Patent Poetry.

Just received at the Cheap Cash Store,
Goods from New York and Baltimore;
And Goods from Philadelphia, too,
With every thing that 's fine and new.

Come on, all ye who wish to buy,
To suit you we will surely try;
And give you bargains, such as you
Nor your ancestors never knew.

Why will you falter, then, and fear,
And buy your goods so very dear?
When you can buy them there so cheap,
And the reward of your industry reap.

Goods there of every make and kind,
To suit the most fastidious mind;
And every thing that can entice,
Is offered at the lowest price.

No Store within the Western States
Can offer Goods at lower rates:
Then why not one trial give—
You 'll not repent it while you live.

Be not by sophistry controlled,
And men who only want your gold;
When bargains just to suit the buyers,
Can be obtained at WITTENMYER'S. [jan10

Nautilus Mutual Life Insurance Company, 20, Wall Street, N. York.

THIS Company which confines its business exclusively to LIFE INSURANCE, has now been in operation two years and a half during which period it has issued 1525 policies and for the first fifteen months experienced no loss. Its losses for the whole time have been less than $18,000, leaving an accumulation of about $65,000 on hand, beyond the payment of claims and expenses. This added to the original guaranty capital of $50,000, places the security of the Company on a basis so solid as no longer to admit of a rational doubt.

All its profits accrue to the credit of the dealers, and are divided annually among them, whether the the policy be issued for a limited period or for the whole term of life, a feature unknown in the character of any other Mutual Life Insurance Company incorporated in this State.

Two dividends of 50 per cent. each, on the amount of premium received, in accordance with the provisions of the charter, have been declared, and are credited to the assured, and for which scrip certificates will be issued.

A dividend of 6 per cent. on the first year's scrip, has likewise been declared, payable in CASH, to the holders thereof, on demand, at the office of the Company.

For policies granted for the whole term of life, when the premium thereof amounts to $50—a note for 40 per cent. with interest at 6 per cent.—will not generally, may be received in payment, or it may be paid in cash, in which case it is expected, should the party survive to make 13 annual payments, leaving the dividends to accumulate, the policy will be fully paid for, and the accumulation ultimately added to the policy.

For further information, the public are referred to the pamphlets and forms of proposal, which may be obtained at the office of the company or any of its Agencies.

Removal.

DRS. DAVIS & TEBBS have removed four doors above their old stand, on 3d street, to their new office, in the basement of their residence, where they may be found ready to attend professional calls. They take great pleasure in expressing their obligations to their numerous patrons and friends for past favors. And from an estimate made from demonstrations of the superior efficacy of the Natural, Eclectic System of practice in the last few years: Dispersing as by magic the dark cloud of prejudice so long and tenaciously shrouding the public mind on this most vital subject; evincing the fact that the cause will triumph, until true science illumes and restores to independence the public mind, and gives perfect liberty to human thought.

Our patrons will remember our rule, to settle by cash or note, at the end of each year.

Owing to the fact that we have built largely this year, our demands are imperative, and we trust and believe that we shall receive the prompt assistance of all who are in arrears. Those who are behind 2, 3, or 4 years, will regard this as the "last call."

Mr. Pearce's Speech.

[CONCLUDED.]

Let me trouble you, with a few words more on the subject of the expenses of this war, in connexion with the bill more immediately the subject of discussion. I have examined the statement of the Secretary of the Treasury for this year, and I find that the expenses of the current year, taking the quarter which has expired, will amount to seventeen millions. I confess I was startled when I saw the statement. The Secretary says:

That the total receipts and means for the year ending June, 1848, are estimated at	$12,885,515 69
The expenditures for the first quarter, which are ascertained to be,	$16,169,191 69
And the estimated expenditures for the rest of the year be ing as follows:
Civil list, foreign intercourse, & miscellaneous,	$5,186,180 12
Army proper, including volunteers	19,080,865 58
Fortifications, ordnance, arming militia, &c.	2,090,416 50
Indian department	1,240,059 96
Pensions	1,005,326 96
Naval establishment	10,241,972 47
Interest on public debt and treasury notes	2,950,577 17
Treasury notes outstanding & payable when presented	267,159 31
The whole expenditure will be	58,815,660 07
Leaving an excess of expenditures over means, 1st July, 1848	$15,729,111 25

When the war commenced we had a surplus of twelve millions in the treasury, and Congress adopted new financial measures, which were expected by the Administration to improve the condition of the treasury. But we have spent the twelve millions surplus—all the current revenues which we have received, increased as they are said to have been by the new tariff, besides thirty-eight millions, according to my computation, of loans and treasury notes. In January last the Secretary came to us for twenty-three millions, which he said would be ample.—But in a month he asked for authority to re-issue five millions of treasury notes, and now another loan of eighteen and a half millions is demanded for the service of the present year. I apprehend it will be necessary to raise more than that for the excess of expenditure in the year 1849. This is a woful state of things. I venture to says that if you continue your military operation as they are now conducted, before eighteen months, either your treasury will be bankrupt or you will be obliged to adopt some new and extraordinary financial measures. I, for one shall be prepared for the crisis.

It is not just sir, that the coming generation should suffer for the folly of the present. It is not just to keep glory for the present age and taxes for the next. If you will have the glory you ought to have the taxes along with it. I believe the only way to bring the people to a just sense of the enormity of this war, is to let them feel the cost of it. My colleague spoke of the revenueto be derived from Mexico and ventured the opinion that the war could be sustained in this way without the cost of a dollar to our Treasury. But it is to be expected that Mexico in her present depressed condition—kept down by an enemy, holding her powerful towns,—overrunning her country, her industry paralyzed—her trade and busines broken up—her people ground to the dust by military oppression will furnish anything like the amount, which he has represented, as accruing to her treasury in time of prosperity?—You wont get a dollar which is not forced from her at the point of the bayonet. He speaks of the duty upon contracts and says that they might now be stamped by your authority and that thus a considerable revenue would be obtained. But sir, they will not make these contracts, especially when there is a probability, that if made they will be invalidated, when the present state of things shall terminate. Sir, this is all illusion and if you could get the whole revenue which Mexico raised in a period of peace and prosperity you would get but, twenty one millions and your military operations are costing you nearly fifty millions. The Secretary of the Treasury, sanguine as he is, does not estimate these resources half so high as my colleague.

He has not been able, he says to obtain any reliable statement of the amount of duties realized in Mexico on exports. The duties on specie might amount to half a million. The receipts from duties on imports, in a time of peace, have varied from six to twelve millions. What probability is there, that there would be half the first sum, when our armies were covering the whole country?

Even the secretary thinks that no large portion of the internal revenue could be collection under our military; and he, with all his eagerness to present a favorable view of this project, admits that he has not sufficient data on which to base any reliable estimate as to this source of revenue. So that I caution the country against these delusive conjectures.

As for the 10,000 man proposed by the bill, I will not vote for one of them.

