The following persons are authorized to act as agents of THE DEMOCRAT, to receive, and to receipt for subscription, &c.

ANDERSON & CO.

PUBLIC SALE.—Rev. G. F. Bagby will sell at public auction at his residence on Wednesday June 22d, 1870, a large lot of household and kitchen furniture, carpets, &c. Terms made known on day of sale.

CHEAP GOODS.—D. Coghlan & Co. invite the notice is directed to the advertisement of John A. Kirkpatrick & Co., in another column of this issue. Read it and give heed to the public, and persons visiting it invited in their will do well to examine the stock and see for themselves.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—A meeting of the citizens in attendance at the Key Grist. Hon. R. H. Stanton, Judge Geo. T. Halbert, Commonwealth Attorney Thos. J. Troop Hon. E. Whitaker and T. C. Campbell, Esq., of Maysville, are registered at the Lee House. At the Bourbon House the following gentlemen are registered: Hon. Wm. Wadsworth, Dr. S. M. Cartmel, Dr. M. J. Simpson, Hon. W. C. Owens, Capt. Louis Landman, Hon. Harrison Taylor, of Maysville, Dr. W. S. Chipley, of Lexington, Hon. W. C. Owens and Hon. M. M. Cassidy, of Montgomery.

THE DEBATE.—The debate on the question mentioned among last year, between the Rev. J. W. Finch and Elder Kelly, at Poplar Plains, was closed on last Thursday. The entire discussion was conducted throughout with the utmost courtesy and christian courtesy—and while the friends of each claim the victory for their favorite yet we have no doubt that both, as the disputants, have gained much good in the development of their respective views.

FIRE.—We regret to say that on the morning of Saturday last the saddlery shop of Mr. Martin Grimes in the town of Poplar Plains was entirely consumed by fire, and that he has destroyed from the ruins brought by the Fire King. He lost a fine stock of harness, saddles, and such articles as usually belong to such an establishment, besides his clothing and over $200 in money. The fire originated from Mr. Grimes' son, a little child, getting hold of a match and setting fire to his clothing. Mr. Grimes has the sympathy of his friends in his misfortune.

DIED.—Mrs. Mary Ann Hamons, wife of Mr. Thomas Hamons, died at her residence in this county on the 7th inst., after a long and painful illness. She was a member of the Christian church, and died in the full hope of a glorious immortality. She was a kind and affectionate wife, a devoted mother, and a good neighbor. Her loss will be deeply felt by her family and friends.

MARRIED.—On the 2d inst., by Rev. Henry Scudder, Mr. T. C. Bayless, of Carter county, Ky., to Miss Lizzie Burnes, of Bald Grove Springs, Fleming county, Ky.

Attendants—Mr. Reed, Tandytown, Miss Helen Wallace Bayless, Mr. J. R. Ward, Miss Kate Burnes.

The youthful and happy couple have our warmest wishes for their happiness and success in life. May the sweet flowers that scattered upon the green garden of youthful hearts, blossom and bloom in the lapse of years. Tandytown, Miss., presages the bright realities of happiness while descending the golden steps.

KOSKOO.—This medicine is rapidly gaining the confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues, given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, LIVER DISEASE, &c.

The last issue of the Louisville Commercial contains an article from Prof. R. Peter, President of Kentucky University, which speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the practitioners, of medicine. This is, we believe, the first time physicians have given their opinions in favor of any medicine, and the fact of so many great and skillful men of the profession recommending Dr. Lee's Koskoo, speaks volumes in its favor at the present day.—Norfolk Daily Journal Dec. 11, 1869.

GARDEN SEED.—Go to H. C. Ashton & Co to buy your Garden Seed, they keep Landreths the best in the market.

The Living Machine.

Upon the sole principle of the world every portion of the body becomes nourished. The blood is the great source of supply, and when that elastic power of metal is to a phenomenon it influences the action of the other organs, and controls, to a certain extent, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further, for as the weakness or other derangement of the mainspring of a watch affects the whole, so the disturbance of the blood from a like cause or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is sallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn appearance about the whole system which indicates the absence of that principle which is the animation.

The death of several members of the Association and of the press of Kentucky since the last session, was suitably noticed upon motion Messrs. B. H. Brown, Richmond Register, Cassidy of the Louisville Commercial, John T. Hatcher, of the Courier Journal, and Sam'l R. Smith, of the Frankfort Commonwealth, were appointed a committee to prepare suitable resolutions.

