

Rhea Gains Favor In State Race

WALLIS, CHANDLER SEEN AS MOST LIKELY CONTENDERS FOR GUBERNATORIAL CHOICE

Thomas Rhea, Russellville, appeared to hold a commanding position in the Democratic gubernatorial election this week. He started a vigorous campaign this week.

Judge King Swope still holds the spotlight in the Republican ranks with most political observers from that party picking him as the choice for nomination.

Little information is forthcoming from the camp of James H. Richmond, state superintendent of the public instruction, other than the fact that he will not start his tour of the state until after the close of the schools. However, it is known that he has been quietly working up an organization which will make a whirlwind campaign when it begins its action.

Rhea forces are outwardly giving little credit to reports that Mr. Richmond will be a strong contender for the gubernatorial nomination. However, some observers feel that they are taking this attitude in an effort to hide their fears and, at the same time are baiting their hooks for the Richmond followers.

At the present time workers for Mr. Rhea apparently are centering their activities on the organizations of Frederick A. Wallis, of Paris, and Lieut. Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler, but the coming week will in probability see them working on the supporters of other candidates in the field.

With the Derby out of the way all of the candidates undoubtedly will spend more time on their campaigns. Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton has announced that he will begin a speaking tour in the western part of the state his coming week, while Lieut. Gov. Chandler is expected to open his stumping activities in the northern section of Kentucky.

State Treasurer Elam Huddleston and Mr. Wallis already have made a number of speeches and are expected to redouble their efforts this week.

Mr. Wallis has announced that he will go to Frankfort in Floyd county, Tuesday where he will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Judge John W. Caudill. At 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night he will address a group of voters at the Floyd County courthouse.

It is the intention of the Bourbon county candidate to spend about 10 days in eastern Kentucky for the purpose of meeting the voters and building up an organization in the section.

While Mr. Wallis is in eastern Kentucky, State Treasurer Huddleston will go to western Kentucky, he being scheduled to address a gathering at Clinton, in Hickman county, Tuesday. Mr. Huddleston will spend the remainder of the week in that section of the state.

Slate - Making Is Begun

Even though administration leaders have made strong denials of any attempts at slate-making it is generally believed that they have given more thought to this question than they are ready to admit. Some observers believe that "the word on the slate" will be Miss Frank Reid, of Hickman, one of Governor Laffoon's secretaries, who last week announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state.

Miss Reid has been in the executive department of the state since the beginning of Governor Laffoon's administration, and it is justifiable to believe that she has the blessings of the governor in her campaign for the post of secretary of state.

H. W. Peters is Candidate

Another entry into the already large field of candidates for the Democratic nomination for superintendent of public instruction is Harry W. Peters, of Hopkinsville, director of the division of free text books in the state department of education.

Mr. Peters is a native of Marshall county, and served for three years as superintendent of Christian county schools. He was elected for another four-year term in 1934, but last September was granted leave of absence to accept the place in the state department of education which he now holds.

Candidates Slow To File

Although there has been an avalanche of candidates announcing for the various state offices, they have been slow in filing their declaration papers with the secretary of state, as is required by law. June 24 is the last day for filing notices, so any candidate who fails to file by that time cannot have his name on the printed ballot.

As an example, there have been no Democrats who have filed their notices for the gubernatorial nomination, while only two Republicans, Sam Hurst, of Beatyville, and D. M. Bingham, of Pineville, have filed. Judge King Swope of Lexington, considered as the leading candidate for the Republican nomination, is yet to file his declaration papers.

D. A. Logan Announces

D. A. Logan, of Brownsville, brother of Senator M. M. Logan Friday announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state auditor and at the same time filed his declaration papers with the secretary of state.

Frank Owens, of Wickliffe, now clerk of the court of appeals, also being urged to make the race for auditor, but has yet given no indication as to his action on the matter.

Attkisson Urged to Run

William E. Attkisson, of Louisville, assistant attorney general, has a host of friends throughout the state who would like to see him enter the race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, an office for which no candidates thus far have announced.

Mr. Attkisson is the son of Eugene R. Attkisson, of Louisville, who managed the Democratic campaign in Jefferson county during the last state campaign. During his tenure of office as assistant attorney general he has handled all legal matters arising in the state department of education and the state insurance department.

Although young in years, Mr. Attkisson is considered as a capable attorney by the legal profession of the state.