I believe with the Senator from Ky., Mr. CRITTENDEN, that we have troops enough for all the legetimate purpose of this war, and more than enough, and while I would not deny them food and cloathing I would not now give for the war another soldier until I saw a disposition on the part of the executive to bring about a peace

I look at the honor of the country in a different aspect from that in which it seems to be regarded by some Senators, to whom I do not impute any other than patriotic motives. I think they are entirely mistaken. For myself, I am willing to take the reproach of consistent dullness, by adhering to the doctrines which I have here announced, and refusing to vote any more until I see a better disposition on the part of the Executive to make peace. I believe that the favorable opportunity to make peace was allowed to pass improved. I believe that if this government had not demanded too much they could have made a peace perfectly satisfactory to the country, and that it still may be obtained on just and honorable terms.—I will not increase the forces in Mexico for the purpose of overrunning and annexing the country. It would be a lasting reproach to us to do so. I wish to see the United States disposed to settle this controversy in a spirit of magnanimity more glorious even, than all the victories we have gained.

Mr. BADGER rose and signified his intention of addressing the Senate on the bill under consideration.

From the Frankfort Commonwealth.

Interesting Ceremony.--Presentation of the Flag of 2d. Regiment Kentucky Infantry.

At the hour of 12o'clock, the House being attended by the Governor, Lieut. Governor Senators and Officers of State, Wm. P. Gaines, attended by a few of his companions of the memorable Buena Vista battle field, bore the same Flag which he bore on that field trimmed in mourning for the late Capt. Chambers. into the House amid the cheers of all, and took his position by the side of

Gen, COMBS who addressed the House nearly as follows:

Mr. SPEAKER: I hold in my hand a letter from Maj. CAREY H. FRY, only surviving Field Officer of the 2d Regiment Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, tendering to the people of Kentucky in his own name and in the names of his brother officers and fellow soldiers, the Regimental Flag, borne so gloriously by this Boy by my side, and which floated triumphantly over their heads on the bloody battle field of Buena Vista. In presenting it now to this General Assembly, as its organ, I am discharging a duty, which, while it honors me most highly, fills my heart with emotions too painful to express. God help me to fulfil this solemn duty.

This Flag was carried forth from your midst, to the field of combat, bright and beautiful as a girl on her wedding day—all bedecked with flowers, and radiant with hope and joy. It now resembles that same lovely maiden, after the frost of many winters have whitened her head, and misfortunes and misery have sorely bruised her heart, with disheveled locks, and garments all tattered and torn, bending over the graves of her children, weeping with all the bitterness of a mother's anguish for their premature death.

It was made by the ladies of Frankfort and by them presented to Capt. Chambers, whose body, wasted by diseases contracted while in service, was but a few days since consigned to the same sacred resting place in yonder cementary, which had previously received so many of his brave brothers in arms. At Louisville, it was adopted by Col. McKee as the regimental standard, and afterwards occupied its appropriate place, in the centre of the regiment, borne by this gallant youth at my side (Sergeant Gaines,) from Georgetown. Just before the boat left the wharf at Frankfort, on which was embarked Capt. Chambers and his company, while Lieut. Long was on the hurricane deck with his Flag unfurled, he was feelingly addressed by Mrs. HARLAN, in behalf of those who made it, and charged "to be certain to bring it back with honor to Frankfort"—one loud universal shout gave the solemn pledge to do or die in its defence; and faithfully has that pledge been redeemed. God bless those who gave, and those who returned this glorious Flag!

They pledged themselves to bring it back, and most nobly has that pledge been redeemed; although tattered, torn and parforated by the bullets of the enemy, as were many of the hearts of the regiment that so gallantly bore it through the ever memorable days of the 22d and 23d of February: this Boy (Sergt. Gaines) bore the Flag, and when, during the early parts of the day, the heat of battle for a time subsided, and the soldiers were resting upon their arms, he refused to lower that Flag, although it served as a target for the enemy, and the balls and bombshells were flying thickly about him, till peremptorily commanded by the Colonel so to do.

When death destroyed so many of the regiment near the apex of the hill they ascending, charging tentimes their number with the bayonet—when the brave McKee fell covered with glory, while calling to his men to 'rally,' and renew the unequal conflict —when the noble Clay succeeding to the command refused to order a retreat, but gave the command "right about face, forward march," they slowly retired pouring red hot volleys upon the pressing foe—this Flag was born above their heads to cheer on to such noble deeds.

Twice by his (Gaines') personal prowess aided by one or two comrades did he retrieve it from the enemy, having made them pay for their daring attempt to capture his Flag, with their lives. It was borne back and planted in the centre of the 2d Regiment. That awful night of the 23d, when every man expected a renewal of the battle with the morning's dawn, and all slept upon the field of battle, this noble boy grasped that Flag the live long night.

The early dawn of morning showed them that the enemy had fled and left them an unquestioned victory.

Well might the wounded and dying thus sing;

Thou grim King of Terrors, thou life's gloomy foe,
Go frighten the coward and slave
Go teach them to tremble, fell Tyrant, but know,
No terrors hast thou for the brave.
In the field of proud honor, our swords in our hands
Our cause and our country to save
While victory shines on life's last ebbing sands.
Oh! who would not die with the brave!

This Flag is now in our midst, tendered to the people of Kentucky through you. the head of their Representative Assembly, and I doubt, not it will be appropriately received and disposed of.

Who would not willingly die to protect this Flag and the graves of those in yonder Cemetery?

Let tyranny triumph in other States; but let a foe come to the frontier of Kentucky, and our sons, who have shown themselves doubly brave will meet them at every mountain pass and die with glory rather than fly with disgrace.

In the name of the officers and soldiers of the 2d Regiment of Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, I now present this Flag to the people of Kentucky.

The SPEAKER, (Mr. J. F. Buckner,) replied as follows:

As the organ of the representatives of the people of Kentucky, it is with the most pleasing emotions, that I discharge the duty of accepting the banner presented through you, by the survivors of the gallant 2d Regiment. By the eloquent language with which you have given vent to your own feelings, you have but truly expressed the emotions which fill the bosom of every member within this Hall.

Sir, the sight of that flag in this Hall naturally excites the most melancholy, as well as the most grateful recollections of the events with which its history is identified. The insignia of mourning with which it is encircled, but too truly remind us that some of the bravest of its defenders have fallen. That McKEE, CLAY, and many of their gallant associates expired, while its tattered shreds still floated in triumph over their mangled bodies. Pierced and rent amidst the shock of the most memorable battle of the age, stained with the best blood of our Commonwealth, mingled with that of the foe, it is on this account rendered a doubly treasured relict to the the people of Kentucky. The scenes you have so eloquently portrayed, now come up in bright review before us. Kentucky, aye sir! the world will never cease to remember the plains of Buena Vista, with the glories of which our own gallant 2d Regiment was so intimately identified. The glory of that day, and the fame acquired by the brave Kentucky Volunteers on that memorable occasion, is a part of the inheritance of every child of this Commonwealth. The Spartan mother, who when arming her son to go forth to meet the invaders of his country, conjured him "to return with his shield, or on his shield," but anticipated the sentiment of the Kentucky matron, who charged the youthful standard bearer of the 2d Regiment, after the conflict was over, to, "return his colors to the bosom of his State, or fall in their defence." The deeds inspired by the words of the Spartan mother, which have challenged the admiration of the world for the last two thousand years, have been eclipsed by the signal devotion to their flag of the survivors of that Regiment. I receive it as a trophy of the chivalry of Kentucky, and to be treasured up among the most valued archives of our State.

