STUDENT THAT POISONED SELF IS RECOVERING

Breathit Lyching Recalled As One Of Alleged Participants Attempts Suicide

WAS ENROLLED AT MOREHEAD

The famous Chester Fugate lynching case, which occurred in Breathitt county on Christmas day, 1929, was recalled this week when Allie Watkins, 19, one of those indicted and later acquitted of a murder charge in connection with Fugate's death, was brought to the St. Joseph's hospital after he said he had taken bichloride of mercury poison.

Young Watkins, a freshman at Morehead Teachers College, was admitted to the hospital early Sunday night and immediately was placed under the care of a Lexington physician. It was indicated that Watkins had taken poison Sunday night in his room at the Morehead College dormitory. Dr. G. C. Nickell, Morehead Teachers College physician and Miss Mabel Hackney, school nurse, attended young Watkins yesterday, but decided he should be rushed to the hospital here.

It was reported at the college that Watkins had been brooding over some secret worry for the past two or three days and had told close friends he intended to take his own life. Bichloride of mercury tablets were found on the floor beside him Sunday night.

Watkins' condition was said to be improving. He had Morehead here Monday afternoon. Lexington physician who was called to attend to him said that he did not consider Watkins "very sick." The Lexington physician said that he did not regard his patient's condition as "immediately dangerous," and indicated he was not certain Watkins had taken poison. Bichloride of mercury is a slow-acting poison.

Young Watkins, with five other kinsmen, was arrested at Jackson late in December, 1929, and charged with murder in connection with the sensational lynching of Chester Fugate, 30, of Breathitt county. Fugate, who was being held in the Breathitt county jail on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal wounding of Clay Watkins, father of Allie, was taken from the jail on Christmas morning, 1929 by a mob. Fugate, attired only in his night clothing, was beaten with a black jack trampled and shot 13 times through the body, arms and legs, before his apparently lifeless body was hurled into a snow filled ditch.

TABBIN' THE NEWS

An independent reporter didn't have to go very far for a story Monday morning. The automobile of Everett Blair caught fire almost in front of the Independent office, and an able reporter hastily covered his notebook with a complete account. A back fire which caught in the carburetor ignited the car, but the Morehead Fire Department, located only a block away, made short work of putting it out.

Which reminds us of the story that Charlie Adams, of the Independent staff, was sent out to cover a couple of months ago, when the fire alarm sounded. Adams discovered that the blaze was in his own home, and had not only damaged the building but burned up practically every article of his clothing except what he had on his back. He came back with the story but much of what he said did not get into print.

Henry Underwood, editor of the "Round-Town" column advised against the purchase of new watches with zip-wind buttons equal to his. A friend of his had a shirt with a zipper fastener and it cut off his tie!

SUB-DISTRICT TRUSTEES LET OUT BY BOARD

Consolidation System Is Adopted With Discontinuance Of 8 Rural Schools

2 HIGH SCHOOLS ARE ABOLISHED

Elimination of all school sub-districts which automatically takes away the power of sub-district trustees, and the adoption of a plan of consolidation calling for the discontinuance of 8 rural schools and 2 high schools and a cut in the enrollment of 3 graded schools, was approved by the State Board of Education in session here Monday.

The resolutions, considered to be the most drastic that has ever been passed by a local board of education, came after O. J. Jones, Public School Supervisor of the State Department of Education, told the Board that it was "mandatory, and not 'optional,'" if the County expected to get its per capita equalized this year.

The eight rural schools that will be discontinued this year, lie along the Midland Trail or other paved highways and the Board plans to transport those students by bus to a consolidated school to be established at Gayhart, Edburg, Lincolnwood, Sharkey, Bradley, Open Fork, Sand Gap, and Minor.

"Since the high schools at Farmers and Elliottville do not meet the requirements of a consolidated high school work, they will be discontinued, and transportation for students will be provided to the Morehead High School," he resolution read.

The resolution read from a 5 member to 2 teacher, school, and the 7th and 8th grades students will be transported to Farmers.

Students at Gayhart and Edburg will be transported to Morehead by bus. The Glenwood students will be taken to the Haldeman Consolidated School. The lower grades at Sharkey are to be transported to the Little Brassy School, and the upper grades from Sharkey and Little Brassy be brought to the Morehead Consolidated School.

The resolution provided that the lower grades from Bradley and Open Fork be transferred to Seas Branch and the upper grades from Bradley Open Fork and Seas Branch be transported to Elliottville. Students at Sand Gap and Minor will also be taken to Elliottville.

A provision was made for a temporary building in the Perkins District and permits be asked from the state department to maintain all emergency schools, which have a school census of less than 50.

Mr. Jones told the County Board that Rowan had previously asked for 21 permits to operate and plan of consolidation, similar to the one proposed Monday, was approved.

COUNTY GETS TRUCK FUNDS

Fiscal Court Puts $1,300 To Road Fund, $700 In Incidental Account

Two thousand dollars from truck licenses, was paid over this week by the State to Rowan County. It is the largest amount of truck fund money of the Fiscal Court. The truck fund has long been a matter of controversy between the local Fiscal Court and the state.

Of the amount received, the Fiscal Court voted to place $1,300 in the road fund and $700 in the incidental fund.

An inspection of all road work and relief projects in the County was made by County Judge Jennings on the Fiscal Court Tuesday.

In session today the Court appointed C. C. Crosthwaite to settle with the County Treasurer. An order was also entered asking for a complete statement from former treasurer J. W. Hogue, to be made on the first Tuesday in May.

