C. U. WALTZ, 57 DIES SUNDAY IN C & O HOSPITAL

Prominent Rowan Lumber Dealer Succumbs After Five Weeks Illness

WELL KNOWN IN EASTERN KY.

A five weeks illness took its toll early Sunday morning as Charles U. Waltz, prominent lumber manufacturer and owner of the Chesapeake and Ohio hospital in Huntington at 5:55 a. m. Most of the family were at his bedside when Mr. Waltz died.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Leslie Hatcher, former head of the Old Morehead Normal School and a Christian pastor at the Christian Church at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial was made in the Lee Cemetery. The funeral rites were impressively conducted. The church was overcrowded with sorrowing friends and life-long acquaintances.

Mr. Waltz was a son of the Christian Church, and had been its active and able inspector for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for 11 years. He was well known throughout Eastern Kentucky.

After several weeks of hospital confinement for a time was slightly improved, but during the last few days he grew steadily worse, and last week physicians gave up all hope for recovery.

He died from hemorrhaging of the liver and probable pyemia.

Mr. Waltz was born at Cranston, and spent his entire life in Rowan County. For many years he was in the timber business at Morehead. He was married in 1884 to Miss O. Whately who survives.

Surviving are a son, Wilford Waltz, Morehead, and a daughter, Mrs. M. M. Waltz, Salt Lake; H. E. Waltz, Frank, Kansas; Mrs. E. H. Waltz, Ocala, Va.; G. W. Waltz, Baltimore; and several other relatives in various parts of the state. He is survived also by Mrs. M. M. Waltz, Salt Lake; H. E. Waltz, Frank, Kansas; Mrs. E. H. Waltz, Ocala, Va.; G. W. TABBIN THE NEWS

"Very Good"

"Good morning," is the Lexington Herald tells the following: "A Fleming county resident faced Negreville's acting police judge, Thaddeus Porter, for the second time in a week on a charge of being drunk."

"The other day you drink him awfully," the acting judge asked.

"Very good," replied the defendant.

"Then drink this half pint of cancer oil or you'll talk like this."

"The defendant drank the cancer oil and was allowed to go."

Life or Death

Under a new Kentucky law, the least a jury can give anyone on a charge of assault with intent to kill is life. This offense carries only two possible life imprisonment or death.

Dr. Percival, 36, who held up a tank driver and robbed him of $25.00, was found guilty in Fayette Circuit Court and drew the life imprisonment sentence. The jury had no other recourse, unless it was to sentence him to the electric chair.

The three merchants should take note before they show a gun under some citizen's nose and demand his money. They are liable to find themselves at Frankfort for a long, long time.

Snow, Near Freezing weather Brings Winter Back Killing Fruit Crop and Causing Discomfort; Plains Suffer

Cold blasts and snowstorms chased spring out of Kentucky this week, bringing temperatures in Rowan County that range as low as 20 degrees.

The cold was extended from the Rocking Horse State to the Appalachian Mountains, as low as 20 degrees were recorded in the Northwest. Snow covered budding vegetation throughout the country and the fruit crop is expected to be lost in half of the state. The cold weather and snow stopped the buds and blooming trees.

There was unusually large demand for coal here, many families being caught with little or no fuel. The cold wave gave winter like work as the mercury dropped and it was slightly over the forties. The weather was warm and gave signs of returning spring Sunday, but it was only a false alarm. Monday and Tuesday brought two of the coldest days that Kentucky has had in April for many years.

Former Fleming County Sheriff Announces For State Senator, 3 Out For Representative; State Races Heated

By W. E. Crawford

Following the announcement of J. Frank Hurt, of Williamson, former Fleming County sheriff and chairman of the county Democratic committee, for the Democratic nomination of state senator from this district, political circles look for several other results in the race to file with the state for election.

The death of Judge Allen Young of Morehead, who held the Senatorial post since 1923 and effectively stayed off all attempts to wring the position from him, has thrown the race wide open this year with at least 4 counties in the district likely to place a name on the ticket. This district is composed of Adams, Boone, Breathitt, Fleming, Lincoln, Logan, Mingo, Putnam, and Wayne counties.

Discretionary Member

Colonel C. E. Dougherty, Democrat, Morehead, and one of the active supporters of Judge J. B. Canfield, President of the county Democratic ticket in Rowan into office on his ticket, has been mentioned for the Senatorial post.

It is understood that J. W. Riley, president Rowan County attorney, and former County Judge, has been mentioned for the Senatorial post from this district.

The race has not reached any final stage as yet, and there is sure to be several candidates out, who have not been mentioned yet.

In the Republican ranks there is a very large list of the supporting names of the active voters with the Republican voters, having a large number of votes, but the Democrats, it can be safely said that the log cabin will carry under it many names.

Both County's year come up to select the State Representative from the 96th legislative district. 3 names announced for the Democratic ticket, while the Republicans, following precedent are sure to put out one name, Bath County, which has the largest vote is a Democratic stronghold, while Rowan is almost evenly divided and Democratic in 1930. Almost without exception the 96th district is a Democrat.

