

BOARD HIRES TEACHERS FOR ALL SCHOOLS

Decide To Maintain Farmers And Elliottville With 2 Year Courses

ADOPT APPROVED 1935 BUDGET

In session here Monday, the Rowan County Board of Education hired teachers for consolidated and rural schools, adopted a budget previously approved by the Fiscal Court and made a survey of High School enrollments.

A decision from the State Board of Education set out that a three or four year high school must have at least 45 in attendance and a 2 year high school must have at least 30. The board decided to continue Elliottville, and Farmers as 2 year schools, with the expectation to also check the enrollment later, as if the number falls below 20 it is probable that these high schools will be abolished.

Several K. E. R. A. projects were received in approved form which call for painting and repairing several schools and beautifying and redeveloping the Morehead High School. The complete list of teachers employed is:

- Morehead Consolidated
D. D. Caudill, Principal
Austin Riddle, Assistant Principal

TABBIN' THE NEWS

The Editor is an old issue. Last Monday and Tuesday the Independent was favored with numerous telephone calls in which the caller sought to ascertain whether a certain person or persons had been employed by the County Board of Education.

However, one lady telephoned and the conversation went something like this:

She: "Can you tell me the names of the teachers employed by the County Board of Education?"

Mr: "Yes ma'am. Wait a minute." (Finally locating the correct sheet and returning to the phone) "What teacher or school do you wish to know about?"

She: "Oh, just read the entire list."

Mr: "But lady, this is a long list and surely it would be more convenient for you to either stop by the office or wait until the paper comes out."

She: "Alright, I'll just drop by and cancel my subscription."

This is one of the many things a weekly editor has to contend with. Fortunately she did not cancel her subscription, and we trust that she will not. At any rate she may find the names of all the teachers in the columns of this issue. We hope that her name is on the list.

The Independent is often called for for baseball scores, dates of shows and much other information we gladly give. Just give us a ring, but please don't cancel your subscription if we do not have the information desired or the date is too much to give on the phone.

First Summer Term At Morehead Starts Monday

A slight increase in enrollment is the prediction of officials for the first five weeks summer school which opens at the Morehead State Teachers College Monday morning.

According to Dean Vaughan classes are on schedule for the wants of any student—a same as during a regular semester. Following the completion of this term a five weeks, second summer school will be held.

A large number of teachers are planning to attend the first summer school, getting in this much work before the opening of rural schools in Kentucky.

FREDRICK WALLIS SPEAKS SATURDAY IN ELLIOT COUNTY

GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE TO APPEAR AT SANDY HOOK IN INTEREST OF CAMPAIGN

Fredrick A. Wallis, of Paris, Democratic candidate for Governor will return his guns again on this section Saturday morning, June 8, delivering an address at Sandy Hook. Mr. Wallis is expected to speak at 11 o'clock. Ice cream will be served free. A large delegation of Wallis supporters from this county will attend, headed by C. B. Daugherty, manager of the Morehead Ice and Bottling Co. and Rowan county campaign chairman of the "Wallis-for-Governor" Club.

The State Hook speech will vary considerably from that delivered at Morehead Monday, with Mr. Wallis planning to go into other planks of his platform.

A business-like administration of the state government was advocated by Fredrick A. Wallis, of Paris, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in an address to the county audience here Monday afternoon. Approximately 500 persons heard the address.

Mr. Wallis declared that what Kentucky needs is to have its governmental affairs conducted on the same basis that a business man would conduct his business. He expressed opposition to having the state highway department mixed with politics, and said that he is in favor of putting many of the rural employees off the payroll in order to decrease expenses.

The Bourbon county candidate said that he is opposed to the present sales tax law, stressed the over-crowded conditions at the penitentiary institutions of the state, and expressed himself as favoring the policies of President Roosevelt.

Referring to the schools of the state, Mr. Wallis declared that he is in favor of carrying out the program of the "Kentucky Education Commission and mentioned Morehead State Teachers College, said that "the state has no better investment than this institution of learning for Kentuckians of tomorrow."

The gubernatorial candidate was introduced by Attorney James Clay, of Morehead. E. E. Maggard also spoke briefly.

Rain which fell a few minutes before Mr. Wallis was scheduled to speak and a downpour during the time he was speaking kept the crowd from reaching capacity proportions, but he did have a nearly filled court-house. Mr. Wallis did not discuss all the issues contained in his platform, and his oratory did not sling mud at any other candidate or faction, but dealt largely in generalities, coming into a more detailed discussion only on the two or three major issues he discussed.

Delegations were in from some neighboring counties despite the rainfall.

Mr. L. H. Meredith, District Engineer of the K. E. R. A. visited some of the projects under the Direction of Dixon Shouse, this week and was highly pleased with the work.

H. A. Spurlock Named County Chairman Of Rhea Forces; Many From Morehead To Hear Candidate At Bowling Green

H. A. Spurlock, former Morehead druggist and adjutant of the Corbie Ellington Post 126 of the American Legion, was named this week as Rowan County campaign chairman for the administration supporter candidate for Governor — Thomas Rhea, of Russellville.

The entire personnel of the Rhea organization in Rowan County, including campaign committeemen and women's chairman have not been named yet, but Rhea forces announced that this would be drawn up for release immediately after Rhea opens his campaign at Bowling Green tomorrow.

It is probable that either Mr. Rhea or Governor Ruby Laffoon will appear in Morehead within the next month in the interest of the former's candidacy. The Governor is taking under advisement a plan to "stump" for the Russellville citizen, and he decides to conduct a speech making tour. Morehead will probably be on his schedule.

A number of Rhea supporters and local Democrats left today for Bowling Green to hear the opening address of Mr. Rhea. The festivities will start at ten o'clock Friday morning with a parade through Bowling Green and a barbecue at noon.

