

THE MENELEE METEOR

VOL. I

FRENCHBURG, KY. JULY 21, 1887

FRANK & VANARSDELL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office

East door of Brick,
Frenchburg, Ky.

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Frenchburg, Ky.

M. A. PHILLIPS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW

Frenchburg, Ky.

E. VANARSDELL,

THE CLOTHIER,

Frenchburg, Ky.

D. A. HOVERMALE,

Blacksmith,

FRENCHBURG

KY

$20 REWARD!

I will give twenty dollars reward for the apprehension and delivery to me of James Ingram, who escaped from my custody while at hard labor to pay a judgment for a fine in favor of the Union Sewing.

This Jun. 23, 1887.

Jonathan Ostrick J. M. C.

A QUESTION.

Did BUCKNER Run?

The Republican press are publishing long editorials about Buckner running from Bradley at Grayson, but when the facts are known, none but Republicans pretend to believe that he ran.

When Bradley got through speaking, Buckner asked him if him if he had reported that Proctor Knott had written the speech that he (Buckner) made at Lexington. Bradley denied that he made the statement on his own responsibility. When Buckner saw how Bradley was trying to squirm out of it, he declined having anything to do with Mr. Bradley, who makes statements and can not face them. After Gen. Buckner made his speech he took the train for Louis, completely ignoring Bradley and his assertions.

Washington Hatchet: Another army officer has been punished for drunkenness. His name is Benteen; Carteen would have been more appropriate.

W. O. B. Ramsey is agent for the "Home Beyond" or "Views of Heaven". It is an excellent book, and every person should read it.

VOTERS! The first of August is close at hand, and you should bestir yourself, not that there is any danger for the Democratic ticket in Kentucky (the Republic's own fault).

But the Republican party want to lessen the Democratic majority, knowing that a decrease of Democratic votes will have an influence in other states. Come to the front, Democrats, and save the grand old Star from disgrace by giving Buckner an increased majority say 60,000.

SALE

Howe & Montgomery

Judgment of Sale

Daniel Morrison

By virtue of a judgment and Order of the Menefee Circuit Court, rendered at the May Term thereof, 1887, in the above cause, the undersigned will on the 8th day of August, 1887, at 12 o'clock A. M., or thereabout, being court day, will proceed to offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on a credit of six months, at the Court-House Door in Frenchburg, Ky., the property mentioned in the Judgment, to-wit:

A tract of land lying in Menefee Co., Ky., on Indian Creek and its waters, adjoining the lands of Jno. Helton, Job Ingram, A. M. Buchanan, and others, and is fully described in the Judgment of P. D. Robert's Adm., &c., to Daniel Morrison, recorded in deed book B, page 221, in Menefee County Clerk's office, and contains 2471 acres.

For further particulars, as to description and manner of sale, call on the undersigned at his office in Frenchburg, Ky., or sufficient thereof to produce $1,867.20 so ordered to be made. The purchaser will be required to give bond, with approved security, for the payment of the purchase money, to have the force and effect of a Revenue Bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale, according to law. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms: Bond payable to Howe & Montgomery, Pffs.

W. S. PIERCE

Master Commissioner of the Menefee Circuit Court.

It's a shame that the Christian Church, with as many members as it has here, should let its house stand unfinished when from 20 to 50 dollars will complete it.

A. R. Graham, who has been in jail here for some time, was taken to Capt. to be tried for riding a horse wild at large at some time that week.

WEDNESDAY JULY 26 1887

A SINNER LIKE ME

R. C. J. Butler.

I was once far away from the Savior,
 And I wish us a sinner could be Redeemed by Christ, the Redeemer,
 And I wish a poor sinner like me.

I was cased on in the darkness,
 And I wish I could see, [I wish]
 A light that filled my heart with
 No hope for a sinner like me.

And when, in that dark lonely hour,
 I was comforted sweetly to me, [I wish]
 By Christ the Redeemer, has power
 For a poor sinner like me.

I was dead and he 'twas the Savior
 Who was speaking so kindly to me;
 He is the chief of sinners,
 And I wish a poor sinner like me.

I was only trusted in Jesus,
 And I wish that a boy came to me,
 And I wish I was filled with his praise,
 For I wish a poor sinner like me.

I was in the darkness I'm walking,
 And the light is now shining on me,
 And I wish you sinners I'm telling
 How He saved a poor like me.

And when his journey is over,
 And I wish the Savior shall see,
 I'll praise him for ever and ever,
 For I wish a sinner like me.

Our stock of Ladies Hats plates, and shades at prices. Call and examine our
 Alfred Combs & Son,
 Cornwell, Ky.