Walter J. Bailey, Democrat, of Prestonsburg, was representative in 1918 and 1928, and ran second to Jim Hatcher for Railroad Commissioner in the last race has announced for re-nomination. He opposes the mile tax, favors the free textbook

Government Gets Results From Lespedeza Crop

By JAMES SPEED

"Certainly the Federal is showing progress," Mr. Perry continued, "in giving you some estimates as the figures can not be checked at the moment. Here they are: The total amount of seed thrashed on the farms controlled by the Land Bank was something like 60,000 pounds.

This seed represented a small portion of the average in lespedeza. Many acres were craned by cattle, sheep and hogs.

"A rough estimate as to the seed these farmers will sow this spring we set at 200,000 pounds."

"We do believe in lespedeza," Mr. Perry continued, "and we will seed heavily this year. Why should we hold back on a few extra pounds to be sure when it seed is so very cheap? We now know that by increasing the rate of sowing to 15 or 20 pounds to each acre, our farmers can secure a crop of hay or seed the first year."

If Uncle Sam, banker, so enthusiastic about lespedeza, farmers everywhere should follow suit and sow this legume extensively.

COLLEGE OFFERS FREE PICTURE TO CELEBRATE FAVORABLE DECISION

It has been a long time since the picture going public of Morehead had the privilege of seeing Edward G. Robinson in a picture. In "The Whole Town's Talking" youth see his best performance since his "Little Caesar." Robinson plays a dual role. By day he is a humble, timid clerk, but by night he's a bad bold gangster. It will captivate your attention to see him play the two roles. Jean Arthur carries the feminine lead in a charming way.

Read all of the reviews available to you on this picture. Each of them praise it as one of the outstanding down-to-earth pieces of screen entertainment of the current season. You may see it at the College Theatre either Friday or Saturday evening.

A Victory for Hollis

Prof. E. V. Hollis has secured another victory and overrode precedent in doing it. With the knowledge of the decision of the Supreme Court of the Motion Picture Industry Code...

True, the college had a good reason for its appeal and something to stand on. But they would have failed to win out. The real game should go to Prof. Hollis, however...

We venture to say if Morehead side had been prosecuted by licensed attorney, the decision would have been different.

It is indeed a pleasure to say that a college professor is capable of doing other things besides teaching principles and theories.

Senatorial Race

The time is drawing close for an announcement in the Senatorial race to fill the place of the late Sen. Allen W. Young. So far there has been considerable talk, but only one announcement for the post.

Apparently there is a consensus that Rowan County will put out a name—probably a Democrat. Fleming has one announcement and others may follow from that County. It is safe to say that at least one from Rowan will announce for the Senatorial post.

Although nothing definite could be reported at this time, it can be stated with a great deal of assurance that there will be several candidates. They are all standing back awaiting the announcement of the other fellow.

It is probable that conversation of the Morehead State Teachers College will be one of the leading planks in every candidate's platform. It is thought that all of us are intelligent to the degree it is usually applied—all of us are intelligent to our extent.

Intelligence

Intelligence is a virtue that everybody had acquired through years of successful observation and the ability to store facts away in ones mind. Intelligence means the successful application of power. Facts to feed the intellect. Not all of us are intelligent to the degree it is usually applied—all of us are intelligent to our extent.

In present day life we need only be highly intelligent in our time of necessity and such a credit to our intelligence.

concentrates on one phase and as a result is the more successful of the two although he may not have more wrinkles on his brain than does the man who does two things well. Psychologists give us a test to determine what our intelligence in those tests cover many fields of endeavor. The man that knows something about everything will probably outscore the one who knows much about one thing and little about everything else.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT STOPS DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS

WASHINGTON.—The Postoffice Department's experiment as a hand distributor was declared a failure by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

He signed an order rescinding, effective July 1, the department's order permitting direct mail address systems for posters and other advertising. Under it the matter could be sent only to any particular person by name but merely addressed to "householder" or "patron."

The official reason given was that the department has concluded that the revenue derived from this source is not sufficient to justify its continuance.

When the order was originally issued on October 12, 1934, it created a storm of protest from newspapers on the ground that it tended to eliminate advertising from newspaper columns.

(Strike threats in three basic industries employing over one million workers have hampered up in operation of the Roosevelt recovery program. New Deal, led by Donald Richberg, NRA chief, right, have taken steps toward peace plans designed to avert wholesale labor trouble. Strike threats have come to a head in the textile trade, in which Francis Gorman, lower center, is spokesman; in the mining industry, where John L. Lewis, upper center, is chief, and the automobile industry, which William Green, left, president of the Federation of Labor, has been attempting to organize.

COMPROMISE SOLDIERS BONUS BILL DRAFTED BY ROOSEVELT

A compromise soldiers' bonus bill—labeled by its author as acceptable to President Roosevelt—was drafted Monday night in an effort to head off the powerful drive for the inflationary Patman bill passed recently by the house.

Chairman Harbo of the senate finance committee announced he probably would introduce the bill Tuesday. While the measure was being prepared, he sought to work an agreement on it with leaders of the bonus drive.