The Kentucky Federation of Labor as a special convention in Louisville endorsed "100 per cent" the policies of President Roosevelt and pledged its support of the candidacy of Thomas S. Rhea for governor of Kentucky.

The resolutions endorsing Rhea for the Democratic nomination and for election as governor were declared adopted after a long session.

REAL ESTATE HERE IN FIVE CASES

The Rowan Fiscal Court, in session last Friday, appropriated $500 for the maintenance of the county unit for the coming year. In making the appropriation County Judge Jennings declared, "We congratulate Dr. Evans and the health unit for their practice of economy and feel that money expended to them and the agricultural agency is well spent."

Dr. T. A. E. Evans, County Health Doctor, was at the meeting, and briefly explained a few matters that the department has been working on.

The financial statement from D. C. Caudill, treasurer, was accepted and approved. Attorney C. C. Crosswhite had been previously employed to make a settlement with the treasurer and he presented the court with a few changes in the budget as adopted last week, and ordered the treasurer to publish the financial statement immediately.

Sollie Ralston, Victim Of Paralytic Stroke

Sollie Ralston, prominent farmer of this county, died at his home yesterday morning of a paralytic stroke suffered last Thursday. He passed away at his home near Farmers, Hope for his recovery was given up Sunday, and the family was at his bedside when the end came.

Burial will be made today in the Slaty Point Cemetery following funeral services at the home.

Asa Adkins Opens Radio Shop At 159 Main Street

Two ungraded rooms are being opened in the Breckinridge Training School for the first summer term, extending from June 10th to July 12th and the citizens of Morehead are being asked to send their children to this summer term. The first meeting time is from 8:29 to 12:00. The first three grades will be grouped together and grades four through six will also be grouped with competent and experienced teachers in charge of each of these rooms. If your child needs additional training in any subject so that he may go on with his grade or progress more rapidly next year this will provide the opportunity for such training. There is no tuition charge, and facilities are being provided to take care of at least ten children in each of the grades.

Bertha Womeldorf, 66, Marries Chase Long, 77

One of Morehead's most loved women launched her second ship upon the tempestuous waves of matrimony in a wedding here this week that attracted more than casual interest.

The bride was Bertha E. Womeldorf, widow, mother of Mrs. Watt Pritchard of Morehead, with whom she had been making her home. She is 66 years old, distinguished looking and full of life.

The husband and smiling groom — Mr. Chase Long, 75 years old, a truck gardener of Prospect, Ohio.

Morehead loses a leading citizen — Prospect, Ohio, gains a happy bride. C. E. Jennings tied the nuptial knot. Mae Day and Jack Wilson were the witnesses.

MRS. DAY FILLS $10,000 BOND AT EXAMINING TRAIL

MOREHEAD WOMAN BOUND OVER TO JUNE GRAND JURY. SHOT SON-IN-LAW; CHARGE

Mrs. Bernada Day, who recently moved to Morehead from Licking Union, Bath County, was held to await the action of the June grand jury which convenes the 17th when arraigned Monday on a charge of killing her son-in-law, Oscar "Red" Day, 22, near here Friday night.

Mrs. Day easily filled a ten thousand dollar bond, with many persons in the courtroom offering themselves as sureties, although they were not needed. Judge Jennings said she could have easily filled a hundred thousand dollar bond.

Neither Mrs. Day nor her husband appeared on the stand. Officers said, however, that the defendant was a fine woman and her husband had her down beating him about the face.

Funeral Held For Former Farmers Man

Word was received here last week of the death of W. Craig, 84, former resident of Farmers, who passed away May 30 in a Charleston, W. Va. hospital.

Mr. Craig lived at Farmers for a number of years, and was here to Nitro, W. Va., where he was living when he became ill. He leaves a daughter, Gertrude of Olive Hill, and four sons, George Craig, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Bud Craig, Ashland; Millard Craig, Nitro, W. Va.; and Thomas Craig of Georgia.

Funeral services were held from the Farmers Christian Church with burial in the Jones Cemetery.

ASA ADKINS OPENS RADIO REPAIR SHOP IN MOREHEAD

Appearing in this issue of the Independent is the advertisement of Asa Adkins, Jr., who specializes in all sorts of radio repair work. Mr. Adkins, a son of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Adkins of Morehead, is a junior in the college of electrical engineering at the University of Kentucky.

Mr. Adkins' shop is located at 159 Main Street, and his telephone number is also 159.

Traipsin Cabin Of Jean Thomas Near Ashland Brings Thousands to State

At the sound of the bugle a rush falls on the huge throng in the amphitheatre. An Indian lass in traditional costume trips down the mountainside, a song of welcome on her lips. Over the brow of the opposite hill comes a covered wagon. A pig leads forth a group of children in Lincolnshire dress and the most unusual folk-song festival in America gets under way.

Join the thousands, who will take the winding Mayo Trail through the foothills of Kentucky to the cabin of the "Traipsin' Woman" on June 9, for the fifth annual American Folk Song Festival.

Here mountain minstrels sit on a great open-air stage. High hills rise on every side to give back the echo of song—warning and wail—songs, sea chanteys and gay ditties, the strains of fiddle and dulcimer, of harp and flute. Elizabethan ballads, ladies in

LIGHT DOCKET PROBABLE FOR CIRCUIT COURT

Judge D.B. Caudill Will Try Few Cases For June Term To Begin 17th.

KEETON, MRS DAY FACE CHARGE

A light docket, resulting principally because the last grand jury returned by 30 true bills, will come before Circuit Judge D. B. Caudill when he opens court here June 17.

Among the more important felonies that have already been docketed by Circuit Clerk Joe McKinney are the following:

- John Springer, cutting and wounding, 2nd day.
- Richard Smith, shooting and wounding, 3rd day.
- E. C. Deany and James W. Blankenship, obtaining property under false pretenses, 1st day.
- Richard Thorne, detaining female against her will, 3rd day.
- Wayne Brown, seduction, 4th day.
- Logan Falls, breaking into storehouse, 4th day.
- Russell Stidham, failing to support infant children, 3rd day.
- Earl Dean, breaking into dwelling house, 2nd day.
- Theodore Binion, failing to support infant children, 3rd day.

