Nautilus Mutual Life Insurance Company, 20, Wall Street, N. York.

THIS Company which confines its business exclusively to LIFE INSURANCE, has now been in operation two years and a half, during which period it has issued 1523 policies; and for the first fifteen months experienced no loss. Its losses for the whole time have been less than $18,000, leaving an accumulation of about $55,000 on hand, beyond the payment of claims and expenses. This added to the original guaranty capital of $50,000, places the security of the Company on a basis so solid as no longer to admit of a rational doubt.

All its profits accrue to the credit of the dealers, and are divided annually among them, whether the the policy be issued for a limited period or for the whole term of life, a feature unknown in the character of any other Mutual Life Insurance Company incorporated in this State.

Two dividends of 50 per cent. each, on the amount of premium received, in accordance with the provisions of the charter, have been declared, and are credited to the assured, and for which scrip certificates will be issued.

A dividend of 0 per cent. on the first year's scrip, has likewise been declared, payable in CASH, to the holders thereof, on demand, at the office of the Company.

For policies granted for the whole term of life, when the premium thereof amounts to $20—a note for 40 per cent. with interest at 6 per cent.—without guaranty, may be received in payment, or it may be paid in cash, in which case it is expected, should the party survive to pay 13 annual payments, leaving the dividends to accumulate, the policy will be fully paid for, and the accumulation ultimately added to the policy.

For further information, the public are referred to the pamphlets and forms of proposal, which may be obtained at the office of the company or any of its Agencies.

Patent Poetry.

Just received at the Cheap Cash Store,
Goods from New York and Baltimore;
And Goods from Philadelphia, too,
With every thing that's fine and new.

Come on, all ye who wish to buy,
To suit you we will surely try;
And give you a bargain, such as you
Nor your ancestors never knew.

Why will you falter, then, and fear,
And buy your goods so very dear?
When you can buy them there so cheap,
And the cars and steamboats stand ready to carry

Goods there of every make and kind,
To suit the most fastidious mind;
And every thing that can entice,
Is offered at the lowest price.

No Store within the Western States
Can offer Goods at lower rates:
Then, why not one trial give—
You'll not repent it while you live.

Be not by sophistry controlled,
And men who only want your gold;
When here you can meet the buyers,
Can be obtained at WITTENMYER'S. [jan10

The Tariff and the Times.

The operation of the tariff of 1846 has been lost sight of, and with most people has came to be considered a harmless thing at least, because we have not already been crushed and wholly ruined. But its operation is not less certainly disastrous, though hitherto not much felt; and the ruin predicted by its opponents is not less sure to come because it has been delayed. That it will be altered for the better, under the present Administration, is utterly hopeless; and the only safety for all who are exposed to its effect—for all our manufacturers and merchants—lies in a gradual curtailment of their business. Men may attribute the scarcity of money to railroads, the war, to what cause they will, but it lies mainly in the fact that our imports exceed our exports; and while this cause exists none other need be sought. A man may as well expect to grow rich on a salary of $800, while his expenses are $2,000, as that money will be plenty while we are continually called upon for specie to pay up the yearly balances against us.

By the official statement of Mr. Robert Walker, it appears that our exports for the year ending June, 1847, were $159,637,464, while our imports were only $138,534,480, leaving the very handsome balance of $12,092,984. Add to this the earnings of our ships for the same time, in carrying forward our productions, which, it may be assumed, were paid by the consumers of those productions, and the balance in our favor may have been $20,000,000. This exhibit shows a high state of prosperity for the time; and, had it not been for the fact that all this profit has been worse than wasted in the iniquitous war with Mexico, we should not have felt any want of money up to this day. But Mr. Walker states another fact, which is of great importance in this connexion. He says that our export of breadstuffs during that year exceeded the average of several preceding years in the sum of $17,332,282. This excess, as every one knows, was caused by the short crop of 1846 in Europe. Speaking commercially, it was an accident, and an accident of that sort which we may neither hope nor expect will happen again for years. But how should we have stood without it?

With the average or usual export of breadstuffs, our whole export for the year would have been about $109,000,000, against an import of $138,500,000—$29,500,000 against us. From this may be taken a reasonable sum for the earnings of our ships, and there would still have been a balance of about $24,000,000 to be paid for in specie. It is said of some men of good judgment that our heavy and profitable exportation gave stimulus to importation. The evidence of this is not by any means clear; it is altogether presumptive; but let as much be set down to that cause as any reasonable man can ask, and, without the aid of the accident referred to, the balance against us would have been sufficiently alarming to produce a panic that would have opened the eyes of the blindest to the operation of the "revenue tariff."

We have no official returns to show what has been done within the last nine months; but the mercantile barometer—the rate of exchange—indicate with sufficient certainty the tremendous alteration which has taken place in our relative position with Europe. For two or three months past there has been a constant return of specie; and bills on London are still at ten per cent., or two per cent. above par. Investments in railroad do not effect exchange on England. The Mexican war may carry every coined dollar out of the country, but it will not alter the rate of that exchange; that stands an indicator of the balance of trade, and when it stands against us for any considerable time, we may be certain, beyond question, that we are importing more than our own domestic productions are paying for. We need not wait for official returns to satisfy us of the fact—for so to wait is perilous—but we should act on the information by taking in sail and getting all snug for a storm. There has not been a time for years when prudence and caution were so necessary as now especially amongst our importers of foreign merchandise. If they are tempted by low prices at home. There is more than stock enough of foreign productions now in the country for the consumption of the next six months, and every addition to it will depreciate the value of the whole.

Probable Preventive of Scarlet Fever.—An eminent friend has translated for our columns the follwing extract from Grisolle's work on Internal Pathology:

The prevalence of Scarlet Fever in our city at this time, induces us to publish it. I hope all who have children liable to be attacked by Scarlatina, will employ the remedy. Our friend advises that three (3) grains of the Extract of Belladonna be dissolved in one (1) ounce of distilled water, and that one drop be given twice a day to an infant of a year old, and that the dose be increased one drop for each successive years in others.

"I find in the 2d vol. of the Bibliotheque de Therapuitique of M. Boyle, that of 2,027 persons in whom the prophylatic virtue of the medicine (Belladonne) was tried, there were 1,948 who escaped the epidemic. A number of foreign physicians, and especially Zeuch, Schenk, Berndt, Koehler and Dustuberg, have cited numerous cases, which exhibit the favorable action of this remedy. The latter physician proved the efficacy of Belladonne in three successive epidemics and to render his result more conclusive, he purposly omitted to give the preventive to one child in each family—his alone was attacked. Sometimes however, the diseases affected those who had taken the Belladonne during only four or five days but in them the affection was always mild. Some French Physicians also, have latterly demonstrated the happy effects of Belladonne. * * * * * * *

"From these facts, we should not hesitate, during an epidemic (of Scarlatina,) to administer the Belladonna; its employment can be attended with no inconvenience."—Ex. Paper.

Later from Mexico.

We copy the following from the New Orleans Delta of the 23d ult:

The steamship Globe arrived at an early hour this morning from Vera Cruz, having left there on the 17th inst.

