Majority Outranks Minority

The recent blood drive sponsored by the Student Council and the student body of Morehead State College proved a number of things to the staff of the Trail Blazer. First of all, it proved that the caustic attitude of a minor group of individuals across the nation does not represent a majority opinion on this campus. Secondly, it proved that the student not afraid to take a stand on an issue. Lastly, this drive showed the ability of the student body to rally together when asked to do so.

John Collis, manager of the bookstore, should be thanked by all who read this editorial. He gave time to a cause he believed in, more time than anyone else on the campus. Collis is noted, though, for the earnestness in any undertaking with which he associates himself.

The social clubs for their endless support in blood and help setting up the various equipment for the drive should also be thanked and, of course, those of the service clubs on campus that volunteered their services to the drive also.

A special salute of thanks for the support of the American policy in Vietnam goes to all who gave. All 157 pints are badly needed by the services of this nation. Just last week more casualties were being shipped home. To this date over 5,000 men have been wounded in Vietnam, many of these needed blood. Over 900 have died in the conflict, some of whom might have survived if blood had been there. You who have given can have a feeling of pride. You have given more than your voice to the cause, you have given your blood.

Suggestion Box Now Located In Doran Student House

The Student Council in cooperation with the Division of Applied Arts and the Division of Fine Arts has placed a suggestion box in the lobby of the Doran Student House.

The box will give the students an opportunity to offer constructive suggestions to the Student Council.

Students who wish to use the facility are urged to write their suggestions in the form of a letter and sign their names. The signature will be important in case the council needs to discuss the suggestion with the individual.

The box, which is made of brown walnut veneered plywood with contrasting white plastic letters on the front, was constructed by Jerry Garrison, a lab assistant in Industrial Arts.

Inlaid in the plywood top is a cork board covered with plastic on which can be tacked directions for using the box.

The actual design of the box was a class project in an industrial design class, which originated last fall. The class is the first attempt by the Division of Applied Arts to team teach on an inter-division level. Mrs. Betty Marzan, instructor of art and Robert Newton, instructor of industrial arts, jointly teach the course.

Council Reads Them

Any student who is aware of problems on campus which can be improved through the Student Council is encouraged to bring them to the office of the Student Council or drop a note in the suggestion box.

Reynolds Explains International Organization To Student Council

Worley Reynolds of the Morehead English Department presented the many activities of CARE to the Student Council in February. Reynolds pointed out how much good is done by Care each year and expressed that the college students would like to "help CARE help the world."

CARE, the Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere, Inc., is a nonprofit agency for voluntary assistance to needy people in other lands. CARE provides underdeveloped countries with a three-fold service. It distributes food and other essentials for immediate relief; provides the tools of education, health and self-support to help the needy help themselves to a decent future and sends MEDICO doctors, nurses, and medical technicians to practice and teach modern medicine.

CARE's recipients are selected according to need, without religious, racial or political discrimination. These packages sent overseas can be designated for both countries and individuals.

CARE's funds depend on contributions from individuals and organizations. Donors may specify the type of aid or area if they wish. A package will either be given with the name of the donor or simply "a gift from the people of the United States of America."

Morehead State College organized and donated the profits made on the Student Council movie On the Waterfront to CARE. The amount of money acquired through this show was $161.-64. This money was equivalent to 3,-996.4 pounds of food; this was just 3.5 pounds short of two tons. The area designated for this food to be sent to was South Vietnam. South Vietnam at the present time is one of the areas of the world in most need of help. Today, South Vietnam is crowded with refugees from Communist North Vietnam and farmers who have been forced from their land because of fighting. CARE is helping to supply these people with the necessities of life and equipment and education so that some day they will be able to help themselves.

Who's Who Election Set Next Tuesday, Nov. 23

Thirty-four seniors and graduate students at Morehead State College will be elected to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," a publication which gives recognition to students with achievements in institutions of higher learning in the United States.

The election of the nominees to "Who's Who" will be held next Tuesday, Nov. 23, in the Doran Student House.

To be eligible for nomination to "Who's Who," a student must meet the following qualifications:

1. All candidates will be expected to have an overall 2.5 standing.
2. Participation in extra-curricular activities.
3. Citizenship
4. Character
5. Future Promise
6. All candidates must have been in residence at Morehead State College during the three previous semesters.
7. Students must be classified as seniors or graduate students at the time of nomination.

