Rick and Roger Hitchins, sons of E. S. Hitchins, of Olive Hill will return to Tom's School for Boys at Port Deposit, Maryland for the coming school year, next week.

The man who took poison Wednesday in New York to satisfy his creditors for a $100,000 life insurance might have distributed the poison pro rata among his creditors.

Our subscription book shows far more laboring people interested in the success of The Progressive than business men. Why is this? Is it because they are more interested in the more town pride or more gray matter? Why is it?

COUNTY COURT GIVE IT UP

The Good Roads Movement Given an Impetus.

County Court, at its deliberations at this term, took up the question of good roads in Carter county, and the following business was transacted in that direction:

W. B. Whitt and Geo. W. Armstrong were appointed road overseers, to act in conjunction with E. S. Hitchins and Chas. Lewis, former appointees.

Albert Stallard was appointed road engineer, and he and County Attorney Duvall left Olive Hill Wednesday on a prospecting tour of the road running from here to Grayson.

We understand that it is the purpose of those having this matter hand, to commence work on the Olive Hill-Grayson road at once—next week—with a large force of men.

The county court gave assurance that the petition for a good roads bond issue would be recognized, and that an order for an election for the ratification of the bond issue for road building by the people, by their vote, will be ordered.

Finest of Printing.

We are prepared and equipped to turn out any and all kinds of printing on short notice, on first class stock, and at reasonable prices. We do not waste time in cheap work—that kind is too expensive and would put us out of business. We have been connected with the best and largest printing concerns in the country, and have had thirty years experience, hence know the business. No use to ask prices. We have one price to all, which is a guarantee of material and workmanship. Mail orders will be filled at the same price and on just as good material as if given in person.

Send us your copy plainly written, tell us what you want, and we will do the rest.

The School Board

The School Board met Monday night and transacted some important business. Wm. Durham was elected secretary of the board in place of E. J. Hanlon, resigned. John Wallace was elected a member of the Board.

Read this paper thoroughly.

A NEAR TRADEGY

Town Marshal Attacked With Murderous Intent

Tuesday night near the hour of 11 o'clock, Warren Lowe, who resides in the Sinks neighborhood, made an effort to shoot Town Marshal Crawford at the corner of Cross and Railroad sts., opposite the bank. It is supposed that Lowe has a grudge against the officer on account of former arrests for infractions of the law. According to information as we gather it, the marshal was coming down the street and on reaching the corner, met Lowe with another man, and Lowe began a conversation with the marshal, at the same time poked a pistol at the stomach of the marshal, who grabbed it and a struggle ensued for possession of the pistol. In the scramble the weapon was discharged three times by Lowe, or perhaps accidentally, but the officer managed to keep the pistol out of range of his body. Lowe was finally disarmed and freed himself from the marshal and burst the wind across the railroad track, followed by two shots fired by the marshal, but Lowe was out running bullets just then.

The marshal, at the close of the melee, wanted to club Lowe into subjugation, but desisted on the advice of friends.

We came on the scene about the time Lowe broke away from the officer, and know nothing about the starting of the trouble, and merely give the version as it was given to us.

ORANGE BLOSSOM

The little devil, Cupid, has fear of the weather, and withstanding the humidity of past few weeks, has been putting in his work. There are few old maids and some widows around, however, who hearts are still hardened against conjugal bliss, and the little fellow has a hard time of it making an impression.

Cupid's shafts has been circulating in the Salt Lick neighborhood, lately, and took lodgment in the hearts of two of its prominent young people.

On last Sunday evening, attorney Will E. Brown led to altar Miss Maggie Honaker Squire, T. J. Young officiating. The newly wedded couple will take up their abode in Morehead.

Rumor has it that Miss Elsie Eifoff, who left here Saturday for Louisville was wedded to a man of her choice in the city Monday, to Mr. Walter Squire, of Corinth, Ky. Miss Eifoff, one of Olive Hill's millinery women, and had in charge of one of our high school here.

