POETRY.

MURDER.

BY HENRY T. STANTON.

[From Frank Leslies Illustrated News.]

His wine of life, drawn past its lees,
Had stained the grasses red,
Where, under laden date-palm trees,
A man lay newly dead.

The motley of a Summer day—
The shadow set in light—
With sharp defined existence lay
Imprinted on the sight.

A hush was in the fruitly bloom,
Where late, attrition made
An atmosphere of spice perfume
The distances pervade.

The Nasid of a lucent brook
That loitered in the place,
Went outward with a frightened look
Upon a whited face.

An utter, utter silence then;
A silence and a pain;
A terror in the matchless air,
That halled by the slain.

The world was young and virgin then
To common blight and ill,
And Nature, in the outraged glen,
Stood, horified and still.

And this was fruit from Eden seeds
In serpent trailings hain!
The hand and mild-way'd Abel bleeds
Whilst, pulseful warders Cain.

The dove and robin only keep
A record of that day.
The world did pause a while and weep
Above the mortal clay;

But, soon the world went on, went on,
The setting gold-haired thing—
The very wind came gleeful right
The Truck learned soon to sing.

With song the dove was sweetly blest,
And down the long-ago,
Th e robin held upon its breast
The drifting snet the snow;

But under Abels date-palm trees
The dove forgot its coos,
And ribes over other lands and seas,
It makes its plaintive moan;

And there, when, pulsing sadly, stood
The robin by the slain,
Its plumage caught from Abel's blood
Its never fading stain.

Thus Deity hath marked the crime
For eyes to passing round—
The blood that flowed in Adam's time,
Dying from the ground—

Forbids is why the dove wears
The red upon its breast.

WHITE WINE AND CROTEN OIL.

BY B. B. TORY.

CHAPTER I.

On Thursday a clerk in an office on Broadway received a box of California white wine as a present. He opened a bottle, and his fellow-clerks drank "many happy returns" in the domestic Sauterne. Then the clerk, rechristened Stopper for the purpose of the occasion, went out lounging behind a second bottle from which the cork had been abstracted, on his desk.

CHAPTER II.

Ere the echoing sound of his departing footsteps had ceased to vibrate on the delicate tympanum of the cashier's ear, the form of Mr. Snowbound, a familiar in the office, obscured the doorway with its portly presence. He rolled behind the counter, and his eye glistened as it lighted on the bottle. "Ha! wine!" said he, "gentlemen, I salute you," and immediately the bottle was at his mouth. When he put it down his lips uttered a sonorous smack "Gberks, by the shade of Bacchus," he exclaimed, "most virtuous beverage!"

A rosy cheeked clerk looked up from his column of figures, and in the most solemn manner, said: "If you have been drinking from that bottle you are a dead man."

The bibulator turned pale.

Then spoke the cashier, his countenance expressing horror: Mr. Snowbound, Mr. Snowbound! you haven't been drinking from that bottle, I hope"

"Yes, I have; why?"

"Oh, dear me! Why, the wine has been doctored; there is croton oil in it; we fixed for old Pull. You had better go under medical treatment immediately.

Mr. Snowbound gritted his teeth; and his throat swelled as if out of conceit with his stomach; he pressed his hands against the third button of his vest and fled.

The rosy-cheeked clerk looked at the dignified cashier and laughed; the cashier laughed back and said: "How wonderful is the effect of imagination!"

CHAPTER III.

With beaming face and elastic step the other clerk, Mr. Stopper, re-entered the office. With one hand he removed his hat, with the other elevated the bottle to his lips. The rosy cheeked clerk sprang from his stool and clutched Stopper's arm; the cashier, from the other side, wrenched the bottle from his hand.

"You haven't swallowed any, have you?" asked the cashier, anxiously.

"Certainly I have. What do you mean by this conduct?"

Unfortunate youth! You have done it, sure. That wine has been 'doctored' croton oil and all that sort of things. We 'fixed' it for old Pull," answered the cashier.

"O dear! O dear! What shall I do? I'm poisoned—I shall die! Goodness! how sick I am at my stomach!"

They advised the young man to take burnt brandy and Jamaica ginger with a dash of Angostura bitters, and he bolted from the office in search of this remedy. Again did the wicked conspirator laugh.

CAHPTER IV.

Into the den of the Goblin rushed the unfortunate young man, distributing the sawdust right and left with his rapid strides. He rested his trembling hands against the shelf which serves in lieu of a counter until the bottles shook again. The Goblin was polishing a tumbler with a dry cloth, and he wore his blandest professional smile as he bowed his head thoughtfully and slightly to one side, the better to hear the young man's order.

"Burnt brandy, Jamaica and Angostura bitters; quick!" hoarsely whispered Stopper.

The Goblin started, and the professional smile faded into an expression of the deepest concern. "What's the matter, sir?" he asked.

"Poisoned!" cried the despairing youth: be quick, for goodness sake!"

"Oh, yes! certainly! hurry up! Here she goes. Burnt brandy! See that big man on the keg? Ginger! Awfully sick—Angostura; he's been poisoned too. Here you are sir!"

The youth gulped down the dreadful mixture and slowly turned his head. On a beer keg he saw a large man seated, evidently in great pain, endeavoring to write on the back of an old letter.

"Give me some more, Goblin," groaned the fat man; "burnt brandy, ginger and Angostura. I'm feeling badly again."

"Isn't that Mr. Snowbound?" whispered Stopper, anxiously.

"Coming, sir," cried the Goblin, and then to Stopper, "yes, that's Snowbound, and he's dreadfully poisoned. I don't think he will last long. Writing his will, I think."

The young man sank hopelessly on another beer keg, and complained of gripes and abdominal spasms.

CHAPTER V.

In the office, the rosy-faced clerk and the cashier worked with their pens and smiled as they worked. A shadow fell across the threshold; it announced the arrival Mr. Pull, the collector, a short man with a round, red face, spectacles, and a dark purple mustache. He sauntered behind the counter and had already opened his mouth to address the cashier, when he seemed deeply immersed in his accounts, when the form of the bottle obtruded itself on his attention; he read the label and then deliberately poured a quantity of the clear liquid into his mouth.

A gurgling sound was heard, followed by a loud "smack." "Splendid!" "Splendid!" soliloquized the collector, "they may talk about their whiskies and brandies, but give me clear, cooling white wine—by George! I'll take a little more, it's refreshing."

The conspirators arose and labored with the venerable collector; they told him that he had already been poisoned; that the wine contained a large portion of croton oil.

