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10, Market Street.

August 8, 1839.

Glass Ware.

7 PAIR fine Cut Bowls;
5 pair do. do. Dishes;

Also, fine Pitchers, Champagne, Tumblers, Wines and Goblets, Jelly Glasses, fine cut and common;

10 boxes, 60 doz prest Tumblers;
20 " 4 Gallon Jars;
20 " 2 do. do.
25 doz quart and pint Jars;
14 " prest Cup Plates;
20 " do. 5—7 inch plates;
10 " Mustard Pots;
40 Boxes, 6 doz. each, common Tumblers;

Just received by

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10, Market Street.

May 16, 1839.

Eagle copy.

GLOBES, &c.

TWO pair of Terrestrial and Celestial 12 inch Globes, cheap,
Six inch Terrestrial Globes, $3;
Keith on the Globes;
Burnett's Geography of the Heavens;
Survey on Compass, with spirit, level and chain;
Books on Surveying, by Flint, Gibson, Gummer and Conway;
Gummer's Astronomy;
Wonders of the Heavens, with beautiful Engravings, by J Bradford;
Tanner's Universal Atlas;
Bradford's Comprehensive Atlas;
Encyclopedia of Geography, 3 volumes, sheep.

For sale by EDWARD COX

march 15, 1839.

PAPER AND BOOKS.

30 Reams Double medium Printing paper,
20 do Imperial do
5 large Johnson's Printing Ink,
1000 Sheets Letter Paper,
10 gross blue and white Bonnet Boards

One set of Webster's Works, 10 vols. bound, for $10, Webster's Dictionary, 75 cts, Bowdler; Mamillous' Sermons; Rambach's Devout Meditations; Watson's Theological Institutes; Wilberforce's Practical View; Scott's Cottler's Scripture Facts; Burnett's History of the Reformation, 6 vols; Tyng's Sermons; Wilson's Christian Biography; Dwight's Theology; Hopkins on the Covenants; Dupledy on Redemption; Mathew's on the Divine Perpetuity of the Moral Law; Dwight's Theology, which will be sold low for Cash at

J. COXS BOOK STORE.

Sep. 19 1839. Front street, Maysville.

NOTICE.

WE are again making preparations to go east for a full supply of goods, and we wholly dependent on those of our customers who are in arrears on account years business, to pay us a full call on us speedily and afford us the necessary facilities.

BAYLES & COBURN.

Maysville, August 8th, 1839.

An Excellent Medicine,
For sale by S. Stevenson, Concord, Ky. And by Garret Chorde, Elizaville.

GOELICKE'S

MATCHLESS SANATIVE,

A MEDICINE of more value to man than the vast mass of Kustin, or even the united treasures of our globe; a medicine, obtained equally from the vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms, and thus possesses a three fold power—a medicine, which, though designed as a remedy for consumption solely, in consequence of a mysterious influence over many diseases of the human system—a medicine which begins to be regarded by Physicians, who are daily witnessing its astonishing cures of many whom they had resigned to the grasp of the insatiable grave.

Price of this Sanative for Adults, one drop; for children a half drop; and for infants a quarter drop; the directions explaining the manner of taking a half or quarter drop.

Price—Two dollars and fifty cents per half ounce.

Louis Gofie Goelicke, M. D. of Germany, the illustrious benefactor of man, is entitled to the gratitude of the world, for the invention of Matchless Sanative—a medicine having flat may justly claim for it such a title, since it has so signally triumphed over our great common enemy CONSUMPTION, both in the first and last stages—a medicine which has thoroughly filled the vacuum in the Materia Medica, and which has proved itself the Sanative of Physicians—a medicine, for which all mankind will have abundant cause to bless the benificent hand of a benefactor—a medicine, whose wondrous virtues have been so glowingly portrayed even by some of our clergy in their pulpits—a medicine, the efficacy by which means they have often become the happy instruments of changing despondency into hope, sickness into health, and sadness of friends into joyfulness

Such is the demand for this mighty health restorer in Germany, that in Hamburg alone, one of our booksellers, sold in one month, 147 phials, being more than six packages; Sir F. Manbitsch, Bremen, 135; Dr. Jas. Sevier, inskeeper, 108; and not a single agent who has made returns of money to the depository, has sold less than 100 per month since he received his appointment.

