

Floods Spread Destruction In Mountain Regions

LOOKING DOWN ON THE SITUATION . . . This air view of the flooded village of Farmers, in Rowan County, seven miles from Morehead, shows what havoc the combination of the Tennessee, Clinch and Licking Rivers played in that section.

2 CAR SWEEPED INTO CORNFIELD . . . This car, swept off the Ingerville-Morehead Road by the surging waters, was reported to have contained seven persons, all of whom miraculously escaped death in the torrent.

3 SALVAGE . . . Mrs. Ethel Warren, Bluestone, is salvaging what's left of her household goods. Part of her home lay sprawled across a highway.

4 FLOOD MUD . . . Mrs. S. B. Mutters began shoveling the mud and debris out of her restaurant at Morehead as soon as the waters rolled away.

5 MOTOR TROUBLE . . . Ellis Henson, 14, found this pile of motor wreckage near his Morehead home after the waters subsided. Note the crosstie in the cab.

6 VICTIM . . . C.C.C. Workers James Lee and Norman Berry shove the body of an unidentified woman into a waiting ambulance. The body was found in a field between Bluestone and Morehead.

7 IDENTIFICATION CORPS . . . This was the scene outside a Morehead funeral home as crowds waited to identify, or aid in the identi-

—(A) C.-J. Photos by George Bailey, except fication of the dead as C.C.C. members and other rescue workers arrived with bodies of the victims. Many had been washed far away