Resolutions upon the same subject were offered by Col. A. R. Hodges and H. M. McCarty, both of which were withdrawn and the following offered by Col. J. Stoddard Johnson unanimously approved.

Whereas, Since the last meeting of this Association the press of the State has been deprived by death of its brightest ornaments, and the profession of law of its most eminent members; and

Whereas, We desire to express in an appropriate manner our sense of loss, and to pay a proper tribute to the memory of the dead; therefore,

Resolved, That the same committee be appointed to report resolutions expressive of the sense of this association upon their demise.

Upon motion, the Secretary was instructed to furnish copies of the proceedings of this address for publication. He was also instructed to procure a suitable bulletin in which to record the proceedings of the annual meetings of the association.

Hon. Will T. Hanly offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That we condemn the practice of some of the Kentucky papers in soliciting and publishing advertisements for foreign parties and agencies at lower prices than is charged home patrons, and we declare such practice to be detrimental to the welfare of the press of the State.

The Convention then adjourned, to meet at the office of the Louisville Commercial at 10 p. m.

EXCURSIONARY.

The members of the Western and Kentucky Associated Press left the Galt House at 4:30 p. m., in the buses of the Transfer Company, and proceeded to the great bridge, after a very pleasant trip arrived at New Albany at 6 o'clock, where they spent about an half an hour looking at the displays of the Indiana Industry which by chance were profuse about the depot. Thence New Albany the party repaired to the Blind Asylum, which they reached at 6 o'clock. Mr. Carter, the superintending [illegible] very attentive and hospitable, and after the serenade by the brass band from Jeffersonville, the party were called to one of the most sumptuous suppers [illegible] upon this day. After supper there was a more interesting display of the Institute by the pupils, consisting of geography, [illegible] tics, &c., all of which were loudly applauded. About 10 o'clock the party returned to Louisville.

The proceedings were reassembled at the Commercial office [illegible] tournament, there was a pleasant social time had, and [illegible] toasts drunk, and [illegible] off pleasantly. Among the toasts offered were the following: [illegible] drunk with great enthusiasm: "The chief magistrate of the Commonwealth—may he have light feet and the knightliest in heart. Honor and reverence attend the name and fame the memory of George Dennison Prentice."

Resolutions thanking the Louisville Bridge Company, J. M. and I. R. R. Transfer Company, Superintendent of the Blind Asylum, Col. Kelly of Louisville Commercial, and others, for the courtesies extended to the Association were unanimously adopted, and the Association adjourned.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purpose of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever before offered which so completely answered the general need. It subjects into use, in every country and among all classes, as the most safe, certain and effectual purgative yet known. The obvious reason is that it is more reliable, and more powerful than any other remedy that can be used. Hence, wherever it is known, it supersedes all other cathartics. No one who has once used it, knows that it cannot thus, and all know that when it does it does always the work well. Its great virtue is that it is universal in its application. We have abundant proof that the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, are promptly relieved by this pill, and when taken in reasonable quantities cured: Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Biliousness, Bilious Fevers, Inflammation, Rheumatism, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Tumors, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Tetter, Pimples on the face, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Sores, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they restore to healthy action the system when first taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the living fluid, which, when corrupted, breeds disease and pain.

Dyspepsy and Dyspeptic Sufferings they should know that a large and frequent dose is produce the effect of a cathartic.

For Costiveness a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by one dose.

For Dysentery, Colic, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be taken as required, to change the diseased action of the living fluid, which, when corrupted, breeds disease and pain.

Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a cathartic.

As a Dinner Pill, one or two Pills to promote digestion and relish of food.

As an Alterative they change the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restoring the appetite, purifying the blood, and giving tone, vigor and vitality to the whole system. Hence in all obstinate cases of disease, where all other remedies fail, a fair trial of these Pills unless him first decidedly better. Sold by druggists and universally dealers on the diseases of the appetite.

The Fenians.

It seems that the harp of Erin which has so long hung tuneless and sad upon the boughs of her blasted oak must still remain there so far as recently projected Fenian movements against Canada are concerned. These movements have been completely frustrated, and the chief leaders have been arrested, either by the Canadian or United States troops. We had hoped for better success for the Irish friends of down trodden Ireland and that the time had come for the epitaph of the lamented and gifted Emmett to be written by some one who knew his motives and could now dare to vindicate them. But the time seems to have not yet arrived when the land of Curran and Grattan is to be redeemed and disenthralled—but as a friend of Ireland and a sympathizer with her generous warm-hearted and witty people we may be allowed to express the hope that they, like an other attempt in behalf of their altars and firesides, may be more successful.

