The meeting was opened with prayer by Miss Humphrey. Mrs. Dungan was introduced by Mrs. Waltz, and the meeting became an informal discussion with Mrs. Dungan answering our questions.

Following are suggestions made by Mrs. Dungan.

Quarterly meetings should be interesting. Discourage any competition between circles. Let the Circle secretaries and treasurers give their reports to the C. W. F. secretary and treasurer who will each combine and present the combined reports to the Quarterly meeting.

Quarterly meetings do not replace monthly meetings for that particular month.

Departments of work, Worship, Study and service may make quarterly reports.

Enlistment of all women takes constant prayer, visiting, calling, <sup>and</sup> invitation. Never remove a woman's name because she is inactive - rather divide the inactive names between the circles and see that each one is contacted regularly.

To secure more books for reading, donations of money are better than book showers, since books given may be unsuitable. Money for books may be included in the budget, each circle may have a librarian who cares for the books.

Hazel green's parlor is to be furnished by the eighth district. We will be told our proportionate share. Money gifts will be best, since Mr. ~~Swan~~ knows the needs and can buy at wholesale.

A past president's Club proves workable at Ashland, meeting once a month. Its purpose is prayer for the work and enlistment of all women.

Mrs. Dugan complimented us on being organized according to the C. W. F. plan and urged that we continue in prayer and efforts to interest all our women.