G. I. Centers, Sheriff of Wolfe
 County, will posse, pass, through here yesterday, with Jus. [unclear]
 A. R. Graham, Robt. [unclear] and Webb, agents for Franklin with the better three, whose terms are for five and two years, and a life sentence, respectively. Buchanan, who is under sentence of death, was taken to the Mt. Sterling jail for safe keeping.

Vols for Oliver.

Our stock of Boots & Shoes, Dry
 Goods, Groceries &c., &c., complete.
 Bring us your prescriptions.
 Alfred Combs & Son,
 Cornwell, Ky.

Vols for Pieratt.

Hon. V. B. Young, of Mt. Sterling, was a guest at the "Palace" last week.

Best Sewing Machine Oil

M. T. & D. H. [unclear]

W. W. Pease and family, are visiting relations in Morgan Co.

M. A. Phillips has gone to Taylor
 County, in the capacity of Tax collector.

Miss Malaline Oster, of [unclear], visited Mrs. W. W. Pease.

for the [unclear]

J. W. [unclear] Sheriff of [unclear] Co.
 with fever.

Went to [unclear] Bloody Shirt for [unclear]
 Sheriff had [unclear] for [unclear]
 J. H. Orca.

No
 [unclear] not to [unclear]
 [unclear] but [unclear]
 [unclear] but [unclear]
 [unclear] used in [unclear]

Answers in three weeks.

The persons mentioned in the recent issues of this paper by Sheriff [unclear] and by
 We will also give a suitable prize
 one containing the most original [unclear]

Answer
 N. L. [unclear]

Our Premium.

We will give, to the person sending us the greatest number of cash subscriptions in two months, a choice of the following books:

- Life of Gen. Marion;
- Life of the De Witts in America;
- Thoughts of Warsaw;
- Standard Fairy Tales;
- Sage's Family Relations;
- The Boy of the Prairie.

All of the above books are nicely bound in cloth, retail price, $1 - 25.

The second highest list will receive one of Bill Nye's books (paper bound).

After two months the subscription price will be ten cents per month, or one dollar per year.

That Organ.

There is a subscription being taken to get an organ for the Union Subscription School of Freeburg.

All are invited to give their "trough"
 and put it in.

The organ will be bought, and you'll get your money back, and the school will be able to [unclear]

You who never give to any church will please

Is your pocket more of your pocket than your heart? You don't know how to give, by giving, and [unclear]

Subscribe for the Meteor for [unclear] per month.

A Card.

W. W. Pease, Ky.,
 July 22, 1887.
 My dear Willie Frisby, is absent from home with my consent, and any business connected with him, employ my name for legal and address, and [unclear] without fear of [unclear]
 [unclear] that I have him from [unclear] it was [unclear]
 [unclear] the right leave
 [unclear]

W. W. Pease & Son,
 Cornwell, Ky.
 [unclear] ticket

J. T. HOYMAN AND
J. W. VANARSDALE,
EDITORS.

We are authorized to announce
J. F. OSBON,
A Candidate for Clerk of the Menefee County Court.

TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1887.

THE BROKEN HANDOUT.

By OLD CAP LEE.

[Chapter I. continued.]

"How was that?"

"My husband was out. I generally undress when he is absent and go to bed, but leave the door open for him so that I am not compelled to rise."

"Are you not afraid to do that?"

"No trouble has ever resulted from it before."

"You must have thought to have taken such a risk?"

"I never before fell asleep I believe. Generally I have remained awake waiting for him, and only did that to save the trouble of rising."

"But on this occasion you fell asleep?"

"I did."

"Have you any idea how long you had been asleep?"

"About an hour I think."

"During this time the thief entered your room?"

"Yes."

"When did you first become conscious of his presence?"

"On waking up. He must have made some noise to arouse me, for I know I thought it was my husband returning, and I asked: 'Is that you Lew?' He did not answer me, and on rubbing my eyes a little and looking toward the door I saw him just going out."

"What did you do then?"

"For a minute I failed to comprehend the matter and did nothing. Then I sprang out of bed crying that I had been robbed and calling for help."

"You saw the thief then?"

"I did."

"What did he look like?"

Up to this time the woman had responded promptly to every question. Now she hesitated, and the watchful detective, although having no reason to ask her anything, asked her if she was concerned, noting the fullness of her cheeks and the color of her lips and

At last she said slowly:

"I am afraid it will be difficult to give you any description that will be of any use."

"But you saw him?"

"Only his back as he went out of the door."

"That should be sufficient to enable you to tell me if he were a large man or a small one, a fat man, or a lean one. She shook her head slowly."

"I was very much excited," she said in an explanatory tone, "and the gas was burning very low."

