SHARKEY NEWS

The little daughter of George Hyatt, who has been very ill with heart droopy, died Saturday, January 22, and was buried at the Caudill cemetery near Sharkey.

Joe Royace purchased a saw mill of Mr. Bill Kessick this week.

Russell Gilkison returned home from Gary, Ind., this week, where he has been for employment and reports work to be scarce.

John D. Caudill made a business trip to Farmers Friday.

The little son of Cleveland Johnson, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is improving nicely.

H. C. Caudill made a business trip to Morehead Friday.

Miss Ora Jane Caudill returned home Friday from the M. S. N. to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Caudill.

J. D. Caudill is getting along nicely with the building of his house near Sharkey.

Carlisle Black purchased a fine milk this week.

HANGOR NEWS

W. S. Utterback made a business trip to Salt Lick this week.

Mr. Martra Tackett, who has been sick a few days, is some better at this writing.

Joe Utterback was the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayes. Quite a crowd of young folks went to the hills Sunday to get mountain tea and reported a fine time.

Clarence Ramey is very busy this week hauling tobacco.

William Tackett is sick at this writing.

John Peyton will soon have his new house ready to move in.

James and Chris Utterback have been hauling lumber for John Peyton.

Bob Charles has been suffering with neuralgia for the past few days.

Farl Ellington went to George Ellington's Saturday night to have a fox chase with his new hounds.

Jim Sweeney, who has been ill for some time, is improving at this time.

Kelly Corneffe's little son, Stanley, is very sick.

Harle Johnson made a business trip to Morehead Monday.

Misses Clara and Lula Johnson were the Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. John McKlaney.

WHO SAID IT—AND WHERE?

"A foot more light, a step more true, Ne'er from the health-flower dashed the dew."

This pretty little couplet is from Sir Walter Scott's Lady of the Lake.

THE GARDEN

Fitting and Fertilizing

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

There is one rule by which to judge whether soil is ready for seed sowing: It must be as fine as the smallest seed to be sown, for a depth of between 2 and 3 inches...

If the garden was fall-broken, the shawing and freezing of winter will have made it loose and crumbly; all that is needed is to drag it smooth and level with a plank...

Closely connected with fitting is fertilizing the garden; if manure is the fertilizer, this is particularly true. If the manure is fresh, and plentiful, it may be plowed under...

Manure is excellent plant food and it acts as a soil lightener, so to speak, as well, but manure has its shortcomings. When fresh, it is high in ammonia and well suited to leaf crops...

On the other hand, to let manure rot down so that some ammonia is lost, is wasteful. A much better way is to balance fresh manure with acid phosphate.

To give exact directions for fertilizing would be reckless, but here are a few hints.

Assuming that the garden rows are 200 feet long, a strip 10 feet wide of cabbage, lettuce or greens would need 1 ton of manure and 20 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate.

A similar strip of beans or peas or corn or tomatoes of any of the root crops, would need only half a ton of manure, but 40 pounds of acid phosphate. The manure should be plowed under, and the acid phosphate disked in just before the final finish is given the garden.

If manure is scarce, recourse may be had to complete commercial fertilizer, though if manuring is omitted manure in succession, the gardener will come to grief because of his soil becoming dense and hard to work.

Just before final finish, disk in over the whole garden, fertilizer of 3-8-5 or 4-10-4 analysis, at the rate of one 125 pound bag to a strip 200 feet long and 10 feet wide, applying nitrate of soap in addition on the rows of leg crops...

FARMERS' QUESTIONS

Question—Would it pay to spread manure on corn land?

Answer—Probably would pay well to spread manure on land between now and plowing time. Three to six tons per acre should be used, depending on its quality...

Question—Is cottonseed meal, at present feed prices, economical?

Answer—While corn is rather low in price in many regions in Kentucky, yet cottonseed meal, due to the big cotton crop, also is priced below what it often sells for...

Question—Where can good Jap clover seed be obtained?

Answer—About 20,000 bushels of good Jap clover seed was harvested in southwestern Kentucky counties last fall. It was cleaned better than ever before...

INVENTORY TAKEN BY MANY FARMERS

A farm inventory campaign inaugurated by the extension division of the Kentucky College of Agriculture resulted in more than 1,500 farmers in 62 counties taking inventories the first half of January...

A gratifying feature of the campaign was the support given by banks. The co-operation of the agricultural committee of the Kentucky Bankers' Association was particularly noteworthy.

"A big factory in our town shut down its shops the other day to take an inventory. The shops were closed for several days until every piece of machinery, every piece of stock, and every piece of equipment could be accounted for and valued."

"Every year this factory goes through a performance. And it is by no means the only place where this kind of a busy business everywhere, that amounts to anything, takes an annual inventory."

"The shops may lay off their men and get behind in their orders at the factory, but that makes no difference. It is imperative that they know how they stand with the work."

