

BY CAVAN & ANDREWS.

PROSPECTUS OF THE Louisville Price Current, AND COMMERCIAL REGISTER.

THE Proprietors of this Paper, Mr. J. W. PALMER, takes this opportunity of presenting his grateful acknowledgments for the patronage she has hitherto received from a generous public...

The Commercial and Domestic interests of Louisville will be especially attended to; means will be put in requisition to obtain the earliest information of commercial interest from all the principal cities of the Union...

TERMS.—The price will remain as before—$3 per annum in advance. MARY PALMER.

PROSPECTUS.

THE FAMILY MAGAZINE.—The subscriber will publish in the Family Magazine, a work of the above title, of which the present is a specimen number. It will be what its name indicates...

THE following subjects will constitute an important part of the matter of the Family Magazine: Natural History, Geography, Cosmology of Nature and Art...

THE Family Magazine will be published on the first day of every month. Each number will contain forty square Royal Octavo pages, and from six to fifteen Engravings...

HILCOCK, JR.

EDWARD HILCOCK, JR. has removed from his late residence at Bishop & Co's Mill, two and a half miles east of Elizaville, to a new and commodious building...

ORIGINAL.

TO MY HUSBAND.

Oh! grant my prayer and let me go; Thy toils to share, thy path to soothe; Is there a want, a wish, a woe That wedded love can fail to soothe?

MISCELLANY.

A person becoming the uncomfortable prospect of celibacy, and comparing the respective situations of married and single persons; exclaiming: "What can make the bitter cup of a bachelor go down?"

CHILDREN.

Children.—Every romp with them is death to scores of grey hairs. Their games moreover present such a contrast to the rougher contest of bearded children...

THE sum of human happiness.

"Were I offered the choice," said Byron, either to live my life over again, or to live as many years more onward, I should certainly prefer the first; yet you may have been vastly more unhappy than I believe those of other men commonly are.

REVERIES AND REMINISCENCES.

I once heard a very eloquent lecture by a friend of mine, on the subject of Pleasing Genes. He was quite metaphysical, and learned and ingenious, and all that, but he forgot, if I am not mistaken, one very important item—the Pleasure of gratuity.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

From the American Monthly Magazine. THE FLYING HEAD, A LEGEND OF SACRAMENTO LAKE. The country about the mid waters of the great Mother, though possessing in game and fish, was never like the region of the oldest Indian legends...

people, with an occasional hunting party from the degenerated bands that survive at St. Regis, will occasionally be tempted over these haunted grounds in quest of the game...

THE FLYING HEAD.

The Flying Head, which is supposed to have first driven the original possessors of these hunting grounds, whosoever they were, from their houses, and which, long a tradition rumour back in the old day...

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

It was a season of great severity with that forgotten people whose council fires were lighted on the mountain promontory that divides Sacramento from the sister lake...

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The old man, who was ignorant of the bare suggestion of legend, his bright streams and shrouded ways, would which their spring time of life had passed so happily...

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

have even now acknowledged. We know of none, our unspilled summers have yet had to blush for. It is they that have drawn this curse upon our people...

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

for such now all agree to have raised since from the water, and become raised at the top as if there were a head beneath it. Some thought, too that they could discover a pair of human eyes gazing beneath the dripping locks.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

They had Indians then visible to fly, but the domed parrot had not the courage to encounter the work's lance through which they must make their way in fleeing from their native valley.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

SELECT TALE.

THE FLYING HEAD.

The morning dawned early upon that unwholen water, which seemed at first to show no traces of the dead it had witnessed the night before.

We have been politely favored with the following extract of a letter from a volunteer in the Texian army, dated Washington, (Texas) Feb. 20, 1836.

I have several times written since my departure from the United States, but have as yet received no answer; but having no positive place of destination, (as you may readily suppose from the circumstance of my being liable to be placed in the situation of the Irishman's flea) a letter may have escaped me, but to ensure a receipt hereafter, direct your letters to this place, as we intend making it our head quarters.

We have been here some six or eight days, and shall remain until the convention, which is to assemble on the 1st of March, shall have decided whether or not to declare Texas free and independent, and in the event of that body determining to yield the palm to Santa Anna, I shall immediately return to the United States; but if they should decide otherwise, we hold ourselves in readiness to march wherever ordered. We fight for nothing but liberty and independence.