BASE BALL BRIEFS

The Olive Hill Blues grabbed two games Sunday. Both were rather dull games, featured by bad fielding.

The first was a 10-2 affair against Enterprise. The second was another one-sided game, being a 16-2 victory for the Blues against their rivals, the Brick yard team.

This game was the first the Blues have been able to do anything against the Brick men.

The second game was almost a shut out for the Brick men. They barely scored over two runs in the seventh innings.

Both games were less than nine innings.

Sharks, Phillips, and McAure were out of the game leaving lots of weak spots in the Brick yard team.

Grayson was unable to come out on account of sickness. The game will probably be played on the 22.

On account of no scorer being on hand, we are unable to give a box score of the game.

L. Tackett is a new addition to the Brick yard team. If he is as good as his brother he, will be a valuable addition to the team.

The Blues have mended their team a great deal by the addition of Stewart Hall, H. Hensley, and Kiser.

It looks fine when admission of fifteen cents is charged at the gate to see a large number of Olive Hill merchants looking through the fence at the game in order to avoid paying admission to the team.

Enterprise used five Brick men.

We are glad to see the Blues start winning.

The Brick yard holding was the rottenness seen for a long time.—REPORTER.

Appointed Superintendent

Upon the request of those interested in the Industrial school here Rev. Geo. Howes was appointed by the bishop superintendent of the Industrial school at the conference recently at Bourserville, Ky. The appointment, we think was a judicious one, and the work is in good hands.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wheeler died on Saturday night last of jaundice. He was only three or four days old and his death was not unexpected. On Sunday the body was taken to Crum, W. Va. Mrs. Wheeler's former home, for interment. Mrs. Wheeler desires to improve.—Louisa News.

Mrs. Buck-Wilson left Saturday night for Cincinnati, where she goes to buy a fine stock of fall and winter-wear in millinery. She will tell you all about it in The Progressive when she returns, because she is a progressive milliner.

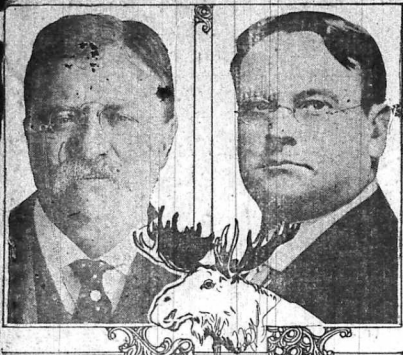

The Daily Cincinnati Post says that the Progressive weekly, both papers for $2.00, was sent 1st.

Don't Borrow

Don't borrow this paper from your neighbor. He has paid for it. You do likewise. It only costs you not quite two cents a week. Isn't it real stingy for you to your neighbor to borrow ten cents worth of news? Be a good citizen and take The Progressive for the benefit of your wife and children. Don't be a hog.

THE PROGRESSIVE.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY
GEO. B. TERRELL, EDITOR.

FOR PRESIDENT, THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, HIRAM W. JOHNSON.

OUR PLATFORM OF PRINCIPLES

1. That we save the country, which preserves any household and protects the sacred rights of the citizen against the despotism of a monarch.

2. That we shall not yield the manhood of the keeping of any political or ecclesiastical party, nor worship any idols, nor bow down to them, nor their sins will be visited upon us, and will be a curse to all who follow to the third and fourth generation.

3. That we shall not suffer the rights of patriotism, nor use it as a cloak which hides the selfishness, the deceit of churchmen, and the greed of the day of election, as sacred and must be kept holy, nor the virtue and the manliness of the people, and that the centuries of the past may be many and peaceful.

4. That we shall not allow the soul of the citizen to be snatched, mainly by the party which is in power.

5. That we shall not encourage political assassination, commit bribery or to the great temptation by the inducement of the Nation's well being.

6. That we shall not suffer greed for power, and unrighteous party spirit, nor witness against the innocent, nor cover public place with each other and not fitted.

7. That we shall not let great companies, the other and last one is to be done.

8. That we shall respect and protect the rights of the mechanic as the worker, and these two classes of commandments hang all the laws and the Constitution—the basis of our country's salvation.