A screening committee will check the list of nominees to see if they meet the qualifications. The committee is composed of the Student Council president, the president of the senior class, the Dean of Students and the Associate Dean of Students, two faculty members and a graduate student representative named by the director of graduate studies.

Also, the screening committee can add the names of any individuals they feel should be nominated for the honor.

The Student Council will be in charge of the selection. Only seniors, division heads and graduate students can vote in the election.

The students who are elected will not be officially listed until the Who's Who national committee approves their selection.

The names of the winning nominees will be included in the next issue of the Trail Blazer.

Is There Leadership?

Webster's International Unabridged dictionary defines a leader as: "A person who goes before to guide or show the way, or one who precedes or directs into action, opinion or movement." In the past, few officers of the Student Council have met this definition or at least have not exercised these stated qualities in execution of their office duties.

At present, we have one of the best Student Councils this university has seen in the past few years. This Council has devoted itself to the students of the university in seeing that the best representation is afforded every student on the campus.

Under the leadership of Gary Cox, the Council has begun a program of weekend movies at reasonable rates and has brought to the campus more entertainment than in the past. The Council has studied various campus complaints and has done research on these problems to the last measure of possibility.

One area in which they have fallen flat on their faces, is that of the Judiciary Council.

The Student Council of 1964-65 worked hard to formulate the Council and this year's Council has not worked to the fullest measure so that a case is brought before it, even if the case was but a mere mock trial.

Much can be learned from a mock trial as has been shown with the working of such at other state institutions of higher learning in Kentucky.

Why hasn't a case been brought before the Council? The candidates for president of the Student Council for 1966-67 contend that the problem lies in either of two areas: one is that the students are afraid of the Council and the other is that they are not informed of the Council.

We agree that students may not be informed of the Council, but we of the Trail Blazer have devoted much space to the workings of the Council and from time to time have asked about its progress.

The Judiciary Council is similar to the Supreme Court of the United States in its operation. The Supreme Court has cases and has no trouble in getting the judicial body to the people of the nation to function. Is it so hard for a student body to be informed of the operation of THEIR court of appeals?

We don't think so.

We questioned to one of the justices of the Judiciary Council recently the question of why they have not had a case as yet. His answer was that the students have not requested the Council to act on a case. We then asked him if they did anything to try to get a case and he answered that the Council cannot force anyone before them.

These answers are sensible ones, but are they the best? No, we think not.

If fellow students on the Council do not exert themselves in trying to inform the students of the Council before they ever receive a case, how are they going to act after they have one?

We urge that the Judiciary Council make public the progress they have made in the set-up for their first case. We also ask that the Council show the work that they have achieved this year as a functioning body of student government.

This is the main point that the Student Council has stumbled on this year. There are other points that we could bring up that would show they have been lax, but they would not be of major concern at this time.

We would like to make it clear that Student Council president, Gary Cox has worked harder than most of the past presidents, and we feel that there is not a replacement suitable for him in the near future.

With the student elections on May 3 and the primary election this Thursday, for the offices of vice-president and historian, we ask all students to make it their business to vote for the candidate they think is best suited for the offices.

We, of the Trail Blazer, wish to remain neutral in the election, so as to afford the best possible objective position for the future.

It is hoped that all candidates keep this election a clean one. That is, that no libelous remarks or inappropriate comments be made during the next few weeks.

A successful Student Council is dependent upon all the students working for the same ideal; "the betterment of Morehead State University."

RESIDENCE HALL

STUDENT COUNCIL SURVEY

A question has arisen in regard to the time that the lobbies of the girls' dormitories are open to visitors. As the rule now stands, girls can accept male visitors in the dormitory lobbies only from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. If a male visitor calls at any other time, he is not allowed to remain in the dormitory. It has been suggested by fellow students that the Student Council attempt to extend the lobby hours in the women's dormitories. When this was discussed at a Student Council meeting, some representatives contended that a number of the women did not want the lobbies opened longer. At this point, it was suggested that a survey be conducted to find out the feeling of the women in this matter.

Please submit your honest opinion in this survey. If the form is incorrectly filled in, your survey will not be considered.

PLEASE CHECK ONE:

Judiciary Council Selection

The Student Council of Morehead State College will hold a meeting within the next two weeks to approve six judges and two alternates to serve on the Judiciary Council, which the student body voted into existence last March 18.

The purpose of the Judiciary Council is to provide a means whereby the student body has direct voice in the rendering of judgement upon their fellow students who have been recognized by the administration as having a problem that requires a student judgement.