Claims allowed include: C. C. Crosthwaite, legal settlement with sheriff, $28; Gerald Burrows, trucking, $126.50; J. T. In connection with a project on the Byrd Antarctic Expedition the 5th grade sent a letter by the Byrd Expedition to be mailed back by them in Little America and bearing the name of the expedition. Leaving here November 1, 1933, it was cancelled in Little America January 31, 1934. It was cancelled because of transportation difficulties in Little America and was re-cancelled at San Francisco March 25, 1934.

Another letter mailed to the Byrd Expedition by the class of 1934, was cancelled on October 2 that year. It came back on the boat that brought the expedition back. It bears a penquin cancellation mark of January 30, 1935.

Each member of the 5th grade class signed their names to the letters.

Teachers Will Be Hired On Superintendent's Approval

Under the new plan all the teachers will be hired by the County Board of Education upon the recommendation of Superintendent Roy E. Cornette. Superintendent Cornette said today that his recommendations would be based upon training, experience and satisfactory service previously rendered.

The resolutions adopted by the County Board in full, read as follows:

"The Rowan County Board of Education in regular session today adopted the following resolution regarding the consolidation of schools in the county on the recommendation of O. J. Jones, Public School Supervisor for the State Department of Education, Frankfort, Kentucky. "It was moved, that, whereas the College Association and Accredited Committee of the State of Kentucky refuses to give credit to high school students for work done in high schools that are maintained with fewer than forty-five students, and whereas the State Board of Education refuses to appropriate the per capita to maintain the schools of Rowan County until the following program is inaugurated:

1. "That the Bluestone School be reduced to a two-teacher school and that the seventh and eighth grades be transported to Farmers.

2. "That the Gayhart and Roldrum Schools be discontinued and that the students of said schools be transported to the Morehead Consolidated School.

3. "That the Glenwood School be discontinued and that these pupils be transported to the Halesman Consolidated School.

4. "That the Sharkey School be discontinued and that the Lower grades be transported to the Little Brushy School and that the upper grades from both Sharkey and Little Brushy be transported to Morehead.

5. "That the Bradley and Open Fork Schools be discontinued and that transportation be provided to Seas Branch for the lower grades, and that the upper grades from Bradley, Open Fork and Seas Branch be transported to Elliottville.

6. "That the Sand Gap and Minor Schools be discontinued and that transportation be provided to Elliottville.

7. "That the high school work at Farmers and Elliottville be discontinued and that transportation be provided to the Morehead High School, because neither of these schools meets the requirements set up for an accredited school.

8. "That provision be made for a temporary building in the Perkins district and that temporary permits be asked for to maintain all other emergency schools in the county.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Rowan County Board of Education that the said program of consolidation be put into effect in Rowan County, as of July 1, 1935."

On the recommendation of Mr.

Jones the board also discontinued all substitutes in the county. Mr. Jones said to the board that this was necessary to better carry out the consolidation program which he outlined.

In speaking to the board Mr. Jones said that the primary purpose of this program was to give to the school children of Rowan County the educational opportunities that are rightfully theirs. The aim of the saving to the taxpayers of the county will be between $2,500 and $3,000 per year.

It is generally known that a teacher in a one-room school is handicapped by having to teach all eight grades whereas, in the consolidated school, she teaches only the one grade and is therefore more able to do an efficient piece of work.

'Folies Bergeres' Friday And Sat. At College

Those fervid fans who think of nothing nicer than Maurice Chevalier — unless it be two TWO Maurice Chevaliers — are directed to the College Theatre, where precisely that miracle awaits them.

For "Folies Bergeres," Darryl F. Zanuck's lavish 20th Century musical extravaganza for release through United Artists, offers the inimitable Frenchman in his first dual role.

As Chevalier, the straggled singing star of the Folies Bergeres revue, whose favorite indoor sport is battling with insanelly jealous little dancing partner-sweethearts, Mimì, Chevalier is the charming chap we all know. But as the suave, muscled, monocled Baron Cassini, who juggles his bank's funds and is forced to make a secret flight to London to try to raise a loan to cover his deficit, we have an entirely new and interesting character; a role which proves that Maurice is an actor as well as an entertainer.

The fun begins when Chevalier whose clever impersonation of the Baron nightly thrills Falls Bergeres audiences, is recalled to double for the frown Baron in life as well.

The Baron's beautiful but neglected wife finds the situation not altogether disagreeable and hilarious involvement ensue. A climax is reached when the Baron returns unexpectedly and hearing of his wife's flirtation, tests her by turning the tables and pretending to be Chevalier. This charming little comedy of errors reaches an unexpected and delightful Parisian denouement.

Mercle Oberon makes her Hollywood debut, looking lovelier than ever as the seductive Baroness, and Ann Sothern sings and dances effectively as the volatile Mimì. The supporting cast is uniformly excellent.

The internationally famous Parisian musical institution from which the picture takes its name furnishes a perfect setting for the gay little screen play conceived by Ness Meredyth and Hal Roge. Roy Del Ruth directed the production with spirit and nerve. Dave Gould staged the stunning musical ensembles featuring Hollywood's loveliest dancing girls, and Chevalier offers five snazzy F. E. tunes.

All in all, "Folies Bergeres" is an enchanting musical and promises you an entertainment-packed evening in the theatre.

"Forgotten Women" Being Cared For By Government

The "Forgotten women" of Kentucky, some of whom, no doubt, feel they were sold out to poverty before they were born and all of whom have been drained by the depression of virtually every source, are beginning to lift their heads above water for the first time in many a year.