The news by the Globe is not of importance, being but little later than that brought by the English steamer Dee, and published yesterday morning.

The following circular from the Supreme Government, to the authorities of the different Mexican States, in relation to the treaty of peace, is published:

Excellent Sir: On the second day of the present month a treaty of peace was concluded in the city of Guadalupe, between Mexico and the United States of America, subscribed by D. Bernardo Couto, D. Luis G. Cuevas, and D. Miguel Atristrain, commissioners on the part of the Supreme Government, and by Mr. Sr. D. N. Nicholas P. Trist, commissioner with plenary powers, on the part of the United States of North America.

In announcing officially to your Excellency the Provisional President an event of so much interest, I earnestly call the attention of your Excellency to the importance of an event which will, in all probability, put an end to the bloody war which has till now divided the two greatest republics in America, and which, for the misfortune of humanity, has been of so long duration.

Congress, as soon as it assembles, will approve or reject the treaty of peace, and the decision to which in its wisdom it may come, will be respected by the whole Republic. In presenting the treaty to the deliberation of Congress, his Excellency, the President, will give it publicity. He will at the same time give an exposition, with documents accompanying, in which he will, with the utmost frankness and clearness, place before the nation the true political condition in which it stood on the day when he determined to put an end to the conferences which preceded the conclusion of the treaty referred to. In this document the Republic will see how necessary are great sacrifices, which peace demands to save the honor of our country, the national unity, its independence, and the Federal Republican Government, under which that independence was achieved. In this document, also, it will been seen that peace, the preservation of a National Government, the consolidation of its institutions, and reforms of a high and progressive character, which civilization every day renders more necessary, will secure to Mexico sufficient means and resources to retrieve, in a short time, and with interest, the losses occasioned by a war, which could be prolonged only by consummating the ruin and devastation of the country.

But this same terminaton of the war might present a new pretext of discord.—This conciliation alone creates alarm in the minds of those who love their country, and who desire to see an end to the long series of revolutions and fraternal contests that weaken the strength of the nation at a moment when it is necessary to employ all its strength to repel an unjust and disastrous invasion. His Excellency, the Provisional President, has no alarm in contemplating the frightful future, and though profoundly moved by the fear that new dissensions may come to divide and tear the Republic, he trusts in Providence, through whose means, unforseen by humam wisdom, nations are saved, that the Mexican people will be inspired by the lessons which sad experience has taught them, and learn the necessity of union and concord. His Excellency hopes, also, that the principal functionaries of the Republic, who, like your Excellency, are at the head of the people, will see the importance and necessity of order, in present circumstances, rise superior to the petty and destructive views of partisans, and connect with that equanimity which true wisdom inspires, the unalterable decision of Congress.

His Excellency the president will redouble his efforts for the assembling of Congress at the earliest possible moment. In the meantime, counting upon the cooperation of the legislators and Governors of the States, he will employ all his power solely for the melioration of the condition of the people.

I have the honor to renew to your Excellency the assurance of my distinguished consideration. God and Liberty.

Queretaro, Feb. 6, 1848. ROSA.

To his Excellency the Governor of the State of——

Almost a Fatal Accident to Henry Clay.—The sage of Ashland came near meeting with a fatal accident on Thursday evening. Our readers are aware that he is a guest of Mayor Swift. After he retired to rest, on the evening alluded to, the servant who waits upon him, instead of stopping off the gas in the usual way, blew it out, and then left the room. Things remained in this state until near daylight, when the worty Mayor was awakened by an unsufferable smell of gas. He got up, dressed himself, and his first thought was to proceed to the room of Mr. Clay, to see if all was right there. He opened the door, and the room was so filled with gas, that it was with difficulty he rushed to the window, and raised it, so as to admit a current of fresh air. With terror, he glanced towards the bed, and the clothes which covered his distinguished guest moved slightly. The alarmed Mayor took courage, and exclaimed—

"Mr. Clay—Mr. Clay—are you alive?"

"Yes, my old friend, and never felt better in my life!"—Phil. Sun, Feb. 16th.

Great Wealth.—The Duke of Devonshire has an income of $1,850, 000.—Louis Philippe is said to be worth $150,000,000, Sir Robert Peel $90,000,000; and John Jacob Astor $30,000,000.

☞ A Washington Correspondent of the Boston Atlas has the following.

Mr. Clay is at Beltimore to-day, and probably is ready to exclaim, as did Blucher when at London, after the battle of Waterloo, he received visits from the citizens until his arm ached, "Me shakes' a' hands no more."

The British Forces.

We have been looking for several days for an article in the Union defining the purpose of the Administration relative to the protest which, as we were informed by papers received in the last steamer, Lord Palmerston has absurdly manifest the levying of military contributions by American Generals upon British residents in Mexico. The article has not yet appeared—probably because the Protest has not yet been officially brought before the Cabinet.

We hope, when it is under the consideration of the President and his advisers, that it will receive such a signal rebuke as will convince the Cabinet of St. James that it has not now to do with a people like the Chinese of China, or with an insurgent Pacha. British subjects in dominions, held by us, whether by conquest or otherwise, should be treated as are the subjects of other nations. If they enjoy the protection of our armies and laws, they will be expected to pay for that protection as do others. The Protest of Lord Palmerston, so far as its pretensions have transpired, would not be attended to, if the will of the American people is at all consulted.

On the occasion of the Oregon dispute there is no doubt that Mr. Polk permitted himself to be intimidated. He began by blustering and ended in cowardice. Like all weak men, he sought to conceal his trepidation by an appearance of resolution which was not much removed from empty braggadocia.

If he was frightened then, however, he need not be now. The last two years have developed such an enormous military power in the United States, that even Mr. Polk and his advisers must perceive that England, not this country, stands most in danger in the event of war.

An hundred thousand brave soldiers, by the shores of the Mexican lakes and rivers, would gladly use their bayonets on the banks of the St. Lawrence. They have beaten the Mexicans until the amusement is insipid—the pastime has tired, and they are hungry for the relish for success which compensated for the sacrifice of life. Lead our battalions to the North—let them measure swords with the veterans of England—with foemen worthy of their steel, and for every soldier slain in battle there will be ten volunteers ready to fill his place.

The national antipathy to England is always active, whether it may be, by the proximity of the Canadas. The Protest of Lord Palmerston, if insisted upon, or if couched in offensive language, would raise a spirit of animosity on this side of the Atlantic that would not be quieted until the last foothold of British power upon this continent was in our possession.—There can be no doubt of this. No feature in our national character is more prominent than that universal distrust and dislike of English interference or dictation, so frequently manifested in our halls of legislation, and in popular assemblages. The Protest of the British Minister, if urged, would convert this feeling into armies, and sweep away the line between the States and the Canadas.

The pretension upon which the Protest is founded, is clear and unjust. It assumes that we shall recognize rights in the subjects of Great Britain which we do not grant to our own people. Even were this not the case, it is impossible to offer a good reason for not treating an English resident in Mexico precisely as we treat other citizens of territories which the events of war place under our authority.