When the people of the State visit the Capital and their eyes come in contact with this melancholy memorial of th valor of our soldiery, they will feel that they have a guaranty for all future time, that when the war bugle is sounded on our border that their gallant sons served by the brilliant deeds you have recited will rush forth at the call of the country, to repel the incursions of every foe. The doctrine, that republics are ungrateful to their benefactors, finds no abiding place with us. It is a sterling trait in Kentucky character to honor the memories of her fallen heroes, and reward the sacrifices of those who survive. I doubt not, sir, that the Representatives of the people will this day by appropriate resolutions provide for the preservation of this banner among the archives of the Commonwealth.

Mr. TOWLES said, I hold in my hand some resolutions, but I cannot preface them with remarks expressive of the depth of my feelings, and which I presume are the feelings of every one in this Assembly.

The appearance of that Flag is a testimony that Kentucky's sons in that instance were found where they always have been, in the path of honor. When called upon to go and fight their country's battles, they did not stop to investigate the authorities which had declared the war or the means which had led to it, but it was their country's call and to it they responded with patriotic promptness, and have done what they always will do when their country is engaged in a foreign war.

I now offer the following.

Resolved, That the Representatives of the people of Kentucky receive with deep sensibility, the colors presented. The crape by which they are veiled is sadly emblematic of the gloom which shrouds the State for the loss of her patriotic and noble sons, who in bearing them aloft fell covered with wounds on the proud and bloody field of Buena Vista. They shall be preserved.—The archives of State held in sacred trust more dear. Riddled with shot, tattered blood stained, they prove that the sons of Kentucky now, as ever, are found in the hottest and bloodiest part of the battle field when the honor and glory of their country calls them to war. After generations will point to this flag with proud exultation.—We repeat, it shall be preserved.

Resolved, That the thanks and thanks of the people of Kentucky are due, and are hereby tendered to Maj. Fry and his brave companions in arms, for so priceless a gift.

Resolved, That the conduct of the Officers and Soldiers of Kentucky, both Infantry and Cavalry, on the field of Buena Vista is entitled to the admiration and gratitude of the people of Kentucky.

Resolved, That the banner this day presented, be deposited in the Public Library, and preserved and cherished as a memento of the gallantry and daring of Kentucky's sons upon that glorious and ever memorable day.

M. SMITH said, the second Regiment of Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, which so signally distinguished itself in the Mexican war, having presented to the Legislature of the State which they so gallantly and so honorably represented, the colors under which they marched, fought and rallied, at the ever memorable battle of Buena Vista, it seems right and proper, that we as the presentees of that glorious flag, should express, by some appropriate action on our part, the high esteem in which we hold the gift of that honored trophy, coming as it does from that gallant regiment, who by their own acts of intrepidity and skill, weighed heavy in the scale, to turn the tide of battle, to throw victory into our hands, and make that mighty host of Mexicans bow to the force of American arms.

Having been a personal witness of the gallantry with which the regiment who tendered that standard, bore it on to victory—having seen it carried through the fiery brunt of the most desperate battle of the age, and having known the romantic devotion of that regiment to this standard, I feel as tho' it was my duty to tell of these things upon this interesting occasion. Receive this standard, I warn you, will more than common civility; cherish and protect it with more than common care, lest you not only forfeit your character for gratitude, but cool down the ardor of Kentuckians in the field, whose highest hope is to merit your gratitude; and whose highest appreciation of duty, is to sustain untarnished the reputation of their beloved State.

That standard is full of exalted association to the eye of every officer and man of that gallant command. Every star—every stripe—every rent, is as familiar as the stern, but placid countenance of their loved and lost McKEE, or the fiery and dauntless mien of their chivalrous CLAY. With every rent in that flag, is associated the fall of a Lion heart; and how beautifully, yet how sadly, does it shadow forth, as well the tattered and mutilated condition of that regiment, whose pride it was, as the broken hearts of those surviving, who sorrow with a sorrow to which others are strangers over the graves of their comrades. Such, therefore, being the value attached to this gift by those who tender it, receive it I beseech you, with grateful hands—cherish it as the proudest monument in your archives, of the chivalry and prowess of Kentucky.

Mr. HARRIS said, it is with feelings of a peculiar character, that I have witnessed the ceremonies of this day. The presentation of the flag of the 2d Regiment of the Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, by the gentlemen from Fayette, (Gen. LESLIE COMBS,) on behalf of Maj. C. H. FRY, the only surviving field officer of that regiment, through you to the people of Kentucky, to be kept by them in the archives of this State, as a lasting memorial of the bravery of that Regiment, upon the bloody and well contested field of Buena Vista. is well calculated to cause every Kentuckian's heart to palpitate with feelings of pride and admiration. But sir, that pride and admiration is tempered with sorrow, deep and heart-felt; for the habiliments of mourning hanging around that flag, speak to the heart of every Kentuckian, and whisper in accents full of anguish, that we have lost a McKEE and a CLAY—two among Kentucky's most gallant sons. This flag was presented by the ladies of Frankfort to Capt Chambers' Company, and that company pleged themselves that it should be returned in triumph, or that their lives should be the forfeit; and nobly have they redeemed that pledge.—Twice one day was it taken by the enemy, and as often rescued, and tattered and torn as it is, still it is a splendid commentary upon the gallant and noble daring of the 2d Regiment of Kentucky Volunteer Infantry —so justly styled "the Bloody Second."

I see, sir, that however shattered it may be, that King of Birds, the American Eagle, is still there, perched in proud defiance.—Yes, sir, that bird which was but yesterday flaged in the old hall at Philadelphia, when it left the hands of that estimable lady, (Mrs. Harlan,) pinioned forth to as glorious a destiny as ever crowned the emblem of Roman invincibility, and beneath the auspicious light of its wing, Americans and Kentuckians have learned to wrest victory almost from the grasp of destiny.

The determination of that regiment to maintain their colors, is only equaled by one other instance, which was that of Captain Lawrence, of the ship Constitution, who, when her hull was perforated by a thousand balls from the enemy's cannon, herdecks bespattered with human blood, and gradually sinking beneath the wave, with his last expiring effort, raised himself to his elbow and cried out, "nail the colors to the mast my boys, and don't give up the ship." The battle of Buena Vista may be justly termed the battle of the war.

Ah, sir, it was a fearful sight to look upon, when on the morning of the 22d of Febuary, the Mexican army, twenty thousand strong, with their banners flung to the breeze, and their bayonets glistening in the sunlight marched in solid phalanx to attack the American army, which was composed of only a handful of men.

But when the shock came, our little band, like the rock of Gibralter, stood firm and immovable, desperation nerved every arm, and cheered by the voice and presence of Gen. Taylor, that great and good man, who stood like a pillar of strength in the midst of his little band, controling and directing them in the pathway to victory and to fame.