We have however received orders from Governor Smith to march forward to Copano, but have determined not to move until we know what we are to fight for.

This is a fine healthy country, and one which, in the course of a very short time, will be a fine place (and in fact is now) for any kind of business: to give you some idea of the price of produce and merchandise I subjoin a few examples. Wheat sells at from $5 to $6 per bushel. Corn in the ears at $2 to $2.50. Flour $18 to $20 per barrel. Coffee 33 to 37 1/2 cents per lb. Sugar 25 cents and Whiskey at $4 per gallon. The price of labor varies from $2 to $3.50 per day. The wages of volunteers for the whole campaign are 640 acres of land independent of a head right, which is worth a fourth of a league or 1107 acres, making in all 1717 acres, together with the arms paid which the officers and privates of the U. S. army receive when in actual service. No man's affairs pertain to nothing else than the success of our cause.

We are looking anxiously for Santa Anna and his forces. Report says that he is advancing with an army of ten thousand men and is determined to subvert Texas whose Mexico. We shall grant the latter. Cannon are in fine order and are believed to be victorious or else the attempt.

From the Baltimore Chronicle. CONGRESS.

Members of the House, it is not unproprioto suppose that the House of Representatives, in their session, will be able to do more than to discuss the merits of the various bills which are presented to them. The scenes which occurred last, on Saturday and Sunday, morning, indicate that the firm impression, members could not do more than to discuss the merits of the various bills which are presented to them.

The North Carolina contested election was the existing subject on the above occasion. It was a war waged against the sitting member upon party grounds, as by objecting to him, it is hoped to obtain the vote of North Carolina for the House. The result of the contest is easily foreseen. Having the power, the Van Buren party will be able to exercise it, and Mr. Graham (being no member) will be compelled to resign. It is a mistake to think that the game President. Thus is the mischief of the party played out at their dignity and rights of the people.

It is an evil which we are all too ready to see. A small number of quarrelling members propose to make long speeches. But the principal objection is a greater upon which possibly be remedied. For the sessions of Congress—by the members, that at the long sessions in three fourths of the time is consumed in the declamation of demagogues, upon subjects foreign to legitimate legislation.

Our House of Representatives begins to resemble the national assemblies of France, in incessant denunciations, abusive epithets, and noise and confusion. The national character is degraded by such proceedings, and this should be condemned by the press and by the people. Without distinction of party, the members should be silent, or lashed in rebuke to respect decorum and the business of the nation should be prosecuted. It is with the people to control their representatives, and we hope the latter will be taught, that to see public favor they must deserve it by an honest discharge of their duty.

It is the vestige which almost passes before they can enter into the temple of glory; therefore, we are in debt, and we are, and which will serve us again. But, it is to be the able of the search, we shall find the superior information of a few, which will be the only one which we have thought but borrowed it.

Leigh Hunt (I think he is) has been quoted that it was his opinion that a world-behavior when he was in his prime, he had often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order.

Nature made me poetical, said a world-behavior. "I had," said a wag who was in hearing. "I have often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order."

Nature made me poetical, said a world-behavior. "I had," said a wag who was in hearing. "I have often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order."

Nature made me poetical, said a world-behavior. "I had," said a wag who was in hearing. "I have often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order."

Nature made me poetical, said a world-behavior. "I had," said a wag who was in hearing. "I have often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order."

THE STRAITS REVENUE. It is confidently believed at Washington, that the Government has become convinced of its inability to retain possession of the surplus revenue in safety, and that it is anxiously casting about for means of disposing of it in some secure manner. One of the plans proposed is to lend to the States the entire surplus fund, with a condition of reimbursement, whenever the Government may have occasion for it. Another is to hand over to the States or to Companies incorporated by them, a proportion of the surplus according to some equitable plan, for the purpose of aiding in the construction of Rail Roads, upon which, of course, the mails and munitions of war will be carried, without expense to the Government. The latter plan, it is thought, will prevail.

As an evidence of the quantity of snow which has recently fallen in some parts of England, it may be mentioned that the thermometer on Feb. 27, in the beginning of February, was 4 times dug out of the snow previous to reaching Oxford.—The land there is very elevated, being in the region of the Cotswold Hills.