LEADING FEATURES OF ROOSEVELT'S "CONFESION OF FAITH"

- Presidential primaries in presidential years.
- Election of United States senators by popular vote.
- The short ballot, limiting the number of offices to be voted for.
- A stringent election campaign practices act, applying to primaries as well as elections.
- Prohibition of campaign contributions.
- Initiative, referendum and recall.
- Recall of judicial decisions.
- Simplifying the process for amendment of the constitution.
- Strengthening of the pure food law.
- Establishment of a national health department.
- Social and industrial justice to wage-workers, including a minimum wage.
- Insurance and old age pensions for employees.
- Regulation of conditions of labor, hours of work for women, prohibition of child labor.
- Federal control of trusts.
- A national industrial commission, controlling all interstate industry.
- Revision of the tariff in the interests of the employe and consumer.
- A permanent tariff commission, independent.
- Land monopoly tax.
- Subsidy for women.
- Prohibition of betting in contempt cases.
- Internal waterway improvements.
- Reform of the currency to give greater elasticity.
- Conservation of forests, mines, water power.

- Government ownership of Alaska railroads.
- Leasing system for Alaska coal lands.
- A larger navy.
- Fortification of the Panama canal and strict observance of the canal treaty.

THE PROGRESSIVE is not a newspaper of oppression nor suppression. Its columns are open to all for the dissemination of all matters pertaining to the good of Carter county in general.

THOU SHAL NOT STEAL BRIBE NOR GRAFT

The above is the motto of the Progressive. Upon that motto the Progressive will live or die, sink or swim. We propose to call things by their right names—black is black, a thief a thief, regardless of public opinion, to the contrary.

We have a system of graft, bribery and stealing, connected with our school system in Kentucky that is sapping the very vitals of our schools—robbing the innocent children, the offspring of man whom we have sworn to protect, nourish and succor, and raise up to manhood and womanhood. At the marriage altar an indirect obligation was entered into with God Almighty, with man as the witness, that our offspring should be reared up in the right manner. When we accept the responsibilities of a parent it is a covenant that cannot be shunned, neglected or cast aside with impunity, or without responsibility. The educating of a child is a responsibility resting upon every man and woman in this world of ours, and it can not be neglected. Upon education rests everything good, pure, and elevating—good citizenship, good laws, and a good community. In this State and in Carter county—there exists a pernicious system of graft and bribery in connection with our free schools that make them a dead letter so far as an education is concerned. The schools are conducted upon the graft principle, regardless of the interests of the children, of the taxpayers who pay their money for the support of the free schools. There is graft in the examinations, in the election of teachers, in the employment of trustees and county superintendents, in the building of school houses, and even in the adoption of school books.

The county superintendents and the trustees and the voters, all are responsible for this thievery and there is no earthly excuse for it. Superintendents are elected on promises made to the want to be teachers and trustees for their support. Trustees are elected by the support and influence of teachers—who sell their vote and influence for the promise of a school—and the parents who have sons and daughters whom they want to teach, sells their votes and influence to the trustee on the promise of a school for their family. And mind you, that son of a daughter may be a better subject for the kindergarten or lunatic asylum than the school room; or may be morally and physically, and mentally unfit to enter the school room. These things are not taken into consideration. It is not the welfare of the children, nor the progress of the free school system, nor the best interest of the community, nor the sowing the seed of morality, sobriety, manners, politeness, honesty, etc. nor even education, that the school officers are interested in, but GRAFT, pure graft.