The blase collector forced a little laugh. "Is it?" said he; "well I've been wanting a dose of medicine for some time, and by George! I believe this will do me good." He made a pretense of desiring to take another swig at the bottle, but was restrained without much difficulty.

Then he talked for some time concerning the benefits of an occasional dose of croton oil, and told a long story of how he had cured himself of yellow fever in 1822, when at Havana, with this oil. At length he said that he thought he would start out and do a little more collecting.

As he passed out of the door, the rosy-cheeked clerk said: "We are the ones sold this time."

"Yes," answered the cashiers, "he is too old a bird to be caught by our chaff," and they finished the bottle between them.

CHAPTER VI.

As soon as Mr. Pull had passed out sight of the door, he accelerated his steps and sought the office of Dr.——. He found the physician within. "I want to be pumped," said he.

"What?" demanded his physician.

"Pumbod out—stomach pump you know. I have been poisoned. By George how it gripes a fellow."

The doctor asked no more questions. He thrust a tube down the collector's throat and pumped as if he were on board a ship with a big leak, and his salvation depended on keeping the vessel afloat.

The patient groaned and grunted, and the doctor perspired. After three minutes hard work, the practioner declared.

"Got all the bilge water out, doc?" spluttered the collector.

"I think so."

"Bully! By George that is a good pump, isn't it? How much do I owe you?"

"Nothing sir—nothing. I am glad to have saved your life."

"So am I, by George, doc. Much obleeged. Makes a fellow feel weak, doesn't it? Good day, doc"

CHAPTER VII.

During the remainder of that day no collector appeared at the office, nor was Mr. Stopper seen at his desk, neither did Mr. Snowbound show up at his place of business. Next day Mr. Stopper arrived, pale and solemn, and took his seat at his desk. He told the manager that he had been quite ill—lay at death's door all night, etc., and to his friend, the rosy cheeked clerk, he imparted the information that his narrow escape had taught him a lesson, he had turned over a new leaf; from that day on he would lead a different life. In fact he had already joined a temperance society.

Mr. Snowbond's partner received a note from that gentleman announcing that he would not be able to attend to business for some days, owing to exhaustion incident on a severe attack of cholera morbus.

At about four o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Pull, the collector, walked slowly into his place of business, his smile less absent than usual, and the color somewhat faded from his cheeks. The cashier shook him by the hand and asked him how he was feeling.

"Rather weak," answered the collector; "I must have taken a fearful big dose of that stuff. By George! I never passed such a night in my life. I didn't sleep a wink."

"Did'nt you do any thing for it? Didn't you use any remedy?" inquired the cashier.

"Do anything? of course not. It was just what I needed. I feel a little weak, but that oil did me a great deal of good—a great deal of good."

"The cashier looked blankly at the rosy cheeked clerk, and the rosy-cheeked clerk looked dismally at the cashier.

"I tell you boys," continued the collector, "that croton oil is one of the best of medicines. When I was in Cuba in 1822—I was a traveling agent for a cloth house then—I was taken with the yellow fever, and when——"

The two young men had fled to the back room to conceal their mirth, and were drinking to the "Influence of the Imagination," in another bottle.

"I guess the boys don't want to hear my story," soliloquized the collector; "and I'll be hanged if I tell 'em about that stomach pump," and he left them to their own fun.

THE STONE CUTTER.

Once upon a time there was in Japan a poor stone-cutter, a simple workman in the quaries. His life was rude, he worked much, gained little, and was not at all contented with his fate.

"Oh, if I could only be rich enough to rest, to sleep on thick matting, wrapped in a kirman of soft silk!" Such was the sigh he breathed to heaven. And an angel intercepted it.

"It shall be according to thy desire," said the angel to him. And he at once became rich, and he rested slept upon thick matting and rapped himself in a kirman of soft silk.

It happened that the Emperor passed by.

He was preceded by heralds on foot and horseback, and surrounded by persons who held over his head an immense parasol resplendent with gold.

"What good does it do me to be rich?" murmured the man, "as long as I have not the right to go out with an escort, and have my head protected by a golden parasol! Why am I not the Emperor?"

"Thou shalt be," said the angel.

And indeed, he became the Emperor. He had an escort of cavaliers before and behind him, and people who held above his head an immense parasol resplendent with gold.

However, the sun with his ardent beams dried up the country, and the dusty road, quivering with his brightness, fatigued the eyes.

"It is a great advantage to be Emperor," cried the man, "when the heat of the day exhausts you, and the sun never ceases to make you feel his power! But if one could ever be the sun!"

"Behold! are you satified" the angel asked. For he had become the sun, and he darted his beams up and down, right and left, and all around him. And he scorched the heritage of the earth. But a cloud thrust itself between the earth and him; it held back the rays of the sun and prevented them from falling upon the earth's surface.

"There is strength," cried the sun—"a cloud capable of resisting my power. It would be better if I were a cloud."

"Very well," said the angel.

And the transformation was at once accomplished. The new cloud placed itself haughtily between the sun and the earth and so thoroughly intercepted the rays of sun that it soon saw the earth covered with its shadows. Then it caused big drops of rain, and pouring showers and waterspouts to fall on the land, so that the torrents bursts their bounds and the rivers spread over and devastated the fields. Nothing resisted the force of the mundation; only a rock dodged, perfectly motionless. In vain the bellowing waters beat it in their fury, the rock yielded not, but the foaming waves died at its foot.

"A rock then is my superior," said the cloud; "I would rather be in its place."

"You shall be," said the angel.

And he was transformed into a steep unshaken rock, insensible to the rays of the sun, indifferent to the torrents of rain, and the shock of the tumultuous waves.

Nevertheless, he distinguished at his feet a man of poor appearance hardly clothed, but armed with a chisel and a hammer; and the man with the help of these instruments, struck off pieces of the rock, which he dressed into stones proper for cutting.

"What is that?" cried the rock; "has man the power of rending pieces of stone from my breast? Shall I be weaker than he? Then it is absolutely necessary that I should be a man."

"Have your will," said the angel, and he became again what he had been—a poor stone cutter, a simple workman in the quaries. His life was a rude one, he worked much and gained little, but he was contented with his lot.

A STORY ABOUT PROFESSOR MORSE.