Mrs. Howerton Sought as Candidate
Democratic women throughout the state, regardless of their positional alignment, want Mrs. David Howerton to make the race for secretary of state.

Mrs. Howerton is a daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Elliott Zangary, of Cynthiana, whose name her home down in history as the first woman to be a member of the Kentucky general assembly.

Having served as president of the Democratic Women's Club of Kentucky, of which she is now honorary president, Mrs. Howerton has a wide acquaintance throughout the state, and would add much strength to the Democratic ticket, her backers believe. She is a magnetic speaker and an aggressive campaigner.

pipe, the Pied Piper trips merrily down the street. Rats of every description, large and small, old and young, black and gray rush from the houses and follow in the wake of the piper. He leads them to the river, and there they plunge in.

Returning to the city hall, the piper is confronted by a confident mayor who is not over ready to part with the large sum specified in the contract. At last the micaver piper, angered by the continued refusals to meet his demand, announces to the surprised inhabitants that he will play "still another tune." He again strides into the street and plays his

The Weeks News As Portrayed With Pictures

Returns Home After Twenty Years With Gypsies

Anthony Mahfood James Mahfood Mrs. Mahfood

Twenty years ago a band of roving gypsies passed through Steubenville, O., and at the same time an eight-year-old boy, James Mahfood, disappeared. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mahfood, never gave up search for their missing boy. Their long vigil was rewarded when "Andy Smith" came home. Scars and blood test proved that "Andy" was their missing son. Now 28, James is shown, above, telling of his experiences to his parents following happy reunion.

Robert C. Moore, left, one of a group of students at Ohio university, Athens, O., charged with tarring and feathering Harley Thompson, right, an insurance agent, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery filed after the attack. Sheriff Charles Stratton told Moore that he was one of five youths who took Thompson to a nearby cemetery and proceeded to tar and feather him. The attack was in punishment for articles written in a tabloid about Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, of which Moore is president. Sheriff Stratton quoted Moore as saying:

Sex on Wane in Motion Pictures As Producers Turn to Classics, History, Opera for Scenarios

Hayes optimistic about future of Hollywood; Clara Bow, Succeeded by New Type of Star Such as Janet Gaynor, Shirley Temple, Hepburn and Helen Hayes

By JEAN ALLEN
International Illustrated News Writer
NEW YORK—The sex motif is on the wane in motion pictures and the films are going through a marked stage of transition.

Such is the pronouncement of Will H. Hays, "the movie czar," who was recently elected president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

A survey of current film production studios scheduled for production next year support such a conclusion. Gone are the days when Charles Chaplin reigned supreme in the "comical world" as "the flapping 1,000." When her career was at its sensational peak, producers clamored for more and more sex.

New Cinema Art: Foreseen
Hollywood has now entered a new era. Costume pictures and historical dramas are the vogue. The classics are being dramatized and old masterpieces done into scenarios. Notable child stars are featured. Notable among the juveniles who have proved sensational drawing cards are Shirley Temple and Freddie Bartholomew.

Film fans are cheering a new type of actress, Katharine Hepburn with her sharp, mannish style of acting, and Janet Gaynor, who is repeatedly lauded in wholesome romantic roles, two types unknown to the screen a few years ago.

"A new art combining the culture of literature, the opera, and the stage with originality of direction is taking the place of the sex motif in movies," Hays declared.

"It has been easier to underestimate than to overestimate Main Street's intelligent appreciation of quality entertainment.

"There is no limit to the height to which popular appreciation may be raised by the inspiring appeal of better entertainment," said Hays.

Producers have listed on their 1935 schedule a considerable number of scientific and musical films. The major development of the season promises to be the production of operas in motion pictures. The success of two recent movies in which several operatic favorites were included has encouraged further attempts along this line.

More Classics
This year will mark additional movie versions of literary classics such as "The Little Mimster" and "Hamlet." "Mistummer: Night's Dream," the latter done by Max Reinhardt, Paul Buck's epic "China," "The Good Earth," a moderate version of Dante's "Inferno," Talbot's "Anna Karenina," and Greta Garbo's Neil's "Ab, Whilzar," in which George M. Cohan starred on the stage, and Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" are among the stories scheduled for production this season which indicate the contrasting course followed by Hollywood since the days of Clara Bow.

Political Announcement

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of:
J. J. THOMAS
of Owingsville, Ky.,
for the democratic nomination for Representative from the 94th Leg. District.