The June grand jury will have few cases of importance to consider judging from the small number that have been bound over from the lower courts. Of principal importance is the case of Bill Keeton charged with shooting Joe Peed during an altercation here. Peed is proving rapidly recovering from his wounds, but it is possible that if an indictment is returned and a trial proceeds, he will continue to be an open wound.

Another case of importance is that of Mrs. Bernada Day, charged with shooting her son-in-law, Oscar "Red" Day, 22, near here Friday night. Mrs. Day easily filled a ten thousand dollar bond, with many persons in the courtroom offering themselves as sureties, although they were not needed. Judge Jennings said she could have easily filled a hundred thousand dollar bond.

ARTICLES OF NOTED WRITER APPEAR IN THE INDEPENDENT

In keeping with this newspaper's policy to give its readers the best of the column of Arthur Brisbane, one of the world's highest paid writers, is now running every issue. Turn now to this interesting bit of news. You will find it wholesome entertainment and agreeably enlightening.

Arthur Brisbane is one of the many new features that is running in the "All Star" Independent.

AS A BRISBANE

The "actors" are Kentucky mountaineers, men and women, boys and girls, whose ancestors have lived for generations in comparative isolation. Groups untouched by the outside world, whose unique language and customs remain unchanged through the years.

While much has changed among them, they have kept fresh the tradition of the frolic, the drinking of the wassail cup, the folk songs you will hear and customs you will see at the cabin of the "Traipsin' Woman" on June 9. Last year 10,000 saw the festival, and a larger turnout is expected this year.

Miss Jean Thomas, formerly of Morehead, heads the festival. Her Rowan Countians appear as characters.

Goody, NRA Wall Street's Dormouse Gooli Wages, Short Hours Lottery Swindles

The Supreme court unanimously declares NRA unconstitutional.

High judges whose decision no body can veto, short of a constitutional amendment say congress must do its work and cannot abdicate in favor of the Chief Executive.

The stock exchange is something like that watch—nothing seems to please it, either.

At first, stock broker gentlemen, whose "Kaaba stone" is the stock ticker, began a weird dance of joy when they heard that the market was dead, and pushed up stock prices.

Then, suddenly, as the day wore on, one broker asked another, and every broker asked every other broker, "How do we know what is unnecessary? And then they put the prices down."

It is announced, but not by Mr. Croghan head of the American Federation of Labor, that a great strike will be called in protest against the Supreme court's NRA decision.

Mr. Green is too wise to permit, if he can prevent, a strike against the United States Supreme court. He may, should, and probably will, take a wiser course and work, as organized labor has, never fully for generalization, to improve working conditions.

"QUOTES" Says ROGERS

COMMENTS ON CURRENT TOPICS BY NATIONAL CHARACTERS

GERMANY AND PEACE

FRANKE MAYER, Prime Minister of Great Britain

GERMANY has acted in such a way as to destroy the feeling of mutual confidence in Europe. It has broken up the peace and best it with terrors. It claims a measure of armed force which puts most of the nations of Europe at its mercy.

Every reflecting, reasonable German must see the force of the point I am making. He must know in his heart that Berlin is not enough, that in fact it has upset very much more than it has pacified. Germany is arming, it alleges, to satisfy honor and self-respect, and makes the further allegation that the scale of its armament is only enough to make itself secure.

Leaving the honor argument out of account for the moment, how can it presume to blind to the effect which its colossal armaments must have on the sense of security of other nations? "You must trust me," it replies. "I assure you I have no designs upon you."

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

FREDERICK W. WILLIAMSON, President of the New York Telephone Company

POLITICS lives on jobs, as you all know. It is obvious that under a government which is based on the political party system, the railroad under government ownership would be administered primarily for the need of that system. Under government ownership the job of every one of the million railroad employees would be or later would become a political prize, with merit and experience taking a back seat.

Moreover, it is reasonable to assume that the sources of the railroad's supply of materials would not long remain private owned. And, since railroads buy, for example, 22 per cent of all the steel that is mined, 16 per cent of the steel, and 16 per cent of all the lumber manufactured, thus providing much of the backing of these basic industries, how long do you suppose it would be before these, too, would come under the control of the federal hand?

THE NRA POLICY

DONALD W. RICHMOND, Director of the NRA

MANY of those who in recent months helped to raise the Blue Eagle now feel that we might have moved more rapidly toward a clearer understanding of the law. We had chosen not an emblem of force but a symbol of peace and co-operation to dignity adequately a code of self-composition.

Yet, how can we go forward without exerting force against those who will always obstruct progress for narrow, selfish aims, who will ever play the game fair unless the rules are enforced against them? Somehow these dissenting groups, whether moved by prejudice or evil purpose, must be prevented from destroying the virtuous effort of a majority to make a success of self-government.

CONTINUING NRA

JOSEPH ROBINSON, U. S. Senator from Arkansas

THE program for industrial recovery have been spread over the entire range of industry and commerce. Even such witnesses before the senate committee as Senator Crampton, in his testimony of the law admitted that, under the changes, their industries have collapsed from unprofitable to generally profitable.

Amendments to the act have been worked out and proposed in the light of experience. To abandon the NRA under present conditions would invite the return of the evils from which industry was suffering when the statute was passed.

THE REPUBLICAN JOB

ARTHUR CAPPER, U. S. Senator from Kansas

IT'S time to determine how much individualism we can retain, how many parts of our national economy must be owned in common or controlled in common. In other words, we have set to make a new definition of public utilities, draw a line between the public utility and the private business. That line should be drawn in the public interest, of course.