The following is the formal outlay of the organization:

Article I - Composition

Section A. The Judicial Council shall consist of:

1. Six "seated" judges and two alternate judges.

2. An Attorney General to be appointed by the Chief Justice, with the approval of the Student Council and the Dean of Students.

3. Chief Justice - This position shall be held by the Vice-President of the Student Council ex-officio.

Section B. Method of Selection:

1. The Judicial Council judges shall be appointed for a one-year term by the Student Council President with approval of the Student Council members and the Dean of Students.

2. Those seeking membership on the Judicial Council must file a petition with the Dean of Students no later than one week prior to the time of selection.

3. If there shall be a lack of petitioning candidates to file the seats of the Judicial Council, it shall be the duty of the Student Council to promote interest through discussion groups, open meetings, or nomination of eligible students.

4. The positions on the Judicial Council shall be filled by both men and women of the student body and shall have upon appointment a minimum accumulative grade average of 2.00 [C] and shall maintain this average while sitting on the Council.

5. All members of the Judicial Council shall be selected no later than 30 days after the beginning of the fall semester.

Section C. Dismissal:

Members of the Judicial Council may be removed by a majority vote of the total Student Council, acting either upon its own initiative or upon a petition by at least two members of the Judicial Council itself, provided that the Dean of Students shall concur.

Article II - Jurisdiction

The Judicial Council of Morehead State College shall have jurisdiction over all matters concerning student affairs, subject to referral by the Dean of Students. A student affair is defined as a circumstance wherein a student and/or student organization is either plaintiff or defendant in any action brought to the attention of the Judicial Council.

Any individual who is enrolled as a student of Morehead State College during the alleged commission of any action or mode of behavior which may be detrimental to the welfare of the Morehead State College Community shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the Judicial Council.

The Judicial Council does not necessarily have to preside over all cases involving infractions of rules if a lesser body can handle the situation to the satisfaction of the student involved [e.g. the dormitory council].

Article III - Rules Of Order And Judicial Process

Section A. The Chief Justice shall be held responsible for the maintaining order and conducting each meeting in a just and expedient manner.

Section B. The normal procedure to be followed shall be as follows:

Anyone who has a dispute will first consult with the Dean of Students. It is possible that a quick, satisfactory solution can be reached at this level. If not, upon request of the student and/or students involved, the case will be referred to the Judicial Council.

The Attorney General shall then gather all information pertaining to the case. When the case has been prepared, all persons involved will be notified by the Attorney General to be present at the called meeting.

A procedure approved by the Student Council for all Judicial Council meetings shall be submitted to the Dean of Students and held on file in his office.

Section C. Each seated judge may cast one vote in each decision. The Chief Justice shall vote only in the event of a tie.

Article IV - Appeal

Any party aggrieved by the decision of his case by the Judicial Council shall have the right to have his case referred to the Administrative Council and/or the Student Life Committee. Such appeal must be timely made and based upon technical or legal grounds.

The responsibility of the Judiciary Council shall be one of unmeasurable degree to the students on the campus. It will be their vote that could possibly cut short a student's college education, as well as allow him to remain in college after an in-

Judiciary Council Presents Policy, Statutes For Cases

Recently, four of the Trail Blazer staff met with the members of the Judiciary Council to discuss charges made about the Council in the April 26 edition of the paper.

The charges made were that the Judiciary Council was, at present, a non-functioning body on campus.

In the closed-session conference, the members of the Judiciary Council pointed out that they had worked hard in setting up the policy and the statutes of the Council.

Steve Wright, Chief Justice of the Council, said that he had written to more than 50 different schools to compare their judicial bodies and to have a good concept of their operation.

Wright said that the Council has devised the code of punishment for those found guilty by the Council. The code is composed of a letter of reprimand, social probation, suspension and expulsion from the institution.

Going into detail, the letter of reprimand is a letter which makes a matter of record an incident which reflects unfavorably on the student. The letter of reprimand remains in the student's file for a minimum of one [1] semester.

The second degree of punishment is social probation, which the Council defines as a person being suspended from all social activities including the use of all automobiles. Curfew hours are subject to imposition at the discretion of the Judicial Council.

The third degree, which is new even to the Dean of Students' office, is suspension. Suspension is defined as being suspended from class for a period of at least two [2] weeks with readmission subject to the approval of the Judicial Council.