The argument is to show that the English, French or German resident, in Mexico, is as subject to our general laws, while we are in the occupation of the country, as the Mexican citizen, has been often urged—and indeed will suggest itself to the least reflecting.

The right of government includes the right to levy taxes, for the support of that government, upon those who are protected by its authority. Foreign residents in Mexico are protected by our Government—it is not just and proper that they should be called upon to bear their proportion of the expense?

No Foreign Government, with the exception of Lord Palmerston, has had the presumption to ask that in the case of its citizens this just principle should be departed from.—Pittsburgh Commercial Journal

A Story of Leap Year.

The St. Louis Reveille is responsible for the following. It is a narrative of what actually occurred, and for the entire truth of which Solitaire pledges his "word and honor."

Sam Smith sat at home, on New Year's day, in dishabille. His beard was unshaved, his hair was uncombed, his boots were unblacked, and he was leaning back in a picturesque attitude, with his heels against the mantlepiece, smoking a cigar. Sam thought to himself that it was leap year, and how glorious it would be if the ladies could be induced to pop the question—and how glorious it would be if they could not. As he sat watching the smoke-wreaths, gracefully curled, his fancy glowed with the idea. How delightful it would be to have the dear creatures fondling on him, and with tender glances endeavoring to be agreeable! As he meditated his heart softened, and he began to feel a squeamish, womanish sensibility diffuse itself over his feelings, and thought he would fare with propriety the first time a young lady should squeeze his hand.

"Rap, rap, rap," sounded at the door. Sam peeped through the Venetian blinds. "Mercy," exclaimed he, "if here isn't Miss Jones, and I am all in dishabille, and looking like a fright—goodness gracious! I must go, right away, and fix myself."

As he left the room Miss Jones entered, and with a composure that intimated that she would wait. Miss Susan Jones was a firm believer in woman's rights, and now that the season was propitious, she determined to take advantage thereof, and do a little courting on her own book. It was one of woman's privileges; which had been usurped by the tyrant, man, and she was determined to assert her rights, in spite of the hollow formalities of a false system of society.

Meanwhile, with a palpitating heart, Sam Smith went through a series of personal adornments. The last twist was given to his collar, the last curl was given to his whiskers, and, with white handkerchief in hand, he descended to the parlor. Miss Jones rushed to meet him, and, grasping his hand with fervor, said:—"Dearest, how beautiful you look," accompanying her words with a glance of undisguised admiration.

"Spare the blushes of a modest young man," said Sam, applying his cambric to hide his confusion.

"Nay, my love, why so coy?" said Susan; "turn not away those lovely eyes, darker than jet, but sparkling as the diamond. Listen to the vows of fond affection. Here let us rest," said she, drawing him to a sofa; "here, with my arm around thee, will I protest my true affection."

"Leave me, oh, leave me," murmured Sam; "think of my youth, my inexperience—spare, oh spare, my palpitating heart."

"Leave thee," said Susan, pressing him closer to her; "never, until the story of restless nights, of unquiet days, of aspiration, fond emotions, and undying love, is laid before thee. Know that for years I have nursed for thee a secret passion. Need I tell how each manly beauty moved me; how I surreptitiously stole a sun flower in the lurid light of those scarlet tresses; how my fond heart was entrapped in the meshes of those magnificent whiskers; how I was willing to yield up to the government of that imperial; lofty manner, so modest, so delicate, enchanted me—joy to me—for thy joy was my joy. My heart is thine—take it—take it—but first let me snatch one kiss from those ruby lips."

The over-wrought feelings of the delicate youth were too strong, and he fainted with excess of joy. Meanwhile the enamored maiden hung fondly over him, and—

Slowly the eyes of Samuel Smith opened—he gazed wildly round him—then remembering the ardent gaze of his "lover," he blushed deeply, and behind his handkerchief faintly faltered out—"Ask my Pa."

The American Wild Horse.—The following description of what may be designated as the American Arab Horse, will give some idea of the endurance and the speed of the Western Mustang.

Camanche Horse.—A writer in the New York Dispatch, who professes to speak from experience, says:

"It takes a prairie horse a long time to appreciate the merits of grain—they snuff their noses at it in disdain, at first, and wonder what you mean by offering them white pebles to eat. Having never been introduced to it in the whole course of their lives, and being accustomed to regard the prairie grass as sufficient for all sublunary wants, their teeth are necessarily astonished at such a flinty pabulum.

I have often laughed heartily to observe the awkward attempts of my horse to get at the merits of an ear of corn. He invariably gave it up in dispair until I shelled it for him.—The wonder is that they will endure more hard riding, on the simple food they pick first sprout you chance to halt at, than your corn-fed American horses. But for this act it would be impossible to traverse these great plains. The Indian gets an amount of service out of the horse that is almost incredible: and the idea of raising grain for him never entered his cranium. He will run a horse eighty miles a day and turn the animal to shift for himself until morning—then fined him fresh as a lark and ready for the same or greater work again. He will keep him going at this rate for three months; and then turn him free to renovate, and the end of three weeks, has to lasso him and break him over again.

These mustangs are a magnificent race of animals; their descent is from the highest royal lineage of Barbary; and it is ridiculous for us to be making such wonder ment over the Arab and his steed, and endeavoring to bribe the ragged, riders at enormous prices to part with his better half—that we may transport it across wide seas to improve our stock at home. We have the very same animal—equal in every possible sense—wandering in hedrs of coundless thousands over our own plains.

Pat and the Oysters.—Pat who had just been transplanted, had been sent by his master to purchase half a bushel of oysters, to the quay; but was absent so long that apprehensions were entertainded for his safety. He returned at last, however, puffing under his load in the most musical style.

"Where have the devil have you been?" exclaimed his master.

"Where have I been? why where should I be but to fetch the oysters?"

"And what in the name of St. Patrick kept you so long?"

"Long! by my sowl, I think I have been pretty quick, considering all things."

"Considering what things?"

"Considering what things? why considering the getting of the fish, to be sure."

"Gutting what fish?"

"What fish! why, bluddan owns, the oysters, to be sure!"

"What do you mean?"

"What do I mean? why I mean that as I was resting myself down forenent the Pickled Herring, and having a dhrop to comfort me, a jintleman axed me what I'd got in my sack. 'Oysters,' said I. 'Let's look at 'em,' says he; and he opens the bag. 'Och—thunder and praties,' says he, 'who sowld you these?' 'It was Mick Carney,' says I, 'aboard the Powl Doodle smack.'—'Mick Carney, the thief o' the world! what a blackguard he must be to give them to you without gutting.' Aint they gutted?' says I. 'Divil a one o' them, says he.—'Musha, then,' says I, 'what'll I do?' 'Do,' says he. 'I'd sooner do it myself than have you abused,' and so he takes 'em in doors, and guts them nate and clane, as you'll see," opening at the same time his bag of oyster shells that were as empty as the head that bore them to the house.