We must work to retain a democratic spirit of government under the Constitution, with the welfare of the people, industry and business serving as people. The welfare of the people is the end.

FUTURE LIBERTY

DR. FRANCIS GAERTNER WOOD, Noted Philologist

IF TAXES are to continue high for another generation or two, those who care most for money will move to countries where there are still frontiers to be conquered, where life is cheap and profits large. There still remain many such lands and there will go men with the pioneer spirit, the "go-getters" of America. The rest of us will have to content with a life of living and taking money on an intellectual freedom rather than a physical one.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

It has been a long time since parents believed that it was the duty of a school teacher, on trust with the education of young people to "lick 'em, 'n' 'larn 'em."

Teachers are more tolerant with dollars, than from no fault of their own, are being squeezed out of the school. School teaching is a highly important business.

It is important because it arouses in the minds of young people a desire for knowledge. Whether that desire is fulfilled in the school room or outside, it does not make much difference.

Convince a youngster that the more he knows, the happier, and, probably, the more successful he will be, and more than half the battle is accomplished.

The teachers in this country are very well paid, according to the old standards. But they are not as well paid as chauffeurs, or horse trainers, or baseball players, whose value to the world is far much less than their own.

Today, fortunately in this country, education is compulsory. But, compulsory or voluntary, your education, if you will not get it.

You must be interested and ambitious, and determined to get out of yourself the best results possible. Otherwise the time you have spent in learning will be of no possible use to you.

In these days of colleges and educational institutions of all kinds, it is getting harder and harder to get a job. It is a great deal to get a job to get any position at all.

But those who suffer the least from the conditions out of which we are getting rid are those who have used their opportunities to stock their minds.

What would not be nearly Women Do so many failures in life.

Do, unfortunately, what one wants to do, and what one can do best, are not always the same. If you asked the average high school girl today what her chosen walk in life would be, she would probably tell a motion picture actress, or anything else.

And one time out of a hundred, a motion picture actress' life might be open to her if she worked hard.

In the same case, if she persevered and got far as Hollywood, the result would only be disappointment, perhaps tragedy.

The people who do not know what they want are still in a majority, and they are to be commiserated. They may have real intelligence and ability, sometimes a little talent.

But if they try to give and save that talent, they are sure that some opportunity will turn up which will wreck them.

Today conditions of this kind are not so serious as they used to be. There are wider opportunities for women. Indeed, in many cases, women are doing the same kind of work that men are and gaining time and fortune. But these are exceptions.

So these average girl ought to do to get married and have a family of her own. And that is what the usually do, if she has the chance doesn't come along, and it often doesn't, the future looks very dark.

One of the largest chains of restaurants in New York is run by a woman, with great success. Women have wide opportunities when they go to work in big departments. They are doing more and more that would put some of their male workers in the shade.

Amelia Earhart Putnam, America's most famous feminine flier, has added another decoration to her collection. She recently journeyed to Chicago where she received the Balbo medal, a gift from the Italian government. Giuseppe Castruccio, Italian consul in Chicago, delivered the award.

Miss Earhart's most recent achievement was the record-breaking non-stop flight from Mexico City to the Newark, N. J., airport. She bettered the time made by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh between Mexico City and Washington by nearly 14 hours.

Her only regret voiced on landing was: "I would like to have made it in better time."

Only five cows in the United States have ever produced more than 1,500 pounds of butter in a year, and Bess Fayne is the only cow in the world to have passed that mark twice. She is owned by F. E. Army Lands First Planes on Boulder Lake

"MAKER OF ACES"

Brig. Gen. James E. Chaney, who is considered one of Uncle Sam's best "makers of aces," is now at San Antonio in command of Randolph field, the air corps training center. This field has become known as the West Point of the air.

Marks New Point in Air History

A picture of the first planes to land on the newly formed Boulder lake is shown above. This event marks a new point in air history. A fleet of Douglas Amphibian airplanes of the Thirtieth squadron, Nineteenth Bombardment group, from the United States army general headquarters air force at Rockwell field, San Diego, can claim this feat. The flight was made from San Diego to Boulder lake, as officially recorded, in approximately two hours.

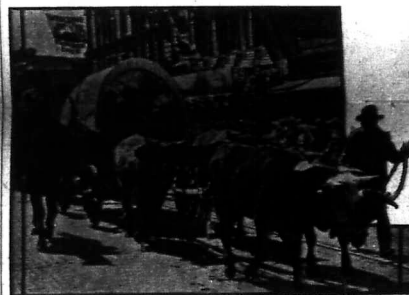

The fliers were not cramped for space in landing and taking off. Boulder lake, formed by Boulder dam, offers plenty of room. The dam which is 730 feet high, creates a reservoir 115 miles long, with storage capacity of 30,500,000 acre feet of water. It is situated on the Black canyon of the Colorado about 30 miles from Las Vegas.

One would never believe there were so many ox-dams in the country as were seen in this Washington city. Their leisurely pace added little to the speed of the parade, but they certainly made it picturesque as shown by the picture above.

Route of Paul Revere Draws Tourist Crowds

Boston.—Paul Revere, the famous midnight rider who was born two centuries ago this year, remains one of history's favorite figures.

Tourists never tire of painstakingly pursuing the circuitous route over which he rode to immortality in 1775. Figures show that during the past year no less than 25,000 persons have climbed the Old North Church tower where the signal lantern was hung for Revere.

Meanwhile, at the other end of the Revere route, 18,000 visitors passed through the Hancock-Adams house in Lexington, where John Hancock and Samuel Adams were awakened by Revere and warned that the British were coming.

Political Announcement

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of:

J. J. THOMAS
of Owingsville, Ky.,
for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 96th Legislative District.

We Are Authorized To Announce:
Hon. Fredrick A. Wallis
Of Paris, Ky.