Teachers are given certificates who are not capable of teaching, are morally unfit, afflicted with tuberculosis, mentally incapacitated, and often are given a first class certificate when a third grade would be, indeed, a high honor; the superintendent under his oath of office, has no right to grade a drunken or immoral man as a teacher, and perjures his soul when he permits a teacher of this class to teach a school. The trustee who employs a teacher whose morals are loose, who drinks liquor, who swears and who is a blackguard, is a thief. That man steals from the innocent children, he imposes upon the parents of the children, and robs the taxpayers, a class who needs the schools—of its best influences. The trustee who will do these things, that is, rob the children of the right to get proper training from a proper teacher, will steal anything else. Such a man is not worthy to be trusted in any capacity. Then, there are trustees who traffic in the schools—put them up at auction, so to speak—and sell them to the highest bidder. The trustee who does this is a purveyor and a thief, why? Because he sold that which did not belong to him, but which was the property of the school children; a purveyor, because he swore that he would uphold the school laws of the State, and carry out its mandate covering his official position, and the law does not say that he must sell the schools, but that he must secure good and proficient teachers. The law also legislates against the drinking and immoral teacher.

The whole cause for graft of this character lies with the present day politics. It is a graft system in the higher up stations. A mighty political machine has been organized by the politicians in both the old parties, the paramount feature being graft, bribery, and out and out stealing. This system has permeated everything—even the churches. We are living in an age of graft—political, industrial, and social. The common people are the largest sufferers and they are getting tired of it. In some counties in the State a poor man can not get justice in the courts against the corporations. The people are restless and are thinking. A political reformation, with progressive ideas has taken hold on the masses of voters, and the cry has gone forth that the grafter, briber, and thief must go. The rascality in our congress, our legislatures, in our federal government, our State government, in our county government, in our municipal government, in our school government, in fact in everything, has aroused the American people as they were never aroused before; and the slogan has gone forth: Give us Liberty or give us Death. Hence, The Progressive Party and a Democratic presidential candidate with progressive ideals is now before the voters.

The Progressive Party means a progressive political reformation. The conditions and the men responsible for these conditions are responsible for the birth of the Progressive Party and the progressive spirit in the Democratic ranks. Those now in power—like such men as Penrose, and his ilk, to say nothing of Lorimer, and his gang, who have been riding into office on the shritrail of the Standard Oil Company, the greatest set of highway robbers that ever existed—are responsible for such state of affairs. The money interests—wall street for instance, having a large share in the responsibility. This is not a one man's fight; it is a fight of the common people who are crying out from the depths of their very souls for their rights and the righting of their wrongs.

One of the starting points is at home.

Down the grafter and robber.

THE TRUTH

In our view the American voter should have the facts and all the facts of a political campaign. In our opinion the day of partisan news columns has gone by. There was a time in the history of our politics when a Republican or a Democrat wished to hear only a partisan biased version of what his sworn enemies were doing and vice versa. With the encouraging growth of independence on the part of the individual voter that demand has largely ceased. It should cease altogether.

The Progressive plans to print the facts, and all the facts, on the coming campaign without bias and without prejudice. It will hold fast to its own views and will present them as forcibly as it can in its editorial columns. But we intend that the American citizen, without regard to his party or convictions, will find in our news columns a political record of fact as complete and fair as human can make it.

A SAFE MAN

It is rumored that Judge J. Monroe Robison, of Pikeville, now circuit judge of the thirty-fifth Judicial district, recently formed by legislative enactment, combining Pike and Letcher counties, will enter the race for election against John F. Butler, the former commonwealth attorney, who in the recent primary defeated Roscoe Vanover for the nomination for the judgeship.

Judge Robison is a democrat of the old school, and is a high toned gentleman. He is one of the most able jurists in the State clean, conscientious, upright, fair and unprejudiced. His election would insure an equal chance to the poor man with the corporations in his court. His election would mean more toward the purification of the judiciary of that section, and it is badly needed, as well as the purification of politics, than any other thing that could happen.

Mr. Butler is not fit in any particular, yet he is a very clever gentleman, but his official acts as prosecutor has always been rotten to the core. Mr. Butler is a peanut politician, a grafter, a debaucher of the ballot box, and the defender of criminals for the sake of politics.