I congratulate the survivors of that memorable struggle upon their manly bearing, their devotion to their country and to liberty, while I mourn the loss of many who were my personal friends and acquaintances.

Thus much, Mr. Speaker, I felt it my privilege and my duty to say—I therefore hope the House will adopt the resolutions just offered by the gentleman from Henderson, (Mr. Towles.)

Mr. GRAINER moved to amend by adding that an appropriate medal be presented by the State to Sergt. Gaines.

Mr. COMBS asked to have the amendment withdrawn, as he had one that would meet the case fully.

Mr. GRANGER said if the amendment to be offered would do more honor to Sergeant Gaines, he would withdraw but not without.

Mr. COMBS then moved to amend by adding:

Resolved, That the name of Sergt. William F. Gaines be inscribed on a plate of metal, and attached permanently to the Flag staff which he so gallantly bore in the battle of Buena Vista, and that a gold medal with suitable inscriptions, be tendered by the Govenor of this Commonwealth to said Gaines.

Mr. T. D. BROWN moved to amend by adding.

Resolved, That we tender the thanks and gratitude of the people of Kentucky to Sergt. W. F. Gaines, the Boy defender of the glorious banner of Kentucky, in the sanguinary battle of Buena Vista.

The amendments were unanimously adopted, when

Mr. DUNCAN, of Nelson remarked that he had not intended to say any thing on this subject; but he felt himself called upon, by surrounding circumstances, to add his testimony to the gallant manner in which that flag had been defended. Thrice did he see that flag, and those who, fought under it, roll back the tide of battle. Thrice, when the American lines were faltering and giving way, was that flag seen restoring the order and fate of battle. Before that flag he had seen the enemy scattered like autumn leaves. And once was seen the proud hero of Buena Vista, who, as my friend from Meade, (Mr. H.) has said, was like "a pyramid of strength," around whose summit the storms and tempest of war raged, bending his Eagle gaze with the deepest interest. Upon it hung the fate of battle, and the destiny of the American army. The result answered more than his expectation. That flag waived triumphant, and a shout of victory came booming across the plain. He hoped this House would pardon the desultory manner in which he had spoken. He could do nothing less than add this tribute of respect for the gallant deeds performed by another regiment from this native State.

And then the House adjourned.

The Tight Boot; or how a Young Man went into a Ball Room.

About five years ago I happened at a wedding in one of the back wood counties of Georgia, at the house of Major S. Being the wealthiest man in those parts he was desirous of giving a great flair up, and for this purpose had invited a large number of guests to witness the nuptials of the eldest of three blooming, cherry-lipped, strong-limbed, clean-footed daughters. Among the invited guests I observed the face of Bill P., a representative of the county at the "University," whom I had known as the bull of his class while there, but who was destined to act a conspicious part on the present memorable occasion. Bill was an original—suigeneris. He was peculiarly attached to his head, which was unique in shape and clothed with curls which resembled less Hyperion's than the setting sun in hue. He was six feet two in his stockings, with legs meeting a long way up, and more resembling a pair of compasses than anything that I can at present imagine. Add to this, he was twenty years of age, and reeking with verdancy and bashfulness, and you have his daguerreotype. The ceremony had been performed and it was waxing late, and all seemed to be enjoying the flow of the soul.

I had exhausted the fun from the various groups, and was looking about for a subject of interest, when I perceived Bill, like Napoleon, sitting solitary and alone, with a face the agony of whose expression I shall never forget. Approaching him I kindly inquired the cause of his distress, and proffered my assistance.

"Give me your arm,' said he, 'I'm deathly sick: let me find a room and go to bed.'

He grasped my arm convulsively, and limping along, we went into a private room which Major S. had assigned me as my quarters for the night. I soon discovered the cause of Bill's malady, which was a small pair of boots on his large feet, worn with a view of curtailing the fair proportions of those members. He endeavored in vain to release his feet, and as it was impossible to get the assistance of a servant, I volunteered to tug at them myself, when he had completely exhausted his strength. We succeeded at length in pulling one off—but the other resisted our every effort. Bill was in agony, his foot was badly swolen, and yet he would not cut the boot. At last he arose, his eyes in "fine phrenzy rolling," and dripping with perspiration, and pronouncing anathemas, not loud but deep, upon all gtherings in general, and country weddings in particular, he divested himself of every garment— and stood as unincumbered, save with that one terrible boot. The merriment in the adjoining chamber contrasted strange ly with the anguish in mine. The guests had now all gone into the ball room. I could hear every note of preparation made by the fiddler.

Approaching nearer the wall I discovered a door which opened into the room in which they were about to commence the dance.—By this time bill had recovered his strength, and recommended the tug at his boot. In vain he essayed every position and atitude. At length he thought he might accomplish his object by placing his back to the wall his right foot against one of mine and obtain my assistance. He placed himself firmly against the door, and I caught his leg and began to pull, it gradually yielded, and bidding make "a long pull, a strong pull and pull altogether," the boot unexpectedly gave way, and with it the door and Bill went tumbling into the Ball Room.

Such screaming from females, and such consternation among the beaux, was never before seen. In the midst of my mirth uproarous, I heard the clatter of horses hoofs, and looking out of the window I beheld a solitary horseman flying, with hair streaming in the wind, and clothed in full Georgia costume, to wit a shirt collar and a pair of spurs, It was poor Bill!

INDIAN PRINTERS.—OURSELVES'—It may not be without interest to our distant friends to know that the Cherokee Advocate is now, and has been for several months, printed in the hands of Indians. It is an Indian paper out and out, including all persons employed in the office. One compositor is a Creek, who learned the trade at Van Buren, Arkansas; the others are Cherokees who have acquired it in the nation, here, east of the Mississippi. This fact, though of no great important in itself, is yet one of some interest, showing, as it does, that we are acquiring strength at home, and cause for greater self-reliance.—Cherokee Advocate.

HOW TO ESCAPE DROWNING.—A Dutch man was relating his marvellous escape, thirteen of his companions were drowned by the upsetting of a boat and he alone was saved.

"And how did you escape the fate of the rest" asked one of the hearers.

"I did not go in the boad." was the Duchman's placid answer.

HERO-WORSHIP.

Some of our most respected Whig cotemporaries, having zealously opposed and boldly rebuked, the advocates of Gen. Taylor's elevation to the Presidency, so long as they entertained a hope of succeeding in their efforts to turn the current of public feeling in another direction, seem of late to have become rather more cynical and sarcastic than is exactly consistent with a graceful submission to the ruling power of a Republic, viz: the voice of the people.

No one can more thoroughly despise, than we do, the upstart pretensions of the worthless swarm of self-styled heroes, who are hatched by the heat of battle, and who wear a flesh wound, received in action, with quite as much austentation, and more pride than they do an epaulette; yet we cannot consent to sneer at "epaulettes" and "flashing swords," and "gilded buttons," because they are sometimes worn by those who are unworthy of the distinction they confer.—Nor can we consent to withhold our humble tribute of admiration for character, marked by all the higher attributes of man, because accident, or education may have thrown the possessor of it into the tented field, instead of the cabinet.