Lord Melbourne has given £50 of the royal bounty to the widow of the poet Hogg.

A ripe fig raised in Nantucket, was presented to the editor of the New York Enquirer. "Can figs be raised from this side of the water?" The fruit of Helicon and Parnassus in the ice-bound regions of Nantucket? What next?

Sugar from Beets.—It can be made and in great quantities in the United States; a sparkling white sugar and at ten cents per pound; but we think it requires an eighth, probably a fourth, more in quantity to sweeten, than the ordinary sugar from the cane.

A Sign.—The Ohio Legislature adjourned without carrying into effect the orders of Mr. Van Buren to repudiate and reject the notes of the United States Bank of Pennsylvania.

The arsenal at Frankfort Kentucky, has been destroyed by fire. Nothing saved—supposed to have originated by accident.

Ritchie, in evident repudiation, says the Whigs of Virginia are about to unite on Harrison. Are you there old trappan.

An unusual occurrence.—There was a fall of snow on the 21st of Feb. in the city of Baltimore, which was seen north wind.

Gustavus III. of Sweden, when at Paris, refused to meet Franklin, saying that it was not prudent for Kings to see such men.

We learn from the Exchange Books, that a difficulty exists between General Scott and Gaines—one refusing to act in concert with the other. In consequence of this misunderstanding, Major General Macomb has been ordered to repair to the office of each other. It is not to be expected, when two in the field, fully equal in command, that one will obey the orders of the other. This should have been foreseen—and prevented.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer writes,—Information was received in town last night, that General Gaines and Scott have refused to recognize the orders of each other, and the Secretary of War has, in consequence, despatched Gen. Macomb to Florida."

Arkansas is respectfully knocking at the door of the Union for admission. Her conduct is a contrast to that of Michigan, who attempts rudely to push in without ceremony.

Mammoth Ox.—This celebrated animal from the Scioto valley, was slaughtered at Columbus, Ohio, on the 32d inst. It weighed 3275 lbs. gross, and upwards of 2500 net.

"I need to be much amused with Tobin and Godwin. Tobin would pester me with stories of Godwin's dullness; and upon his departure Godwin would drop in just to say that Tobin was more dull than ever."

Opinion of a Friend by a Friend.—"Jeffrey, speaking of Campbell, said 'He is one of the best fellows in the world. If, however, he has a fault, it is that he is envious, and to that degree that he wishes the walls may fall and crush any one who may excel him.' He is one of my most intimate friends, and with that little drawback, one of the best fellows in the world."

A man in the suburbs of Washington City, lately submitted himself to one of the most singular deaths ever dreamed in the philosophy of dying. He laid a board across a burning line and laying himself upon it literally roasted to death, and was found the next morning buried to the neck.

Nature made me poetical, said a world-behavior. "I had," said a wag who was in hearing. "I have often heard the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order, and the nature of the world's order."

THE WHIG.

FLEMINGSBURG, KENTUCKY: Friday, April 8, 1836.

We have been so long absent from our patrons, with the Whig, that we feel like grasping them by the hand and asking their attention to our excuse for what some of them may perhaps think neglect on our part. But when we reflect that with some it is likely an excuse would be unavailing, and with others it is totally unnecessary, and believing this last class is largely in the majority, we shall forbear saying any thing by way of apology, more than merely to inform those who are not already acquainted with the fact, that the delay in issuing our paper is not owing to any neglect of our own, but to be attributed solely to circumstances entirely beyond our control.

We now present "The Kentucky Whig" in an enlarged form, but not yet far improved, in all respects, as we intend, and are fully and positively determined it shall be.

When we undertook the management of the press we were not unapprized of the difficulties attending the peculiar condition of a press in this place—and before we entered upon the duty of editors of this paper we firmly resolved to establish it, to reclaim its lost credit, and give to it a new and higher character than it had ever before possessed. Without presumption we thought this might be done; and that in order to effect it we believed energy and attention alone were sufficient. We are still impressed with the belief—and the liberal and generous encouragement we have already received fully justify a confident expectation that the event will prove we have not been mistaken.