A droll fellow was asked by an old lady to read the newspaper; and taking it up, began as follows:

"Last night yesterday morning, about two o'clock in the afternoon before breakfast, a hungry boy about forty years old, bought half a mustard for a levy, and threw it through a brick wall nine feet thick, and jumping over it broke his uncle right off above the knee, fell into a dry mill pond and was drowned. About forty years after that on the same day, an old cat had nine turkey goblers, a high wind blew Yankee Doodle on a frying pan, and knocked the old Dutch churn down and killed an old sow and two dead pigs at Bosting, where a deaf and dumb man was talking French to his aunt Peter."

The old lady, taking a long breath, exclaimed "Du tell!"

Titles.—Some years ago there was a young English nobleman figuring away at Washington. He had not much brains, but a vast number of titles, which, notwithstanding our pretended dislike for them, have on some the effect of tickling the ear amazingly. Several ladies were in debate, going over the list the Lord Viscount so and so, Baron of such a county, &c.

"My fair friends," exclaimed the gallant Lieut. N——, "one of his titles you appear to have forgotton."

"Ah!" exclaimed they eagerly; "what is that?"

"He is Barren of Intellect" was the reply.

"What part of speech is egg?" 'Noun sir!' "What is its gender—masculine, feminine, or neuter?" 'Can't tell sir, till it is hatched.' 'What is its case?' 'The shell' sir.'

From the Dublin Magazine.

The Eloquence of the Camp—Napoleon Bonapart.

"To re establish the capitol, and re-erect the statutes of the heroes; to awake the Roman people sunk under the torpor of ages of bondage;—behold who remains to be done! After accomplishing this, you will return to your hearths; and your fellow-citizens, when they behold you pass them, will point at you and say—He was a soldier of the army of Italy!

Such a language was never before addressed to a French army. It excited the soldiers even to delirium; they would have followed him to the ends of the earth!—Nor was such an event foreign to his thoughts. The army no longer obeyed—it was devoted; it was lead by a mortal commander—it followed a demigod.

When he sailed from the shores of France on the celebrated expedition to Egypt, the destination of the fleet was confided to none but himself. Its course was directed first to Malta, which, as is well known, submitted without resistance. When lying off its harbor, Bonaparte thus addressed the splendid army which floated around him:—

'Soldiers! You are a wing of the army of England; you have made war on mountain and plain, and have made sieges. It still remains for you to make a maritime war. The legions of Rome, which you have sometimes imitated, but not yet equa led, warred with Carthage alternately on the sea and on the plains of Zama. Victory never abandoned them because theh were brave in combat, patient under fatigue, obedient to ther commanders, and firm against their foes. But, soldiers! Europe has its eyes on you; you have great destinies to fulfil, battles to wage, and fatigues to suffer.'

When the men from the mast tops discovered the towers of Alexandria, Bonaparte first announced to them the destination of the expedition:—

'Frenchmen! You are going to attempt a conquest, the effects of which on the civilization and commerce of the world are incalculable. Behold the first city we are about to attack. It was built by Alexander.'

As he advanced through Egypt he soon perceived that he was among a people who were fanatical, ignorant, and vindictive, who distrusted the Christans, but who still more proudly detested the insults, exactions, pride and tyranny of the Mamelukes. To their prejudices and confirm their hatred, he addressed them in a proclamation conceived in their own Oriential style:—

'Cadis, Sheiks, Imans, Charbadgys, they will say to you that I have come to destroy your religion! Believe them not. Tell them that I come to restore your rights, and to punish your usurpers, and that I, much more than the Mamelukes, respect God, his prophet and the Koran!

'Tell it to the people that all men are equal before God. Say that wisdom, talents, and virtue, alone constitute the difference between man and man.

'Is there on your land a fine farm?—it belongs to the Mamelukes. Is there anywhere a beautiful slave, a fine horse, a splendid house? they all belong to the Mamelukes. If Egypt be really their farm, let them show what grant God has given them of it. But God is just and merciful towards his people. All Egyptians have equal rights; let the most wise, the most enlightened, and the most virtuous rule, and the people will be happy.

'There were in former days among you great cities, great canals, and vast trade.—What has destroyed all these, if it be not the cupidity the injustice, and the tyrany of the Mamelukes?

'Cadis, Sheiks, Imans, Charbadgys, tell it to the people that we also are true Musulmans. Was it not we that subdued the pope, who exhorted nations to war on the Musulmans? Are we not also friends of the Grand Signor?

'Thrice happy those who shall be on our side!—happy those who shall be neuter; they will have time to be acquainted with us, and join with us.

'But woe to those who shall take arms for the Mamelukes, and who shall combat against us! For them there will be no hope! They shall perish.

After quelling the revolt a Cairo, he availed himself of the terror and superstition of the Egyptians, to present himself to them as a superior being, as a messenger of God, and the inevitable instrument of Fate:

'Sheiks, Ulemas, worshippers of Mahomet, tell the people that those who have been my enemies shall have no refuge in this world or in the next! Is the a man among them so blind as not to see! Fate itself is directing my movements?

'Tell the people that since the world was a world, it has been written, that after having destroyed the enemies of Islamism—after having beaten down their crosses, I should come from the depths of the west, to fulfil the task which has been committed to me. Show the people that in the holy volume of the Korran, in more than twenty places what happens has been foretold, and what will happen is likewise written.

'I can call each of you to account for the most hidden thought of your heart, for I know all, even the things you have not whispered to another. But a day will come when all the world will plainly see that I am conducted by orders from above, and that no efforts can prevel against me!'

Where Charlatanism was the weapon most effective, he there scrupled not to wield it for the attainment of his ends.

After the 18th Brumaire, surrounded by his brilliant staff, he apostrophized the Directory with the haughty tone of a master who demanded an account of his servants, and as though he were already absolute sovereign of France:—

'What have you done with that France which I left you surrounded with such splendor? I left you peace—I return and find war. I left you the millions of Italy—I return and find spoliation and misery!—What have you done with the hundred thousand brave French, my companions in arms, in glory, and in toil? They are dead!'

Gen. Taylor in Virginia.—We learn, says the Louisville Courier, of Saturday, that the Whig members of the Virginia Legislature have nominated Gen. Taylor for the Presidency, by a vote of 87 to 18.

New Goods.

WE are now receiving our SPRING STOCK of Dry Goods, and by the 10th of March, will have it full and complete.

Our goods have been purchased with CASH from the Agents, Importers and Manufacturers of Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, which has not only given us the advantage of a selection from the best markets and best houses, but owing to the pressure in money matters, has enabled us to purchase at the very lowest figures, and on much more advantageous terms than those who buy on tiny.

Country Merchants will find it to their interest to examine our stock before making their purchases elsewhere, either in this market, Cincinnati or Louisville, as we will not be above the market, and intend keeping our stock full and complete throughout the season.

In addition to our stock of Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, Notions, &c., we shall have a very desirable stock of READY-MADE CLOTHING, Hats, Carpeting, &c., which will be sold very low.

We have given special attention to the retail department of our house, and invite the public generally, and the ladies in particular, to give us a call.

TRI-WEEKLY HERALD.

J. SPRIGG CHAMBERS, EDITOR.

Maysville, March 6, 1848

FOR GOVERNOR,
Hon. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
Hon. JOHN L. HELM.