An association of gentlemen with Mr. Manhattan at its head, and comprising 20 agents, recently offered Goelicke $47,000 for the original receipe for preparing the Sanative, but that secret is priceless.

Of most medicines before the public, the patient is directed to take five or six hot box and if there should be no relief, to take one of ten or even fifteen; but not so with the Matchless Sanative.

It is here worthy of remark, that in almost every instance where cures have been wrought by this remedy, less than a phial has resulted in a complete cure, and in many cases, where no resulting fatally or incurably, has the patient used two whole phials.

The Sanative is also a most efficacious, as a general preventive of contagious diseases—and by many it is said to be a never failing antidote, though the inventor does not claim this with positiveness.

All persons who live in unhealty climates, whether hot or cold—all operatives and others exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and all who lead sedentary and inactive lives, are exposed to various mortous maladies which may be successfully prevented by the constitutional, or confirmed consumption, pales, epilepsy, convulsions, dropsy, piles, insanity, indigestion, pleurisy, gout, gravel, spasms, fevers, rheumatism, diabetes, rheumatism, spine complaint, partial deafness, nervousness, Ague, Weakness, Consumption, and delirium tremens

Price $2 50 per half ounce.

The above medicine is for sale at the store of the subscriber at Vanceburg, Lewis co.

TH-S. E. REDDEN.

Vanceburg, Ky. Nov 7 1839.-6mo

Glass.

42 BOXES Flint Tumblers,
20 do. prest. 6, 7 and 8 Sets,
4 boxes French Tumblers, fine,
73 do. Viols, assorted,
27 do. Decanters, &c

Also fine cut and plain Wines, Cordials, Jellies, Decanters, Bowls, Dishes, Molasses Cans, Lamps and Shades, Lanterns, Pickle Jars, Preserve Jars, quart and half—all of which will be sold at the lowest prices. Call and see.

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10 Market Street.

August 8, 1839.

Glass Ware.

7 PAIR fine Cut Bowls;
5 pair do. do. Dishes;

Also, fine Pitchers, Champagne, Tumblers, Wines and Goblets, Jelly Glasses, fine cut and common;

10 boxes, 60 doz prest Tumblers;
20 " 4 Gallon Jars;
20 " 2 do. do.
25 doz quart and pint Jars;
14 " prest Cup Plates;
20 " do. 5—7 inch plates;
10 " Mustard Pots;
40 Boxes, 6 doz. each, common Tumblers;

Just received by

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10, Market Street.

May 16, 1839.

Eagle copy.

GLOBES, &c.

TWO pair of Terrestrial and Celestial 12 inch Globes, cheap,
Six inch Terrestrial Globes, $3;
Keith on the Globes;
Burnett's Geography of the Heavens;
Survey on Compass, with spirit, level and chain;
Books on Surveying, by Flint, Gibson, Gummer and Conway;
Gummer's Astronomy;
Wonders of the Heavens, with beautiful Engravings, by J Bradford;
Tanner's Universal Atlas;
Bradford's Comprehensive Atlas;
Encyclopedia of Geography, 3 volumes, sheep.

For sale by EDWARD COX

march 15, 1839.

PAPER AND BOOKS.

30 Reams Double medium Printing paper,
20 do Imperial do
5 large Johnson's Printing Ink,
1000 Sheets Letter Paper,
10 gross blue and white Bonnet Boards

One set of Webster's Works, 10 vols. bound, for $10, Webster's Dictionary, 75 cts, Bowdler; Mamillous' Sermons; Rambach's Devout Meditations; Watson's Theological Institutes; Wilberforce's Practical View; Scott's Cottler's Scripture Facts; Burnett's History of the Reformation, 6 vols; Tyng's Sermons; Wilson's Christian Biography; Dwight's Theology; Hopkins on the Covenants; Dupledy on redemption; Mathew's on the Divine Perpetuity of the Moral Law; Dwight's Theology, which will be sold low for Cash at

J. COXS BOOK STORE.

Sep. 19 1839. Front street, Maysville.