As a Candidate for Governor of Kentucky. Subject to the Action of the Democratic Party at the August 3 Primary.

Although not a heavy voting center, Morehead and Rowan County are drawing more than their share of interest in the local political campaign. Lieutenant Governor A. B. Chandler and Hon. Fredrick A. Wallis have already delivered an address here, and it is probable that either Tom Rhea or Governor Ruby Laffoon will speak in Morehead within the next month, in the interest of the administration slate, with Rhea for Governor.

A plan is underfoot by Rhea supporters here to bring Governor Laffoon to Morehead. If possible he will probably deliver his address at Jayne Stadium sometime during the day. So far the Governor has not appeared on the rostrum in support of the Russellville candidate and the administration's choice. The Governor should prove a live drawing card from both parties, as well as from the ranks of his Democratic friends and enemies.

Publicity For Drivers Without Licenses

Publication in Sunday's Courier-Journal of the names of seventy-one automobile drivers in Jefferson county whose licenses have been revoked or suspended since November 30 gives reassuring indications that this law is to a certain extent being enforced. There are many loopholes therein, but reasonable official vigilance and efficiency should insure a fair degree of compliance.

The routine of license revocations is as follows: When a driver is convicted in Police Court or County Court of an offense punishable by revocation or suspension, the record is sent to the Circuit Court Clerk. This official sends the names with his recommendations to the State Tax Commission which, after action, notifies its local deputies to take up the license card of the offenders. In order to be complete, the local law enforcement officers should have an official list of revocations or suspensions.

The law should provide for the publication of the names of those against whom action has been taken. Otherwise, if politics play a part in the matter, which is not impossible under State Tax Commission supervision, a favored driver may proceed on his way unhampered or unhindered. The State Tax Commission does not give out lists of license revocations, any local or county sent newspaper presumably may obtain from the Commission, upon request, the names of those in the county whose driving privileges have been taken away, and may publish them. Few will drive in defiance of a revocation if their neighbors know about it. (Courier-Journal)

Dixie Theatre Features "The Little Colonel"

A movie news of the day is that America's golden haired sweetheart arrives in her latest picture, Shirley Temple, the five year old serene miracle who was unknown less than a year ago, and who now ranks among the ten world's outstanding box office attraction, co-stars with Lion Barrymore in "The Little Colonel," which begins a 2 day engagement at the Dixie Theatre, Olive Hill, Sunday.

Through her marvelous performances in four pictures, Shirley has become the nation's idol, adored by young and old. Her innocent romp through the land of fane is one of the bright fairy tales of modern days.

Fox film combat all the available fiction, past and present, for a suitable vehicle for Shirley and found it in one of the "Little Colonel" stories of Anne Fellows Johnston, which have been eagerly read by millions. Drama and comedy, pathos and humor, or, vie for supremacy in this tale of a wrecked Kentucky family, during the Reconstruction era, reunited by the determination of a lilliputian dimpled colonel.

For the first time in her short, brilliant screen career, Shirley Temple will be presented to the world precisely as she is. A part of the film is shown in technicolor.

A supporting cast was selected in keeping with the importance of the principals. Among them are names that have glittered on the marquee of Broadway theatres. They include Evelyn Venable, John Lodge, Sidney Blackmer, William Burres, and others. Bill Robinson, the celebrated colored dancer makes his film debut in "The Little Colonel" in a part which from all reports, gives him the finest chance of his lifetime to display his famed stair dance as it should ideally be performed.

As for Shirley Temple, she acts, sings, and dances. Her featured song for "The Little Colonel" is "Love's Young Dream," a melody based on one of the world's oldest-known folk tunes, which was especially popular during the late '70s in which the picture takes place. It is a De Sylva Production directed by David Butler.

Decline Of Bootleggers Seen As Result of the Repeal Of Prohibition

Louisville, Ky., May 29—The days of bootleggers is passing very rapidly, and this type of malefactor will be reduced to a very small number as time goes on," said Frank B. Thomas, President of the Glenmore Distilleries Co. Inc., today in an interview on the subject.

"I state this deliberately and after careful consideration of the situation," continued Mr. Thomas, "and I will say further that this situation will be certain to be brought about regardless of governmental operations. The government activities are of extraordinary value. Uncle Sam is too conscious of the losses he is suffering in unpaid taxes to overlook the bootlegger. Government men are working day and night to bring the bootlegger into the courts and accelerate their journey to prison. I cannot overrate the importance and effect of the work of government operatives, particularly during the past fifteen months.

"But there is an even more powerful influence that I believe is working just as surely to eradicate bootleg products. The public recognizes the danger of accepting bootleg products. They have learned that while the bootlegger might not be approaching him personally he is operating behind the scenes through unprincipled jobbers and the less reliable package stores and taverns.

"Men who know their way about are becoming suspicious of soiled labels on bottles. They know that this is an indication that these bottles have been refilled. And usually the refilling is with bootleg liquor.

"They are becoming critical in their drinking. The old speaker's custom of serving liquor for the first drink or two and then shifting to the cheapest kind of imitation is being made more and more difficult, day by day, as people realize that they must guard against this custom so prevalent during prohibition days.

"I need scarcely say," said Mr. Thompson, "that the better hotels, the restaurants, taverns and package stores will have no part in such an engagement in such places, the management is certain what they ask for: They keep their goods out in the open. They are glad to have their customers inspect bottles before drinking. Some of these places will even go to the extent of destroying empty bottles and labels to prevent any possibility of their being sold to bootleggers and being refilled.

"But the great final influence in this all-important merchandising, is the public. The public's insistent demand for genuine liquors, properly branded and opened and poured in sight of the buyer, is unquestionably leading to the ruin and disappearance of the bootlegger."

WASHINGTON: In the lapse of one week since the Supreme Court policed to State lines as barriers to the New Deal, the entire national political outlook has been thrown into confusion.