From dejection and frustration, they are being lifted through a system of work projects devised by Miss Elizabeth Fullerton, head of the Women's Division of the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration respecting and respectable self-support. More than 5,764 at the latest count are employed in sewing rooms located in almost every county in the State. At a modest wage, they are earning enough each week to put bread into the mouths of themselves and their families, to maintain a roof over the heads of elderly, helpless parents and even keep in school sons and daughters who otherwise would be thrown on the world with educations only partially completed. And, in addition, they are acquiring for themselves skill which will stand them in good stead the rest of their lives.

In quarters furnished by the various governmental units of the State they are making personal and household necessities from materials furnished by the Government.

Sheets, pillow cases, towels, dresses, shirts, sleeping garments, undergarments, trousers, aprons, coats, overalls, comforters and mattresses which they produce are distributed to families on relief which have no other means of securing necessities. No competition with private industry is involved.

To date, these projects operating in most of the 120 counties of the State, have produced 40,611 comforters, 20,151 mattresses, 9,136 double sheets, 72,390 buck towels, $7,245 Terry towels, 5,461 dresses, 3,499 pillow cases, 5,461 pillow cases, 3,094 shirt to, 6,400 single sheets, 5,476 sleeping garments, 321 pairs of pairs of trousers, 370 aprons, 152 coats, 50 pairs of overalls. Production has not really begun on some of the latter named articles.

In addition to sewing centers, women are employed in forty public libraries throughout Kentucky mending, classifying and repairing books. Likewise clerks and stenographers are employed on women's work projects assisting County Agents in the AAA crop Rotation Program and in various ways.

"Every effort," Miss Fullerton said, "is being made to develop skill in excess of that actually required for the straight production. By means it is believed, the women will become versatile and, consequently more employable."

New Liquor Store Open On Main

Announcement was made this week of the opening of the Morehead Dispensary, in the stand formerly occupied by Mutz's Cafe, City Hotel Building. The new store will handle liquors, wines and cordials in package form. Their slogan, "A Modern Store For Men and Women," aptly describes the type of business they intend to operate.

J. R. Wendell, Owensville, is manager of the Morehead store. W. D. Smith of Ashland is also connected with the new firm. Their advertisement appears in this issue of the Independent.

RIDE HORSES TO CONFERENCE
Riding horses and mules over the hills, some of them for 81 miles, every one of the 225 leaders and officers of the 24 4-H clubs of Breathitt county attended a conference held by J. M. Felner, assistant state club leader, at the Robinson Experiment Station at Quicksand. Members of the Jackson Kivans club met the officers and leaders at the hard road, and took them by automobile to Quicksand.

THE FARM AND HOME

The United States Department of Agriculture announces that it has no more plants to sell or give away. It has been telling the people this for 12 years, it says, and yet thousands of requests for plants, shrubs and seeds pour in to it every year.

Skim milk and buttermilk rich in protein and minerals, are excellent for promoting growth and for fattening children and young animals. Stock farmers producing them in abundance have an advantage over farmers feeding grain and hay only. Steaming does not hold most juices, but dries out - and shrinks roasts, which is not desirable, especially if the meat is a little tough. Roasting temperatures should not be extremely high; 300 to 350 degrees are recommended. A higher temperature may be maintained 15 minutes when a browned roast is preferred, and then reduced.

Cinders are placed around septic tank drainage lines tend to solidify and block the water rather than absorb it. Coarse, crushed rock is preferable, and should be where the soil is of a "light" nature. (at most 1/2") may be used to absorb drainage.

No crop of its kind has attracted so much attention in Kentucky in recent years as has sorghum. It will grow on worn and sour soils, helps to build up and maintain fertility, and produce grazing and hay at a minimum cost for seed and seedling. Balanced manure should contain vegetables daily, in addition to potatoes. Green leafy vegetables should be served at least three times a week, a green or yellow vegetable daily, and tomatoes two or three times a week.

UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCEMENTS PASTORS SHORT COURSE

The Kentucky Rural Church Council of the University of Kentucky will cooperate in holding a short course for pastors, church leaders and laymen at the University April 29-May 4.

All pastors and others interested in this course will be notified by mail, according to Dr. W. E. Pittman, of the College of Agriculture, whose department of farm economics is in charge of the course for the University. Several church denominations will send 20 or more representatives to the daily sessions is expected to reach 100 or more.

Prominent Kentucky pastors and church workers and specialists from other states are on the program. Among them are Dr. H. W. McLaughlin, Birmingham, Ala., and Dr. E. C. Cameron, Indianapolis, Ind., nationally known specialist in problems of the rural church; Professor George W. Campbell, Cincinnati, specialist in church music, worship and recreation; Dr. George S. Watson, Louisville; Dr. T. C. Eton, Lexington; Dr. John Lowe Fort, executive secretary of the Louisville council of churches; the Rt. Rev. H. F. A. Abbott, bishop of the Lexington diocese of the Episcopal church; Newton King, Wilmore, director of the radio devotional league; President R. V. Bennett of Kentucky Wesleyan College, Winchester; President Charles Turk, Centre College, Danville; Dr. T. W. Spicer, Keens, Ky.; Dr. F. M. Tindler, North Middletown, Ky.; Rev. Angus N. Gordon, Shelbyville, president of the Kentucky Rural Church Council; Ben Kilgore, Louisville, secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, and President Frank L. McVey, Dean Thomas P. Cooper, Dr. Nicholas, other members of the faculty of the University of Kentucky.

CIRCULAR TELLS HOW TO MEASURE FIELDS

As aid in measuring fields on thousands of Kentucky farms under agricultural adjustment contracts, Earl G. Welch, extension engineer for the College of Agriculture, has written a circular called "How to Solve Simple Problems in Land Measurement."