Attempts to Kidnap Citizens of Fleming.

We learn that parties have been on this county for the purpose of kidnapping certain parties concerned in the shooting of the horse thief Hyatt, and threatening to take them up to Iowa, or some other state of sense. There has been no court either in Carter or Rowan since the shooting which could issue a writ of habeas corpus, and the pretended authority for the arrest of the Fleming county citizens is a villainous fraud, no doubt intended by the Underwood brigands for the purpose of getting them, who as justly dealt with one of their number, away from their homes, that they may shoot them or otherwise outrage them. We hope the citizens of the neighborhood of Hyatt's death will be upon the alert, and let no man be taken from the county by these scoundrels. If any one is arrested it must be done by officers of Fleming county. If any one is taken from the county it must be authorized by some judicial officer of the county. Any other attempt to arrest or remove a citizen must be met and resisted.

Fenian Neighbors Against Radical Friends.

Less than sixty days remain between this issue of our paper and the election in August. A residence of sixty days next preceding the election is necessary to entitle a person otherwise qualified, to the right to vote. It is part and parcel of the Radical programme to bring as many negroes into the county as it is possible to get to vote for the negro party candidates. They will be brought in under contracts from Ohio and other States, if necessary, to carry the election. The late infamous act of Congress we have noticed in another column, was passed to facilitate such frauds, and we advise our Democratic friends to take immediate steps to protect themselves against the wrong—The Executive Committee for the county should see to work, and by subcommittees in each precinct ascertain the name and exact residence of every negro man over twenty-one years of age in the county. They should keep a list, and accurate description, of every strange negro who comes into the county between this time and the election. This should be done thoroughly, carefully, and speedily. It will enable the Democrats to protect themselves against frauds which we know are contemplated.

Radical Low.

It is said that the Radical candidate for Coroner of this County, a few days ago, walked into one of the drinking houses in town, and drank with a negro, the negro paying for the drinks. Well, the candidate for Coroner is non-resident, for there is no doubt but that he lived the negro and the whiskey. Nonetheless had a right to drink if he wished to, and of course had the right also to select his own company, and we claim also the right to judge thereby the tendency of his political sentiment. But suppose that some colored voter should try the Radical candidates for County Judge and Sheriff. We will bet a gill of buttermilk, that neither one of them, will go to the bar publicly and drink with a negro. Where is George Beckwith, but him try it. It may be necessary for the candidate for Coroner to drink with, and electioneer among the negroes, in order to secure their votes, but it would not do for the candidates for County Judge and Sheriff to do so, lest they should drive off the Conservatives. In other words, the candidate for Coroner is the bait to catch the negroes, and the candidates for County Judge and Sheriff, to catch the Conservatives. Politics makes strange bed fellows. But a few years ago, some of these Radical candidates thought that all negroes shouldn't go in this country twenty-one years before they were allowed to vote; these foreigners, they said, were so ignorant, they were dangerous. Now we, these candidates think, these negroes are just as good, or a little better than a native born white man; O, these gentlemen do not think so, but they wish to make the negro the ladder upon which they will climb to office. Office is the object, and the negro is to be the means of obtaining it. But the Radical and negro vote is not sufficient. So at least two of their candidates admit—play Conservative, to secure the Conservative vote. Gentlemen, this game has "played out" in some quarters, and make your position and principles known—if you do not—you will find before August, that the people will assign you a position. One that you will perhaps not be pleased with.

The Last Act of Radical Villainy.

The bill to enforce the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments to the constitution, passed by Congress during the last week, has no parallel for its atrocity in the annals of the most heartless despotism that ever disgraced the earth. No wonder debate upon the subject was stifled in the House of Representatives, and but two hours allowed for investigation of the features of a measure, which is the most important of any that ever passed that body, before, because it usurps for Congress complete and absolute control over all the elections in all the States, for all officers except members of the Legislature and Congressmen. The measure could not bear discussion, and the little time allowed, was consumed in denouncing its provisions, and exposing the iniquity and wrong it is calculated to inflict upon the country.