While the money Mississippi would disclose the nature of his bill. It was reported to be a combination of a number of other measures which have been offered as substitutes for the Patman bill, but primarily on the idea of advancing the maturity date of the adjusted service certificates of 1938.

I was understood, also, that the Kentucky Emergency Relief Administration was announced Monday afternoon by Governor E. Goodman.

Mr. Marje will succeed Perry A. Rose, who has resigned to take a position with Kentucky Rock Asphalt Company. The new director was assistant to Mr. Rose from November 1 until the latter's resignation.

LOUISVILLE'S POPULATION REACHES TOTAL OF 376,549

Louisville was credited a population of 376,549, an increase of 2,374 over last year, in the sixty-fifth annual city directory issued Monday by the Census Bureau.

administration measure would propose giving veterans negotiable bonds up to the current value of their certificates, which they could either cash or retain until maturity in 1938 to obtain the full face value of their certificates. Under the advance date plan, the certificates would be dated from the World War armistice, November 11, 1918, instead of 1926, after the bonus law was enacted. This would advance the maturity date of the 20-year certificates from 1946 to 1938, and materially increase their current value. It is further understood that the bill would propose to give private a declaration of policy that the bonus would settle the demands of the veterans and that congress would not consider a general pension plan in the future. Quick Action Planned Harbo indicated that his committee would hold brief hearings on the bill next week and quickly report to the senate. They asserted that the bonus leaders would have to take the administration bill or nothing, because President Roosevelt would veto either the Patman or the Wilson bills providing for full cash payment. The leaders lay claim to sufficient votes in the senate to uphold a presidential veto of either of these bills. The Patman bill would pay the bonus with new money. The Wilson measure proposes to pay the certificates out of the treasury, as was last year, in the form of government bonds, without issuance of a new issuance of currency.

PROSPECTIVE JUNE brides will find the new bridal gown livelier than they ever have seen before. Those who start shopping now for the togs they drop down the middle aisle will find only one dress—try to choose which of the glorious creations they really like best. Today we illustrate a lovely form made of net with a full, billowy skirt and voluminous sleeves reminiscent of the gay nineties. Its train is attached to a separate panel in the back and the lovely veil is attached to a coronet of white tulle.

He gave his listeners an impressive picture of the great advances into which God would bring them if they would submit to revival, and showed them that such a revival would bring about a great change in our attitudes toward our lives as well as the salvation of the world about us.

and ruled Morehead College did not offer "unfair competition," to the Trimble.

Prof. Hollis said that the favorable decision meant the college show will operate as in the past. It is probable that the Sunday afternoon show will be changed to Sunday evenings after this week.

Officials at the college felt that Prof. Hollis' fundamental knowledge of the motion picture industry and the N. E. A. Code under which it operates plus his skill in developing and presenting the case in New York was likely the chief cause of saving the entertainment center of the college and community.

ed on developments in the gubernatorial race. Of prime interest was the return of former Governor J. W. Beckham from Florida to the New Governor. Beckham was in Washington this week and called on political leaders. From those conferences is expected to come the announcement of whether Beckham will run for the Democratic nomination. He is expected to make a definite statement when he returns to Kentucky, probably today.

Friends of Beckham said the Federal Administration looked with favor on the idea of Beckham's candidacy. They will probably land "behind the scenes" support if Beckham runs. If Beckham does not run, Lieutenant Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler is virtually sure to make the race, with an eye on the large block of anti-administration votes.

Richmond May Be Candidate
James H. Richmond, State Superintendent of Public Instruction may announce this week for the Democratic nomination for Governor. He is considered a strong candidate in the class with Thomas Elam, Ed. Wolf-backed man, and Fredrick Wallis, of Paris, long political power. Richmond's friends claim they have the school vote solid.

Joseph R. Bates, County Clerk of Fleming County, and considered as Fed. M. Vinson's right-hand man has been named assistant campaign chairman for Elms. This would indicate that Gov. Governor Vinson may back Elms, although he was an ardent opponent of Governor Laffoon's on many instances.

Of interest from the Republican party is a definite announcement that former Governor Edwin P. Morrow will not be a candidate. Meanwhile, Judge King Swope, Lexington jurist, has made several speeches over the state, and remains the outstanding man in the G. O. P.

Senator M. M. Logan said this week in a signed article that he would be up for re-election.

Notice to Dog Owners

The law requires every person who owns or harbors a dog to get a license, $1.00 for males, $2.00 for females.

The penalty for failure to do so is a fine in any amount not to exceed $100.00.

The law requires the sheriff to enforce the dog license law, and the penalty for his failure to do so is a fine not less than $10 nor more than $100 in each case.

Your Sheriff has been indicted once for failure to comply with this law, so it isn't a question of choice with the Sheriff but the law makes it his duty to use every effort and means in his power to collect the dog license. If you have an unlicensed dog, get your license at once. If you fail to do so, don't blame the Sheriff if a warrant or summons is served on you.

Every dollar paid for dog license in Rowan County stays in this county and is used for two good purposes.

The State and County Authorities are back of the Sheriff.