"Heal! How long do you suppose it was from the time you saw him going out of the door until you first screamed?"

"Not more than a second."

"And how long did it take you to reach the door?"

"Not longer than it would to count ten."

"With his eyebrows arching peculiarly, the detective asked:

"Didn't you see him then after reaching the hall?"

"Again that hesitation."

"I did not."

"Could he possibly have reached the end of the passage in the spaces of time you have spoken of?"

"I don't know. I didn't see him, though."

France looked about the apartment. It was of the character of those usually found in first-class hotels. It was of moderate size, and well furnished. It contained nothing to denote wealth or personal characteristics of its occupants.

"You are not giving me much to work upon, France now said, in a dubious tone. You are at fault as to his personal appearance, can give me no details whatever in regard to it, and I should judge do not suspect anybody."

"I do not."

"Well, we'll make the best of it! Now, tell me what was stolen? Give me a list and description of the articles?"

Once again the woman stole a look at her husband, who during this conversation had sat silently listening.

She then said:

"You will think I am very stupid, but I can't actually tell you what was taken. I am so excited and nervous yet that I hardly know what I am saying. Lew—my husband—has a better knowledge of that, even though he wasn't there, than I have. You tell him, Lew!"

France turned to the husband. Sarven met his gaze for a moment then dropping his eyes lowly, said:

"I am sorry that there has been any fuss at all in this matter. They should not have given you this trouble of coming for me. So far as I am concerned, I am not at all interested in the matter."

"Slightly puzzled, France said:

"Nothing to be said."

"Mrs. Sarven had a very good idea."

"I am requesting her husband to furnish a list of the stolen articles, and in the negative admitted that some had been carried off by the man."

"You are certain that nothing is missing?" said France.

"I am positive of it. It is for that reason I am sorry you have been called here on a fruitless errand. I am very much obliged, however, to yourself and the department for the prompt response, and will at an early day endeavor to properly show my appreciation of it. For the present—the hour is growing very late—"

France could not fail to take the hint. Good-morning, he said, moving toward the door.

Good-morning, politely responded Sarven, and closed the door after him.

France went slowly back to the office, muttering to himself:

"There is something more under that man's actions and words than can be arrived at in a minute. The room was entered, as he described, and something was stolen—something he dares not mention or describe."

[CONTINUED.]

All kinds of school books for sale or exchange.

Alfred Combs & Son,
Corwall, Ky.

FARMERS!

YOU CAN GET

The Cheapest AND Most RELIABLE INSURANCE in

The OLD PHENIX of

Hartford,

I. M. VANARSDALE.

Frenchburg.

TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1887

Commissioner's
SALE.

E. B. Chamber's Adm'r

vs } Judgement of sale.

E. B. Chamber's heirs

By virtue of Judgement and order of sale of the Menefee Circuit Court rendered at the May term 1887, in the above cause, the undersigned will on the 8th day of August 1887, at 10 o'clock or thereabout proceed to offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, on a credit of 6 & 12 months, at the Court-House door in Frenchburg, Ky., the following property to-wit:

= A tract of land lying on the head of Hawkins Branch, Menefee Co., and on Cain Creek, Powell Co., Ky.

And bounded by the lands John Tye and Robt. Chambers, on the west; by Robt. Chambers and others, on the north; by G. W. Porter, on the east; by Henekiah Willoughby on the south; and contains 569 acres, and will be sold in lots as follows:

Lot No. 1, contains 70 acres; No. 2, 66 acres; lot No. 3, 108 acres; lot No. 4, 25 acres; lot No. 5, 190 acres; lot No. 6, 110 acres.

Lots No. 5 and 6 will be sold subject to the dower, and homestead rights of the widow and infant children of E. B. Chambers; or sufficient thereof to produce $1,392.20, as ordered to be made.

The purchaser will be required to give bond, with approved security, for the payment of the purchase money, and to have the force and effect of a Replevin Bond, bearing legal interest from day of sale, according to law.

Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Bond payable to J. J. Chambers, Administrator. For further particulars see the undersigned at his office in Frenchburg, Ky.

W. S. PIERCE,

Master Commissioner of the Menefee Circuit Court.

Subscribe for the Menefee Meteor,
Five cents per month.

Note for Buckner.

VANARSDELL KEEPS THE FINEST

SUITS OF WORSTEDS, FLANNELS, AND COTTONADES.

THE NICEST LINE OF SEERSUCKERS AND LINNINS.

The best assortment of Children and Boy's Clothing. The prettiest
Kid Shoes and Slippers.

The best Brogans
and Calf shoes to be found in ANY MARKET,

all of which will be sold cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

All Those indebted to me will please come forward and PAY, and pay now.

E. VANARSDELL.