In establishing crop acreages in the AAA program, it is necessary to determine the area of fields already in crops and also to lay out fields with definite acreages. The circular was planned to help in these arrangements. The usual methods employed often are not sufficiently accurate for determining the allotted acreage under production control contracts.

Farmers, members of control committees and other persons interested in farm measurements may obtain copies by writing to the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

APRIL 15 CLOSING DATE FOR SPECIAL TOBACCO CONTRACTS

The tobacco section of the AAA at Washington has notified the state Adjustment Office at the Agricultural Experiment Station that April 15 will be the closing date for receiving applications of farmers for allotments under the special contract.

The special base contract is being offered to farmers who, because of circumstances beyond their control, such as weather, or because of financial distress, did not grow enough tobacco in 1931, 1932 or 1933 to enable them to obtain equitable allotments under regular tobacco adjustment contracts.

Farmers who have signed tobacco contracts or who could obtain equitable allotments under the regular contract are not eligible to sign the special base contract.

All non-signers interested in signing contracts this year are urged by O. M. Farrington, state compliance director, to see their county agent or local control committee before April 15.

PERMIT FARMERS TO GROW EXCESS WHEAT THIS YEAR

The College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, has been notified from Washington that contracting farmers who sowed an excess of winter wheat, expecting to pasture it this spring and then plow it under, may let it mature and harvest it for seed. They are asked to sign a wheat adjustment contract in 1935 and make additional reduction that year to correspond with increases for this year.

The policy from the AA at Washington says:

"The privilege of unrestricted planting under adjustment contracts is conditioned upon agreement of individual producers to enter into a 1935 wheat production adjustment plan, if offered, and to make additional reductions in their 1935 plantings corresponding to the increase in the 1935 plantings.

With the lignite which has been placed over tobacco acreage, tobacco planters are more concerned than ever before in taking every precaution to prevent a crop failure or a yield which will reduce weight or quality of the tobacco crop. This year because of the large amount of low grade tobacco on hand, most of which will be used in one way or the other as fertilizer, the disease problem looms up as a greater factor than in years past. Because of the fact that some diseases of tobacco, carried in cured tobacco, are under consideration should be given to the disposal of this waste tobacco.

Cured tobacco carries at least 3 diseases which may damage growing tobacco seriously. These are angular leaf-spot, black shank, and mosaic. It is entirely probable that wildfire will be more prevalent in plant beds than usual this year as bed infections seems to originate largely from bits of infected material blown into the bed. Spreading of tobacco trash as fertilizer will, of course, greatly increase the amount of this wind-blown material.

Probably the most serious injury which will result to the tobacco crop if ground tobacco is used as a fertilizer will be from mosaic. Mosaic is an infectious disease which remains active in cured tobacco for many years. Mosaic is commonly known to growers as french, dry weather french, black or blue french, and wallon. It differs from wet weather french in that the latter disease is not infectious and occurs only in certain soil areas. Mosaic not only causes mottled, distorted leaves and stunted plants but also causes one of the so-called rusts. Frequently 2 or 3 leaves will find the top after toppling one will find the top of a leaf with large spotted or burned areas on them. Growers sometimes incorrectly call this wild fire. It is just another symptom of mosaic and frequently a very destructive one to black tobacco.

There are several ways in which tobacco plants may become infected with the virus of tobacco mosaic. If tobacco trash is used on the bed as a fertilizer, either applied directly or made up in a tea and used as water, the bed, mosaic is almost certain to result. Persons who chew or smoke harm-cured tobacco from an infected crop, are almost certain to carry the disease on their fingers to other tobacco plants. Mosaic may be freed from the virus if washed with soap and water. Plants infected at weeding time are a menace to the planting time for if one mosaic plant is pulled, the disease will be passed on to many plants pulled immediately afterward.

Ground tobacco, stalks, trash from the curing barn floor, and ground leaf added to soil where a crop is to be set, will almost certainly result in some mosaic. Last summer a small planting of tobacco was examined part of which had been fertilized with trash cleaned out of the barn. In the area where this was spread, about three-fourths of the plants had mosaic while outside of the area only about 1 per cent were diseased.

The careful tobacco grower will keep all tobacco trash away from the plant bed and will use none of it on fields which are to be put in tobacco this year.

SEEDS SENT OUT

Seeds sufficient to plant 108,000 relief gardens in Kentucky in 1935 today were in the hands of the various county garden supervisors of the state for distribution. Thousands of applications already have been received from relief clients who plan to supplement their relief needs during the summer and coming winter by raising a garden.

From Louisville the seeds were shipped to each county in bulk. There a work project was set up and packets containing the required amount for each garden were made up. On all projects relief labor was used.

Reports reaching Dr. E. E. Pittman, State Garden Director, indicates wet weather has somewhat hampered the preparation of ground for gardens. Dr. Pittman, however, is of the opinion the delay will prove beneficial and looks forward to the production of products valued at several million dollars to relief clients and workers.

In several counties large acreage has been contracted for upon which vegetables will be grown for canning by the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration. Later, more will be employed out in raising the vegetables and in the canning factories. Mrs. W. H. Pittman said, he hopes to have significant several million cans of vegetables distributed among needy areas throughout the commonwealth areas of the state who are unable to raise and food products.

K. E. A. Program

Rowan County teachers, instructors at Morehead College, and many students of that institution are looking forward to one of the biggest treats of the year when they assemble with teachers from every county in the State at Louisville next week for the K. E. A. Program, which Dr. J. H. Payne, President of the Kentucky Education Association has arranged after months of effort.

Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace, will be the principal speaker at the program. Dr. Payne turned to considerable effort to secure this nationally known figure, along with the many other notables that will be on the four day program.

The state will honor Dr. Payne as his work as President of the K. E. A. We congratulate him as well as all teachers of the county and colleges who have shown their interest with the hundred per cent registration.

Dodging the School Law

Two men were summoned or warrants in County Court Saturday for failure to send their children to school. Both complained they did not have sufficient clothing to put on their children. This is the old complaint of every person that is indicted on the compulsory school attendance law.

In a few cases it may be true and here's investigation. In the majority however, the real reason is that the children are kept to work by their illiterate parents who use no advantage in an education.

County Judge Jennings is showing no sympathy for these parents. His attitude is a just and fair one.

On the Relief

The Federal Government has offered direct relief so long that many people have acquired the idea that the country owes them a living. Self initiative and the desire to better oneself is sadly becoming more lacking every day. As long as a man can draw a relief voucher every week there is no need of his working; so long as the government is foolish enough to support his family what is the use of putting in manual labor? That is the attitude that most relief clients are taking.

Instead of direct relief being only a temporary measure it has become a permanent dot, and one of the biggest fish finders in the Roosevelt administration. With it has come petty politics, graft and corruption. It is a sad state of affairs when government has to support the families of its able bodied citizens month after month.

The speaker that this direct relief is done away with the better off.

the government and the relief client will be. Washington is already taking some steps toward ending it with the letting of huge FWA projects, but even so these the general opinion of the PWA worker is to get by with as few pounds of work as possible.

Proud-Pied April

The births of April probably see it at its gayest. Everywhere is a profusion of fruit blossoms—the rosy petals of the peach, the soft white cherry, plum and pear, here and there the lavender black of an apricot tree, and the shell pink of the early-blooming apple. The yards and gardens display a profusion of flowering plants, scarlet-japonica, geranium, marigold, cottage tulips, hyacinth. It is the month of Easter with its implication of new life, of vernalizing flowers, of budding branches, and a rebirth of nature, or as the Bard has it: "...proud-pied April, dressed in all his trim, Hath put a spirit of youth in everything."

Now the rebud, one of Kentucky's springtime glories, has burst into gorgeous bloom, and before his mouth is out the dogwood will display its shivering branches of creamy blossoms to match the charming combination, redbud and dogwood. None more satisfying to the eye than Kentucky's wooded hills and dales with these trees in bloom. Nothing can match them for loveliness at this time of year—unless it be the striking combination of a Kentucky Cardinal pouring out his heart for joy against a billowy background of wild plum blossoms.

The mocking bird has found his voice again and gaily chatters as he widens his great wings to the young earth. Wren, cardinal and warbling vireo join in the unceasing chorus, which may well be augmented by the new and still venter notes. (Courier-Journal)

'SOCIETY DOCTOR' PLAYING AT COBY IS RATED HIGH 'Society Doctor,' the new Metro Goldwyn-Mayer picture which opened last night at the Coby Theatre, has a mass of the various departments of a great metropolitan hospital. Yet, in the sense of the word, it is not a hospital drama. It is a faithful chronicle of human emotions, a composite life-time crowded into the brief space of eight hours. Chester Morris and Virginia Bruce are teamed as the featured players, each offering excellent performance. Morris, as the rebellious young surgeon, Dr. Morgan, who does not believe that love and marriage can mix with a professional career, and Miss Bruce as the nurse, Madge Wilson. Robert Taylor, a newcomer to the screen, forms the right angle of the love triangle, as Dr. Ellis, another intern.

What's What At A Glance In Washington

Central Press Washington Bureau 1935 R Street E. CHARLES F. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is last year's drought area due for another dry year. The spring dust storms seem to hint the same. Herbert Jennings Brown, long-time Democratic House member, announced his resignation in the morning. "These states which, designed by nature to be mainly grazing lands, have had their surfaces pulverized by crop cultivation, and their primitive little lakes and marshes drained out of existence, are doomed to an indefinite number of dry years. The official weather bureau admits at Brown's prediction, of whose accuracy no one doubts, that the corporations continue to pay stiff rates for them—good evidence that they think they are getting their money's worth. Stover, it is estimated that he produced the 1934 drought as well as a crop of 1935—here it is, as we prophesy, at least three far on into the year. A cook said: "Such engaged in my type of work live the slave and work like a machine. "I know women who have been as strenuously overworked that they have been carried out of homes to hospital offices. The fear of losing their jobs, they have been afraid to complete of their long hours." Another speaker, a Negro woman said: "Household workers are certainly hardest because they are not recognized. The woman's worker should have either one whole day to herself or two half days. Furthermore, she should be paid a minimum of $10.00 a week, weekly rather than monthly payments and definite hours of labor during the working day."

CLIMATE CHANGED

The fact has continued Brown said that the climate of a broad area west of the Rockies has been changed. The territory from the Atlantic to the thirteenth degree of longitude, or thereabouts, has its moisture supply swept inland, overland from the ocean of the Gulf of Mexico. "There is an inch of rain swept from the Pacific slope; clouds from that direction discharge their load on the western slope of the mountains. "The atmosphere built in dependence on considerable part upon local evaporation, to prime the atmosphere. And with the disappearance of the region's lakes and streams, there is no longer in a source of supply for the state to draw upon. "The never was a region of abundant rainfall, but its supply was sufficient to fill a substantial part, to hold the soil down and to feed most animals. "The water is drawn up by animals and lowered to the soil, the water surface of the landscape, in a country that is a desert, ready in sleeping away, clear to hard-pelt. "The air is already too heavy, so that it is cooled away when rain does fall."