It is true we well knew it would require some considerable time to do this. We were aware that much was to be done to restore confidence, and prepare the public mind to expect permanency in the paper at this place. And we resolutely determined to persevere in every exertion in our power to establish it; and to conduct it in such manner as would ensure, not merely a reputation for the paper, but a usefulness that would be felt by the community around us.

As we have before said, we again say, the hope of profit was far from being our only motive in engaging in this business, believing it to be the duty of every citizen, and every man, to employ his time and talents, a portion of it to the benefit of society, and think that perhaps in the office of editors, I may do as much service to our country and society as in any other employment in which we could engage, we have assumed the responsible and arduous task of conducting a public journal at this place. And we confidently hope that a liberal and intelligent community will support us in the effort to sustain it.

The Whig will be noted to such matters of intelligence and information, as may be interesting to the public generally. It will be conducted on liberal plan as to politics; and while vent and abusive matter shall be excluded from its columns, we will frankly avow sentiments and opinion as to men and principles.

Although the newspapers it to be a political paper entire, yet it is not the design of its present tort to devote its pages exclusively to the discussion of politics. While a disunion will be given to that object, the general interests of science and literature and the diffusion of useful knowledge, generally, will be the leading object of this paper.

In further explanation to our patrons for the delay of our paper, we have to inform them that our journeymen left us at a time we were most pressed with work; consequently had but one hand to do the jobs and put the paper, which was impossible. Ours was a printer and Cincinnati to endeavor get a printer and with much difficulty the promise of a journeyman, who will with us in a few days. We however are determined to try and set types rather than our subscribers shall get so disappointed.

We are very sorry to find that there is a strong disposition amongst some to produce a "whig" brethren of the press to produce division and distrust in our ranks by vanorous and severe articles against the gubernatorial nomination—and by arraying all the petty dissatisfactions in one mass, to produce the idea that the nomination of Judge Clark was generally unpopular. Now this course in our opinion is unjust, ungenerous, and treason to the Whig party generally. For we sincerely believe that the nomination of Clark has been received by the great mass of Whigs with enthusiasm and delight, and with the exception of a few discontented, selfish editors will be sustained by every honorable and worthy means. We, therefore, do hope that many of our Whig friends who are dissatisfied, will exercise their usual magnanimity, the example of which was set by their first favorite, and like him abide by the nomination now made and contribute all their energies in the support of Judge Clark. This course is absolutely necessary, or our opponents will certainly succeed; not by the strength of their own cause, but by the childish and puerile disaffection of our friends. We therefore shall come to the conclusion that they who do not cheerfully abide the decision of the convention at Lexington are traitors to the cause and deserve the execration of their party.

CAREY'S LIBRARY.

We would call the attention of the friends of literature to this valuable periodical. We have received it regularly from its commencement up to the 25th no. and it is doing the work but sheer justice to say of it that it well deserves the attention of the reading public, and especially those who are not able or, have not leisure to peruse voluminous works from which occasional extracts are taken into the Library. Carey's Library is published weekly at Philadelphia by Carey & Hart, at the price of Five dollars. We think it an excellent, and a cheap periodical; and judging from the numbers already published, and from the character of the publishers, we have no doubt it will be one of the best works of its kind which the public are to be favored with.

We are not regularly authorized to receive subscriptions; but those who are desirous to take the work will be accommodated by us in any case by a person desiring to see a specimen of the Library can examine it at this office.

CONGRESS.

Since the publication of our last number a very important matter has been definitely acted upon, except some nominations in the Senate.

Roger B. They is confirmed as chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and P. P. Barbour as associate Justice. Mr. Kendall has been confirmed as Postmaster General, Mr. Eaton as Minister to Spain, Andrew S. Swenson, Minister to Great Britain, Ashur Middleton Secretary of Legation to Spain, Richard K. Call to be Governor of Florida vice J. H. Eaton.

And to the seat of John Marshall on the Bench of the highest Judicial tribunal in the United States—a situation which requires the highest literary and legal acquirements, to pure integrity, the most accurate, exact and discriminating judgment, the loftiest patriotism and the most unshaking independence, is filled (how?) by Roger B. They!