☞ We are indebted to Messrs. Crittenden and Underwood, of the Senate, and Gaines and Morehead, of the House of Representatives, for valuable public documents, Congressional speeches, &c.

☞ We have received another letter from our correspondent L. M. C., dated January 26th, containing an interesting and graphic description of the great Cathedral of Puebla.

It is too long for insertion in to-day's paper, but shall appear in our next.

☞ The Lexington Observer and Reporter makes an earnest appeal to the citizens of Lexington, and the farmers of the adjacent country, to come forward and subscribe the amount necessary to construct a railroad to Frankfort. Amongst other reasons offered are the decreasing population of Lexington, and the depreciation of its property.

It is a too common error in Kentucky towns, to look upon investments of this kind as throwing away money; when in fact a judicious employment of it in works of this description generally adds its full amount to the value of the property near it, leaving the dividends on the stock and the increased activity of business capital as clear profit.

NEW LOAN.—The Administration has advertised, in the Eastern Cities, for a loan of $5,000,000, based upon a re-issue of Treasury Notes to that amount.

☞ It is understood that the clause in the treaty negotiated by Mr. Trist, which Mr. Polk most seriously objects to, is the one requiring the United States to recognize and confirm the empressario or colonizing grants made by Mexico within the boundary of Texas prior to the 3d of March, 1836—and even in cases where occupation was made a condition of the grant, that time shall be allowed for the fulfilment of this stipulation in the agreement.

☞ Dr. Clark has recovered the trunk, with its valuable contents, which was stolen from the boot of the Lexington stage coach a few nights since, near the Blue Licks.

Three negroes engaged in the theft, have been arrested, and lodged in the Paris jail.

☞ Joseph Jewell, who kept a public house in Boston, recently committed a brutal outrage on the person of a young Irish girl in his employ. He was arrested.

The punishment for the offence under the revised statutes, is death.

IN A FIX.—It is evident, from the tone of the democratic press, no less than from corresponding movements of the leaders in the Senate, that Mr. Polk and his peculiar friends entertain an ill-concealed aversion to Mr. Trist's Treaty.

It does not secure enough to the United States to suit them; it will not do, however, openly to denounce it, as they would fain have the honor of an advantageous Treaty, no less than the credit of greatly "extending the area of freedom."

CAMPAIGN OPENED.—John L. Helm, the Whig candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky, addressed the citizens of Louisville on last Friday night. His speech gave general satisfaction.

☞ TELEGRAPH STATION AT RIPLEY.—On Friday evening last, over $3,000. had been subscribed by the business men of Ripley, towards making that enterprising little city a point in the New Orleans and Ohio Telegraph Line. $5,000 is the amount required. We learn these facts from the "Bee" of Saturday.

☞ The steamer Gov. Breathitt is running as a regular packet between Ripley and Cincinnati.

☞ Our friend of the Eagle discourses in a style of unwonted eloquence, in his last paper of the merits of Mr. Clay, as a patriot and statesman, and we are happy to concur with him in his very high appreciations of the services of the "great commoner." The article seems intended, in part, as a disclaimer of any wish or intention to provoke controversy, and we like its spirit much.

☞ Col. Alexander K. McLung and Gen. Wm. R. Miles, were nominated for electors for the State at large, at the Taylor Convention held in Jackson, Mississippi, on the 22d ult.

☞ We learn, verbally, from a gentleman who came passenger in the Lexington stage yesterday morning, that a telegraphic despatch received from Louisville at 4 o'clock the preceding evening, announced the ratification of the Treaty with Mexico, by the United States Senate, only 7 Senators voting against it.

It is generally believed that the Treaty was amended by the Senate before its passage, which will, of course, render its ratification by the Mexican authorities somewhat a matter of doubt.

MR. POLK A CANDIDATE!—Potomac writes from Washington to the Baltimore Patriot, on the 26th ult., then

Mr. Polk, I am informed by a Locofoco member of Congress, is a candidate for reelection in right down good earnest, and is vain enough, like John Tyler, to absolutely believe he can succeed!

To a gentleman, who was urging him to it, a short time since, he replied, as my informant says, that it was true, what had been done could, he supposed, be done again! "I did beat Mr. Clay." was his sage commentary, with a shrug of the left shoulder! He further said, as I am informed, that the Democratic party started out for Oregon and Texas only. But, said he, we have not only got them both, but you now see we have California!

Another Locofoco member of Congress thus delivered himself: "Well, sirs, we are to be beaten, and who so fit for our candidate, to be beaten with, as James K. Polk? I am for running him!"

You will recollect, that from the day of his inauguration, I have ever asserted, that Mr. Polk was making everything bend to the accomplishment of a single end, to-wit; his re-election. So, what is now transpiring in the matter, is not all new.

DONIPHAN'S EXPEDITION.—We have also received from W. S. Brown & Co. a copy of this very interesting narrative with a beautiful engraved likeness of Col. Doniphan and one of Col. Price.

We have had occasion to speak of this work before, and have only now to reiterate our opinion of its merits, as a deeply interesting account of the most remarkable march of ancient or modern times. The likeness of Col. Doniphan which is very accurate, is worth to his friends in Bracken and Mason the full price of the volume.

The book is well bound, and contains a valuable map.

NEW BOOK.—California—Its history population, climate soil, productions, and harbors, from Sir Geo. Simpson's Overland Journey around the World; also an account of the Revolution and conquest of California in 1846-7 by J. T. Hughes author of Doniphan's expedition.

The foregoing is the title of new work laid on our table by W. S. Brown & Co. The deep interest felt by the people in the character of the country which is the subject of this work—shortly no doubt to be annexed to the United States—will ensure a ready and extensive sale. It is well written, contains a great deal of useful and interesting information and is with all cheap.—It is for sale at the Market st Book Store of W. S. Brown & Co.

GENERAL TAYLOR AND HIS STAFF.—This beautiful volume, comprising memoirs of distinguished officers of the American Army in Mexico, including Gen. Wm. O. Butler, Cols. Clay, Hardin, &c., has been laid on our table by H. H. Cox & Co.

It is full of thrilling interest to Kentuckians, and ought to be in the library of every gentleman, who would impress his children with the spirit of devotion to the service of their country, so beautifully illustrated in the lives, and unfortunately in the deaths, of some of these gallant men. The work is very handsomely bound, which, add to the attractiveness of its contents, will doubtless commend it to the attention of buyers. It is for sale at H. H. Cox's, Front street.

The New York Tribune says:—"We understand from a gentleman who has just returned from an extensive tour through the Southern and Western States, that the country merchants have fully two-thirds of all the goods which they purchased last Fall still on hand. This is a serious fact and ought to be well understood by our jobbing merchants."

We can assure the Editor of the Tribune that if Kentucky is included in either of the above designations (Southern or Western) that his informant is grossly mistaken in regard to Northern Kentucky, at least.

☞ The Steamship United States, built at New York, in a recent trial of speed with the Cunard steamer Hibernia, beat the latter one mile in running seven.