There is not one of the twenty-three sections of the Bill except section first, that is not a flagrant violation of the constitution—an audacious usurpation of authority by Congress. The second clause of the Fifteenth Amendment, gives Congress power only to enact "appropriate legislation" for the enforcement of the first clause, prohibiting the States from depriving any man of "the right to vote on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. It does not authorize Congress to assume complete control of elections in the States and regulate them by the agency of the army and navy. It does not authorize Congress to abolish the State laws on the subject of elections, and the jurisdiction of State courts over offenses against the State election laws. It does not authorize Congress to interfere with the rules of evidence in the State Courts, and render a class of persons competent witnesses who are declared incompetent by the laws of the State. It does not authorize Congress to confer jurisdiction upon the Federal courts to administer the State criminal laws, or to punish by fine and imprisonment any act not made penal by the Federal laws. It does not authorize Congress to enact a law, which holds out a direct temptation to one class of persons to perjure themselves, that they may extort large pecuniary damages from another class, as the infamous bill now under consideration most shamefully does. These provisions are neither necessary nor appropriate legislation, for the enforcement of the prohibition of the States against depriving men of the right to vote on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Congress might as well under the pretext of enforcing this prohibition, have enacted a law, declaring that no election should be held in any State except by officers appointed by the President—that no election should be valid, unless a Radical received the highest number of votes—or, that no officer should hold the place to which he might be elected by the people, unless he first took an oath that he was no better than a negro and not quite as good, at some. There would be quite as much constitutional authority for such laws, as there is for the one in question, and such legislation would be quite as necessary and appropriate.

We do not believe the Democratic election laws are superceded by this act of Congress, and hope the Courts of Kentucky will so decide. If attempts are made by the Radicals to thrust illegal negro votes into the ballot box—or any citizen is deterred from voting by Radical attempts of intimidation—or any fraud be perpetrated by Radicals upon the freedom and purity of the elective franchise—we hope our State officers will bring the offenders to justice promptly. The whole of this Congressional act, is to illegally control and carry the elections for the Radical party. It behooves all honest men in the land to stand by one another in circumventing and defeating this infamous design. No State in the Union has shown any disposition to deny to negroes the right to vote. Congress had no reason to apprehend that they would be anywhere interfered with. The act of Congress is a plain piece of villainy without justification or excuse—an unmitigated outrage.

Annual Meeting of the Western Associated Press.

[From the Cincinnati Journal of June 23.]

The annual meeting of the Western Associated Press was held in this city yesterday. The business was entirely of a private character, and the matters connected with the extensive interests of this corporation, which expends some $180,000 per annum in the collection and transmission of news from all parts of this country and Europe. The present number of papers in the Association is fifty-four. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Yallen Dogs"—Mark Twain's History of the Founder of the Family and his Descendants.

Apropos of the present excitement about the "dog-ordinance," Mark Twain, has presented the following indictment:

When Noah disembarked at Ararat he had scarcely touched the pier when he proceeded to tally his passengers. He had just checked off the last item in the list—a Mr. and Mrs. Bedbug—when the cringing figure of a gaunt, ruped came sneaking down the gang-plank with his tail between his legs, and eyeing it, there stood that yaller dog. says Noah, aiming a vicious kick with his brogan at the brute. But, with a facility born of long and bitter experience, the brute dodged the gaiter, and quietly sat down with emphasis on the back of his head.

Noah arose, and in accordance with the style prevalent among the patriarchs, he proceeded to scatter his affronted dignity by pronouncing a variegated anathema upon the yaller dog, which had character straightforwardly observed on the first convulsion of putting to sea, and canvassed the captain at the first pow. He cursed that dog in body, limb, bark, hide, liver, tail and wag, and all the generations, relations, and kindred, by consanguinity or affinity, and his heirs and assigns. He cursed him with endless hunger, with perpetual fear, with personal misery, with relentless pursuit with incessant fleas, and with his tail between his legs. He closed his stock of maledictions by a sparkling display of profanities from the demoralizing effect of which the yaller dog has never recovered.

With this curse sticking to him like a revenue stamp, the yaller dog can't help being accursed. He don't try to help it. He follows Noah's programme with unerring fidelity. He is an Ishmaelite among dogs. He reposes the most hypocritical confidence in the form of brickbats, boots, and hot water, which make his life an intimated target excursion. He boards around like a district school teacher, and it is most time with him twenty-four hours in the day. The rest of the time he hankers after something to eat. He is too thankful even for an epicure. Palm him an Delmonico's dinner, and the same hunger for dessert from an Albany boarding house.

