Economistic Advice.

A Connecticut journal sometime since tendered the following somewhat sarcastic advice to advertisers. It contains many pointed truths:

If you have goods to sell, advertise
the fact.

Hire a man with a lampblack kettle and brush to paint your name and number on all the railroad fences.

The cars go whizzing by so fast that no one can read them, to be sure, but perhaps the conductor will be obliging enough to stop the train for inquisitive passengers.

Remember the fences by the roadside as well. Nothing is so attractive as a well-painted sign: Mullington's Mediccal Mixture for Mumps."

Have your card on the Hotel register, by all means. Strangers stopping at the hotel for the night generally buy cigar before leaving town, and they need some inspiring literary food besides.

If an advertising agent wants to advertise your business in a fancy frame at the depot, pay him about two hundred per cent. more than it is worth, and let him put it there. When a man has $\frac{1}{2}$ of a second in which to catch a train, he invariably stops to read a depot advertisement, and your card might take his eye.

Of course the street-thermometer dodge is excellent. When a man's fingers or ears are freezing, or he is puffing dust "phewin" at the heat, is the time above all others when he reads a thermometer advertisement.

Print, in the blackest ink, a great sprawling card on all your wrapping paper. Ladies returning from a shopping tour like to be walking bulletins, and if the ink rubs off and spoils some of their finery, no matter.

Don't fail to advertise in every circus programme. It will help the circus to pay their bills, and visitors can relieve the tedium of the clown's jokes by looking over your interesting remarks about "ten percent below cost."

A boy with a big placard on a pole is an interesting object on the street, and gives a dignified air to your establishment. Here a couple.

Advertise on a calendar. People never look at a calendar to see what day of the month it is, they merely glance at it, so as to be sure your name is called with a r, that's all.

When the breeze blow, wafted by a per fan in the hands of a lovely woman is well to have the air redolent with the perfume of the carmine ink in which your business address is printed.
This will make the demand for decent fines very brisk.

Patronize every agent that shows you an advertising tablet, card, directory, dictionary, or even an advertising bible, if one is offered reasonable, it shows you know where to invest your money.

But don't think of advertising in a newspaper. Not for a moment:
Your advertisement would be nicely printed, and would find its way into all the thrifty households of the region, where the farmer, the mechanic, the tradesman, and others live, and into the families of the wealthy and refined —all who have articles to buy and money to buy with; and in the quiet of the evening, after the news of the day has been digested, it would be read and pondered, and next day people would come down to your store and patronize you, and keep coming in increasing numbers, and you might have to hire an extra clerk or two, move into a larger block and a more favorable location, and do a bigger business; but of course, it would be more expensive—and bring bigger profit.

A LITTLE GIRL'S COMPOSITION.

Boys is men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls is young women that will be young ladies by and
by. Man was made before woman.
When God looked at Adam he said to himself, "Well, I guess I can do better than that if I try again," and then he made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than he did Adam that there has been more women in the world than men ever since. Boys are a trouble.
They are very wearing on everything but soap. If I could have my way half the boys in the world would be little girls and the other half would be dolls.

My papa is so nice to me that I guess he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy.

Rowan!

From the many contradictory and distorted accounts of the recent troubles in Rowan County, we glean the following, as the most probable correct statement at present.

On Tuesday, June 7, John Mannin, Marshal of Morehead, with a posse of about ten men, mostly the enemies of the Logans, went to the house of the Logans to arrest them, under a warrant charging them, and others, with Ku Kluxing. When they arrived at Logan's residence, Marshal Mannin on entering the house was shot in the left arm and shoulder, with a charge of buckshot.

One statement is that the boys attempted to escape and were shot down, while other statements are, that they surrendered, and that they were shot down afterward.

They remained on the ground where they fell all night, the citizens being afraid to take care of their bodies.

On Thursday June 12, ex-Sheriff Baimey, and his son Henry Baimey, were shot at from ambush, near Morehead, but escaped without injury.

The condition of Rowan County is now more deplorable, if possible, than ever before, the officials of the law — outlaws. The citizens are terrorized since anarchy and arbitrary suppression.

