Rowan county is experiencing a reign of lawlessness. A storm which broke in August over the election of the Sheriff has drenched the entire county, and the outlaws have not waited for the rainy season to end. The county has been divided into two parts, and the election of Sheriff has created a feeling of fear and confusion throughout the community. The Sheriff has ordered an immediate investigation of the incidents, but the criminals are proving to be too crafty.

People close to the scene are familiar with Mr. Over, the Sheriff, and say he is not likely to change his ways. Mr. Over told me, "I will not till I went through the county, and I love me some brandy," and he has made the trip.

"I went through Belton a few days ago," he said, "and the trip would be easy, but I was flummoxed. I had to go to Belton, and I was flummoxed, and I knew what it was I was after."

I asked him how he found out the new sheriff, and he said, "I had a men's club in town, and they were discussing the new sheriff, and I didn't understand it."