BENEATH THE SURFACE

Beneath the surface of European war maneuvers is the desire of each government to control the other. Living standards are becoming lower and lower. Marching soldiers, automatically loaded with munitions, are sent to die in some countries from economic collapse.

RITUAL FOR RETAINING BEAUTY

(The Beauty Book)

By HELEN FOLLETT

Try this steady little ritual which wins the beauty race. She never skips a beauty check. The stop-and-go method doesn't do a bit of good. Those who try it find that not only does their complexion have a certain glow to it, but they have a certain ritual to perform every night before retiring into bed. Remove makeup with a cleansing cream, give the face and neck a thorough scouring with soap and water and, if there is need of a bleaching cosmetic use it. Neck has a stubborn way of going hairy.

Five minutes of friction are due the scalp. The finger wave should be put in order, anchored with a cap net. After the hair is washed, lift up the nail cuticle with an orange wood stick and then pass around the cuticle cream to all ten fingers. Stretching, bending and torso twisting will be good to keep the figure young and "snappy".

If the hair is inclined to break at the ends, don't use curling rods. Instead, moisten the little strands, arrange them in circles around the finger and fasten that up with an invisible hairpin.

Extremely dry hair is likely to fluff off at the ends, as well as hair that has been permanently waved too often. In either case brilliantine should be used freely. It makes the hair glister and leaves it soft and silky.

The three-day liquid diet is a safe, sane means of cutting down weight and measurement.

Every four or five weeks is often enough for the ordeal. For three days take no solid food. You can have clear soups, buttermilk, un-sweetened lemonade, milk, cranberry, tomato, mackerel and fruit juices. If hunger comes set up a raw carrot or tomato with salt.

When the hair has been properly shampooed it dries quickly and combs easily. Every hair is distinctly on the way away from its fallow. It glitters, shines and has a live look. If there is the slightest bit of greasiness on the comb you will know that soap scrub has been left on the strands. Few home shampoos are thorough. Without a spray and a strong current of water, it is next to impossible to rinse the well-soaped curly crown.

Honey taffy is just about the closest of all taffies as you will discover as soon as you taste a piece. So get honey and cook together one and one-third cups (one cast) of sweetened condensed milk, half cup honey and a few grains of salt. Use a heavy pan. Stir over low heat until hard ball forms when tested in cold water. Let cool on buttered pan. Pull until firm. Stretch into long ropes and then cut in pieces.

"Business is good in Kentucky," William E. Smith (right), president of the Standard Oil Company (Kentucky) told Mayor Neville Miller of Louisville, when he presented him with the first can of the new kind of summer oil made by the revolutionary Clearsool Process.

More Power to Kentucky!

A NEW kind of summer motor oil refined by the Clearsool Process, which has been called the most revolutionary development in the history of the petroleum industry, was announced today by W. E. Smith, president of the Standard Oil Company (Kentucky). The new Mobiloil will be available throughout this area this week.

"The process 'washes' out carbon and gum forming impurities from the crude oil," Mr. Smith explained. "As a result the oil is free from those weak and unstable elements which burn up with engine heat. Motorists will be able to drive farther this summer and spend less in oil purchases."

"The Clearsool Process developed by the Soco-Vacuum Oil Company is really simplicity itself, although it was discovered only after years of research by chemists and refinery engineers seeking a slow way to improve lubricating oils to meet the demands of increased motor car performance. Two cleansing fluids or solvents are used. One of them, creyatic acid, dissolves and settles the natural impurities present in the finest grade petroleum. The other, propane, absorbs the valuable parts of the oil. Since propane is normally a gas and must be compressed before it turns to a liquid, all of the valuable parts of the motor oil are washed out of the propane-oil mixture reaches room temperature.

"Tests in the laboratory and on the road with the old-type oils showed that the engine valve chambers were coated with gum after 100 hours of operation. Pistons were blocked and rings were stuck with muck. This gum and muck was formed by impurities which the old-type refining method by filtration or acid treatment failed to remove from the crude oil. The new summer Mobiloil has the highest resistance to gumming of any oil yet developed, because the impurities have been 'washed' out of the crude petroleum by the action of the solvent."

Hamilton and an unidentified wounded companion, fresh from a series of robberies, shooting and kidnaping, eluded officers at Memphis, Tenn., after abandoning two hostages in the heart of Memphis.

The bandits escaped after stealing four automobiles, shooting two persons and disarming a whole posse.

NEW YORK: Flying hoofs kicked $2,864,000 into the laps of American holders of Irish sweepstakes tickets Friday when the Grand National Sweepstakes was ran at Aintree, England.

Four Americans held tickets on Reynoldstown, the winner, and will collect $143,475 each. Eight tickets were held in this country on Blue Prince and Thomond III, which finished second and third and rewarded with approximately $50,000.

WASHINGTON: With strike, assertedly threatening in four big industries and labor-clashing legislation, the Administration hurriedly laid before Congress Saturday a secretly drafted bill to extend the N. R. A.

The measure failed, however, to meet the objections of Blue Eagle critics.

It was introduced suddenly by Chairman Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee after Donald Richberg, new N. R. A. head, appeared before his committee in closed session to warn that four major strikes have been brewing and to suggest that quick action of the recovery legislation would help to settle them.