The final degree of punishment for violators is expulsion, which the council defines as immediate dismissal with readmission upon approval by the administration and the lapse of a full calendar year.

In the case of suspension from class, three letters will be sent out. One letter goes to the student, a second to the student's instructors and a third to the student's parents. The letter to the parents is as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, Sr.
Street
Town, State

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Doe:

Your son, John Doe, has been suspended from classes at Morehead State College for disciplinary reasons. He has lost his privilege of attending classes for ----- weeks.

We hope that you will talk with your son about his responsibilities as a student. The reason for his suspension is not a light one.

John will not be permitted to make up work missed during his absence, neither will he be able to live on campus nor in the neighborhood of Morehead during suspension.

Before readmission, it will be necessary for you to accompany him to the Dean of Students' office.

Yours truly,

Morehead State College
Judicial Council

The other two letters are similar in context.

Jim Boyd said that he and two other justices worked out the Due Process for a case. Boyd said that the Due Process was voted into being by the other members of the Council after he presented it. The organization of the Due Process is:

1. The student is to be afforded an adequate and fair hearing upon the charges. The procedure should be designed to enlighten the board concerning the facts of the issue.

2. The student is to be permitted to testify, if he so desires, and to present the testimony of any competent witness he produces who has personal knowledge of any matter which are material and relevant to the charges or to his defense of them. [He may bring no more than one [1] character witness.]

3. The Attorney General does all of the investigation for the Judicial Council. The Justices may question the accused or the witnesses if they so desire.

4. Any misleading statements made by the witness or the defendant will be considered for the maximum penalty.

5. New evidence brought up after the hearing is closed will be considered before the final judgement. The Attorney General may reopen the hearing before the final decision is rendered.

6. No Justice may vote on a case involving himself, his roommate, a social club brother, or a kinsman. Seven members will constitute a quorum. The Chief Justice does not have a vote.

7. The assembled Judicial Council in private conference decides on the innocence or guilt of the accused and

Judicial Council Answers Recent Trail Blazer Editorial

The April 26 edition of the Trail Blazer, in its editorial entitled "Is There Leadership?" charged that the recently formed Judicial Council has failed to perform its function during this school year. We, the undersigned members of the Judicial Council, would like to clarify any misconceptions held by the Editor, and, more importantly, any misunderstanding created within the student body by his editorial.

The Judicial Council was created by an amendment to the Constitution of the Association of M.S.C. Students and approved by the student body during the Second Semester of the 1964-65 school year. The purpose of the Judicial Council, as explicitly stated in the above-cited amendment is, "to provide a means whereby the student body has a direct voice in the rendering of judgment upon their fellow students who have been recognized by the administration as having a problem that requires a student judgment."

The most important feature of the Judicial Council is the choice that it gives the student. The Trail Blazer's criticism of the inactivity of the council is unjust. The Judicial Council stands ready to serve any student who requests its services.

We as members, have not advertised or solicited cases as the editorial suggested we should - just as in similar circumstances courts of law do not encourage a defendant to choose a trial by jury instead of a trial by a judge. This year's Council has performed its duty, if only by setting up the operating procedures necessary in its operation.

The Judicial Council was recognized as an operating organization on March 24, 1966, after its organization and operating procedures had been reviewed and approved by the Dean of Students. Since March 24, every student with a disciplinary problem within the jurisdiction of the Council has been given a choice as to whether he would have his case judged by the Judicial Council or the Administration. The fact that during the last month no student elected to present his case before the Council is irrelevant - the most important point being that it is a functioning body ready to serve the student if the student so elects.

In closing, we, the retiring members of the Judicial Council, state that we feel that we have accomplished our goal - that of struggling through the many difficulties of initial organization. Further, we hope that our efforts will have contributed to the acceptance by students of an organization to which the student may take his personal disciplinary problem and feel sure that it will be handled in a just and confidential manner.

proposes its decision to the accused.

8. Voting will be done by secret ballot. To receive a Letter of Reprimand or to be put on Social Probation will require a majority vote. A two-thirds [2/3] vote is required for Suspension. To be expelled will require a unanimous vote.

A representative of the Trail Blazer suggested that a mock trial be held to allow the students to observe how the Council operates, but the justices seemed to write off this suggestion, because it would seem they were advertising for cases.

Wright said that the Council is ready to hear any cases, but as yet the students have not been willing to have their cases tried before the Council.