This confusion prevailed along all political fronts, as leaders and the rank and file in various groups awaited President Roosevelt's next move before bracing themselves for a possible sweeping realignment of political affiliations.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Elorence Hall, of Knott county, who owns a permanent pasture for the grazing of calves and light cattle, seeded 1,000 pounds of lespedeza, 500 pounds of orchard grass and 200 pounds of red top on mountain land. He will not pasture the field this year.

Boyd County dairymen bought 500 bags of feed cooperatively through the Farm Bureau this month, at a saving of $160 from the retail prices they paid previous to April 1, reports the county agent.

Commercial orchards have good prospects for large peach and apple crops in Warren county, and pruning and spraying is being conducted extensively. One orchard that had 4,500 bushels of peaches last year will apparently produce 3,800 bushels.

The report of the county agent of Allen county says: "Farms that were a drag on the market can be bought only at much higher prices now. Farmers are busy spraying fruit trees, starting poultry projects and buying livestock. This county was formerly a beef raising center, and opening markets are encouraging livestock raisers."

At a meeting in Le Grange to launch a land and marl soil improvement project in cooperation with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in 1929, and is one of the outstanding young poultry farmers in the state.

A receiving plant has been established in Breckridge county for 50 acres of pickles, contracted for by the Whitehead-Kelsel Company of Louisville. They pay $1 per hundred for pickles, and farmers will net at least $3,500. The amount might be doubled with a good season.

SIX MONTHS FLOCK PROFIT IS $1,039

A profit of $1,039 in six months over cost of feed and other expenses not including labor and interest on investment, is reported by Grant Maddox, a Boone county poultry farmer. His 571 hens laid 11,982 eggs in April and averaged 94 eggs per hen for the six months period from November to May.

At the beginning of the laying season the flock numbered 953 hens. Rigorous culling reduced it to 571 by April.

Sales from the flock include market eggs, hatching eggs, baby chicks, broilers, fryers and fat culs.

Mr. Maddox was graduated from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in 1929, and is one of the outstanding young poultry farmers in the state.

EARLY LAMBS WILL NEED NO WORM TREATMENT

Report of death among early lambs, as a result of drenching has brought a statement from the veterinary authorities at the Agriculture Experiment Station, University of Kentucky, to the effect that early lambs as a rule should not be treated for worms. It is not considered necessary to treat lambs before July 1, that is, only late lambs need drenching. In fact, it is dangerous to drench young lambs, and often results fatally unless carefully done.

If ewes are treated for worms in the fall, they usually do not need drenching the following year until the lambs are weaned. If they were not fall treated, they may need treating in the spring.

THE "SECOND" GARDEN By JOHN S. GARDNER

There is no sharp division between the early garden and the late garden, for they merge. This is the time however, for beginning to arrange for that part of the garden that is to furnish vegetables for the late fall and for canning and storing for the winter, for now space will begin to appear, in which "succession" vegetables may be put.

For example, the early greens and radishes are done. Rather than let their raised leaves stay to furnish opportunity for the cabbage worms to multiply, they should be removed, the rows respaced and a row of bean plants, or, for that matter, since now is the time to assure bees and crickets to store for the winter, either of these. There may be rows of peas now as their prime, or let them grow to three without disturbing them, tomato plants may be set 4 feet apart. When the peas are finally picked, the vines may be removed from around the tomatoes and we will go on to occupy the space.

If it is desired to have pole beans hill corn, one stalk each, may be put in rows of peas or of spinach, now cutting and three beans planted about them, later thinned to two stalks. Although this is not quite orthodox gardening, it does solve the bean-pole problem. Kentucky Wonder may be used, or if variety is a item, Tall Horticultural. This is "green-shell" bean, a change from the "weeping" sorts. As for the corn, though the "roasting ear" sorts Johnson County, Louisville Market and Hickory King are all very well in their way, sweet corn is better. It is suggested that, for a real crop sell a Cross Bantam be used.

Bean planting should go on, every two weeks, but during June and the first half of July the rows should be twice as long, so that a dependable canning surplus is had. For these plantings, Refugee or Thousand, or one may be used. Although there are a few strains, the superior flavor and yield of this variety command it.

The variety of tomatoes to use is Marglobe, for it is resistant to the wilt disease, found in many home gardens. Even though the wilt is not present, Marglobe gives good account of itself. Its main fault being that it cracks about the stem when the season is uneven in moisture, but that is a fault common to most vegetables in unseasonable weather.

The best beet to raise for winter storing is Detroit Dark Red. It is capable of producing large shapely roots that stay tender no matter what the season. Their color, deep red and black, add to their desirability. The best storing carrot is Chantesy, a short broad shape, a root of fine texture and quality, no matter how large it gets. Its color, too, commands it.

The fight against the pest must, of course, go on. The Mexican bean beetle may be particularly troublesome on late beans. Properly handled, this insect can be controlled.

James Food directed "Wings in the Dark," and Roscoe Karns, Hobart Canvaugh and Dean Jagger appear in the supporting cast.

COLLEGE TO HAVE SHOW MONDAY

Fredric March and Charles Laughton play fugitive and pursuer in the most celebrated of all fictional man-hunts in Darryl Zanuck's 20th century production of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," which is showing at the College Theatre Monday, June 10th.

CORN-HOG SIGNERS NOT TO EXCEED BASE OF 1932-33

Even though their base is less than 10 acres, farmers who sign corn-hog contracts may not increase their acreages over the average for 1932 and 1933, says a statement from the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The fact that farmers who have a base of less than 10 acres need not make any reduction and will receive no benefit payments has led some to think that they may increase their acreage. In no case can a contract signer increase his acreage over his base.

The provisions of the various commodity contracts should not be confused says the college statement. Each contract is independent of all others, and each crop is controlled by its own contract, without regard to provisions in any other contract.