[From the Washington Capital]

We happened to meet Colonel Strother, the famous Porte Crayon, and talk turning as usual upon Mr. Morse, the Colonel said:

"I knew him well. I took lessons under him in drawing and painting. I first saw him when he was a competitor for the remaining panel in the rotunda of the Capitol. I thought then he ought to have had it. I think so yet. He was not a great artist, but he was enough one to save us from ridicule. The job was given to Mr. Powel. General Schenck did that. The General probably did not know one picture from another, but Mr. Powel was his constituent, and he believed, did Schenck, that something in the way of art should be done for the Miami bottoms, so he worked at it until he got the commission."

"And one day," said we, "Congress will give General Schenck permission to remove that terrible product of the Miami bottoms. But what about Professor Morse."

"Well, I engaged to become his pupil, and subsequently went to New York and found him in a room on University place. He had three other pupils, and I soon found that our professor had very little patronage. I paid my fifty dollars, that paid for one quarters instruction. Morse was a faithful teacher, and took as much interest in our progress, more, indeed, than we did ourselves. But he was very poor. I remember that when my second quarters pay was due him, it did not come as soon as was expected, and one day the Professor came to me and said courteously:

"Well Strother, my boy, how are we off for money?"

"Why, Professor," I answered, "I am sorry to say I have been disappointed; but I expect a remittance next week."

"Next week," he repeated sadly; "I shall be dead by that time."

"Dead, sir?"

"Yes, dead of starvation."

"I was distressed and astonished. I said hurriedly, would ten dollars be of any service?"

"Ten dollars would save my life; that is all it would do."

"I paid the money, all that I had, and we dined together. It was a modest meal, but good, and after we had finished he said:

"This is my first meal for twenty-four hours. Strother, don't be an artist. It means beggary. Your life is dependent upon a people who know nothing of your art, and care nothing for you. A house dog lives better, and the very sensitiveness that stimulates him to work keeps him alive to suffering."

"I remained with Professor Morse three years, and then we separated. Some years afterwards I met him on Broadway one day. He was about the same as before, a trifle older, and perhaps somewhat ruddier. I asked him how he was getting on with his painting, and he told me that he had abandoned it; that he had something better he believed, and told me about his proposed telegraph. I accompanied him to his room and there found several miles of wire twisted about, and the battery, which he explained to me. His pictures, finished and unfinished, were lying about covered with dust. Shortly after Congress made an appropriation, and Morse was on the high road to wealth and immortality."

☞ A policeman said to the Mayor, that when about dispatching a prowling purp, he was accosted by the following touching appeal, which he submitted to His Honor,

"Policeman spare that dog,
Touch not a single hair!
He worries many a hog
From out his muddy lair.

Oh, when he was a pup,
So frisky and so plump—
He lapped his milk from a cup,
When hungry—at a jump.

And then his funny tricks,
So funny in their place
So full of canine licks
Upon your hands and face.

You'll surely let him live?
Oh don't kill him—dead;
He wags his narrative
Whenever he is fed.

Policeman spare that pup
Touch not a single hair,
Oh put your pistol up,
And go away from them!

"I be doggoned," said His Honor,

Press Dead Heads.

Railroads occasionally complain of dead-heading, but no institution suffers so much from it as the press. A sensible writer says: "The press endures the affliction of dead-headism from the pulpit, the bar and the stage—from corporations, societies and individuals. It is expected to yield its interests, it is required to give strength to the weak, eyes to the blind, clothes to the naked and bread to the hungry; it is asked to cover infirmities, hide weaknesses and wink at quacks, bolster up dull authors and flatter the vain; it is, in short, to be all things to all men, and if it looks for pay or reward it is denounced as mean and sordid. There is no interest under the whole heavens that is expected to give so much to society, without pay or thanks, as the press."

The Reason

An Indiana husband, after a spree, was led home by one of his friends, who, after depositing him safely on the door-steps, rang the bell and retreated somewhat deviously to the other side of the street, to see if it would be answered. Promptly the "port" was "ourverted." and the fond spouse, who had waited up for her truant husband, beheld him in all his toddiness.

"Why Walter is this you?"

"Yes, my dear."

"What in the world kept you so?"

"Been out on a little turn with ex boys, my d-d-darling."

"Why, Walter, you're intoxicated!"

"Yes, dear, I estimate that's so."

"What on earth made you get so drunk? And why—Oh, why, do you come to me in this dreadful state?"

"Because my darling all the other places are shut up."

☞ Mattie Morgan, of Burlington, Vermont, wanted to whiten her complexion, so she ate cloves, pickles, chalk slatepencils, clay and arsenic. The neighbors declared she was the most interesting corpse they had ever the pleasure of gazing upon.

Robt. T. Davis, Esq., of Paris who was appointed by Mr. Loglie to fill the vacancy in the Commission to revise the statutes follows the example of Judge Pitcher in declining to accept the position.

A sermon in four words on the vanity of worldly possessions—"Shrouds have no pockets."

☞ Conundrum for married men—Why is a wife like a newspaper? Because every man should have one without borrowing his neighbor's.

THE DEMOCRAT.

C. H. ASHTON, Editor & Proprietor.
M. M. Teagar, Assistant Editor.

THURSDAY, APRIL.....25, 1872.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

The Democratic Party of Fleming County are requested to meet in Convention, at Flemingsburg, on Monday, May 27th, (County Court Day) for the purpose of nominating a Democratic Candidate for Sheriff. The Democrats in the several precincts in the County are requested to hold primary meetings the Saturday previous, for the purpose of appointing delegates to said Convention.

By order Dem. County Committee,
Jas. E. Smith, Chairman.

THE BRANCH RAILROAD.

Election of Officers

The Maysville and Flemingsburg Branch Rail Road was organized in this place on last Saturday by the election of W. H. Hendrick Esq., as President and E. E. Pearce, Wm. S. Pant, H. B. Franklin, H. J. Darnall, Marshall McCann, James E. Smith and Theodore Hart as Directors, and David Willson, Secretary and Treasurer. The board take it all together is a most excellent one and will be very acceptable to the stockholders and the friends of the enterprise. The President Mr. Hendrick is the right man in the right place and will see to it that the affairs of the company are conducted in a straight-forward, business-like manner. He has had considerable experience in railroad matters—more probably than any member of the board, and is therefore the better qualified to superintend the affairs of the company. He is a man of untiring energy and perseverence, and as a business man has always been successful, and being a man personally very popular will doubtless bring to the road that assistance from outsiders that no one else could. Under his control we feel safe in saying that all in his power will be done to secure the success of this enterprise. The board of directors are all gentlemen of enterprise and business tact. They are all stockholders and will take a deep interest in the construction of the road. They are among our best citizens and are men known for their integrity and honesty to the whole people. The selection of Mr. Willson as Treasurer is the very best selection that could have possibly been made. These officers are number one. The people have confidence in them. And we feel safe in saying that no stone will be left unturned to secure the speedy building of the road. We are sure of one thing (the most important) the means they have will not be squandered. It will be judiciously expended and honestly accounted for. The Branch Railroad in these gentleman's hands must of necessity be a complete success.