Mind Your Business

People who don't mind their own business, bring more misery into families, societies and churches than everything else. They turn the pleasant, peaceful stream of good will into a loathsome pool; they intrude on grounds where angels would even fear to tread. Now minding ones own business is the very best remedy for the itching ears that are never satisfied with hearing and the busy tongue that hurries to speak cruel words. Minding your own business will turn your attention to self, and you will forget to watch so closely the shortcomings of others; it will make peaceful homes, happy neighbors, and quiet consciences; and you will be able to realize and more fully comprehend the truth spoken in holy writ: "Blessed are the peacemakers."

We want to publish everything of a newsworthy nature and clean and decent in which our readers are interested. Opinions about people or airing prejudices will not be indulged in. We want the news, and if you know any don't keep it in your vest pocket and expect to see it in the paper. Tell us, and if we think it worth mentioning it will appear.

The subscription price of this paper is one dollar in advance.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

It is never too late to mend political fences.

A man is known by the Standard Oil contribution he keeps.

Which campaign are they after anyway? That of 1904 of that of 1912?

The plural of Bull Moose is no longer the question. What will the plurality be?

Nobody as yet has charged that the Bull Moose is inoculated with the hookwork.

Perhaps the pleasantest feature of the Penrose incident is that it may never happen again.

Among the other by-products of the petroleum are political scandals and soiled reputations.

Isn't there anything in our national life that can be run without the use of Standard Oil?

The New York vice trust is showing itself to be almost as bad as the United States Senate.

You may talk about Ga. watermelons, and Ala. cantaloupes, and Fla. oranges, but give us Miss Peaches.

On what ground does Senator Penrose propose to sue those anti-Taft electors in Pennsylvania—nonpayment.

Recent exposures are enough to disgust the Standard Oil company with its self imposed task of running the country.

Did Mr. Archbold depart for Europe to try to escape the expense of trying to induce Pennsylvania to vote his way this year?

Curious isn't it, how much easier it is to land American troops away off in Nicaragua than right across the streets in Mexico?

This was a long session of congress but not the record session. The first session of the fifteenth congress did not adjourn until October 1888.

That Chicago woman who insists that big men make better husbands than small men, failed to say whether she means big and down or big around.

Now that a man has invaded the White House and milked the President's cow, Pauline, the guard about the presidential goat ought to be doubled.

Meanwhile, Messrs. Bryan, Belmont, and Murphy, are no doubt making the most of the thinking parts assigned them for State Manager Bryan.

Penrose and Archbold both intimated that the Standard Oil published in Heart's Magazine are forgeries, but we haven't heard of any libel suits being filed.

It was useless for Chairman Hilles to inform the public that the Taft people's decision to make public their campaign contributions was not the result of any moral question.

Senator Cummings has figured out that Taft was not the choice of the majority of the Republicans. But he was undoubtedly the choice of the machine operators.

It is announced that the Progressive candidates for office must keep their promises. Evidently it is not expected that the politicians will seek office on the Progressive ticket.

You remember Senator Foraker, do you not? Well, you will have even more difficulty in remembering Senator Penrose a few years hence. Bailey, of Texas, Foraker, of Ohio, and Penrose, of Pa. has been dissolved in "Standard Oil."

Burke, ex-convict and ex-Philadelphia councilman, has returned home determined to live down his past. Which will be harder to live down, his connection with the penitentiary or his connection with Philadelphia politics, we leave to expert solvers of knotty questions.

Senator Penrose says the Roosevelt people tried to buy Mr. Taft's colored delegates at Chicago at $5,000 a head, and that the standpatters "got back by appealing to their manhood, integrity and honor." But perhaps they also "sweetened the ante," which is an appeal that the colored delegates from the south understand.

A Missouri congressman was roused from his seat a few days ago because he, his daddy and his sister had expended over ten thousand dollars in securing his election, when the state law limited the amount to less than seven hundred dollars. If the Missouri law had been in force here in Kentucky in the fall of 1910, John Langley would now have got as far as Mossy Bottom in his race for congress.—Pikeville Advocate.

The Advocate has no good grounds for its allusion to Congressman Langley. The President of the Advocate Publishing Co., who is or was the Democratic County Chairman of Pike county, was mixed up in a slush funding game to the amount of $10,000. This same gentleman is a self appointed candidate for congress against John Langley, and is the man who swore a lie to beat a printer out of an honest debt.