NOTICE.

WE are again making preparations to go east for a full supply of goods, and are wholly dependent on those of our customers who are in arrears on account years business, to pay us a full call on us speedily and afford us the necessary facilities.

BAYLES & COBURN.

Maysville, August 8th, 1839.

An Excellent Medicine,
For sale by S. Stevenson, Concord, Ky. And by Garret Chorde, Elizaville.

GOELICKE'S

MATCHLESS SANATIVE,

A MEDICINE of more value to man than the vast mass of Kustin, or even the united treasures of our globe; a medicine, obtained equally from the vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms, and thus possesses a three fold power—a medicine, which, though designed as a remedy for consumption solely, in consequence of a mysterious influence over many diseases of the human system—a medicine which begins to be regarded by Physicians, who are daily witnessing its astonishing cures of many whom they had resigned to the grasp of the insatiable grave.

Price of this Sanative for Adults, one drop; for children a half drop; and for infants a quarter drop; the directions explaining the manner of taking a half or quarter drop.

Price—Two dollars and fifty cents per half ounce.

Louis Gofie Goelicke, M. D. of Germany, the illustrious benefactor of man, is entitled to the gratitude of the world, for the invention of Matchless Sanative—a medicine having flat may justly claim for it such a title, since it has so signally triumphed over our great common enemy CONSUMPTION, both in the first and last stages—a medicine which has thoroughly filled the vacuum in the Materia Medica, and which has proved itself the Sanative of Physicians—a medicine, for which all mankind will have abundant cause to bless the benificent hand of a benefactor—a medicine, whose wondrous virtues have been so glowingly portrayed even by some of our clergy in their pulpits—a medicine, the efficacy by which means by these often become the happy instruments of changing despondency into hope, sickness into health, and sadness of friends into joyfulness

Such is the demand for this mighty health restorer in Germany, that in Hamburg alone, one of our booksellers, sold in one month, 147 phials, being more than six packages; Sir F. Manbitsch, Bremen, 135; Dr. Jas. Sevier, inskeeper, 108; and not a single agent who has made returns of money to the depository, has sold less than 100 per month since he received his appointment.

An association of gentlemen with Mr. Manhattan at its head, and comprising 20 agents, recently offered Goelicke $47,000 for the original receipe for preparing the Sanative, but that secret is priceless.

Of most medicines before the public, the patient is directed to take five or six hot box and if there should be no relief, to take one of ten or even fifteen; but not so with the Matchless Sanative.

It is here worthy of remark, that in almost every instance where cures have been wrought by this remedy, less than a phial has resulted in a complete cure, and in many cases, where no resulting fatally or incurably, has the patient used two whole phials.

The Sanative is also a most efficacious, as a general preventive of contagious diseases—and by many it is said to be a never failing antidote, though the inventor does not claim this with positiveness.

All persons who live in unhealty climates, whether hot or cold—all operatives and others exposed to the inclemencies of the weather, and all who lead sedentary and inactive lives, are exposed to various mortous maladies which may be successfully prevented by the constitutional, or confirmed consumption, pales, epilepsy, convulsions, dropsy, piles, insanity, indigestion, pleurisy, gout, gravel, spasms, fevers, rheumatism, diabetes, rheumatism, spine complaint, partial deafness, nervousness, Ague, Weakness, Consumption, and delirium tremens

Price $2 50 per half ounce.

The above medicine is for sale at the store of the subscriber at Vanceburg, Lewis co.

TH-S. E. REDDEN.

Vanceburg, Ky. Nov 7 1839.-6mo

The Public will take Notice

THAT they are forwarded not to trade in any way, with two negroes employed in driving my waggons on the Turnpike. They are not allowed to swap or trade horses, nor hire or sell the same. and Tavern Keepers and the keepers of Wagon Stands are warned to credit them for their bills, as I will not be answerable for such debts or any others that they may contract.