From our best advices from Washington, we find that the House of Representatives have on for the last ten days discussing in North Carolina contested election, and a tedious and stormy debate have related it back to the people.—This is certainly unlooked for, as the evidence produced by the sitting member Mr. Graham, entitled him to the seat before the House, North Carolina would be where should stand against the magisterian.

THE SENATE'S PROCEEDINGS.—It is cheering prospects to us when by almost every mail, we receive fresh accounts of the growing popularity of Gen. Harrison. Almost every paper contains the news of some assemblage of the people nominating him as the candidate of the people, believing that he is the only man who can wrest the country from the misrule and corruption of its present administration and restore it to its original purity and virtue. Pennsylvania, the Bay State State, has avowed from her loyalty and thrown off the yoke of Jacksonism, Ohio is following her example; Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky will sustain them nobly, and Maryland and Vermont will also swell the list, so that with his present and future prospects we cannot for a moment doubt of his ultimate success in defeating the caucus candidate backed by all his minions of office and intriguing demagogues.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting was held at the court house in Flemingsburg March 28th, when Daniel Morgan was called to the chair and James Crawford appointed Secretary.—Martin P. Marshall addressed the meeting in an eloquent and forcible manner, explaining the object of the meeting and the necessity of union and concert amongst the Whigs in the coming contest for the election of Governor.

On motion of M. P. Marshall, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to select suitable delegates to the convention to be held at Lexington on the 10th of April:

- Abraham McGowen, II. S. Powers, David Strathairn, James Crawford, R. G. Lewis, R. Armstrong, and M. P. Marshall.
- The committee having retired a few minutes reported the following names to attend the said convention—empowering them to fill any vacancy which may occur.
- Capt. John Howe, A. McGowen, James Crawford, M. P. Marshall, H. S. Powers, David Strathairn, R. G. Lewis, R. Armstrong, John T. Walker, Charles Summers, W. P. Boyd, Henry Bishop, Richard Bishop, Wm. Ficklin, John Armstrong, Jr. Dr. Dunlap, Robert Patton, J. W. Davis, Dr. McDowell, John Andrews, Capt. Wills, Curtis Ring, W. S. Bots, J. C. Belt, A. Gooding, Bazel Hunt, James Markwell, Dr. F. A. Andrews, Simon W. Robinson, Robert M. Elliott, Jos. M. Farrow, John Hedrick, J. Pearce, L. W. Andrews, and John A. Cavan.

On motion, that the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the President and Secretary, and published in the Kentucky Whig.

DANIEL MORGAN, Pres. JAS. CRAWFORD, Secy.

FOR PRESIDENT.

WILLIAM H. HARRISON, Of Ohio.

WHIG ELECTORS. DAVID S. PATTON, EDWARD RUMSEY, RICHARD A. BUCKNER, BURR HARRISON, MARTIN BEATY, CHRISTOPHER TOMPKINS, THO. P. WILSON, WM. K. WALL, ROBERT WICKLIFFE, THOMAS METCALFE, MARTIN P. MARSHALL, JOHN BATES, ROBERT P. LETCHER.

FOR THE STATE AT LARGE. HENRY DANIEL, PHILIP TRIPLETT.

DEATHS.

Another revolutionary soldier gone! Departed this life March 22 1836 Archibald Gorman aged 82 years.

Died on Thursday night April 7 in this place Mrs. Carilla Dandelson consort of Mr. John Dandelson Merchant, She has left a desolate and afflicted family to mourn her untimely loss.

Died in this county on Thursday evening Mrs. Sarah Newcomb, consort of Mr. James Newcomb.

NOTICE.

JAMES BARNES, Samuel Barnes, Alfred Barnes, Sally Ann Barnes, Joseph Barnes, Neriah Barnes, Bradford Barnes and Susan Barnes, heirs and legal representatives of Ephraim Barnes dec'd. Take notice that I shall apply at the next July term of the Fleming County court to have three commissioners appointed to convey to me a certain tract of land, agreeably to the bond of the said decedent and in pursuance of the statute in such cases made and provided; at which time and place you may attend if you see proper. ANDREW YEATES. April 8, 1836.

REPLEVIN BONDS, for sale at the office of the "Whig," Nov. 13, 1835.