We would advise those who are laboring to disparage the claims to civil office, of all who have had the misfortune to wear an epaulette, or draw a sword, in their country's service, to cease their occasional tribute of respect to the memory of Washington, and repent of their zeal for the elevation of the lamented Harrison to the highest civil office in the world, and then come up with clean hands to the work of anti-hero propagandism—then we will give them credit for sincerity. After having thus prepared themselves for the work, which they have too hastily undertaken, their first effort must be to change the nature of man, by tearing from his heart his now involuntary admiration for courage, magnanimity, devotion to country, &c., and engraft in their places, the doctrine of non-resistance, patient submission under the most aggravated insults, and a few other Utopian virtues, and when they have done this, make their report, and if their country shall not have become already the prey of the ambitious and rapacious of other lands, we will endeavor further to instruct them in the art of preventing "hero-worship," as they call it.

☞ Our latest accounts from Iowa, are calculated to produce the impression that the Legislature of the State, will not be able to elect United States Senators at its present session. It seems that several Senators had accepted lucrative offices under the State and General Governments, others, not anticipating a called session, had removed from the counties in which they were elected.—These were all declared to be still in office by the Senate, whereupon the House refused to go into joint session with a Senate thus constituted. Thers is but little prospect of their yielding; hence the failure to elect Senators.

☞ Of one hundred thousand emigrants arrived in Canada from the British Islands during the past year, not less than twenty-five thousand have died of emigrant or ship fever, and other diseases, incident to the almost total destitution of the comforts of life experienced by the poor, who, despairing of the future in their own country, are rushing in thousands to the shores of America.

THE UNION MAGAZINE OF LITERATURE AND ART—EDITED BY MRS. KIRKLAND.—We have received the February number of this very interesting and popular periodical, from W. S. Brown & Co., Agents for this City.

Its reading matter is agreeable and entertaining—its typographical execution neat and tasteful, and the number before us contains two beautiful engravings—worth, in our humble judgment, the annual subscription price of the work, which is $3,00, or $5,00 for two copies. We commend this work to the patronage of the ladies of Maysville and vicinity, as altogether worthy.

☞ The National Intelligencer of the 25th contains the first part of Lieut. Col. Fremont's defence, to the charges preferred against him by Gen. Kearney. It is long and able.

☞ A letter of our correspondent although, not so late as dates previously received, will be read with decided interest by his many friends.

His descriptive writings are worthy of their accomplished and gallant author.

☞ A caucus of the Democratic members of Congress, has fixed upon Baltimore as the place, and the 4th Monday in May as the time for holding their National Convention.

☞ A Taylor meeting it called for, Wednesday evening next, in Cincinnati.

☞ The clever clerk of the Steamer Pennsylvania, will accept our thanks for Pittsburgh papers of Saturday last.

Education.

We are gratified to learn, that Messrs. ALLEN & SMITH, whose advertisement of their School announcement, will be found in the Herald, are about to procure for the use of their pupils, Philosophical, Chemical and Astronomical Apparatus, for illustrating and enforcing the priciples upon which those sciences are based. Also, a library, for the use of their School, of such books as are calculated to cultivate a taste for useful knowledge.

Mr. Allen's teaching has given general satisfaction during the time he has been amongst us, and we are gratified that his success thus far has not in any degree diminished his desire further to extend and multiply his means of doing good, in the all-important matter of Education. Maysville has for years sustained an enviable reputation for the charcter of her Schools and Academies, and we sincerely hope, that no efforts will be wanting, either amongst teachers or parents, to elevate still higher, her character as a patron of Education.

☞ Horace Wells, a Dentist, who was recently arrested for throwing vitrol upon the clothes, and in one instance on the neck, of a female passing his office, in N. York, committed suicide while in prison from mortification at his disgrace.

He was respectable in his profession, and very respectably connected; and attributes the temporary insanity under which he committed the offences for which he was imprisoned, to the intemperate use of Chloroform.

FLAG PRESENTATION.—The proceedings of the Legislature on this interesting occasion, which we give at length to day, will be read with a thrill of pleasure.

The proceedings of the Legislature otherwise are almost devoid of interest, because of the local character of the subjects to which they are chiefly directed.

☞ John S. Jenkins, of New York, has written a life of the Honorable Silas Wright, lately deceased.

ANOTHER COURT MARTIAL.—The following is from the N. Y. Tribune of the 26th inst.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25, 1848.

Great excitement exists among naval men here this morning, in consequence of a prevailing report that the officers of the Gulf Squadron, in reply to a circular from the Commodore requesting information upon the subject, have returned for answer that "the conduct of a Post Captain at the batteries before Vera Cruz was unbecoming an officer in the presence of an enemy."

☞ The Journeymen House Carpenters of the city of New York, held a meeting on the evening of the 25 inst., and resolved to demand $1.75 per day for their labor.—They gave as reasons for this course, the high price of rents, of fuel and of provisions, without any prospect of diminution.

☞ It is said that Messrs. Webster and Corwin will address the Senate, on the subject of the ten regiment Bill.

☞ That Tobacco of McIlvains is a bargain at the price.

☞ See Mooklar and Chiles, advertisement of "choice family groceries."

☞ We have never seen finer meat than that Bear advertised by McCullough. The fat on the ribes is near three inches thick.

Bill for the Removal of the County Seat.

We are indebted to our friend Dr. R. G. Dobyns of this City for a copy of the bill recently passed by the Ky. Legislature changing the County Seat of Mason County from Washington to Maysville. It is as follows.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly o' the Commonwealth of Kentucky: That the seat of Justice for the County of Mason, be, and the same is hereby removed from the town of Washington, and established in the city of Maysville—and the edifice erected in said city, called the City Hall, and conveyed to said county, is hereby established as the Court House, and the place in which the Circuit and County Courts of said County, shall be held after the first day of April next, on the days fixed by law, and the jail lately erected in said city, is hereby declared to be the Public Jail of said county.

Sec. 2. That the Clerks of the Circuit and County Courts of said County, shall, on or before the first day April next, remove all the Books, Records and Papers, belonging to, and appertaining to their respective Offices aforesaid, to the said Court House in Maysville, and shall thereafies keep the offices in such rooms in said building, as he or they may elect—or the County Court may designate, provided that the room in the basement of said building set apart and now used by the Mayor and City Council of the city aforesaid, be and the same is hereby reserved for the use of the said city,—and the authorities of said city, shall have the control of the clock in said building.

Copy Attest, J. C. HERNDON,
Ass't Clk, House Representatives.

THE FRENCH TOBACCO CONTRACT.—We learn from the Baltimore American that the annual contract for the supply of the French Government with tobacco has been concluded, and the amount required will be about the same as last year, viz: 3,000 hhds.—Virginia, 8,000 hhds. Maryland and Ohio, and 10,000 hhds. Kentucky. The price at which it is agreed to furnish the Maryland and Ohio is 115a116 francs per 225 lbs., which is a trifle higher than last year.

Army Correspondence of the "Herald."

CITY OF LA PUEBLA, Mexico,
December 13th, 1847.