Glass milk pans are coming more and more into use in Europe. Their advantages on the score of cleanliness must be obvious. It were to be wished that societies or institutes would appoint a standing committee, and put aside a small portion of their ample funds for the instant importation of sample articles invented abroad, connected with agricultural and rural economy.—True it is, that, in general, this may be left to the vigilance and rivalry of tradesmen and manufacturers; but many years may elapse before we get the benefit of many things which might at once be profitably introduced. The same reason and policy that prompt the offer of premiums for useful things of home invention, would warrant the introduction of things which have been recently invented and patronised by agricultural societies abroad; satisfied that glass milk pans (on which the manufacturer should indicate the capacity of the vessel) would be a valuable acquisition to our dairy women, we respectfully suggest the importation of a dozen, and the offer of a premium to the glass manufacturer who shall first produce them in this country at a cost that will justify their being brought into general use.

It has been seen in a very interesting and valuable "Essay on the Management of Holstein Dairies," published in the Farmers' Library, that there the dairy women are allowed one dollar a year for "pan money," and charged for all they break; yet they always "make by the operation." Let us have glass milk pans.—Farmers' Library.

The treaty in the Senate—A Majority of Senators in favor of its Ratification—Modifications recommended by the President—Will the Modifications suit the British Minister?—The conduct of Mr. Trist—A deep Party Game, &c.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28, 1848.

I will confidence what I have to say.—The Treaty, which at first encountered a formidable opposition of 21 Democratic Senators, is gaining strength. The day before yesterday I counted but 16 Senators opposing it, and now I positively state that but five or six will oppose the Treaty in toto. Calhoun, Yulee, Butler and Hunter will go for it. Three Whigs are still holding out, but that is not sufficient to defeat it.

Though it is a horrible example to be set to those who come after us, to allow an unauthorized agent of the Government to make a treaty with a foreign power, still the work is partially done in accordance with the views of the Department of State expressed on a previous occasion in April last. Since then Mr. Trist has been called home, and since then ordered to leave everything he had there commenced undone, and to return without further negotiations.

The treaty has, as I informed you, objectionable clauses, protecting certain British interests in Texas and California.—THESE CLAUSES THE PRESIDENT HAS RECOMMENDED TO BE MODIFIED, and and accordingly they will be modified. The President's expose on the subject is an able and masterly production.

A Modified treaty, therefore, we should have, and that without much discussion I think. The main features of the treaty will be accepted, but the stipulations which seem to be intended to put money into some people's pockets, will be stricken out or modified. Query? Will the treaty so modified suit Mr. Mackintosh? And has not the man who brought it about the power to break it?

The President may, considering all circumstances, have acted wisely in sending the treaty in; so as to unite the country if we should be compelled to prosecute the war; but the shortest way would have been, to have Mr. Trist brought home in irons, and to send responsible men to Mexico to make a treaty with responsible men there, independent of a foreign stock-brokers. The peace, party at home might then have put up Mr. Tristas the Treaty candidate for the Presidency, and made the most of him.—Mr. Trist's acts, in my opinion, should not have been legalized in any form.

There seems to be a deep party game in all these transaction, which will be developed in a very few weeks. I trust, in the meantime, that our brave troops in Mexico will not have to pay the stakes. X.

The Sun is a Democratic paper.

THE MANILLA HEMP CROP.—An extract from a letter, with which we were favored last week, by one of our first commercial houses, relative to damage done to the crop in Manilla, by heavy gales, has called forth some queries from a subscriber to the Journal of Commerce, as to the culture of Manilla Hemp, which the editors of that paper thus answer:

"Manilla is the only port in the Philippines with which foreigners are permitted to have intercourse. To this place the natives bring the hemp in their small craft, where it is bought by our traders. As nearly as we can learn, the article now teamed "Manilla hemp," but heretofore, very frequently, "plantain bark," and Manilla grass," is made from the leaves of a plantavery much resembling Indian corn, growing usually to the height of about fifteen feet. The leaves spring from the ground at the base of the plant, hug the stalk, and from a certain point upward, leave it and fall over outward, precisely similar to the corn plant. They are from half an inch to one and a half in thickness, of a pulpy consistency, and completely filled with thready fibers. These leaves are cut from the stalk the proper time, and when wilted, by taking hold of one end, the entire pulpy matter can be shaken out or scraped off, and the fibres hung up to dry.—The plant is native of the soil, and grows wild throughout the entire islands; but it is understood that of late it has began to be cultivated, and that there are several considerable plantations.

McCullough and others are in error when they state that Manilla hemp is manufactured from the fibrous bark or epidermis of the branch.

The species of hemp called "Sisal hemp" is procured from the plant called here the "century plant," but in South America the "aloe." Here the plant blooms pretty much as it chooses; but, in its native soil, every year.

How far the above letter may be relied on, we have no means of knowing. The information has not reached us through any other channel.

WHIPPING FOR AMUSEMENT.—A large number of drayman, chiefly blacks, being assembled yesterday afternoon on Main street, near Fourth, and, for the lack of better employment, took a bout at amateur whipping.

Two fellows bantered each other to stand the whipping of each other upon the wager that he who took it the longest without flinching should be deemed the best fellow.

Taking their station in the middle of the street, they gave other about one hundred lashes, "well laid on," as the law term has it.

They whipped each other till neither was able to give the other a crack, and then "gave it up so, Mr. Brown."—Lou. Dem.

"Methinks," said Miss Smix, "I should not much fancy to marry a man who smoked segars. Still I look with leniency upon single men who indulge thus; because, poor fellows they think that's comfort. If I were in a marrying mood (and I hope never will be) I should ask my admirer, would he smoke against my wishes after marriage? Of course he would say, 'I will not!' If I were younger than I am now, I expect I would answer— with the Wil-not proviso!"

[Correspondence of the New York Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, FEB. 26, 1848.

The city has been in mourning all day. The Capitol is covered in mourning, the Hotels and public buildings are also in mourning with flags flying at half-mast.—The stores are generally closed with black hanging in folds from the walls along the whole Avenue.

The crowds who called to see Mr. ADAMS yesterday and to-day were immense.—Through glass in the coffin the features of the venerable Statesman were gazed upon for the last time by thousands. Many colored men came to see him in his coffin who went away weeping. They begged earnestly for a last sight of him. The coffin was ornamented with flowers, which had a pleasing effect. His features looked remarkably well, even in death, I thought. There was a large red spot on his forehead where he had been cupped.

To-day about 1 o'clock the services commenced. The President sat on the right and the Vice President on the left of the Speaker. The Supreme Court, the full Cabinet, the Members of both Houses, Foreign Ministers, Military and Naval officers, &c., were present. The drapery, the pictures, the ornaments of the House were all in mourning, as was Mr. ADAMS's seat, which was vacant. Mrs. MADISON, Mrs. HAMILTON, MRS. POLK, MRS. BODISCO, &c. were in the ladies galleries, which were exclusively for the ladies. An eloquent sermon was preached from Job: 11th chapter, 17th verse, by Rev. Mr. GURLEY, after which a procession was formed, sweeping round the public grounds west of the Capitol.