"I have seen enough of this rule and its consequences, and I put it aside now and go forward with the non-office-holding Republicans to the Cincinnati Convention and its consequences."

Republican reader who do you suppose uttered the above sentiment? It is not from the mouth of a Democrat or a weak-kneed Republican, neither is it fom the mouth of one of those who have lately attached themselves to the republican party, but we extract it from the great speech of Horace Greely, made at the great New York meeting. Mr. Greely is the father of Republicanism in the United States. He is the original abolitionist and republican, and seeing the fearful strides made by Grant & Co. towards despotism he abandons them and goes in for reform. All patriotic republicans will do likewise.

☞The Cincinnati Enquirer—says: "The favorite ticket for the Cincinnati Convention seems to be Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts, for President, and Senator Lyman Trumbull, of Illinois, for Vice President. They are both what may be called first-class men, of great popularity and influence, and their selection will make an end of Grant and his military dynasty."

☞Blyaw and Kennard, the Lewis county (Ky) murderers, have been discharged from custody by the United States court, and will be taken to Lewis county to be tried by the State Court.

☞Hon. Clinton Griffith, Representative from Davies county in the Legislature, is mentioned as the most prominent candidate for Congress in the Owensboro District. The district could hardly select a better man.

☞There are in the States and Territories 191 organized Indian tribes. They have a population of 242,731, and a reservation of 139,201,001 acres of public land.

☞The jury in the Fanny Hyde case failed to return a verdict. The case has excited a good deal of interest throughout the country. The jury stood ten for acquital, one for hanging and one for imprisonment.

☞General Frank Cheatham announces himself a Democratic candidate for Governor of Tennessee.

HON. JOHN D. YOUNG.

[From the Mt. Sterling Sentinel.]

Judge Young is an announced candidate for Congress in the 10th district. His native county, Bath, has left him instructing her delegates to vote for him. He has our best wishes for his success, and had not Montgomery been so causelessly wrested from her old political affinities and relationships, she would have cast for him her vote also, believing that now is Judge Young's time. His former election and the deeply disgraceful manner in which he was swindled out of his seat, are yet fresh in the minds of the people. He is a gentleman of ability and of sound Democratic faith. For what he has done, and for the treatment he received at the hands of Congress, he deserves a seat in that body. We learn that he will not be a candidate for re-election, and that his section of the district will support Judge Young. Both geographically and politically, he will prove a formidable competitor. The only opposition he will have as we learn, will be from Mason, in the person of Judge Whitaker, now a Senator in the Kentucky Legislature. Hitherto he has been prominent before several conventions for the nomination for Congress, but always without success. He is a Yankee by birth, and, like many specimens of that enterprising class, has been a perserving office hunter, is a man of some ability, and will work diligently for the nomination. In a contest between the two, our sympathies are altogether with Judge Young. He has deserved well of his party. He upheld the faith in a troublesome and expensive contest, and though unsuccessful in obtaining the seat to which he was elevated by the popular voice, vindicated the freedom of elections. The tardy honors are now due him. His party now have a chance to reward his labors and to honor his sacrifices, and we trust it will do so.

LOOK AT THIS INFAMOUS LIE.

The Biggest one Yet.

General Grant transmitted the following message to the House of Representatives on the 19th inst., "It is a lie in substance the whole of it.

PRESIDENTS MESSAGE.

To the House of Representatives:

In answer to the resolution of the House of Representatives of January 25th, I have the honor to transmit the following accompanied by the report of the Attorney General, to whom the resolution was referred. Representations having been made to me that in certain portions of South Carolina a condition of lawlessness and terror existed, I requested the then Attorney General, Akerman, to visit the State, and after personal examination to report to me the facts in relation to the subject.

On the 10th of October last he addressed a communication from South Carolina, in which he stated that in the counties of Spartansburg, York, Chester, Union, Laurens, Newburry, Fairfield, Lancaster, and Chesterfield, there were combinations for the purpose of preventing the free political action of citizens who were friendly to the Constitution and the Government of the United States, and of depriving the emancipated class of the equal protection of the laws.

These combinations embrace at least two-thirds of the active white men of those counties, and have the sympathy and countenance of the majority of the other third. They are connected with similar combinations in other counties and States, and no doubt are part of a great system of criminal associations pervading most of the Southern States. The members are bound to obedience and secrecy by oaths, which they are taught to regard as of higher obligation than the lawful oaths taken before civil magistrates. They are organized and armed. They effect their object by personal violence, often extending to murder. They terrify the witnesses; they control the juries in the State courts, and sometimes in the courts of the United States. Systematic perjury is one of the means by which the prosecution of the members is defeated.

From information given by officers of the State and of the United States, and by credible private citizens, I am justified in affirming that the instances of criminal violence perpetrated by these combinations within the last twelve months in the above named counties could be reckoned by thousands. I received information of similar import from various sources, among which were the joint committees of Congress on Southern outrages, the officers of the State, the military officers of the United States on duty in South Carolina, the United States attorney and marshall and other officers of the court, respectable and upright members of those unlawful organizations, persons specially employed by the department of justice to detect crimes against the United States, and from other credible sources.

Most, if not all of this information, except that I derived from the Attorney General, comes to me orally, and was to the effect that the said combines were under the sway of powerful combinations, popularly known as the Ku-klux klan, the objects of which were by force and terror to prevent all political action not in accord with the views of the members, to deprive colored citizens of the right to bear arms and of the right of a free ballot, to suppress schools in which colored children were taught, and to force the white people to a condition closely akin to that of slavery. That these combinations were organized and armed, and had rendered the local law ineffectual to protect the classes whom they desired to oppress; that they had perpetrated many murders and hundreds of crimes of a minor degree, all of which were unpunished, and that witnesses could not safely testify in the courts here, unless the most active members were placed under restraint.

[Signed] U. S. GRANT.

Executive Mansion, April 19, 1872.

Another Man Killed in Bath.