He can't be satisfied. He is too timid. As a swell cast iconoclast in his community, he is an ignominious failure. The dog churn was a strategic attempt to employ his waste energies, but he hadn't any waste energies, and butter has to much self respect to come when his persuasion. So the dog churn was dropped.

No sausage maker dare foreclose his lien on the yaller dog lest his customers no longer be soothed and entranced by an installering "zest" transfer their patronage to some less audacious dealer. The scrapes who undertake baked dog and "be one of the family" tripe and explore the mysteries of hash without dismay, acknowledge the yaller dog to be too much for their gastric intrepidity.

He always manages to belong to a ragged, tobacco-chewing, whisky-drinking master, whose business in swapping dogs and evading the dog tax. The yaller dog is acquainted with himself, and he enjoys the intimacy with edifying contempt. He slinks along through life on a diagonal dog trot, as if no doubt as to which end of him is entitled to the precedence.

He is always provided for by a lamp dog sense of gratitude to the rear, and is forever feeling for his tail he views from the waist to some one with a horrified celerity behind, only to be very suggestive to two legged skinners of a similar ordeal in store for him.

The yaller dog is the verb to speak in Italics, he is a slouch.

☞ A young lady in Illinois was frozen to death, while out sleigh riding with a young man. A man who can't keep a woman from freezing should be punished to the full extent of the law.—Ex.

Go now, and don't be so hard on him. She may have been one of those fastidious, dear creatures that had no love in her dear soul for snuggling up to a manly, loving friend, just for the pure colored girls to be without. And could! Is this decided to boss part of the new social programme arising from the 19th century. Anecdotal.

☞ Now to parents whose sons drink in saloons," says the Louisville Courier-Journal, "there must be something peculiarly soothing in the thought that, no matter what may be the fate of the child in the next world, if run he never becomes a member of a base ball club in this."

☞ Arnold Scotch recently says, "A little breakfast is enough, enough dinner is a little, a little supper in too much."

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE,

IN FLEMINGSBURG, KY.

Hotel Property, Residences, Lots, &c.

I WISH to sell the following property in Flemingsburg:

No. 1. The hotel property situated on the corner of Main Cross street and public square, known as the "Fleming House." This property is large, well built, arranged, with ample back grounds.

No. 2. A new brick storeroom, adjoining the hotel property, with fine cellar, &c., situated on Main Cross street.

No. 3. The large brick home adjoining storeroom, with fine dry cellars, on Main Cross st., containing four rooms—now used and occupied as law offices.

No. 4. The large brick family residence on Main Cross street, better known as the late "Dr. Anderson's Family Mansion." This is a very desirable residence, with beautiful large back yards, and gardens, running back about 200 feet to an alley.

No. 5. A newly built frame cottage house, on Water st., third square from Main Cross st., containing two rooms, with grounds sufficient for a garden. Also, I will sell some vacant lots below the above named lots.

I do not wish to sell each and all of the above mentioned property very low, and if desired, I will sell on long and easy payments. Any persons wishing to buy either piece of this property, I invite them to examine the same at once. I am determined to sell and wish to close it out as rapidly as possible. Possession given at once.

Prompt Attention Given to All Orders.

We subjoin the analysis made by Messrs. Powers & Weightman, the well known manufacturing Chemists of Philadelphia, of B. F. Fahnestock & Co.'s White Lead:

"We not only claim for our B. F. L. Fahnestock & Co., White Lead PURITY PERFECT, but that it possesses greater DURABILITY, COVERING POWER for same weight, and is superior to PUTTY and WHITENESS to any other Brand. Therefore, possessing these properties, it is folly for any one to be deceived with a guarantee or reward in gold, for any impurities that may be found in it. If it were necessary, we would offer from $100 to $500 dollars in Gold, for every ounce of adulteration found in each keg."

Analysis of Messrs. Powers & Weightman.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24, 1863.

T. N. MILLER, Esq., Supply Agent, Quinine, N. Wash. & Chicago Railway Co.

DEAR SIR.—We have had a careful analysis made by chemists of the purest kind of White Lead ground in oil, manufactured by Messrs. B. F. Fahnestock & Co.—branded "Pure White Lead," sold to us by your house for the 12th inst. After separating the Oil from a portion of it, the powder we found to consist of carbonate of lead and hydroxide of lead, being a Pure White Lead.

Yours, very respectfully, [illegible]