The following inscription, the composition of Mr. PALFREY, I believe, was on the breast-plate on the lid of the coffin, in the lines as I give them.

(Eagle with scroll.)
"JOHN QUINCY ADAMS,
Born
An inhabitant of Massachusetts, July 11, 1767
Died
A Citizen of the United States
In the Capitol at Washington,
Feb. 23, 1848,
Having served his country
for half a century, and enjoyed its highest Honors."

LOVE AND LAW.—One of our dignified Justices' Courts was the scene, a day two since, of an amusing farce, which might well be denominated "Love and Law." It seems that a young gent had been paying his distraxee to a fair specimen of womanhood, and thought it would be doing the genteel to wear his watch. Accordingly its hands "were found daily" groping their way in that "receptacle of all things dear," but as some one has remarked, that woman was "fickle coy and hard to please," so it proved in this instance, for love No. 1 was discarded for love No. 2, the female still retaining possession of the watch, probably as a memento of her blighted affections!—Some time after it was "spotted" for seven dollars in money, and lover No. 1 learning its whereabouts, demanded his property; but it was refused unless the sum for which it was pledged was forthcoming. The result was, the law called into settle the matter.

On the part of the plaintiff there was an array of legal talent seldom brought to bear in the halls of Justice, and the case was presented with all the dignity and ceremony of conscious superiority and power. In the course of the proceeding it was found necessary to prove the value of the watch, and it was passed round among the bystanders for the purpose of being examined—The Justice finally handed it to the lover No. 1, who claimed the property, to decide whether it was the article in question.—He decided that it was and immediately pocketed it, and made for the door, his attorney instantly withdrawing the suit! And then what an excitement arose. The scene was worthy the pencil of the painter! The defendant and his lawyer, with forcible arguments, declared he couldn't leave with the watch: and the Justice declared he couldn't; but possession was more than half—it was all, in this case—and as the officious, who called in the possessor made good his escape, retaining the watch, and probably conning his mind the truth of the maxim, that

"He who his watch would wear, two things must do,

CURE FOR FOUNDERED HORSES.—As soon as you find your horse is foundered, bleed him in the neck in proportion to the greatness of the founder. Inextreme cases you may bleed him as long as he can stand up. Then draw his head up, as is common in drenching, and with a spoon put back on his tongue, strong salt until you get him to swallow one pint. Be careful not to let him drink too much. Then anoint round the edges of his hoofs with spirits of turpentine, and your horse will be well in one hour.

A founder pervades every part of the system of a horse. The fleam arrests it from the blood, the salt arrests it from the stomach and bowels, and the spirits of turpentine arrests it from the feet and limbs.

I once rode a hired horse ninety-nine miles in two days, returning him at night the second day; and his owner would not have known that he had been foundered if I had not told him, and his founder was one of the deepest kind.

I once, in travel of seven hundred miles, foundered my horse three times, and I do not think my journey was retarded more than one day by the misfortune, having in all cases observed and practised the above prescription. I have known a foundered horse turned out at night on green feed; in the morning he would be well, having been purged by the green feed. All founders must be attended to immediately.—S. W. Farmer.

A STRENGTHENER.—Why do you set your cup of coffee upon the chair, Mr. Jones?" said our worthy landlady this morning, at breakfast. "It is so very weak ma'am," replied Mr. Jones, demurely. "I thought I would let it rest."

DEATH OF MISS HERSCHELL.—Miss Frederick Herschell, sister of the great astronomer, has died suddenly at Hanover, aged 98. This lady had acted for many years as secretary to her brother, and possessed great astronomical knowledge. She published several important works, and to her is due a selenic globe relief, long celebrated, and which is now at Greenwich. The deceased was engaged in astronomical observations the night before her death.

IMPORTANT.—The great Chinese Junk has left this country for London. She is supposed to have on board the C. B. T. H. of the F. W. of the Society of 1001's.—Rip. Bee. The above needs confirmation.

DR. SMITH'S GREAT NATIONAL PILLS.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's

Improved Indian Vegetable [Sugar Coated] Pill

ARE the medicine of the United States, and their superiority over all others for entire efficacy and pleasantness has won for them a pre-eminence of fame which needs no foreign influence to perpetuate. Almost unheralded they have silently worked their way, and have gained a permanent hold on the approbation of the people which no other medicine or opposition can relax For about four years they have triumphed over disease; and brought joy and gladness into many an anxious bosom. Their purity, as a medical compound, commends them to the most delicate, and even the more hardy, who have suffered from the effects of impure properties in the stomach, will at once be pleased with the delightful operation of these Pills. They have the rare merit of the most carefully selected ingredients, are always safe, and there can be no danger of taking them improperly or at wrong time. A single trial will manifest their excellence in relieving the body of many precursors of alarming diseases, keeping the bowels gently open, thereby ensuring the continuance of health. The most eminent chemist in New York has given his certificate that these Pills are purely vegetable, or Nature's own remedy.

The great principle recognized by the inventor of this invaluable medicine is, that every part of the body, whether in health or disease, is brought under the influence of the digestive organs. This plain and rational doctrine forms the only ground on which a good and family medicine can be recommended. Operating according to this principle, Dr. S's Pills strengthen the stomach, promote the secretions of the liver, skin and kidneys, and regulate the bowels, thereby adopting the only natural and consistent method of restoring the life blood pure, by correcting the vitiated humors of the whole system. It is impossible to give every particular in this brief notice, but these Pills are earnestly recommended as a means of preventing so much misery and disease, which grow out of constipation of the bowels, neglected colds, slight attacks, &c., and which it is in the power of all to prevent. These pills do not palliate but they cure most all the diseases of the Western Country, and in all bilious disorders, they stand alone, unparalleled—the sick man's friend. Among the complaints for which these pills are highly recommended, are the following, viz:

Fevers, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Costiveness, Headache, Bad Appetite, Diarrhea, Dysentary, Liver Complaint; Diarrhea Bilious Chole, Foul Stomach, Jaundice, Pain in the Breast, Scrofula, Bad Blood, Obstructions, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Whooping Coughs, Weak Nerves, Hysterics, Coughs Colds, Influenza, Pimples, Low Spirits, Blues, &c.

By following the simple directions which accompany every box of genuine pills, a permanent cure will be effected. Most of the hospitals in New York have given these pills the preference over more than 20 kinds that have been tested, and several eminent physicians in New York and elsewhere use them in their practice.

Beware of Imposition!

The demand for Dr. Smith's Pills being every where great, several unprincipled persons have made Pills of the most miserable and dangerous stuff, and palm them off for genuine, or have put on a "coating of sugar." Therereforе, beware, and always look for the written signature of G. Benj. Smith, on the bottom of every box, to counterfeit which is forgery!

More than 1000 certificates have been received at the principal office, and the people are referred to Smith's Herald & Gazette, where they can read of the most important cures. We give, for want of room, but a few

Testimonials.

Dr. Smith's Pills are purely vegetable, operate well, and produce a good result. L. LEE.
Editor of the True Wesleyan.