$20 REWARD!

I will give twenty dollars reward for the apprehension and delivery to me of James Ingram, who escaped from my custody while at hard labor to pay a judgement for a fine in favor of the Commonwealth.

Harry Clarke.

The name of Harry Clarke is placed on the list of prominent citizens because of his conduct with the posse, took the lives of the Logan boys, near Morehead in Rowan County.

Very Young Man—"You wouldn't think it, but I've paid $70,000 in cash for a house, all made by my own pluck and perseverance."

Young Lady—"Really! What business are you in?"

Very Young Man—"I'm a son-in-law." (Etc.).

"Good morning," he said hurriedly, as he came into a downtown grocery house. "Have you change for a twenty?"

"No sir, we haven't; sorry but—"

"Oh, it doesn't matter—I'm owing the house twelve or fifteen dollars, but I haven't the time to wait for the change to pay it some other time."

He was gone. (Detroit Free Press.)

* Republicans stir and roar
And think to gain the day,
But they can't over old Kentucky,
Because they didn't built that way.

The prospects for peace in Rowan are good. On Wednesday, June 21st, a number of men from 150 to 200 went into Morehead, armed with Winchester rifles, and easily wiped out the Toliver faction, killing Cruz, Bud and Jay Toliver.*

So there is no alternative but peace for the Martin-Humphrey-Lewis faction, unless they can get up a fight among themselves.

*Hiram Cooper was also killed.

A Wonderful Lake.

Mono Lake is full of soda, borax, and other minerals in solution. The water of both Owens and Mono Lake is a natural detergent. The dirtiest and grime-iest of clothing is made clean in half a minute by simply dipping the article in the lake. It bubbles and foams when agitated. When there is a high wind a well of sand 3 or 4 feet high is seen along that shore upon which the waves beat. This quiet ring wall—in which all colors of the rainbow are seen and as many beauties as are shown by the Kaleidoscope—would grow to the height of ten or twelve feet before toppling over, but that when it attains a certain height the wind carries it up and washes great hell of it far inland. Some of those floating balloons of leather are as big as a four barrel—Virginia City (Tenn.) Enterprise.

Mother at Teatable—Jack, who helped you to those tarts?

Jack (aged 7)—To Lord.

Mother—The Lord? Why, what do you mean?

Jack—Well, I helped myself, and father said yesterday the Lord helped those who helped themselves.

The New Ten Commandments.

(Revised.)

First: Thou shalt have no other interstate commerce, will but the God-bill.

Second: Thou shalt not make unto thyself any rules and regulations for carrying of freight and passengers in the likeness of anything that is in the heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters under the earth.

Third: Thou shalt not bow down to any railroad president, or general passenger agent, or freight agent, for we, the commission, are not so green as we look, and if there is any bowing down and doing the grand, we want all there is going.

Fourth: Remember the 5th of April, and don't you forget it, oh, ye, who have been getting over the country on animals, for then do the passes fall like the leaves of a chestnut tree in a November gale, and there is no help in ye.

Fifth: If you must cuss, cuss Cullom, for this is the bill that the senator from Illinois giveth thee.

Sixth: Thou shalt not unjustly discriminate. We will never agree as to what "unjustly" means, so you must be particularly carefully watchful about the sixth commandment.

Seventh: Thou shalt not commit thyself to a greater extent for a short haul than for a long haul, even if it does take more copper or a long haul.

Eighth: Thou shalt not have any addition, division, or subtraction.

Ninth: Thou shalt not buy railroad stocks unless you are short in the market.

Tenth: Thou shalt not pass thy neighbor's dog through his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, even if it goes left with a sixpence. His ass, also, for other members of the commission, if you say so.

New commandments: And thou shalt rule in all these commandments unto the people weary, and aged and imaginary pain thing, and break up the whole thing.

Revolutionary Bill.

In this collection of laws which I may have to obey, I have one good, sound old bill, which was in my father's clothes-blanchery, with the title of York Law.
