POETRY.

THE SONG OF THE CAMP BY BAYARD TAYLOR.

Give us a song!" the soldiers creed,
The outer tranches guarding.
When the heated gume of the camp allied
Grew weary of bombarding.
The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay grim and threatening under,

There was a pause. The guardsman said "We storm the fort to-morrow," Sing while we may, another day May bring enough of sorrow."

May bring enough of sorries."
They lay along the battery's ide,
Below the smoking cannon—
Brave hearts from Severa and from
And from the banks of Shannon
They sing of love and not of fame,
Forget was Britan's glory;
Each beart recalled a different name,
But all sung "Annie Laurie"

Voice after voice caught up the song, Until its tender passion Bose like an anthem rich and strong — Their battle eve confession

Dear giri, her name he dared not speak Yet as the song grew louder, Something on the soldier's cheek Washed off the stains of powder.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters
With scream of shot and burst of
And believing of the mortars.

Ah, soldiers, to your honor rest, Your truth and value bearing— The bravest are the tenderest, The loving are the daring