We learn that on Tuesday morning of last week Mr. Wm. Bery was shot and killed by his father-in law Adam Trumbo Esq. The particulars as we learn them from the Mercury are as follows:

"Mr. Wm Berry married a daughter of Mr. Adam Thumbo—both well known citizens of Bath—but the wife left her husband some time ago, owing, as we learn, to his dissipated habits. Berry, it seems, attributed the cause of separation to his father-in law, and on Monday met him on the street in Sharpsburg when he fired twice at him, but neither shot took effect. Bery was arrested, we learn, and after preliminary trial gave bail for his appearance at the next Circuit Court. On the next morning, at about nine o'clock, Mr. Trumbo, seeing Mr. Berry in town, took his gun; loaded with buckshot, and following Mr. B. into a blacksmith shop, fired at him. Twelve balls were found in the body of the deceased."

☞Small-pox is spreading in Covington.

☞The Good Templar organization is increasing rapidly in Louisville.

☞Ex Congressman Wm. Walls, died in New York Saturday, aged 71.

☞The Radical negroes of Calvert, Texas, mobbed a Democratic speaker the other day.

☞Oglesby, of Illinois, comes out in favor of Grant. In 1868 this same Oglesby said-in one of his soul-stirring speeches: "The G—d d—d traitors want the Union restored, and Andy Johnson, the d—d white livered Tennessee stitch-louse, is as thick as any lousy beer stinking Dutch in one bed with just that kind of G—d d—d fuel for hell fire."

☞Gov. Palmer has declared for the Liberal Republicans, and is trotted out by his Illinois backers as a candidate for Presidential honors before the Cincinnati Convention.

☞Gen. John C. Breckinridge, president of the Lexington Association, announces that the spring meeting over the Lexington course will commence May 13th, and continue through the week.

AUGUST ELECTION, 1872.

We are authorized to announce the name J. B. A. Plummer, esq., as a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff of Fleming county, subject to the decision of a Democratic convention should one be held.

We are authorized to announce Rex Berry, as a candidate for Sheriff of Fleming county, at the ensuing August election.

TIME—Railroad's Regulator, Maysville, Ky.

T. J. GLENN, Gen'l Supt.

Commissioner's Sale.—We call attention to the advertisement of commissioner's sale in another column.

Turn-Pike Election.—At an election held on Monday the 15th inst. Thos. Dudley jr., was elected president and Eli Planck, Edward Dorsey, A. S. Dickey and J. M. Planck directors of the Flemingsburg and Upper Blue Lick Turnpike road company.

M. & L. R.—At the last meeting of the board of directors of the M. & L. R. R. the salaries of the different officers were considerably reduced. The President's salary was reduced from $2,000 to 1,000; the Superintendent's from $3,500 to 2,400; and the assistant Superintendent's from $2,400 to 2,000. By this economy the company saves in the way of expenses the sum of $2,600 per annum.

Heavy Frost.—We have had very heavy frosts the past few mornings and the probability is the fruit is all killed.

Spring like.—Within the past few days the grass has grown up three or four inches and the trees are fast putting on their green foliage. Surely this looks spring like.

Removed.—We notice that the obstructions in the street in front of this office have been removed. God as far as it goes. Now let the rubbish up above be carried away and a thous and blessings on you trustees.

Menagerie.—Wattie Andrews intends starting a menagerie. He has two trained cats, a trained dog (not poodle) and four squirrels in course of training. The cats however have strayed off which leaves the menagerie at present uninteresting.

Dr. Lindsay sells Nature's Hair Restorative the best in use.

Crowded.—The Dudley House was crowded to over flowing the day of the circus. Some two hundred and fifty people dined there that day. By the way the Dudley House is one of the best hotels in the State, and persons visiting Flemingsburg should stop there if they want first class entertainment.

Returned.—Our friend L. R. Summers has just returned from the South where he has been on a trading expedition. He reports the stock trade quite good.

Engine Trials.—Our fire engines were out on trial Thursday evening. The young men divided off into two parties each taking charge of an engine and had a regular pitched water battle. The engines worked well and both parties got soaking wet. Another water battle takes place between the "Water Witch" and the "Hornet" on Friday evening. We had our dose last Thursday and hope to be excused until the weather gets warmer.

Matricide.—We learn from the Mt. Sterling Sentinel that On Sunday evening, as Mrs. Quroll, daughter of Squire Stephen Treadway, in this county, where she has been residing, was attempting to correct her son John, a lad twelve years old as to age, but several hundred years old in pure and unadulterated devilishness, the little savage drew a knife and plunged it into her abomen, producing a wound which, from the report of the physicians on Monday, must have resulted in her death before this meets the public eye. The boy's father is an Italian, and is as we are informed, now serving a term in the Missouri penitentiary.

Assessor.—Geo. L. Palmer has been appointed town assessor and has already entered upon the discharge of his duties as such.

County Court Day.—Flemingsburg put on a better appearance last Monday than it has for a long time. More people were in, business brisker, and more stock was sold than at any previous court day for a long time. Bidding was quite lively and considerable stock changed hands. The prospect of the early completion of our Branch Railroad has put new life into the business of the place. People are begining to see the importance of our place and a great many noted stock men from other counties attend our stock sales on county court days. We noticed several dealers from Bourbon, Mason and Nicholas in town Monday and they all made purchases. When our railroad is completed the number of visitors here on court days will be increased two or three hundred which will make our stock market rival any in the State. We were unable to obtain a list of all the sales made Monday, but we noticed that Wm. D. Cooper auctioneer (and by the way the best one in the county) made the sale of 17 head of fine yearling mules for Wm. S. Belt to Wm. S. Dudley for $99.00 per head or $1683 for the lot. Mr. Cooper reports to us also the sale of 1 yoke 4 year old cattle at $99.75; 3 old mare $44.00; 1 work mare $79.50 and one sorrel horse $67.00. Other auctioneers were in town and were busy all day but we have no facilities to learn any thing from them, and consequently no other reports. Our merchants report sales good but collections small. In our line collections were unusally small. The day was cloudy and rather cool for the season.

Fair.—The Danville fair will be held on the 3d, Tuesday in August

Died.—James H Turner Jr., formerly of this county died recently at Terre Haute, Ind.,

First of the Season.—Mrs. Toner has our thanks for a lot of the best young onions we have seen this season.

Good.—Mt. Sterling has the dog fever—over one hundred were slaughtered by the town marshall last week in that town.

A Good Work.—We notice that the Trustees are laying the sewer leading from the Dudley House to the Bridge repaired and remodeled.

Declined.—The very nice little communication handed us by Mr. A. T. McDonald in regard to the recent circus is most respectfully declined for the reason that he did not include his own name in the list of distinguished gentlemen who were present on that occasion.