The Winner Is the Loser

With the opening of the active campaign of Lieutenant Governor A. E. "Happy" Chandler, exponent of special sessions and political turmoil at Frankfort, the race for Governor is heading into deep waters of a heated battle.

When the last vote in the final election is counted there will be a winner, either a Democrat or Republican. There will be a winner in the poll tabulation who will go to Frankfort for his inaugural address; who will stand on the capital steps and tell the people of the Commonwealth that there is one Governor that will not be handled or bullied. So many words.

The winner shall be the loser and the losers shall be the winners if past gubernatorial records speak truly. From the mansion every four years there emerges a man with bowed shoulders and a vow to never again enter the field of politics; he is broken in power and body. The Governor's post has taken its toll. Into the portals that he has vacated there comes the new leader with head thrown back, receiving congratulations and with will that service, and honesty shall be his bywords. Four years later he too walks from the capital a relic, buffeted by aversion and criticism. Is it worth it?

Is it to be wondered that most of the State's leaders steer clear of the Governor's chair?

In Ashland at the Jefferson Day Banquet Governor Laffoon declared he would never again be a candidate for public office. The status of Fields, Morrow and Sampson are perfect examples of what Kentucky does to its first citizens.

Raising Tuition Fees

The question of raising entrance fees into our state institutions has been brought up again this year, with the probable result that every state supported college will show at least a five dollar jump for registration, which is, of course, to be assessed against the students.

Five dollars is not a great deal of money, but it represents more than you might think to many students—especially those who are stretching everything and denying themselves to secure a college education. It is a fact that many of the students at Morehead pay their board bill for two weeks with a five dollar bill—they have to make their money go this far if they hope to continue in school.

At Morehead the extra five dollar assessment will mean approximately seven to nine thousand dollars additional annual revenue. Considering the total cost of operation this amount is only a drop in the bucket.

We dread that the five dollar, additional will keep a few students from enrolling. Gradually the whole idea of free and state supported institutions is glimmering. On every campus of state schools there appears Administration fostered enterprises that are "money making."

In every enterprise whether it be governmental or private the question of capital and finance always holds the front rank. However, in the instance of raising student fees, it must be admitted that there is room for argument in that the few thousands extra revenue will not do the institution as much good as it does the student and their parents' harm.

It could be conservatively said that 7 of every 10 students in the local college are here either on borrowed money or working their way through. Five dollars means a lot to them—if you don't think so get in on a few of their conversations.

One In Every 400

If you would prolong your life, go inside the house and stay inside after 1 o'clock every afternoon. Particular do not return to drive your automobile between the hours of 5 and midnight, and if you are not a driver, do not cross streets between those hours. Thus you will greatly increase your chances of living until 1936, or longer, for during 1935 one in every 100 motorists will be injured, one in every 400 pedestrian will be hurt, one in every 3,500 motorists will be killed and one in every 5,000 pedestrians will go to his grave. Half of these accidents occur between the hours of 5 p. m. and midnight.

These figures appear from the surveys of automobile accidents made by the National Safety Council. They should be warning to every person who uses the streets, and particularly to every motorist. If any reader doubts their accuracy he may be convinced if he will check the long roll of accidents which will, inevitably, be printed in any Monday morning newspaper. Holiday week-ends are notorious for their accidents on the highways.

One in every 400 automobiles on the roads this week-end will be involved in an accident. It is no laughing matter, but rather a question of how many, but rather it has become a question of which one.

SIXTEEN HELD IN DEATH OF PIKE COUNTY MINER

PIKEVILLE, Ky.: Sixteen men, charged with the murder of Palmer Battif, 10, mine worker, who was fatally shot as he was entering a mine of the Barrowman Coal Company, at Elders City, Monday, were held under bonds of $5,000 each at their examining trials by Judge J. B. Blankenship here last week.

Witnesses at the hearing described the shooting as the outgrowth of labor trouble and a United Mine Workers strike called recently.

ECCLES ASSERTS THAT BANK BILL NOT DIRECTED AT IND.

WASHINGTON: Mariner Eccles, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, said last week that there was no warrant for supposing the pending omnibus banking bill would permit the board to divert credit from industries which are producing surpluses to other fields.

In a letter to Rudolf S. Hect, president of the American Banking Association, Eccles declared that opposite views held by some members of the House Banking Committee had nothing to support them.