"WINGS IN THE DARK" TO BE COZY FEATURE

Although the set of Paramount's "Wings in the Dark," coming Sunday to the Cozy Theatre, proved an irresistible lure to the aviators in the vicinity of Hollywood, the most favored guest of them all was Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith who visited the studio soon after his recent trans-Pacific flight.

Kingsford-Smith was feted by Mrs. M. L. and Cary Grant, stars of "Wings in the Dark," while the other members of the cast and company attended. The high spot of the dinner was the table decoration, a large propeller of flowers, done in red, white and blue.

After the ceremonies had ended Kingsford-Smith accompanied the actors on a tour of the studio and watched it intently while they worked on the picture.

"Wings in the Dark," which portrays Miss Loy as a daredevil aviator, attracted several women flyers to the studio. Among them were Florence Lowe Barnes and Louise Thaden.

COLLEGE TO HAVE SHOW MONDAY

Fredric March and Charles Laughton play fugitive and pursuer in the most celebrated of all fictional man-hunts in Darryl Zanuck's 20th century production of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," which is showing at the College Theatre Monday, June 10th.

March is seen as Hugo's ill-starred young hero, Jean Valjean, who spends five bitter years on a French prison ship for stealing a loaf of bread and then becomes a fugitive from justice for violating his parole. Laughton is Javert, the fanatical detective, whose devotion to the letter of the law drives him relentlessly along the reformed convict's trail.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, the distinguished English stage and screen star, shares stellar honors with the pair as the benevolent Bishop Bienvenue, whose faith starts the degraded or rather plays on the road, toward a better life.

Rochele Hudson, Frances Drake and John Deau are featured in a supporting cast which also includes such popular and distinguished flyers as Florence Lowe Barnes, who is Fredric March in private life, Joe E. Rain, Ferdinand Gottschalk, and little Marilynne Knowlton, who played Midge Evans as a child in "David Copperfield."

"Les Miserables" is a Joseph A. Schenck production, released by United Artists.

The short subjects for this program include a cartoon in color and a lovely musical number also in color entitled "Gypsy-Sweethearts" and a historical reel "Boston Tea Party" which will make this one of the "T" programs ever furnished to Morehead theatre-goers.

PIRATES PLAY OWINGVILLE ON SATURDAY

State League Teams Meet Twice For Play-off of Postponed Games

McNABB AND DALE WILL HURL

Managers Claude Clayton and Bob Day will lead their revamped Morehead Pirates baseball club to Owingville Saturday afternoon, with the Moreheadians engaging the Merchants in a twin bill that is one of the highlights of the month in sports locally.

Edgar McNabb, former Morehead College star, who hurled a 2 hit game against Mayville a fortnight ago, will oppose Strauder Feback, Hooktown, curve ball Merchant, in the opener. Feback has not been going so good so far this year, and a victory for the underdog Morehead team would not be unexpected.

In the nightcap, Woodson Dale, who turned in a beautiful performance by topping Mount Sterling 5 to 1, will pitch for Morehead, and Bob McKenzie, former Morehead star, will do the tossing for the home boys.

Owingville is making a bid for the league leadership, and will be in a position to take over first place, provided they score victories in both games. Morehead's club has been gaining on better since the management made changes, and as far as they are concerned it is now or never. With the big end of the schedule approaching Morehead is either primed to become a factor in the pennant chase as they have in past years, or just another club winning a few, losing a lot, and ending up somewhere near the bottom of the first division or on top of the second.

MOREHEAD SET FOR VANCEBURG IN LOOP GAME

PIRATES PRIMED FOR BATTLE WITH VANCEBURG TEAM HERE; LINEUP MAY BE ALTERED

A group of apparently evenly matched teams have been thrown in the hat and brought out in pairs that make an attractive schedule for Sunday's games in the Kentucky State League.

Here is perhaps the best round of baseball the loop has yet offered: Owingville at Mt. Sterling; Mt. Sterling at Flemingsburg; Vanceburg at Morehead; Paris at Brooksville.

For the league fans, one game stacks up about as good as the other. The probable pitchers are: Owingville, Feback; Mayville, Keatley; Mt. Sterling, Dutton or Rhodes; Flemingsburg, K. Stumbo; Vanceburg, Stanley Steidel; Morehead, McNabb or Dale; Paris, Wells; Brooksville, Dawson or Burke.

In previous meetings between these clubs, Mayville won over Owingville; Flemingsburg topped Mt. Sterling; Morehead lost to Vanceburg; and Paris defeated Brooksville. Of these four previous meetings, three the winners had a victory margin of only one run.

OBSERVE GUEST NIGHT
"Guest Night" was observed at the Morehead Men's Club Monday evening. The program was presented by Dr. A. W. Adkins and led jointly by Dr. A. W. Adkins and E. H. Horton. Guests were Roy E. Corsette, C. B. Van Antwerp, Asa Adkins, Jr., and Crawford Adkins. The program next week will be presented by Dr. R. F. Terrell.

SPORT . . . SLANTS

The inauguration of donkey baseball in Morehead yesterday evening marks a new era in sports. Some "smart guy" thought it all up, bought himself a dozen and half a dozen of burros, and the sport fans took to it like all good Americans take to all good "fads."

After all there is lots of fun for the spectators in this game. As for the players it fun may be at first, but it develops into a difficult game. The cheers and catcalls of the audience is the thrill that keeps the players going, although the sport in itself is a silly pastime.

We are veritably living in an age of rubber bathing suits, donkey baseball, chain letters and yo-yo's. It is the time of fads, and although none of them survive, they are pleasant pastimes.

The coaching school that will be conducted by Alvin N. "Bo" McMillin and Adolph Rupp, two of the outstanding football and basketball mentors, respectively, is likely to be filled. The plan has already spread among athletes and coaches of eastern and central Kentucky, and in view of the cost, the type of instruction and the benefits to be derived, the week's coaching school should prove a distinct boon here.