Died.—In Chillicothe, Mo., on Sunday 21st. ult. Mrs Elizabeth K. Luper, in the 54th year of her age.

Mrs. L. was born and brought up near this place, was the second daughter of John Palmer Esq., and sister of Mrs. H. J. Darnall. She left a family of seven children and a large circle of friends to mourn her loss

Death.—The last number of the Carlisle Mercury announces the death of James E Secrest, Esq., a well known and highly esteemed citizen of that county, which occurred at his residence in Nicholas on the 12th inst. Mr. Secrest was for eight years sheriff of the county.

Episcopal Church.—Rev. J. B. Craighill, of Maysville, will hold divine services at the Episcopal Church in this place, on Sunday next, 28th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M., The public are invited to attend.

I. O. O. F.—To-morrow the 26th day of April is the 53 Anniversary of Odd Fellows in the United States. The day is usually celebrated by the brethren throughout the country, by processions, speeches &c. The brethren at Mt. Sterling will celebrate. At Cincinnati the grand and magnificent temple just completed will be dedicated to Odd Fellowship to-morrow. The exercises will be grand and imposing.

Public Documents.—We are indebted to Hon. Jno. M. Rice for public documents and also to Hon. Chas. Sumner for his able speech on the French arms question.

Dismissed.—Thomas A. Curran Esq., formerly Editor of the Maysville Eagle has dismissed his suit against the old Magnolia Steamboat Company, on account of damages sustained by him in the disaster which happened to that boat sometime ago. Mr. D. considered that litigation was to expensive, when the ability of the parties to pay in case of his recovering against them was so doubtful.

Railroad Organization.—At a meeting of the Stock holders in the Maysville and Flemingsburg Branch Railroad held at the Exchange Bank of David Willson & Co. in this place, on Saturday last, (20th inst.,) the following gentlemen were unanimously elected officers, as follows:

President.—Wm. H. Hendrick.

Secretary & Treasurer.—David Willson.

Directors.—Wm. S. Fant, R. B. Pearce, Theodore Hart, H. J. Darnall, R. B. Franklin, Marshall McCann, and Jas. E. Smith.

Patent Medicines.—Dr. H. P. Lindsay has on hand a large assortment of Patent Medicines. He has all the best brands.

Meeting of the Directory of the Flemingsburg Branch Railroad.

At a meeting of the board of Directors of the Maysville and Flemingsburg Branch Railroad held in the town of Flemingsburg, on Monday, April 22nd. 1872., present Wm. H. Hendrick, Pres.; Theo. Hart, Jas. E. Smith, Marshall McCann, H. J. Darnall, R. B. Franklin, and Wm. S. Fant, Directors.

On motion of Jas. E. Smith the following resolutions were adopted to wit:

Resolved.—That Wm. H. Hendrick, Wm S. Fant and R. B. Pearce be appointed a committee to obtain the right of way—either by contract or otherwise, and report the same to this board.

Resolved.—That upon an investigation of the assets of this company that it would not be prudent to contract for the building of the road until further subscriptions can be obtained, and that the members of this board be appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions, and all the friends of the road are earnestly requested to aid the committee by subscription and otherwise, and that the committee report the same to a meeting of this board to be held on Saturday 29th inst.

On motion the board then adjourned.

Fleming County Court.

(Hilbur A. Cassidy, Reporter.)

FLEMING COUNTY COURT, }
April Term, 1872. }

Hon. W. H. Abney, Judge, presiding.

Appraisment of the estate of James W. Hunt deceased filed and ordered to record.

List of sales of the personal estate of James Hunt deceased produced and filed and ordered to be recorded.

Settlement of the estate of William Crain, deceased, filed and ordered to lay over for exceptions.

Settlement made of W. B Pitts guardian for Annie Rawlings filed and ordered to record.

Settlement of the estate of James B. Shockley, deceased filed and ordered to record.

Settlement of W. C. Power, guardian Barbara Matingham filed and ordered to record.

John O. Sullivan made application and was granted a license to keep tavern at the Dudley House in Flemingsburg.

A. T. Littleton qualified as administrator of Elizabeth Littletonn deceased.

And then the Court adjourned.

A Mistake.—The population of Flemingsburg is given in the United States census report as 425. This is a gross mistake, it should be fourteen hundred and twenty-six. The mistake evidently occurred with the type setter and not with the young gentleman who took the census.

We notice that Geo. W. Bishop, Esq. was recently elected a member of the city council of Cincinnati. We believe this is his second election. Wm. T. Bishop, son of Hon. R. M. Bishop, was also elected a member of the board of Aldermen.

Sentence Commuted.—The sentence of Matthew Shanahan, and the negro John Connelly, who were to have been hung at Louisville, on the 26th of this month, was, on Tuesday last, commuted to imprisonment for life in the Penitentiary. We learn from the Louisville Commercial, that the order of the Governor, which left it optional with the prisoners to accept or reject the commutation, was read to them in their cells at the jail Tuesday night, and both willingly accepted the lease of life. They will be brought to the prison here, in a day or two. Shanahan has a family.—Frankfort Yeoman.

Hemp.—From what we can learn, we think there will be a large breadth of land put in hemp this season. The impression is general that the present low prices, is the result of powerful influences outside of the causes that naturally effect the market, and in the confident belief that the prices next year will be much better, based on the extensive demand for this product and the limited area from whence the supply is drawn, there will be a large crop soon. We have heard, but have not been able to trace the report to a credible source, that offers have been made to engage the crop at $6. It is too early yet and too little known by farmer or dealer to warrant any such trans actions now.—Farmers Home Journal.

Wool Wanted.—We want to buy 5,000lbs of wool, for which we will pay the highest market price in cash or trade. We are agents for the Murphysville woolen mills and will have on hand a full supply of their goods which we will exchange for wool at factory prices. P. S. Dudley & Bro., april 18 tf.

Seed Potatoes.—A. K. Marshall at the Depot has on hand 405 bushels of choice seed potatoes which he is selling lower than Maysville Cincinnati or Flemingsburg prices. Read the price list at Marshall's Depot published in our advertisements.

Fresh Groceries.—Go to Andrews & Bro's and lay in your stock of grocer ies. You have a new stock to select from.

Radicalism in Texas.

(From the Frankfort Yeoman.)