DEAR SIR: You will observe by the caption of this letter that I am in one of the great cities of New Spain, and will naturally expect some account of the country and its inhabitants. But when I tell you that I reached here last evening late, after thirteen days march, and have to take up the line of March again to-morrow, you will perceive my inability to do much more than tell my whereabouts. But I will make a few general observations on the character of the country through which I have passed, reserving minuter details for greater leisure.

After leaving Vera Cruz, the road to Mexico passes over sand plains, for some twenty or thirty miles. There are some slight elevations or sand ridges, running from South to North, cutting the road at right angles. When the summit of these little ranges of hills is gained the plain extends upon a level to the next elevation. After passing these sand hills, the rocky hills appear of greater elevation, and are composed of rock and sand, covered, on the surface, with rugged rocks and large boulders, which have become nearly black by the action of the atmosphere and hot rays of the sun.—This region from the higher mountains, till a short distance beyond these rocky hills, to the Gulf coast, is called the Tierra Calientes;—and a more appropriate name could not be imagined,—for the rays of a Tropical sun pour upon the plains, without obstruction, for nine months in the year, and keep up a constant ardor which is almost intolerable, to persons accustomed to a temperate clime.

The growth is nearly all peculiar to this region, and I recognized but few trees or plants of our country. The trees are small and scrubby; some, however, attain considerable size—and the wide Savannahs are covered with a rich pasturage, which presents one eternal verdure. The prickly pear, of various species, flourishes in foll magnitude, sometimes attaining the height of twenty or thirty feet, and assuming every conceivable shape, both beautiful and curious.

There are no habitations, or very few, on the road through these plains. The country seems to have been appropriated to the only use for which it could have been designed, viz grazing. Large herds of cattle and mules may be seen roaming over the prairies, many of them as wild as the buffalo or the mustang—the last of which also abound in these great natural pastures. The small streams, which head in the mountains, traverse this region in their passage to the Gulf, affording abundance of water, and of tolerable quality. The National Bridge is over one of these streams, about 30 miles from Vera Cruz. I believe the river is called Antigua. It is a bold stream, of forty yards breadth, and receives a small tributary in the bridge. The road descends the slope to the small stream, a few hundred yards above the bridge. The hill on the opposite side, in the point, is very high, and commands the road from the point of descent until the bridge is cleared, and a considerable distance gained on the far side of the Antigua. A small circular work is placed on the promontary, but the Mexicans surely never manned this place well, or they might have made a very formidable stand. After rising the slope beyond the Antigua, the road passes over an extensive plateau, or table, covered with rocks, and in many places rent into chasms a distance of eighteen or twenty miles from the mountains, where it enters the pass of Cerro Gordo. The day I passed this famous part of the road, I was quite sick—rode in an ambulance, and was deprived of the pleasure of examing the battle ground. But the road winds for six or eight miles along a narrow defile in the mountains, not wide enough to admit a platoon in front, and commanded by the mountains, from which certain destruction could be poured upon an army by a much inferior force. At the head of the defile where the road gains the summit level of the tableau above, is the battle ground. Our success resulted from a circuitous route, by which the enemy's works, and flanks, were turned, and the assault made on different points at the same time.

After emerging from the defile into the plain above, the high mountain ranges, which support the great central tableau of Mexico, appear in bold relief—at the base of which are some of the most beautiful prairies which I ever beheld. Ascending these mountains you reach successively small tableaux, highly fertile, and pretty well cultivated. Jalapa is situated on one of them, more than two-thirds the way up the mountains. Here the climate is mild, and one eternal spring blooms on every side. The orange and the rose—the pine apple and banana—are constantly exhibited.

From Jalapa the road winds up the mountain steeps—range after range—through cultivated fields, and villages, until you find yourself among the clouds. The air here is chilly, and at this season white frosts form every clear night. From this summit the decent is gradual into a beautiful and extensive valley, surrounded by mountain walls; for the peaks rise far above the level of the tableaux. Indeed, I might say there are a series of valleys, uniting by narrow passes the mountain peaks, and forming together a vast plain, studded with lofty peaks. Some of these peaks are of great elevation—as Orizaba and Popocatapetl—both covered with eternal snow, and standing as perpetual land marks, to the mariner and traveller. The road passes within twenty or thirty miles of the first, which is to the South of Jalapa, and much nearer the last, which is to the West of this city.

The valley of which I spoke has many villages and towns. It is highly cultivated, though the soil is sterile and dry. The principal ingredient is disintegrated sand, which has washed from the neighboring mountains. Perote is situated in this valley. It is a small town, and only famous for its Castle. The Castle covers an area of twelve or fourteen acres. It has a strong wall, and if properly provisioned with men and guns, would be be very hard to reduce. Water in this valley is scarce, and what there is, is brackish and unwholesome. The plain in the rainy season is covered with water, making one great lake, which evaporates, leaving a white deposit of lime and salt, and perhaps magnesia, and other mineral ingredients. The plain, after you get within 30 miles of this city, becomes more fertile, more elevated, and the brackish quality of the water disappears;—and, from thence, it is very highly cultivated, and densely populated. I saw some corn fields which must have contained more than a thousand acres. A great deal of barley is also produced here.

Winding along a wide and open valley on yesterday—the sky tranquil and clear—and the air about as warm as a pleasant October day in Kentucky,—I beheld before me a hundred domes, and a thousand spires and towers, glittering in the bright rays of a meridian sun.—This was Puebla (Poonbla,) one of the richest and most superb cities in M xico. The hills around were covered with rich verdure, on which large flocks of sheep strayed, attended by their shepherds,—Castles, after the fashion and style of feudal Europe, occupied the handsomest cites, on the adjacent hills—and altogether, the scene filled me with ideas of antiquity, and I was carried back to the days of pastoral simplicity, and thence ascended to the times of the Barons. The road, as you approach the city, is elegant beyond comparison—and indicates, together with the distant and dazzling splendor of the city, an intelligent and enterprising people.

I was in command of the rear guard, and did not reach the city till late, and it was nearly night before we were quartered—which is in a large church—in the midst of the city. The churches are massy piles, with open courts, and long corridors—and rooms without number. The soldiers are quartered in the rooms along the corridors. I used great exertions to prevent the soldiers from committing any depredations upon the church. The priest became pleased with my conduct, and was kind enough to give me a good room for my quarters. But my quarters are now better than first offered—for Captain Simms uniting with me in kind treatment to the priest, he was, by special request, permitted to occupy the rectoral adjoining his holyness' apartments, and he communicating the fact to me, I partook of part of his room. We are, therefore, well quartered. Our room is furnished with tables and chairs, and hung with portraits for Catholic veneration. I wish I could stay here a week or so, so as to get such knowledge of the city as to describe it to you. But we march to-morrow for the city of the Aztecs, eighty miles from this, and may expect to eat our Christmas dinner in the Halls of the Montezumas.