CONTINUATION OF BLUE EAGLE WITH HIGH COURT

WASHINGTON: The supreme test of NRA constitutionality is set this week in the hands of nine sometimes-questioned justices of the Supreme Court, while through other channels, the Administration fought to prolong the blue eagle's life. The conclusion of arguments before the high court—marked by three objections from the bench—coincided with the building by Roosevelt forces of a hot-fire against the Senate move to shorten NRA life and clip its wings.

Shortly before the case was completed, Justices Butler and McPherson held both considered "severities" severed down a world fire of objections that disrupted the rebuttal of Solicitor-General Stanley Reed.

College To Feature "Star Of Midnight"

Love and mystery form an intriguing combination in "Star of Midnight," RKO-Radio's romantic drama starring William Powell and Ginger Rogers, at the College Theatre, next Friday.

Telling a strikingly different type of love story, in which the delectable Miss Rogers, fresh from triumph in the musical "Roberta," is the pursuer and Powell the ostensibly wary quarry, the picture deals with a baffling mystery in modern New York's pagant and glitter.

A beautiful woman disappears, a newspaper columnist is killed under strange circumstances, and three different factions undertake the solution of the case . . . each with a different motive.

Powell and Miss Rogers team as a "Shawnee and Watson" combination in a running down chase to the mystery. The two stars, long established among the screen's foremost favorites, appear together for the first time. Although they have worked at the same studios many times and have acted on adjoining stages, Powell and Miss Rogers were never caught together until RKO-Radio opened the microphones for this intricate mystery drama.

"Star of Midnight" is based on the serial of the same title by the late Arthur Somers Roche. It ran recently in the Red Book magazine. Howard J. Green, Anthony Veller and Edward Kaufman are the screen-ists.

Stephen Roberts, who directed Miss Rogers and Francis Lederer in "Romance in Manhattan," is credited similarly with "Star of Midnight," while the strong cast includes such prominent players as Ralph Morgan, Leslie Fenton, Paul Kelly, Gene Lockhart, Russell Hopton, Vivian Oakland and J. Farrell Macdonald. Future attractions include Anne Shirley in "Chasing Yesterday" for Friday, May 17th and George Arliss in "Cardinal Richelieu" for Friday, May 24th.

The proposed new contract will be voluntary. It is for the four years, 1935 to 1939, but may be terminated

The base average period will be the years 1923 to 1932 inclusive, and the base production for 1933 to 1932 inclusive, as under the program.

It is necessary to establish the base amount of the second adjustment, payment, since this payment is based on the net sale value of the production of the contracting year.

Producers who make application for appraisal of any portion of the 1934 crop agree to have an appraisal charge deducted from the second adjustment payment.

SWEET POTATOES By John S. Gardner

Although it is generally doubtful whether sweetpotatoes should be included in gardens in which space is an item because of this vegetable presents a splendid opportunity for furnishing a crop of high sugar content, many gardeners might consider growing a few sweetpotatoes.

It has just been estimated that the fertility requirements of sweetpotatoes is low; this is true, particularly of nitrogen, as found in land treated with stable manure.

From demonstration, it appears that a wood sawdust fertilizer, 10 per cent, that is 2 per cent nitrogen, 10 per cent phosphorus, and 10 per cent potash. The high percentage of potash has little effect on making the potatoes short and thick, and of changing worthless "strings" into usable potatoes.

The ridges should be about 2 feet apart, if they are to be 8 inches high. If the land is heavy in manure, a ridge of 10 inches is advised, and the distance between the ridges may need increasing to 42 inches.

The plants or "slips" should stand 15 inches apart. The time to set sweet potatoes in Kentucky varies between May 10, for the extreme southern part of the state to June 1, in the northern counties.

preventing disease and pests. Clean range, which is essential to healthy chickens, is ground that has not been used for poultry for at least two years.

LICE AND MITES COMING: Lice and mites multiply rapidly in warm weather. No hen can do her best and no chick can mature properly if these pests are taking part of their blood day and night.

CONTROL CANNIBALISM: Cannibalism is usually the result of overfeeding and hunger. Give the chicks plenty of range and space at the feeders.

PRESERVE EGGS NOW: May is the best month to preserve eggs for the fall and winter.

The plot of "Love in Bloom" centers around the love story of Morrison and Dixie Lee a pair of romantic kids in New York. When Dixie Lee's father's carnival breaks up, her brother, George Burns, starts out on his honeymoon with Gracie in a traveling calliope.