The printed reports of the evidence in the contested election case of Giddings versus Clark, of Texas, shows it to be probably the most flagrant ever brought before this or any other Congress. Col. Giddings was elected by an immense majority, and, as the sworn testimony shows, Clark, the sitting member, derived his prima facie seat simply from frauds to which Governor Davis was accessory. There are the affidavits of men concerned in the frauds, showing that they were acting in behalf of the Radical ring, that they corresponded with Governor Davis as one of themselves, and were advised by him, before their trial, to apply for pardon, with the intimation that, if convicted, they would be pardoned. The evidence also shows that ballot-boxes were opened and Giddings tickets taken out by the hundred and Clark tickets substituted, that Clark, in conversation with a witness, averred that the Governor was determined that he should go to Congress, and that the President had decreed it." The overwhelming evidence, showing that Col. ouel Giddings was legally elected is how before the Committee on Elections but Clark, who has not hitherto attempted to take testimony, now asks a postponement for that purpose; his idea being, no doubt, to suborn a few witnesses, mostly negroes probably, in order to give the Radical majority of the Committee some pretext for their usual whitewashing report in such cases. But all the whitewash in the limestone mountains of the continent could not make white the black record of Davis and Clark and their confederates, as established in the evidence we have just synopsized.

And now, the question is how long will the American people submit to such infamies? How long will they submit to see the scum and offscourings of the land's vagabonds and criminals elevated to the dignity and power of legislators and rulers by such outrages as these developments disclose, and similar developments have been disclosing for the last eight years?

THE KILLING OF GUDGELL BY SMOOT IN BATH COUNTY.

The following account of this homicide in Bath county, we clip from the Sterling Sentinel. A great many reports have been in circulation concerning the sad affair differing from this account but we believe the Sentinel's report is very near correct.

"Mr. W. N. Smoot, a man of position and wealth in Bath, who is famous and popular as an auctioneer, is a candidate for the Sheriffalty of his county. A story was started some weeks ago by some one of his opponents to the effect that Smoot, during the war, made a good deal of money by running off horses and selling them across the Ohio. On Monday evening last, as Smoot was riding into Owingsville, on the Sharpsburg pike, he met Col. John Gudgell coming out of town, on his way home. They stopped and entered into conversation about the election, when Smoot asked Col. G. if he did not think it was d—d mean and cowardly to start the story that he (Smoot) was a horse-thief? Col. Gudgell replied that he did not, because it was true. Smoot pronounced him a d—d liar. The Col. leaped from his horse and threw one stone at Smoot and stopped to gather another, when Smoot drew his pistol and fired three shots upon the old man, inflicting wounds which produced his death in a few minutes. Smoot rode into town and gave himself up, giving the above account of the terrible affair. He was held to bail in the sum of $5,000 to appear before an examining court Wednesday (yesterday.)

Col. Gudgell, thus suddenly deprived of life, was a man of prominence in his county having represented it in 1860 1 in the lower branch of the Lesislature. of late years he has been extensively engaged in stock trading. He was a gentleman of strict business integrity and unimpeachable respectability. His slayer is also a man of wealth and high respectability. The untoward affair has cast a gloom upon the people of Bath which will not soon be dispelled, as both gentlemen were exceedingly popular in the community.

The Best Chance.—H. C. Ashton is agent for "The Peoples Literary Companion" and "Our Young Folks Illustrated Paper," published by R. C. Allen & Co., Augusta Maine. Ashton, Flemingsburg, Ky.

Undertaking Notice.—Mr. T. J. Hinton, formerly of Poplar Plains, requests us to announce that he has removed to this place and will engage in the undertaker's business. He will keep constantly on hand a great variety of burial cases and will make to order coffins and will attend funerals at the shortest notice when called upon.

A very valuable number of Hearth and Home for April 20 is before us. Besides several fine engravings, and the usual good assortment of excellent reading for all departments of the household, a Supplement in this number gives an account of a four years' Libel Suit brought against the Publishers for exposing Humbugs, in which the important rulings of Judge Brady of the N. Y. Supreme Court and the testimony of leading physicians, take substantial ground against the wholesale impostors of manufactures and dealers in patent medicines. This will be specially interesting, not only to Lawers, Physicians, and Druggists, but to all who buy and use medicines, and to those who have been swindled by humbugs. A prominent feature, however, of this number of Hearth and Home is the New Story by Dr. Eggleston, author of the "Hoosier Schoolmaster." The new story is entitled "The End of the Word," illustrating life and scenes in the West thirty years ago. It is confidently believed that this will be one of the most attractive and useful American Stories yet brought out. Get this number especially, either of your newsman, or send a dime and get a postpaid copy from the Publishers, ORANGE JUDD & CO., 245 Broadway, N. Y.

The Invalid—A Pen Picture.—See her pale countenance, but a short time ago the picture of ruddy health, the envy of the school and the pride of the household. She was always welcomed by her schoolmates for her cheerful and pleasing disposition carried cheerfulness into their ranks. Diligent, punctual and exemplary, obedient and graceful at home, she won the hearts of all. But alas, as we sate sorrowed. Those rosy cheeks and pouting lips are blanched by Consumption. The voice once so enchanting in laugh and song is feeble, husky and supplanted by a hollow cough. Let us approach her couch gently and tell her how all the sunshine departed with the feeble and passionless grasp! The hand once so hearty and plump is emaciated, and shows bony outlines, while the cords and tortuous veins are plainly marked upon the surface. The pulse that bounded with regular tion, carrying vigor to the whole system and imparting life, beauty, vivacity, health and strength, is delicate to the touch. The feeble heart cannot propel the thin, scanty blood with force. Must we lose her while yet in her bloom? Companions and friends gather around with words of cheer and consolation, and depart with moistened eyes and silent steps. Must we lose her? No! there is a remedy! We can stay the destroyer of our happiness and not suffer the loss of so bright a gem. Something more is required now than dietary and hygienic observance, for nature calls for aid, and she shall have it. Take this pleasant medicine. It is invigorating. It allays the irritable cough, improves the appetite and digestion, and imparts a healthy tone to the nervous system. The blood is enriched, nervous force increased, and the heart bounds with a new impulse. See her face brightens by degrees, the color is returning, her voice is getting clearer, and pleasant words are spoken. The strength of fifteen years hat is gaining. Let us take her out in the warm sunshine. In a short time she will be able to go without aid, a cheerful girl. This delightful medicine must be Golden seal. It is restoring health to loved one. She is emerging from her mere vegetate and be brighter than before, and Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery must have the credit. It has relieved her. Sold by all first-class druggists everywhere.