I will remark that, Puebla is a large, well built city. The houses are of stone—some of them very magnificent—and all more uniformly grand than in any other city I have seen.—The streets are narrow, and well paved with large flag stones. Side walks narrow, and as smooth as marble. I have only seen in the porticoes and balconies, some of the Castilian race—and in every thing which constitutes beauty and interest, they are equal to other European nations. The lower classes do all the labor of the country. They are the descendants of the Ancient Mexican Indians—and look very much like our Indians. The climate here is delightful. It has not rained for two months, and none is expected for three or four more. The air is pure and pleasant—the sky clear and serene—every day is alike—and somewhat like our serene Autumnal days.

Gen. Twiggs reached here day before yesterday, and left this morning with a train for Vera Cruz. All is quiet at the Capital. But expectation is on tip toe for some grand scenes.—Santa Anna's whereabouts is unknown. Rumor says, the Congress have appointed Commissioners to treat. But another, which has equally as great currency and credence, says Congress has been dissolved. And, another still, says that a considerable force has been collected at Queretaro, and constant and active preparations made for defence. It is believed by Gen. Butler that an expedition will be forthwith sent to reduce this place, and that his command will compose part of it. So you see we have some hope of being engaged in real war. I don't know any more now than when I left home, about the prosecution of the war. But I have supposed I could conjecture the probable course of the Government of the United States. I think (and have predicted as much here) that Mr. Polk will recommend the reduction of all the large cities, and the permanent occupation of the country, until Mexico is willing to pay the expenses of the war, and make peace. Whether Mexico will ever do that I can't say. But she ought to do it now if she would consult her own safety. For as certain as destiny, if the war continues, the whole country will be subjected to our arms and authority—and in process of time the origin of the war will be lost sight of in the temptation to possess ourselves of the vast pecuniary advantages which the holding of the country, as a foreign possession, will offer. Indeed, I am very much inclined to think now, that we have gone too far in this war to forego the advantages which might be derived from a certain policy—not very different from the English India system. I will not now go into this matter, but wait to hear from the President.

My men left the Tierra Calientes very much enervated by the hot and sultry climate—and nearly all affected with diarrhœa—which has, from cold, and fatiguing marches, brought on fevers of the remitting kind—some of them quite severe. I have lost none yet, nor has the brigade lost but few, though a good many are unfit for duty, and have to be placed in hospital. But Gen. Butler will be able to present a fine command to Gen. Scott—I believe the finest volunteer corps in the world—and I hope for an opportunity for it to prove truly worth its breeding.

I will write again from the Capital, when I shall have more leisure.

Your friend and ob't serv't, L. M. C.

MAYSVILLE
English and Classical Academy.

HAVING received numerous applications, after the number to which I had limited myself was filled, and hoping to increase the advantages offered in my School, I have effected an arrangement with Mr. THOS. J. SMITH, A. B., (a graduate of Bethany College, Va., and recently a popular teacher in the "Western Military Institute," at Georgetown,) to become associated with me at the opening of my next Session, February 28th, proximo. Mr. SMITH will take the supervision of the department of Ancient and Modern Classics, and share also with me the other duties of the School, as circumstances may require.

We aim to establish a "permanent and reputable" English and Classical School; and seek the patronage of those who will evince their appreciation of our faithful efforts to serve them, by permanently sustaining us. We hope to exchange the rooms at present occupied, for larger and more convenient ones.

Our charges will range from $10 to $20, according to the branches pursued, and may be learned on application to either of us. Our friends will be accommodated in the order of their applications, a preference being given to my present patrons, especially if they honor my bills promptly. We shall expect references when persons apply who are personally unknown to us; and none will be received for less than a Session, unless by special stipulation.

DR. SMITH'S GREAT NATIONAL PILLS.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's

Improved Indian Vegetable (Sugar Coated) Pill

ARE the medicine of the United States, and their superiority over all others for entire efficacy and pleasantness has won for them a pre-eminence of fame which needs no foreign influence to perpetuate. Almost unheralded they have silently worked their way, and have gained a permanent hold on the approbation of the people which no other medicine or opposition can relax For about four years they have triumphed over disease; and brought joy and gladness to many an anxious bosom. Their purity, as a medical compound, commends them to the most delicate, and even the more hardy, who have suffered from the effects of impure properties in the stomach, will ever be pleased with the delightful operation of these Pills. They have the rare merit of the most carefully selected ingredients, are always safe, and there can be no danger of taking them improperly at any time. A single trial will manifest their excellence in relieving the body of many precursors of alarming diseases. Keeping the bowels gently open, thereby ensuring the continuance of health. The most eminent chemist in New York has given his certificate that these Pills are purely vegetable, or Nature's own remedy.

The great principle recognised by the inventor of this invaluable medicine is, that every part of the body, whether in health or disease, is brought under the influence of the digestive organs. This plain and rational doctrine forms the only ground on which a good family medicine can be recommended. Operating on this principle, Dr. S's Pills strengthen the stomach, promote the secretions of the liver, skin and kidneys, and regulate the bowels, thereby adopting the only natural and consistent method of renovating the life blood pure, by correcting the vitiated humors of the whole system. It is impossible to give every particular in this brief notice, but these Pills are earnestly recommended as a means of preventing so much misery and disease, which grow out of constipation of the bowels, neglected colds, slight attacks, &c., and which it is in the power of all to prevent. These pills do not palliate but they cure [illegible]

By following the simple directions which accompany every box of genuine pills, a permanent cure will be effected. Most of the hospitals in New York have given these pills the preference over more than 20 kinds that have been tested, and several eminent physicians in New York and elsewhere use them in their practice.

Beware of Imposition!

The demand for Dr. Smith's Pills being every where great, several unprincipled persons have made Pills of the most miserable and dangerous stuff, and palm them off for genuine, have put on a "coating of sugar." Therefore, beware, and always look for the written signature of G. Benj. Smith, on the bottom of every box, to counteract which is forgery!

More than 1000 certificates have been received at the principal office, and the people are referred to Smith's Herald for proofs, where they can read of the most important cures. We give, for want of room, but a few

Testimonials.

Dr. Smith's Pills are purely vegetable, operate well, and produce a good result. L. EEE.
Editor of the True Wesleyan.

My wife has taken Moffat's, Morrison's, and many others, but she has received more benefit from Dr. Smith's Pills than all others. She believes they may be used by females with perfect safety, without changing their employment or diet, and at any season. JOHN KELLETT.
127 Myrtle Avenue. Brooklyn.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Pills have entirely cured me of dizziness in my head, and general weakness of my system. My family use them with the best results. I would not be without them.
F. H. NASH, 99 Forsyth-st.

Dr. Smith's Pills are free from the objections to which other Pills are liable, and are the best medicine that I have yet seen. J. GREENE.

Voice of the Press.

At the request of Dr. G. Benjamin Smith's agent we cheerfully state that we visited the office of Dr. Smith in September last, while in New York, and found him carrying on a very extensive business with the Indian Vegetable Pills. The extent of his establishment would astonish any one not initiated in the Mysteries of the Pill trade.—Louisville Journal.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Sugar Coated Pills are all the rage in Boston now. Children cry for them.
Boston Post.

Very much so in Rochester. The dear little "responsibilities" won't believe they are medicine, no how.—Rochester Daily Advertiser.