Commission merchants are requested not to hand them with any loading to be sent over the river—or on the Turnpike. They are not allowed to swap or trade horses, nor hire or sell the same. and Tavern Keepers and the keepers of Wagon Stands are warned to credit them for their bills, as I will not be answerable for such debts or any others that they may contract.

WM. GORHAM.

Millersburg, Dec. 19.—3mo

Glass.

42 BOXES Flint Tumblers,
20 do. prest. 6, 7 and 8 Sets,
4 boxes French Tumblers, fine,
73 do. Viols, assorted,
27 do. Decanters, &c

Also fine cut and plain Wines, Cordials, Jellies, Decanters, Bowls, Dishes, Molasses Cans, Lamps and Shades, Lanterns, Pickle Jars, Preserve Jars, quart and half—all of which will be sold at the lowest prices. Call and see.

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10 Market Street.

August 8, 1839.

Glass Ware.

7 PAIR fine Cut Bowls;
5 pair do. do. Dishes;

Also, fine Pitchers, Champagne, Tumblers, Wines and Goblets, Jelly Glasses, fine cut and common;

10 boxes, 60 doz prest Tumblers;
20 " 4 Gallon Jars;
20 " 2 do. do.
25 doz quart and pint Jars;
14 " prest Cup Plates;
20 " do. 5—7 inch plates;
10 " Mustard Pots;
40 Boxes, 6 doz. each, common Tumblers;

Just received by

J. W. JOHNSTON, Druggist,
No. 10, Market Street.

May 16, 1839.

Eagle copy.

GLOBES, &c.

TWO pair of Terrestrial and Celestial 12 inch Globes, cheap,
Six inch Terrestrial Globes, $3;
Keith on the Globes;
Burnett's Geography of the Heavens;
Survey on Compass, with spirit, level and chain;
Books on Surveying, by Flint, Gibson, Gummer and Conway;
Gummer's Astronomy;
Wonders of the Heavens, with beautiful Engravings, by J Bradford;
Tanner's Universal Atlas;
Bradford's Comprehensive Atlas;
Encyclopedia of Geography, 3 volumes, sheep.

For sale by EDWARD COX

march 15, 1839.

PAPER AND BOOKS.

30 Reams Double medium Printing paper,
20 do Imperial do
5 large Johnson's Printing Ink,
1000 Sheets Letter Paper,
10 gross blue and white Bonnet Boards

One set of Webster's Works, 10 vols. bound, for $10, Webster's Dictionary, 75 cts, Bowdler; Mamillous' Sermons; Rambach's Devout Meditations; Watson's Theological Institutes; Wilberforce's Practical View; Scott's Cottler's Scripture Facts; Burnett's History of the Reformation, 6 vols; Tyng's Sermons; Wilson's Christian Biography; Dwight's Theology; Hopkins on the Covenants; Dupledy on redemption; Mathew's on the Divine Perpetuity of the Moral Law; Dwight's Theology, which will be sold low for Cash at

J. COXS BOOK STORE.

Sep. 19 1839. Front street, Maysville.

NOTICE.

WE are again making preparations to go east for a full supply of goods, and are wholly dependent on those of our customers who are in arrears on account years business, to pay us a full call on us speedily and afford us the necessary facilities.

BAYLES & COBURN.

Maysville, August 8th, 1839.

Amherst, N. H., Jan. 1, 1838.

Dr. Rowland—I send a phial of the Matchless Sanative to a gentleman who was in the Confirmed Consumption, pronounced PAST ANY RELIEF and confined to his room—he had settled his affairs and prepared to leave his late. He has not taken a whole bottle and says that his health is perfect, that he is entirely well, and imputes the cure to the Sanative—I send you another sick one—Many others who have taken it are rapidly recovering.

Yours respectfully, &c.

THOS. M. BENDER.

Orland Post Office, Maine, March 30, 1838.

Dear Sir—The Matchless Sanative has had a won derful effect in several cases in this town. I mean a dual to a number of very sick with Consumptive and Rheumatic complaints for four or five years, and who was unable to dress himself or even to commence talking it. He has recently sent me word that he felt quite well, could dress himself without any trouble, and that he shall shortly recover.