My wife has taken Moffat's, Morrison's, and many others, but she has received more benefit from Dr. Smith's Pills than all others. She believes they may be used by females with perfect safety, without their giving their employment or diet, and at any season. JOHN KELLETT, 127 Myrtle Avenue. Brooklyn.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Pills have entirely cured me of dizziness in my head, and general weakness of my system. My family use them with the best results. I would not be without them.

F. H. NASH, 99 Forsyth-st.

Dr. Smith's Pills are free from the objections to which other Pills are liable, and are the best medicine that I have yet seen. J. GREENE.

Voice of the Free.

At the request of Dr. G. Benjamin Smith's agent we cheerfully state that we visited the office of Dr. Smith in September last, while in New York, and found him carrying on a very extensive business with the Indian Vegetable Pills. The extent of his establishment would astonish any one not initiated in the Mysteries of the Pill trade.—Louisville Journal.

Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Sugar Coated Pills are all the rage in Boston now. Children cry for them.

Boston Post.

Very much so in Rochester. The dear little "responsibilities" won't believe they are medicine, no how.—Rochester Daily Advertiser.

They sell well at Carbondale—and so they ought to. Purchase them of Sweet & Enaign, or of Dr. A. P. Gardner, who are the authorized agents for the sale of Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Sugar Coated Pills. Give them a trial and they must stand as high in your estimation as they now do in ours.—Carbondale (Pa.) Reporter.

Voice from Kentucky.

I have been afflicted with dyspepsia in the most aggravated form for three years past, and I found no relief until I tried Dr. G. Benj. Smith's Improved Indian Vegetable Pills. After using sixes boxes of said valuable pills. I am entirely cured. They are a general remedy. J. K. LEEMAN.

THOMAS A. RESPASS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW—will practice his profession in the Courts of this County, and of the City of Maysville. His office is the same occupied by A. C. Respass, Esq., Front street, below the Lee House. aug 6, '47.

Pospectus of the Maysville Herald, TRI-WEEKLY AND WEEKLY.

THE undersigned proposes to publish a Tri-Weekly and Weekly paper in the city of Maysville, to be called "THE MAYSVILLE HERALD," which will be devoted, in its political department, to the advocacy of the great principles of National Policy professed by the Whig party.

Relying mainly for support, upon a Commercial and Trading City, the Editor will seek to bring prominently into view, the advantages which Maysville affords to the surrounding country, as a market, for the products of the South, the manufactures of the North and East, and the productions of the agriculture and domestic industry and skill of Northern Kentucky and Southern Ohio.

The HERALD will contain the latest Political and Commercial News, foreign and domestic, and keep its readers well advised of the state of those markets most frequented by the Merchants and Traders of that section of country in which it is published. It will also contain the usual amount of Literary and Miscellaneous matter to be found in papers of its class.

The subject of facilitting intercourse between the City and surrounding country, so important to the prosperity of both, will receive such attention as may be necessary to place it properly before those most interested in the result.

We shall foster and encourage, by all the means in our power, the Manufacturing and Mechanical interest, from a conviction that no town or country can prosper greatly, whose citizens neglect to give to their surplus products all the value which reproductive industry can bestow, before making them the subject of her commerce.

So soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, we intend to publish, for the benefit of our Farmers, such information upon the subject of their noble pursuit, as experience and the application of the principles of science have developed, or may hereafter make known.

In short, we will aid, to the utmost of our power, by all legitimate means, in bringing into action those springs of prosperity, upon which the happiness of those most interested in our labors depends.

TERMS:

For Tri-Weekly paper four dollars in advance, four fifty within the year, or five at the expiration of the year.

The Weekly Herald on a large double-medium sheet, two dollars in advance, two fifty within the year, or three at the end of year.

Benefit of Insurance.

THIRTY-TWO Thousand Dollars saved by insurance on the fires that occurred in this city, all within 90 days. The above fact should induce every person who has property to loose to come forward and insure their property, as a very small amount paid annually may save many families from ruin. This Agency has paid out $10307.54, other agencies have paid Twenty-two Thousand Dollars, all of which has been promptly adjusted and paid according to the terms of the policy on losses in this city during the present summer. Farmers can have their dwelling houses insured at the rate of $5 per thousand on brick houses and $7 50 per thousand on Frame houses. The City property insured at about ½ to 1 per cent, according to location. Be that all can be protected.

AGUE AND FEVER.

FLETCHER'S
CELEBRATED IMPERIAL

AGUE AND FEVER OR TONIC PILLS

THE proprietors of this invaluable remedy for Ague and Fever or Intermittent Fever, deem it unnecessary to enter into a long dissertation, relative to the disease for the radical cure of which, the remedy now offered stands unrivalled. The universal prevalence of the Ague and Fever, and Intermittent Fever, throughout most of the states of the Union, and the thousands who annually suffer from it, unhappily rendor it so well known, that to dilate on its symptoms or pathology, seems wholly unnecessary It may, however, with propriety be observed, that the neglect to cure what is too often called "only the Ague and Fever," often leads to diseases more fatal in their nature—among which may be classed, diseases of the Liver and enlargement of the Spleen, commonly called Ague Cake, which in too many cases proves fatal.

Thousands of certificates might be published in reference to the efficacy of the Pills now offered to the public, which the proprietors deem unnecessary to publish. Suffice it to say, they have never been known to fail in a single instance. ONE BOX, when taken according to directions, is warranted to cure any case of Ague and Fever, or Intermittent Fever. The ingredients being PURELY VEGETABLE, and entirely free from any deleterious substance, they are confidently recommended as the safest, as well as the most efficacious article ever offered to the Ble! The form in which these Pills are put up, (small in boxes,) renders them more convenient than any other, as a man can carry them in his vest pocket without the slightest inconvenience.

FLETCHER'S
"NE PLUS ULTRA" VEGETABLE COMPOUND
CATHARTIC AND DEOBSTRUENT PILLS.

These Pills, now for the first time offered to the Public, have been used in private practice upwards of Forty Years, by a celebrated Physician, formerly a member of the Royal College of Surgeons of London and Edinburg, and Licentiate of Dublin University.

The proprietors deem it unnecessary to enter into any lengthened discussion as to the merits of these Pills—neither will they say, that they "will cure all the ills that human flesh is heir to"—but they lay claim to one great fact, and that is this; they are the very best pills ever invented, not merely as a simple CATHARTIC, as their properties are various. They are a Compound Cathartic, and Deobstruent Pill. They cleanse the Stomack and Bowels without pain or griping; they act specifically upon the Liver and Kidneys, and as a Diuretic, they cause an increased discharge of Urine—restoring a healthful and proper action to the URINARY ORGANS. For monthly complaints, to which Females are liable, they will be found most efficacious in removing obstructions and restoring them to perfect health. It is perhaps needless to add, that if the STOMACH and BOWELS are kept in a proper state, no fears should be entertained in reference to the welfare of the body.

We need only say to those who have tried all other Pills, of whatever name, to give the "Ne Plus Ultra's," one trial, and we feel perfectly confident, that they will satisfy all that they are THE PILLS! unequalled as well as unapproachable!!