Partridge Berries. "One of the most satisfactory ornaments for the center of your dinner table is a glass jar or bowl filled with the growing plant of the partridge berry," said a New Yorker who just has returned from a visit to her former Vermont home. "The bright red of the berry against the green moss and the green foliage of the plant is always attractive and looks cheerful. A bowl of these berries on their delicate vines, carefully placed in well moistened moss and kept covered, will last all winter and need no further attention. The partridge berry is native to both Vermont and New York. Keep this in mind during your next ramble in the woods."

GOOD PRINTING.

The character of your Printed Matter makes an indelible impression—GOOD or BAD—upon those who see it. More people gauge your standing—the character and quality of product—your up-to-date-ness—by that than by any other thing; therefore, the need for the right kind of Printing.

Our hobby is good Printing—not fancy, fussy Printing—but good Printing, with character, quality and finish—the right type, right stock, right illustrations—all blended into a strong, dignified whole—the kind that will make a good impression for you.

HIS SECURITY WAS ASSURED

Man With Wooden Leg Had No Fear of Slipping on Polished Floor.

One of New York's leading actors has an elegant country home out in Long Island, and he has exquisite great deal of money in fitting it up with costly decorations and expensive furnishings. The library was recently refurnished with a most expensive floor of beautiful parquet, in which the owner felt a great degree of pride and of which he was scrupulously careful. A few days ago an old friend of the good old road days learned how well he was prospering and went out to call on him. He had met with reverses financially, and also with the physical misfortune of an amputated leg, in place of which he wore a wooden one.

When the servant announced him in the library the best wretch in and was horrified to see the man stumping about the floor with the wooden leg, in a poor specimen of his gorgeous fittings. Speechless at first, he was finally able to breathe a gentle hint to his friend:

"I say, Henry, old fellow, hadn't you better get well in on the rug? I'm so decidedly afraid you might slip and get a fall."

"Oh, no! That's all right," assured the guest. "Don't you worry about me. I'm all right, thank. There is a couple of miles in the end of the old leg, you know."—Judge's Library.

TO PUBLISH POET'S LETTERS

Interesting Collection of Correspondence of One of France's Greatest Poets Discovered.

An interesting literary discovery has been made, an immense collection of the correspondence of Marceline Desbordes-Valmore, the greatest of the women poets of nineteenth century France. The letters included in it were bought one by one from the autograph dealers by her son Hippolyte Valmore. He annotated them and meant to publish them; but when he died a bachelor of 72 about twenty years ago, there was no mention of his intentions in his will.

The albums then fell into the hands of his servant, who was ignorant of their value but did not destroy them. Finding them too cumbersome to carry about with her she gave them away. The recipient preserved them, though without attaching any particular importance to them; and now at last they have attracted the attention of a collector and are to be edited and published in the course of the autumn.

The Gloomy Poets.

In the course of a week a large number of poems reach this office, most of them written by persons who have little experience in verse making, says the Kansas City Star. The striking thing about the output, however, is not so many gloomy poems who have never written poetry should be experimenting with it, but that nine-tenths of them should be so melancholy. The great majority of poems submitted for publication reflect a spirit of gloom.

"What are the wild waves saying?" inquired the poet with one accord. And why do they say it? Why should a sense of woe weigh us down? Why are the autumn winds so melancholy? Why is a sighing, an sighing?"

A careful reading of several hundred poems of this type does not leave the impression that the writers are such a gloomy lot as they might appear. One comes to believe that most of them are, normally cheerful, but that somehow they have been led to suppose that sadness belongs to poetry.

More Used to Horses.

Here is a story that J. O. Chenoweth tells on William Grafeman, the ice cream manufacturer. Grafeman had been having engine trouble with his motor car, and after each trip to the repair shop the same trouble recurred, only to recur again.