The Latest Swindle.—Certain nostrums and charlatans would fain persuade the world that diffusive stimulants have no medical value, and that alcoholic slops, compounded of grains and drastic purgatives, are better tonics than the purest vegetable ingredients combined with the purest and most powerful products of nature. Bitters! Bitters! Anything worth go down. Tens to smack of our common sense reflects it, as the physical stomach, of every man with an unimpaired palate rejects, with loathing and abhorrence, the nauseous abominations, "free from alcohol," which Humbugs, are trying to force down the throats of Temperance Invalids under the pretense that the Bitters will do them good? It is not likely that while Plantation Bitters, the Standard Tonic of America, is anywhere accessible, such sickly, fruitless concoctions make much headway, but it is as well to put the public on their guard against them.

Aimes' Liniment.—Since the introduction of Aimes' Liniment many of our citizens have used it, and have received great benefit therefrom. Numerous certificates can be seen at January & Lloyd's Drug Store, corner of Second and Sutton streets, Maysville, Ky. It cures Rheumatism Neuralgia, and all similar complaints. Sold by druggists everywhere. For sale at Dr. H. P. Lindsays Drug Store.

Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and the best beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

This road is admirably built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where the result of collisions) Pullman's sleepers, Pullman's dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections) and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

The True Grounds of Confidence.

Whence comes that firm reliance, that absolute, undoubting faith in the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for indigestion, biliary disorders, intermittents and remittent fevers, which notoriously prevail in all parts of the United States? This confidence has been growing for twenty years, and is still extending. It is not the result of credulity; it has not been engendered by anything devious, but is the spontaneous and natural consequence of experience. What people see daily going on under their own eyes they cannot question. When families in unhealthy districts that resort to this wholesome vegetable tonic as a preventative, escape personal fevers, and their immediate neighbors, who neglect this precaution, are prostrated by the disease, how is it possible that the phenomenon should be without its lesson? In like manner, when it is seen that obstinate cases of dyspepsia, of liver complaint, of constipation, of nervous weakness, and of general debility, yield to the operation of the famous remedy, how can even incredulity itself withhold its endorsement? Eye witnesses testify that the salutary effects of the Bitters are to be found in every civilized settlement on this continent. The thousands upon thousands who owe their restoration to health to and strength or their preservation from sickness to extraordinary medical properties are continually in its praise. The multitudes who recommend it in a friendly way to their friends and acquaintance, as well as those who make public their estimate of its virtues are always ready to state their reasons for the faith that is in them. They have either felt or witnessed their beneficial operations.

SOLDIERS' HOMESTEADS.

The Act Providing Homesteads for Soldiers as Signed by the President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The following important act, which became a law by signature of the President on Thursday last, has not hitherto been published in full:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That every private soldier and officer who has served in the army of the United States during the recent rebellion for ninety days or more, and who was honorably discharged, and has remained loyal to the Government, including the troops mustered into the service of the United States by virtue of the third section of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for completing the defenses of Washington, and for other purposes," approved February 13, 1862; and every seaman, marine and officer who has served in the navy of the United States, or marine corps during the rebellion for ninety days, and who was honorably discharged, and has remained loyal to the Government, shall, on compliance with the provisions of an act entitled, "An act to secure homesteads to actual settlers on the public domain," and the acts amendatory thereof, as hereinafter modified, be entitled to enter upon and receive patents for a quantity of public lands (not mineral), not exceeding 160 acres, or one-quarter section, to be taken in compact form according to legal subdivision, including the alternate reserved sections of public lands along the line of any railroad or other public work, not otherwise reserved or appropriated, and other lands subject to entry under the homestead laws of the United States; provided, that the said homestead settler shall be allowed six months, after locating his homestead, within which to commence his settlement and improvement; and provided, also, that the time which the homestead settler shall have served in the army, navy or marine corps aforesaid shall be deducted from the time heretofore required to perfect title, or if discharged on account of wounds received, or disability incurred in the line of duty, then the term of enlistment shall be deducted from the time heretofore required to perfect title, without reference to the length of time he may have served; provided, however, that no patent shall issue to any homestead settler who has not resided upon, improved and cultivated his said homestead for a period of at least one year after he shall commence his improvements on aforesaid.

Sec. 2. That any person entitled under the provision of the foregoing section to enter a homestead, who may have heretofore entered under the homestead laws a quantity of land less than 160 acres, shall be permitted to enter under the provisions of this act so much land as, when added to the quantity previously entered, shall not exceed 160 acres.

Sec. 3. That in the case of the death of any person who would be entitled to a homestead under the provisions of the first section of this act, his widow, if unmarried, or, in case of her death or marriage, then his minor orphan children, by a guardian duly appointed and officially accredited at the Department of the Interior, shall be entitled to all the benefits enumerated in this act, subject to all the provisions as to settlement and improvements therein contained; provided, that if such person died during his term of enlistment the whole term of his enlistment shall be deducted from the time heretofore required to perfect the title.

Sec. 4. That where a party at the date of his entry of a tract of land under the homestead laws, or subsequently thereto, was actually enlisted and employed in the army or navy of the United States, his service therein shall, in the administration of said homestead laws, be construed to be equivalent to all intents and purposes to a residence for the same length of time upon the tract so entered, provided that if his entry has been canceled by reason of his absence from said tract while in the military or naval service of the United States, and such tract has not been disposed of, his entry shall be restored and confirmed. And, provided futher, that if such tract has been disposed of, said party may enter another tract subject to entry under said laws, and his right to a patent therefor shall be determined by the proofs touching this residence and cultivation of the first tract, and his absence therefrom in such service.

Sec. 5. That any soldier, sailor, marine officer or other person coming within the provisions of this act may, as well by an agent as in person, enter upon said homestead; provided, that the said claimant in person shall within the time prescribed, commence settlements and improvements on the same, and thereafter fulfill all the requirements of this act.

Sec. 6. That the Commissioner of the General Land Office shall have authority to make all needful rules and regulations to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

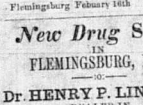
FOUTZ'S
CELEBRATED
HORSE AND CATTLE POWDERS.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly renovate broken down and worthless horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.
It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, PETTING FOOD, LOSS OF APPETITE, AND FINAL DEBILITY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.



To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent at a cost of but little less than a farthing per head.
In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens the hide, and makes the beast a quiet subject.
In all diseases of swine, such as Coughs, Fevers in the Lungs, Liver &c., this article is a sure cure. Ten cents worth will fatten a pigger to a paper to a paper to a barrel of pork. The above disease will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.