Style Enters All Phases Of Home

Combines Utility and Distinction in the House Furnishings

(Homemaking Helps)

By ELEANOR ROSS

STYLE HAS entered into every phase of home furnishings and appointments. No longer do we look for utility alone. We want our surroundings to be as harmonious and handsome as possible since most of us spend far more time in the home than a few years ago. The manufacturers have taken advantage of this new outlook and are turning out beautiful things for the home at a most reasonable cost.

Whatever you want to buy for your home is now attractive and inexpensive considering the excellence of the article or object and the wide choice offered to the shopper.

Along with other furnishings and appointments, hardware has taken on a new lease of life. No longer is a door knob just that. Today we have door knobs, handles, brass plates, cutchens available in all sorts of materials and styles.

Aid Highways

Kentucky highways, a recent check indicates, are benefited materially by the labor of 31,000 relief workers furnished by the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration's work.

During the last week in March, progress throughout the state with additional projects receiving approval daily. Fully one-third of the work is under the direct supervision of the State Highway Department on the primary road system of the state.

In addition to highway building, the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration now has under way, 92 school projects employing approximately 2,000 men. These latter projects represent the entire scope of school improvement from ordinary repairs to the building of entire new school plants.

Ultra Modern Designs

For those who crave the ultra-modern there are handsome chromium handles and door latches. A most handsome door knob is in white china with a ring of wrought brass, while another design is in glass. Then there are the crystal door knobs that seem to glow almost any scheme. For colonial places there are handsome wrought iron thumb latches and some handsome brass door plates with ornamental knobs.

The shows are showing all sorts of new handles and cutchens for furniture. There are some modern designs in chromium that should be pleasing to those wishing a completely modern interior. Of course, all the old, conventional patterns are obtainable too, but even these look different although preserving their sturdy characteristics. Even if you aren't shopping for hardware at the moment, you will find it interesting to see what is being done.

Relief Survey Is Conducted

A joint survey by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and the Department of Labor to determine the high amount of unemployment or semi-idle worker and his family may live on was launched at Louisville last week.

The survey, national in its scope and including fifty-nine leading cities of the United States, is to be completed in thirty days.

Leland E. Becraft, of Washington is in charge of the Louisville survey, while the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration is furnishing the necessary personnel.

Everything that enters into the cost of living at a fair standard will be considered in the survey. Mr. Becraft said. Upon its completion the findings will be forwarded to Washington where facts found throughout the entire nation will be consolidated.

Results of the survey, Mr. Becraft said, are to be used in arriving at settlement of labor differences, a better understanding of relief needs, and, in all probability, will have a marked effect upon the course of the new social program contemplated by the Administration.

MOREHEAD'S FOOTBALL SCHEDULE TO INCLUDE 8 GAMES

It's Easy With The Dean Boys Dom' The The Pullin'

5 S. I. A. A. FOES ARE BOOKED BY EAGLE ELEVEN

Georgetown, Transylvania Eastern, Louisville, Union Carded

HOMECOMING NOV. 2nd.

The Morehead College Eagles will play 8 football games this fall, Coach Bowling announced this morning, in releasing a partial schedule.

The schedule as arranged so far:

- October 5 — Georgetown at Georgetown
- October 12 — Open
- October 19 — Union at Barboursville
- October 26 — Transylvania at Morehead
- November 2 — Eastern at Morehead (Homecoming)
- November 9 — Open
- November 16 — University of Louisville at Louisville
- November 23 — Open

Negotiations are under way with Hanover (Ohio) College, East Tennessee Teachers of Johnson City, Tenn., and Tusculum (Tenn.) College to fill the open dates. Of these three Morehead has met only East Tennessee Teachers. The Eagles lost to the Johnson City team there by 7-6 in 1933, and defeated them 18-12 here last fall.

All of the games that have already been scheduled are with S. I. A. A. members. It marks the first time that Morehead and Georgetown have met on the gridiron, although they played each other in almost every other sport.

The Transylvania game may be moved up one day to Friday, October 26, Coach Bowling said.

Buick Passed Ford In Auto Race Sun.

The automobile race in the Bible school of the First Christian Church made an exciting lap in the race last Sunday. Those riding in the Buick passed the group riding in the Ford for the first time during the race. At the close of the period the Buick was something over 50 miles in the lead. It was said, however, "look out for next Sunday."

SPORT . . . . SLANTS

Teams in the Kentucky State Baseball League—especially Flemingsburg, Owingsville and Mt. Sterling—plan to raise Morehead for players this week. The players contracts were released to all managers Tuesday and with them began the scramble for players.

However, Claude Clayton and Bob Day, co-managers of the Pirates have not let any grass grow under their feet. They already had Allice Carter, second baseman, and Lawrence Friley, third baseman and outfielder lined up for berths on the Morehead nine. With the acquisition of these two men, the Pirates have four of the most feared men in the loop. They may well hit in 1, 2, 3, and 4 in the lineup and present a murderous row that any hurler in the circuit will have a difficult time getting around.

Friley, a better than 300 hitter and a fast and nifty base runner will lead off. Claude Clayton will hit second, and his average of .850 last year should stand up again. Bob Day, a long and powerful hitter comes third with Allice Carter, who knows no weak corners and drives them out with regularity hits fourth.

In addition to these men, Morehead is virtually sure to have Bob McKenzie, one of the League's leading pitchers; Tommy Ryan, an infielder; Lloyd Nolan, Luther Varney, App Honaker, Wallace Fannin and several other good men.

Negotiations are in process for the acquisition of at least one other good pitcher and an outfielder and infielder. The nucleus of a good team has already been started, and there is no reason that Managers Clayton and Day cannot put a nine on the diamond stronger than last year's pennant winning aggregation.