JOB PRINTING.—All kinds of Job Printing done to order and in the neatest style, at this Office. April 8, 1836.

THE MARKETS.

New Orleans, Mar. 16

Cotton	20 1/2
Sugar	90 1/2
Beef	9 1/2
Molasses	38 3/4
Tobacco	61 1/2
Flour	per barrel $65,06,75
Pork	20
Beef	10 1/2
Bacon	per lb. 10 1/2
Lard	13 1/2
Whiskey	per gal 45 50
Haggling	32 3/4
Corn	a 12
Rope	per bush 75 50
Wheat	a 50
Oats	per lb 12 1/2
Coffee	12 1/2
Mackerel,	according to No. $8 10

Louisville, April 5.

Cotton	18 2/5
Sugar	12 1/4
Molasses	per gal 32 1/2
Tobacco	per cent 10 2/5
Flour	per bbl $7,00,7,12
Pork	$15,10
Bacon	per lb 10 1/2
Lard	12 1/2
Whiskey	per gal 38 1/2
Haggling	18 2/5
Rope	per bush $10 00
Wheat	60 6/2
Corn	13 1/2
Coffee	13 1/2

VIRGINIA STATE LOTTERY.

FOR THE benefit of the Mechanical Benevolent Society of Norfolk, Class No. 1, to be drawn at Alexandria, Saturday, April 23, 1836. D. S. GREGORY & CO. (Successors to YATES & MCINTIRE.) Managers.

SPLENDID SCHEME!

1	of $50,000	is $50,000
1	"	20,000
1	"	10,000
1	"	5,000
1	"	4,000
1	"	3,000
1	"	2,750
1	"	2,500
1	"	2,000
1	"	1,610
5	"	1,500
50	"	1,000
100	"	500,000
64 1st and 2d drawn	250	10,000
64 3d and 3d drawn	150	5,000
64 3d and 4th drawn	100	6,400
64 4th and 5th drawn	70	4,180
64 5th and 6th drawn	60	3,819
64 6th and 7th drawn	50	3,120
128 9th, 10th, 10th & 11 30		3,810
2880		20, 57,400
22176		10, 221,700

25861 Prizes, amounting to $40,200. Tickets $10—shares in Proportion. A certificate of a package of Whole Tickets in the above lottery will cost $1.00 Package of Halves, " .75 Package of Quarters, " .25

Orders addressed to the subscriber from any part of the United States, will be promptly answered by the return mail. Address P. McPHEISON, Lottery & Exchange Broker, No. 19 Pratt street, Baltimore, April 8, 1836.

STATE OF Kentucky, Fleming Circuit.

Set-March Term, 1836, James Young complainant, against the said Triplett's heirs and other defendants, IS CHANCERY.

IT appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the defendants, Richard Hoot & Joseph Hulse, and George Simco are not inhabitants of this Commonwealth, and they having failed to enter their appearance hereon, agreeably to law, and the rules of the Court; On motion of the Complainant, it is ordered that unless they do appear here on or before the first day of the next June term of this court, and answer the complainant's bill the same will be taken for confessed against them. And it is further ordered that a copy of this order be inserted in some authorized newspaper published in this State, for two months successively.

A Copy taken. T. DUDLEY, D. C. for L. D. STUCKTON, C. P. C. C. April 8, 1836. 25-2m-83.

NOTICE.

CHARLOTTE CRAIG, widow of Whitfield Craig deceased, and William T. Craig, Francis C. Baker, and George Boker, heirs of said Whitfield Craig deceased, take notice, that I will apply at the next June term of the Fleming County court to have three commissioners appointed to convey to me a certain tract of land, agreeably to the bond of the said decedent and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, at which time and place you may attend if you see proper. DAVID WILLS. April 8, 1836.

NOTICE.

CHARLOTTE CRAIG, widow of Whitfield Craig dec'd, & William T. Craig, Francis C. Baker, and George Boker, heirs of said Whitfield Craig deceased, take notice, that I shall apply at the next July term of the Fleming County Court to have three commissioners appointed to convey to me a certain tract of land, agreeably to the bond of the said decedent, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, at which time and place you may attend if you see proper. SAMUEL STRAHAN. April 8, 1836.