A few minutes talk with McMillin alone should be enough to repay anyone for the amount invested. Here is a man that has gained immortal fame through his football playing and his coaching; the gentleman from Texas and Kentucky that led the Praying Colonels of Centre College to victories and glory.

His speech at the Morehead College football banquet, was, in itself, a frank talk to talk on manhood and sports, depicting the type of life its makes lives.

It is rumored that many of the best players on the Morehead College freshman team of last year will not return to school this fall. These had returned several of the players that have been generally conceded as the best on the 1934 Eagles. It is gratifying to report that most of them will be back next year, and as far as material is concerned, Morehead will have the best array of boys and girls ever had. Speaking straight from the shoulder we can see so reason why Morehead should lose a single game next year, unless some of their opponents have more than we judge.

The schedule is not exceptionally difficult, consisting of about the same run of teams that Morehead has previously met.

Expect Large Class To Greet Rupp and McMillin

Alvin N. "Bo" McMillin, idol of thousands of boys throughout the United States, and Adolph Rupp, reckoned as one of the premiers in the field of basketball should draw a warm receipt on when they opened a week's coaching school at Morehead State Teachers College on August 5.

Although it is a little early yet for advance reservations to be coming in, athletic officials of the institution predict a full house, on the basis of the drawing powers of the two men, and the interest already being taken throughout the state.

Tuition fees for the school will be five dollars.

During the morning Coach McMillin will give four hours instructions in football and coach Rupp will have a week's coaching school at Morehead beginning at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

MOREHEAD'S FASTEST GROWING BUSINESS

In eight months of operation the Plumbing and Electric shop has increased its business 800 percent, according to Harlus Catron partner with Cecil Landreth in the business. Hard work, Good service and Quality materials are given as the main factors in the extraordinary increase in business. Mr. Catron stated that the shop would rather lose a job than use cheap materials and thereby make a dissatisfied customer.

In enlarging the business they have installed a radio repair shop with Mr. Gearhart in charge. He is a graduate of the U. S. Naval School of Radio and is equipped with twelve years experience in this work. The shop handles Hot air furnaces and installs them in addition to doing plumbing and electrical work.

SYNOPSIS

The luck that had brought the Boston Lawrence to California just as the beginning of the gold rush seems to have deserted the present generation...

CHAPTER II

She walked home in languid twilight; all Clipperville was relaxed and under the force of unexpected heat of the spring day...

Gall looked at a dress in Muller's window, a blue and white striped dress with orange ribbons hanging in a bunch from shoulder and waist...

"Well, hell—!" he said delightedly. "I didn't know you were in town!"

"But I wasn't!" And they both laughed ecstatically. "No, but seriously, the fact is, Gall presently began, in a delicious gutter but with a sensible and businesslike air...

"Well, hell—!" he said delightedly. "I didn't know you were in town!"

"Listen, are you engaged?" the Man Demanded Suddenly.

"Dick Stebbins!" Gall was conscious of not wanting to forget a word of all this; she had a premonition that she would want to turn under her tongue the taste of his having already discussed her possible love affairs with his aunt.

"Oh, course I like him. His mother rents our Stanislaus place." It was one of the Lawrence's talking; he heard was up. "His mother rents our Stanislaus place," said Gall, "and I see him on business now and then."

"No, honest, I can't! You know how things are at the Chipp's. People coming to dinner—a lot of fuss."

"Sooner! But when can I see you?" "At the library—any time."

"What! The head, mister? I'll be rotten," Ariel predicted gloomily. "Oh, Ariel, I think that'll be simply grand!"

"Well, hell—!" he said delightedly. "I didn't know you were in town!"

"Listen, are you engaged?" the Man Demanded Suddenly.

"Well, hell—!" he said delightedly. "I didn't know you were in town!"

"Listen, are you engaged?" the Man Demanded Suddenly.

"Well, whether they are or not, you don't want awfully to go, do you, darling?" the oldest sister pleaded.

Humble Wasp Enlisted in Fight Against Pests

Last summer a large consignment of live wasps and larvae were sent to Canada by airplane from the village of Iszak, Hungary, writes the Budapest correspondent of the London Sunday Observer.

"The Vermont Ujvar" gives an account of an insect plague that brought a golden harvest to the village. In August the unprecedentedly early and abundant crop of fruit trees, threatened to deprive the village of its harvest.

"The gentleman, whose mysterious activities intrigued the village, was a professor from the London Zoological and Parasitological Institute, who had been commissioned by the Canadian government to find an insect which destroys the redoubtable tsetse fly.

Slenderizing Lines Characterize Frock

Quite the neatest trick we've observed for a long time is this cleverly arranged, yet delightfully simple, home frock. Especially nice for those of us who gain and lose weight or who just naturally love a smart looking wrap-around for sheer comfort and convenience. And, of course, a boon to expectant mothers. Note how the belt slips through a slit and may be simply adjusted to fit the figure. Meanwhile, one has stepped right into it as into a coat. No petticoat needed. Nice shoulders and back, aren't they? Most attractive in solid color, cotton broadcloth or printed or plaid cotton of any sort. Pattern 9321 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38. Size 26 requires 4 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric. SEND FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE. Address your order to The Sewing Club, Pattern Department, 202 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

Rhea Chairmen

(Continued From Page One) candill showed that Stages with a number of congress was about on two occasions when labor legislation was up for consideration and at other occasions voted "unfavorable" to labor. The delegate declared that when Rhea was chairman of the state High Wage commission, the commission approved wages for a bridge project at Newport in northern Kentucky lower than the prevailing wage rates. He said the trade unions had objected strenuously to the commission's action. Turpin said his own or other on the ground any objection to Rhea should have been offered before the round one vote vote. He was applauded when he reiterated that the purpose of the federation was to "free" the miners of Rhea county.