"Inventory time has arrived for factories. It has arrived for farms. The best time to take farm inventories is generally between January 1 and when spring work begins."

"By the farm inventory, make a complete list of the value of all that you own and all that you owe. The difference between these two figures represents net worth or true financial standing. Farming is a business and it should be regarded as such."

OVER 17,000 NEW LAWS

Senator Borah says we make too many laws. This country will be a republic in name, and a bureaucracy in fact. If we don't check the wholesale lawmaking machine...

Each law is an experiment, an effort to remedy something wrong or establish something good. Once men were hanged by law, not by branding, for stealing a horse...

A Value You Can't Equal Elsewhere

Long since, the people of Morehead, and of Rowan and adjoining counties, have learned that the sales conducted by this store are unusual bargain producers, and have learned to look forward to these sales with anticipation of Greater Values. But never have we put such effort into the preparation of our stock, nor have we ever before been able to assemble such an extensive assortment of BIG MONEY BARGAINS as we are putting into this sale.

We are now conducting our business on a strictly cash basis, which eliminates much of the overhead cost of merchandising, as well as occasional losses sustained on bad accounts, and are passing this saving right along to our customers in the form of lower prices and better values.

No matter which day you attend this sale, it will be a day of BIG SAVINGS for you. But we urge you to come as early as you can in order to get choice of the numerous bargains we offer.

Very truly yours,

V. HUNT

Another Million for Safety

At approximate expenditure of $1,000,000 The Chesapeake and Ohio has just completed and placed in service automatic train control on the 125-mile section of track between Orange and Clifton Forge. This gives 100 per cent block signal protection on its main line between Washington and Cincinnati, a distance of 598 miles, and also on the 655 miles between Newport News and Cincinnati, except for a distance of seventy-six miles.

This is further evidence that The Chesapeake and Ohio, in common with the other big Carriers, does not consider expense when the matter of bettering Safety conditions is involved. The outlay in the installation of all sorts of Safety devices, signaling systems, automatic controls and improved machinery and equipment in the past few years reaches into uncounted millions. Such expenditures have been made in the effort to protect and safeguard passengers to the highest possible degree.

The resulting value to human life and safety is seen in the reduction of passenger and employe fatalities nearly 60 per cent in the past thirteen years. And this reduction has occurred in the face of the great increase in the number of employes and in the greater volume of passenger traffic.

The aim of the Railroads is to reduce all accidents to the lowest possible number attainable by the end of 1930.

W. J. HARAHAH, President,
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway.

PRODUCE REVIEW

During the week under review a further decline is noted in the egg market of the country. Today, fresh firsts at Chicago are quoted at 32 1/2 to 33 cents, which is 2 cents lower than on the corresponding day last week; while at New York, the markets are unchanged from last Saturday, which makes a net decline of 3 1/2 cents a dozen as compared with quotations of Jan. 24.

The total receipts of eggs at Chicago, New York, Boston and Philadelphia so far in 1927 show an excess over the same period in 1926, although last week, the receipts from Monday to Friday inclusive are a little less than the same days of the previous week. Egg production is increasing slowly and market prices will fluctuate from day to day in accordance with increasing supply and demand.

The butter market reflects quite a change in the views of buyers. Production is not increasing as fast as expected and there is some reduction in the amount of foreign butter available. The market has quickly responded to the sentiment and today 30 score Standards at Chicago are quoted at 42 1/2 cents, which is an advance of 2 1/2 cents over the corresponding day last week, while at New York, 92 score Extras are quoted at 49 1/2, an advance of 2 cents a pound for the week under review. Stocks of butter in storage are less than a year ago and unless production picks up at an unprecedented rate, we are likely to see a satisfactory butter market for the next week or two at least.

The volume of live poultry moving is generally satisfactory, the only point noted in that on some of the larger markets the supply was a little short up to and including Wednesday, but there was a little oversupply Thursday and Friday. Prices are moving within a very narrow range, but it is noted in passing that the demand is not quite up to expectations.

The dressed poultry trade has been very quiet. Chickens are largely running stagg. Receipts of fowls have been light and prices have been steady.

POPULATION OF THE

U. S. IS 118,628,000
Computations by the population of continental United States on July 1, 1927 will be 118,628,000.

That is an increase of 1,492,000 over the estimate for July 1, 1926, and an increase of 2,917,250 over the figure for January 1, 1920, when the last actual census was taken.

The new estimate announced today by the census Bureau, is based along other things, on available data regarding births, deaths, immigration and emigration. Estimates for each of the states were made by distributing the total estimated increase in the same proportions as the actual increase between the two censuses of 1910 and 1920 was distributed. Those States which showed a decrease between 1910 and 1920 or between 1920 and 1925, however, were not credited with having made any increase since.

No figures were announced for geographical divisions smaller than states. The bureau's comparative table of the 1920 census and the 1926 and 1927 estimates follows:

As editor of the Snagtown Torchlight and mayor of Snagtown, I wish to say to the many readers of this paper that this article will be published once a week, either on Tuesday or Thursday.