Luster Orley, who has played for 2 years with Morehead, will likely be seen in a Flemingsburg uniform this year. Orley is doing a lot of talking with Tom Hall, team manager, and the outcome will likely be the Ashland shortstop's name on a Flemingsburg contract. Jarrell Visser, a first baseman, will likely go along with him.

In mentioning the Morehead team, the name of Jim Bob Fugate, of Haldeman fame, who talked so admirably and successfully on the mound in the play-off series last year, and culminated the performance by leading Flemingsburg in the final game that brought the championship home, should not be omitted. Fugate will be back in another Morehead uniform this season.

App Honaker has been out west playing ball every day and may be the surprise of the season. He has put on a lot of weight, tipping the scales at 190 odd pounds when he pulled in here Sunday evening, and is in the pink of condition! Honaker was always a hard and consistent hitter, but shaky in the infield.

A lot of credit should go to Wallace Fannin, who failed to make the first team, because of his stature. Fannin is a hustling ball player that is in there every minute and does everything he has into the game.

An insight on what the Moreheadites will have on the football field this year, might be gleaned out at Jayne stadium where Coach Downing is sending his boys through their spring workouts. It becomes more apparent everyday that Morehead will depend on a team composed almost entirely of sophomores.

Regardless of where they finish in this year's National League baseball race—and they can be rated definitely as a dangerous factor at all times—the Boston Braves, featuring one and only Babe Ruth, will help every club in the circuit disregard the financial red ink this season.

The champion Cardinals were the only outfit to slice up any profits in 1934 and that was due exclusively to participation in a seven-game world series. The novelty this year of having Ruth in the National League for the first time, shooting a fresh target may mean an aggregate increase of 500,000 cash customers. He is not only a life saver for the Braves, who were close to losing in the sponge, but he will boom the business on his first swing around the circuit.

From the actual playing standpoint, Ruth's mere presence has already served as a fresh inspiration for the Braves but there is no telling what the big fellow will do personally. The best that can be said for him is that any time he steps up to bat he will be a menace. Like that other famous old champion, Jack Duggan, he is dangerous as long as he is in the arena and upright. The Babe won't break any more home run records, much as he appreciates the vote of confidence from Rogers Horahy. All things considered he will have a big year if he plays 100 games, takes 80 or 95 home runs and drives in 100 base runners. Such an output would mean a tremendous lift to the Braves, who have been long on pitching but short

BRECK MAY NOT ENTER E. K. LOOP

There is little possibility that Breckridge High School will join the East Kentucky Conference.

Coach Holbrook explained that Breckridge already had games booked with Winchester and Mt. Sterling for next year, and their schedule would possibly include other schools closer to Morehead than the East Kentucky Conference would be. There is a possibility that Breckridge will schedule Mayville, Paris, Olive Hill and possibly one or two other schools. Olive Hill is a member of the Conference but the others are in the Central Kentucky loop.

It was explained that Breckridge has not entirely given up the idea of joining the East Kentucky Conference, but Mr. Holbrook said he believed Warren Lappin, who is director of the Training School, would be opposed to it at this time, would be opposed to it.

Floyd County Wins Intra-mural Meet

Waite Hall and Ed Leslie led the Floyd County basketball team to the championship of the annual intra-mural county club tournament at Morehead College by defeating Letcher 29-27 in the final.

The tournament this year created considerable interest. A loving cup with the members of the team's name engraved on it was presented to the winners and will be on display at the gymnasium.

Floyd succeeded Knott County to the championship.

Olympic Candidate

Helen Stephens, high school girl from Fulton, Mo., proved herself a contender for the 1936 women's Olympic team when she defeated Stella Walsh, Olympic star, in the 50-meter dash and won the eight-pound shot put at the National A. A. U. women's meet at St. Louis.

on power during Bill McKechie's six years as manager. Last year, in 125 games with the Yankees, the Babe drove in 84 runs, hit 22 homers and drew 193 passes.

Ruth will bat No. 3, his customary spot, and combine with Wally Berger the rangy outfielder, to give Boston the toughest pair of distance hitters it has ever had. The Babe will patrol left field at home, however, to avoid the sun and that means extra burden on the big fellow's legs. The fact is Ruth will be occupied to play left everywhere except New York and Pittsburgh. This is bound to cut down the big fellow's endurance.

Famous Dog Appears In New Canine Picture

In support of Frankie Thomas in "A Dog of Flanders," is "Lightning" successor to the dog star, "Rin-Tin-Tin," who plays the part of Leo, the German Shepherd dog in this feature at the College Theatre.

"Lightning" is three and a half years old and is the grandson of the famous dog actor "Strongheart." His owner is Earl Johnson and he has been in pictures for the past 2 years.

The dog plays one of the most important roles in the colorful romance of a boy of Flanders and his efforts to keep his adopted dog and become a great artist.

O. F. Heggie, celebrated character star, plays an important role in the picture and the cast includes such popular players as Helen Parrish, DeWitt Jennings and Christian Rab. Edward Stroman directed the picture for RKO-Radio from an adaptation of the famous classic by "Ouida."

The short subjects this week include a whole reel on the famous Dionne Quintuplets and a Micky Mouse cartoon.

Some idea of the desolation and destruction wrought by the dust storms which have laid waste the mid-west is given by the photo above which shows a barren desert-like farm near Denver, Colo. Practically all vegetation has been killed and livestock face death by starvation. Numerous deaths have been attributed to pneumonia caused by breathing dust.