They sell well at Carbondale—and so they ought to Purchase them of Sweet & Ensign, or of Dr. A. P. Gardner, who are duly authorized agents for the sale of Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Sugar Coated Pills. Give them a trial and they must stand as high in your estimation as they now do in ours.—Carbondale (Pa.) Reporter.

Voice from Kentucky.

I have been afflicted with dyspepsia in the most aggravated form for three years past, and I found no relief until I used Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Improved Indian Vegetable Pills. After using sixes boxes of said valuable pills. I am entirely cured. They are a general remedy. J. K. LEEMAN.

The Best Anti-Bilious Medicine Known.

PROOF is everything; and the best proof that Dr. Charles Van Zandt's Anti-Bilious, Health Restorative Pills are the most superior pills now before the public, is that the proprietor is continually receiving certificates by scores, and that he is selling through all parts of this country and South America, over Five Thousand Boxes Daily.

The reader will say that this is an immense sale, and, perhaps, doubt the truth of our assertion; but we can convince all who choose to investigate the matter, that we have understated, if anything, the success of this most excellent medicine. Bilious complaints are the most dangerous, most insidious, and most obstinate of all disorders;—no Kentuckian doubts this,—and if you would be relieved quickly, thoroughly and at small cost, call on the undersigned, and the result will prove your wisdom.

Pospectus of the Maysville Herald, TRI-WEEKLY AND WEEKLY.

THE undersigned proposes to publish a Tri-Weekly and Weekly paper in the city of Maysville, to be called "THE MAYSVILLE HERALD," which will be devoted to the political department, to the advocacy of the great principles of National Policy professed by the Whig party.

Relying mainly for support, upon a Commercial and Trading people, the Editor will seek to bring prominently into view, the advantages which Maysville affords to the surrounding country, as a market, for the products of the South, the manufacturers of the North and East, and the productions of the agriculture and domestic industry and skill of Northern Kentucky and Southern Ohio.

The HERALD will contain the latest Political and Commercial News, foreign and domestic and keep its readers well advised of the state of those markets most frequented by the Merchants and Traders of that section of country in which it is published. It will also contain the usual amount of Literary and Miscellaneous matter to be found in papers of its class.

The subject of facilitating intercourse between the City and surrounding country, so important to the prosperity of both, will receive such attention as may be necessary to place it properly before those most interested in the result.

We shall foster and encourage, by all the means in our power, the Manufacturing and Mechanical interest, from a conviction that no town or country can prosper greatly, whose citizens neglect to give to their surplus products all the value which reproductive industry can bestow, before making them the subject of her commerce.

So soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, we intend to publish, for the benefit of our Farmers, such information upon the subject of their noble pursuit, as experience and the application of the principles of science have developed, or may hereafter make known.

In short, we will aid, to the utmost of our power, by all legitimate means, in bringing into action the springs of prosperity, upon which the happiness of those most interested in our labors depends.

TERMS:

For Tri-Weekly paper four dollars in advance, four fifty within the year, or five at the expiration of the year.

The Weekly Herald on a large double-medium sheet, two dollars in advance, two fifty within the year, or three at the end of year.

THIRTY-TWO Thousand Dollars saved by insurance on the fires that occurred in this city, all within 90 days. The above fact should induce every person who has property to loose to come forward and Insure their property, as a very small amount paid annually may save many families from ruin. This Agency has paid out $10307,54, other agencies have paid Twenty-two Thousand Dollars, all of which has been promptly adjusted and paid according to the terms of the policy on losses in this city during the present summer. Farmers can have their dwelling houses insured at the rate of $5 per thousand on brick houses and $7 50 per thousand on Frame houses. The City property insure at about ½ to 1 per cent, according to location. So that all can be protected.

WOOD & DAVIS,

RESPECTFULLY inform their old friends and the community in general, that they have gathered up the goods and wares they were able to save from the fire, and have removed them temporarily to the Commission Warehouse of CHARLES W. FRANKLIN, on Second street, nearly opposite the Presbyterian Church, where they will be glad to wait upon all wanting any thing in their line.

They disign establishing themselves permanently in the new three story brick warehouse of Otho H. Davis, now erecting on Wall street, a few doors above their old stand, as soon as the same shall be completed. With many thanks for the generous patronage they have received, they would again invite purchasers to their assortment, and will endeavor to suit them with the articles they may want, in any quality or quantity.

AGUE AND FEVER.

FLETCHER'S CELEBRATED IMPERIAL

AGUE AND FEVER OR TONIC PILLS

THE proprietors of this invaluable remedy for Ague and Fever or Intermittent Fever, deem it unnecessary to enter into a long dissertation, relative to the disease for the radical cure of which, the remedy now offered stands unrivalled. The universal prevalence of the Ague and Fever, and Intermittent Fever, throughout most of the states of the Union, and the thousands who annually suffer from it, unhappily render it so well known, that to dilate on its symptoms or pathology, seems wholly unnecessary. It may, however, with propriety be observed, that the neglect to cure what is too often called "only the Ague and Fever," often leads to diseases more fatal in their nature—among which may be classed, diseases of the Liver and enlargement of the Spleen, commonly called Ague Cake, which in too many cases proves fatal.

Thousands of certificates might be published in reference to the efficacy of the Pills now offered to the public, which the proprietors deem unnecessary to publish. Suffice it to say, they have now been known to fail in a single instance. One Box, when taken according to directions, is warranted to cure any case of Ague and Fever, or Intermittent Fever. The ingredients being PURELY VEGETABLE, and entirely free from any deleterious substance, they are confidently recommended as the safest, as well as the most efficacious article ever offered to the Public! The form in which these Pills are put up, (small in boxes,) renders them more convenient than any other, as a man can carry them in his vest pocket without the slightest inconvenience.

FLETCHER'S

"NE PLUS ULTRA" VEGETABLE COMPOUND

CATHARTIC AND DEOBSTRUENT PILLS.

These Pills, now for the first time offered to the Public, have been used in private practice upwards of Forty Years, by a celebrated Physician, formerly a member of the Royal College of Surgeons of London and Edinburg, and Licentiate of Dublin University.

The proprietors deem it unnecessary to enter into any lengthened discussion as to the merits of these Pills—neither will they say, that they "will cure all the ills that human flesh is heir to"—but they lay claim to one great fact, and that is this; they are the very best pills ever invented, not merely as a simple CATHARTIC, as their properties are various. They are a Compound Cathartic, and Deobstruent Pill. They cleanse the Stomach and Bowels without pain or griping; they act specifically upon the Liver and Kidneys, and as a Diuretic, they cause an increased discharge of Urine—restoring a healthful and proper action to the URINARY ORGANS. For monthly complaints, to which Females are liable, they will be found most efficacious in removing obstructions and restoring them to perfect health. It is perhaps needless to add, that if the STOMACH and BOWELS are kept in a proper state, no fears should be entertained in reference to the welfare of the body.

We need only say to those who have tried all other Pills, of whatever name, to give the "Ne Plus Ultra's," one trial, and we feel perfectly confident, that they will satisfy all that there are NINE PILLS! unequalled as well as unapproachable!!