Discipline is being one's own schoolmaster. Discipline means the difference between success and failure. With it you come to contentment; without it you arrive at peevishness, petulance and pessimism.

And the more you roam around the world, the more you discover that people are being humored when they should be cubbed.

If you wish to be regarded as strange, erratic and peculiar, just tell the truth. There is scarcely any competition in this line.

FRENCH RED CROSS FOR BLIND

Since May, 1925, when the French Red Cross organized a blinded soldiers' bureau, whose expenses are borne by an American committee, the work has been extending to embrace a very large proportion of the 2,000 French soldiers who were blinded during the World War. William Nelson Campbell, an American philanthropist, has devoted large sums of money to the rehabilitation of this class of unfortunate men in many countries, and the French Red Cross acts for him in the distribution of Braille books to them. Through 215 local committees of the society, more than 1,000 visits have been paid and Braille books distributed.

Red Cross workers give their service as instructors in reading Braille that a large number of the blinded men may profit by the supply of reading material. The American Braille Press has presented to the blinded soldiers' bureau a supply of silver watches expressly designed for the use of the blind. So useful has the bureau become that, although maintained primarily for the benefit of ex-soldiers, it is probable that its activities may be extended to civilians.

Farmers Told To Use Electric Power Freely!

Must Adapt It to Many Purposes to Make it Successful.

Chicago, December 8—(AP)—The American farmer will derive fullest benefit from power production when he uses electricity as it is used in the city factories—for every possible purpose—the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation was told here today by R. F. Pack, Minneapolis, president of the National Electric Light Association.

He said it is an economic impossibility to deliver small amounts of electric energy to scattered farm customers at an acceptable price. The failure of most rural electric lines, according to him, is due to the fact that farmers limit the use of current almost exclusively to lighting.

"The farm must be regarded as a factory" he continued, "and electricity applied in a multiplicity of ways to increase output and cut labor costs the same as has been done in city factories."

Experiments carried on by cooperative committees of various rural interests he said, have shown at least 100 practical uses for electricity on the farm.

Farmers of Rowan and adjoining counties, consult us in regard to using electricity on the farm.

grown together, with a self-fed bone-meal mineral mixture, gave the station $1.16 a bushel for its corn. The least money was received where hogs ran in corn alone, with no mineral mixture, $1.03 a bushel. The lot of hogs receiving tankage and salt produced 10 pounds of pork per bushel of corn consumed. Where a bone-meal mineral mixture was self-fed, 9.9 pounds of pork was made for each bushel of corn. Then followed the corn and salt hogs, with a gain of 8.9 pounds per bushel of corn consumed. The hogs running in corn and soybeans, with a mineral mixture self-fed, returned 8.5 pounds of pork for each bushel of corn, while the hogs getting corn only, returned the smallest gain, 7.5 pounds per bushel of corn. In these classes are taught the principles of personal hygiene and health habits essential to the physical and mental vigor of every individual. Students learn how to plan a healthful home, perfect in cleanliness, in sanitation, ventilation, and lighting as well as in furnishing and care. They are taught how to handle, bathe, dress and feed babies and small children, safeguarding their health throughout the growing period. They learn how to make a patient comfortable, give a bed bath, change the linen of an occupied bed, prevent the spread of disease and deal with common ailments and emergencies. In addition to this they are taught the principles of community welfare, which insure to every citizen thru co-operative effort, the protection of life and health. FIFTY DOLLARS MAKES FIFTY CHILDREN HAPPY Fifty dollars makes 50 children comfortable during the hard winters in China. Last year the General Relief Committee of New York City sent to National Headquarters of the American Red Cross a gift of $50 for the Red Cross Society of China to expend for clothing for children. The Director General of the Society writes acknowledgement: "It is very kind of you and of your friends to remember the Chinese children at this time of the year when need is so severely felt. Winter has come with its usual merciless cold, and on account of the present situation in China it doubles the misery imposed upon the poor children. Therefore, your gift is just the very thing given in season. So we will utilize the sum to make cotton quilted suits for the children and as soon as they are fitted, a picture will be taken and sent to you. Just think that you have through your generosity, given protection to about 50 children from cold for four months when intense cold is expected." MORE JAP CLOVER SOWN While no Kentucky county sowed more than 100 bushels of lespedeza (Jay clover) in 1926, six counties last year sowed more than 1,000 bushels each, and 22 counties from 100 to 850 bushels each, according to county agent reports to the College of Agriculture at Lexington. Ralph Kenney, crops specialist at the college, urges the wider use of lespedeza for pasture improvement. He hopes to see 1,000 to 3,000 bushels of seed used in many counties this year. About 20,000 bushels of the lespedeza seed was harvested in the state last year, and Prof. Kenney predicts an annual seed crop of at least 100,000 bushels within five years.