Yours in haste,

E. RUSSELL, P. M.

Rush Post Office, Monroe co, N. Y., March 14, 1838.

Dear Sir—In 48 hours after I received the package of Sanative, I sold six of it—and have cause to the conclusion that it must be all that it is recommended to be. It is sufficient to say, that the benefit derived from a short use of it, has convinced the most prejudiced of its utility. The enclosed money you will pass to my account, and I wish you to send more of the Sanative as soon as convenient.

Respectfully, &c.

JOHN B. CROSBY, P. M.

Haverhill, Mass. March 26, 1839.

Dear Sir—Instances cases have come to my knowledge in which the Sanative has proved a benefit—and one case in particular where it performed a wonder. I can procure you a good number of persons who can testify to it—Please credit me with the enclosed money, and forward me more of the Sanative by the bearer.

Yours truly,

THO. G. FARNSWORTH

Cornwall Post office, Vt., April 1, 1838.

Dear Sir—The Matchless Sanative is this highly esteemed in this quarter, and is gaining general use. Yours, &c.

SAM'L EVERETS, P. M.

Wheeling Post Office, N. Y. Feb. 16, 1839

Dear Sir—I have received your package of Sanative of whatever cx, cause it can be sent to me. It has effected some astonishing cures here, and I have sold out the half dozen you may is one the way. I wish you would send me half a dozen phials by MAIL, and I will pay the postage and charge them to the native. Don't fail to send it by mail, as it will come at so a dollar per ounce in postage, and I shall receive it in 12 hours. Yours &c.

ORAS NICHOLS, P. M.

Dear Sir—My daughter, who had a distressing cough, was pronounced by her physician to be in a state of rapid pulpitation of the heart has taken a phial of the Sanative and is now well. I have also been recommending it to a friend of yours.

Your respectfully,

C. R. COMSTOCK

Plymouth, Mass Feb 6. 1838

Dear Sir—I have abundance of matter tell you concerning the Sanative, where it has done good, and where it has not done good. It had cures in my neighborhood, where it had cures in much in its efficacy. I have one person now about to attend to it—the cases are of a nature that I do not know whether it will be of any benefit to you provided it can be had. I will tell you more when I see you

Respectfully,

I. A. C. RICH.

This medicine is for sale by GARRET CHORDE, Agent at Elizaville, Ky.

Co-Partnership.

THE Subscribers having formed a co-partnership, beg leave to inform their friends and the public that their Stock of Merchandise is now very general, and consists in part of

DRY GOODS,
Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Cutlery, Queensware, Glassware,
Groceries, Brushes & Dyestuffs.

Of the above goods, we have almost every variety; also a great many article which it is unnecessary to mention. We ask a call from those wishing to purchase, they are determined to sell as good bargains for cash, as can be bought in the city.

J. N. REYNOLDS,
E. FRENCH,

3 No. 47, Market street, Maysville

June 6—1

Antiquities.

DELAFIELD'S Antiquities of North America, with 5 yards of curious engravings & etc the Pearl, for 1840; the Gem, for 1840; Lady's Book, for January, 1840; Pittsburgh Wag. Almanac, 1840; Pittsburg Single Almanac, 1840; Kentucky Farmer's do.; German and English Cook Book; Mitchell's Universal History of the Colonization Society; 374c.; Life of Brandt the celebrated Indian; Means and Ends; Capt. Hall's Letters from Manhattan on the Constitution; Walker on the Sin of Intemperance; 16 or 13 inch Globes for the use of Schools; Capt. Marryat's Amazing Diary, Opie's Cure for Slander; Kirkham's Aids to Researches or Indian Tales; Dibble's History of Mahomet and his Successors; Islands; Malcom's Missionary Travels in India; Fanny or Sober Pieces, by Hallock; Abbott's Cabab in Tom. Pinkling; Neale Malone; The Ancient Pirate, Harlington and Rosalind; Scott's Poems; Hallock's Medical Books.

Call and see, at

E. COX,S BOOK STORE,

Sep