Finally, in desperation, Grafeman called on his friend, Emil Gartner, who owns a machine of the same kind, and asked him to look the car over and see if he could find out what was wrong. Gartner carefully inspected the engine and listened to his ca-chug, ca-chug. Then, turning to Grafeman, he announced that there was nothing wrong with the engine except that one of its cylinders was "missing."

"What?" exclaimed Grafeman, incredulous. "I'm positive all four of them were there when I left the garage."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Sensitive.

"You're lost him for good this time," said the master barber to one of his assistants as a customer went out and slammed the door behind him.

"Yes, but I forgot." "What's no excuse. If you can't attend to business, you must go."

"What's the trouble?" inquired a customer.

"He didn't brush the gentleman's head."

"But his head was a bald as an egg!"

"Certainly, and that is why he should have brushed it. Bald-headed men are very sensitive; you must use the brush the same as if they had plenty of hair. To do so gives them an idea that you don't take particular notice of their baldness."

"And won't that customer return?"

"Never. He'll try some other barber's next time, and will even advise his friends to avoid this."

Necessity For "Best" Teacher In Each School District

By JOHN B. M'FERRAN, Chairman Educational Committee, Louisville Commercial Club

III.

A FRIEND of mine interested in schools happened in Boston not long since and in going about investigating the city's schools, on reaching the lowest and poorest part of the city, was surprised to see going up a splendid, beautiful school building to cost $375,000. He said, "Why on earth do you put such a handsome and costly building in this part of the city?" The answer was, "We want to make good, intelligent citizens out of these children, and we think this one of the important ways of doing it."

I should like to know why we pursue the unbusinesslike, illogical and absolutely unfair method of offering three kinds of teachers' certificates, especially now as the counties have the right to tax themselves up to 20 cents on $100 for general school purposes. ARE WE DELIBERATELY TRYING TO MAKE THREE CLASSES OF CITIZENS—THE INFERIOR, THE MODERATELY GOOD AND THE BEST? In a true democracy there is no use or room for classes. Ought not our efforts to be addressed to the one object of making an average intelligent good citizenship?

Under present arrangements we are compelling the poorer sections of our counties to employ third-class teachers whose capacity will not suffer them to go above a wage of $30 to $40 per month, while the cities and towns and wealthier parts of the counties are paying $60 to $75 per month. Of course this higher pay and better environment attract the best teachers, those holding the first class certificates. Now, this is manifestly unfair and very unwise.

THE BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE LESS WEALTHY PORTIONS OF OUR COUNTIES ARE ALREADY SUFFICIENTLY HANDICAPPED BY THEIR POVERTY AND IGNORANCE. WHY, THEN, UNDER HEAVEN ARE THEY FURTHER HANDICAPPED BY CHEAP, INCOMPETENT TEACHERS?

There ought to be, as soon as the proper legislation can be had, only one certificate granted to all teachers and that of the first class. If there are districts unable to pay in full for a first class teacher, for the county board make up the difference out of the county fund, for which it was intended. THESE POORER DISTRICTS PAY THE SAME RATE OF TAX, SO FAR AS THEY HAVE TAXABLES, AS DO THE WEALTHIER SECTIONS, AND THEY SHOULD HAVE A FAIR AND LIBERAL DEAL.

This is not only generous and unselfish, but, as Christlike, and it is a wise business proposition to make good and intelligent citizens out of these less fortunate. I think when the people consider the question deliberately they will see the folly of present methods and demand a change and will get it. Therefore it would be wise for teachers to prepare themselves to get first class certificates, and think they have no time to lose because the change when started will come quickly. The state has two normal schools and the university whose business it is to prepare teachers.

Not 25 per cent of the teachers of the state are taking advantage of these opportunities, and many of them will be left out when the change comes. I am hoping to see the day when our teachers will be better paid, but when that day dawns it will bring with it also an undeniable demand for better prepared teachers.

YOU ARE ABSOLUTELY SAFE

WHEN you buy advertised articles, for the following very good reasons:

THE man who advertises sells the most goods, he buys most raw material, and so gets the lowest market price for large quantities.

THE man who advertises manufactures on a large scale, consequently can afford the latest and most improved machinery, hire the most skilled labor and get the lowest freight rates.

BUY REASON of the large scales created by advertising his goods are bound to be fresh.

ADVERTISING makes it easy for the local dealer. The reader learns the story of the goods and makes inquiry, thus the local dealer gets more customers and sells out his stock in short order.

ADVERTISING, by increasing sales, reduces the cost of both production and selling. It lets both the merchant and local dealer turn their money quickly. Quick sales and small profits is the rule with every successful advertiser.

ALL THESE statements are actual facts and show why advertising should reduce the cost to the consumer. This is especially so with the reputable advertisers who patronize the columns of THE PROGRESSIVE and who are guaranteed by us to give you a square deal.

Mutual Benefit.

A newspaper is a business enterprise just like any other business. It disseminates news for you—that is, it charges so much a year for its news. It is its duty, however, to aid by publicity and argument, and in speaking opinions, to build up the town and community. For this service the editor has a right to expect and demand the moral, physical and financial support of the citizens. If the citizenship is of the right kind, and appreciative, this kind of a support will be given. The lack of it kills the paper, its influence, and its work. That is why there has been several newspaper failures in Olive Hill. If you want a newspaper just simply get your friends and neighbors to read it and pay for it. The editor does not have to tell you to show his appreciation. His paper will speak for itself. How many will use their influence in this direction?

What do you think of this paper anyhow?

Every town should afford a first class restaurant. We are glad to say that Olive Hill has such a one, and it compares from point of service, accommodation, cleanliness and cuisine, with any institution of its kind in much larger cities. The proprietor and his estimable wife make the way here comfortable and at home. Good service and courteous treatment is the motto of this establishment. There is a bar, and can be served in all privacy and are safe from intrusion. Your patron could not be better of impetive Society. Every thing is in a sanitary condition, and good service is given the patrons. Read our unprecedented clubbing offers on fourth page.

LADIES DAY

The Christian Church in The Hands of The Lady Members

Last Sunday the lady members of the Christian church here had charge of the Sunday services. The Sunday School classes were taught by ladies, the singing by ladies, collection taken up by them, and the morning sermon delivered by a lady—Mrs. Reley. The night services were likewise in the hands of the ladies, Mrs. Hicks delivered the sermon.

The singing was splendid and the services as a whole were admirably handled.

Next Sunday the male members of the church will have charge of all the services, and preparations are being made to make the services all that they should be.

The attendance at this church Sunday night was good, church being crowded.

A New Railroad

Articles of incorporation of the Big Sandy & Kentucky Railway Company, of Ashland, have been filed with the Secretary of State. The company is to build and operate a thirty one mile, from Stafford Station, on the C. & O., in Johnson county, through the coal fields of Johnson, Magoffin and Breathitt counties. Capital stock $100,000, and the incorporators are: John T. Adams, of Columbus, Ohio, R. N. Fanning, L. W. Davis, and W. H. Dawkins, of Ashland, and G. B. Martin, of Catlettsburg.

Gone to College

Mat Cohen left last Tuesday night for Valparaiso, where he goes to enter the University at that point. Matt is a nice clever young man, and his many friends wish him good luck.

Squire James Swearing was a visitor here Saturday—Greenup Gazette. The Squire should not have done it.

Joseph Johnson and wife, of Columbus, Ohio, passed through here Monday on their way to visit his father, Jas. Johnson, in Elliott county, near the Carter line.

Rev. G. W. Howes, pastor of the Methodist church, returned from Bourbersville Monday night where he had been in attendance at conference.

Who did that shooting Saturday night? Has there been any investigation? If not, why not? Who shot it? Investigate? Are such things to be permitted in a law abiding community?

If the people of Olive Hill really want a good, progressive paper, let their town and good citizens to whom it is, and to help circulate it. It is as much your duty to do this as it is the duty of the editor to whom up the town. Every head of a family should be a reader of this paper.