Dean Roger L. Wilson, who was in attendance, said that a reason why the students were reluctant to go before the Judiciary Council was that they want to keep their problems as confidential as possible.

The meeting was then adjourned with the approval of all in attendance.

Judiciary Council Selected For This Academic Year

By Sue Land

Bob Brant, Tom Wolterman, Susan Clark, Jim Boyd, Jim Spurling and Gary Yarus have been appointed justices for the newly-formed Judiciary Council. The first alternate is John Meighan and Bob Galley is the second alternate.

Steve Wright, vice-president of the Student Council, will serve as chief justice ex-officio.

The purpose of the Judiciary Council is to provide a means whereby the student body has a direct voice in the rendering of judgment upon fellow students who have been recognized by the administration as having a problem that requires a student judgment.

If the student feels the judgment is too harsh, his case may be appealed to the Administrative Council and the Student Life Committee for final judgment.

In order that the student body will have a better understanding of the group, the Trail Blazer is publishing the constitution of the Judiciary Council.

Adron, Mignon Doran Provided The Leadership

Adron and Mignon Doran
... the pace setters

April 6 will mark the 12th anniversary of the arrival on the Morehead State College campus of Adron and Mignon Doran.

Their coming to Morehead has meant much not only to Morehead State College, but to the community and the region. In no way can their combined contribution adequately be measured and in no way can this community and region ever totally repay their unselfish efforts on behalf of Morehead State College.

Let it suffice to say that a man can do no more than give his all--and this is what they have done--given their all!

Their achievements have not been achievements which have just happened. They have been the result of the dogged determination and lofty ideals of a man and woman supported by a dedicated and talented faculty and staff.

These efforts have made it possible for Morehead State College to be in position today to have a survey team of highly qualified educators say, "You are ready for university status."

It is appropriate that in the next few paragraphs, to briefly sketch the developments on the Morehead State College campus during the past 12 years which have made this recommendation possible . . . because without these developments it is highly unlikely that Morehead State College would be in position today to be considered for such a lofty honor.

Elsewhere on this page, we have traced the almost unbelievable growth in student population to 4,669 from 698 in 1954 and we have outlined in detail the tremendous physical growth.

But during this time, many more exciting things have happened. To emphasize a few:

- ✓ Many new programs and curricular offerings have been developed.

- ✓ Integration of racial, ethnic and religious groups has been brought about in an orderly fashion as Morehead State College became the first state college to have integrated dormitories, athletic teams and faculty.

- ✓ The library has developed along with the various academic programs so that today Morehead State College has an outstanding "heart" of the campus which a great institution must have.

- ✓ Morehead State College has developed a sound philosophy of service to the region so that today the campus is the center of regional activities for many varied and diverse regional groups

AN EDITORIAL

MSC Should Be MSU

In the 83 years recorded history of Morehead newspapers the entire front page has been devoted only once before to one subject.

During the existing 22 year ownership, and management of The Morehead News only five editorials have appeared on page one.

But, today we sincerely feel that strong and factual editorial endorsement should come from The Morehead News and is of great enough importance to merit this front page editorial, and dedication of all the columns on page one to one topic.

Morehead State College should and must become Morehead State University!

The Commission on Higher Education, appointed by Governor Breathitt to study higher education in Kentucky, has said in its report to the Governor, "The four large multi-purpose colleges should be re-named regional state universities: Eastern Kentucky State University, Western Kentucky State University, Murray State University and Morehead State University."

Only three of the 18-member Commission opposed the recommendation — Dr. John Oswald, President of the University of Kentucky, with the other two presidents representing private, church-related colleges.

While it does not seem necessary to enter into a lengthy defense of the Commission's decision, it is in proper order to make several observations which the general public, our friends in the Legislature and Dr. Oswald need to better understand.

- ✓ Our neighboring states of Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and West Virginia have joined the national trend to name large, multi-purpose state colleges state universities.

- ✓ Unless such a move is made in Kentucky, the state colleges will continue to be at a great disadvantage in the recruiting of topnotch faculty members and students. It is an understood fact that the name 'university' carries a far more prestigious connotation than does the name college.

- ✓ The renaming of the present colleges does not mean that there would be an attempt by the new universities to offer doctoral and professional programs. It would mean that they would greatly strengthen their master's degree programs in the various academic disciplines. And it would indicate that the and organizations.

- ✓ The administrative organization was revamped in 1960 following a comprehensive self-study. From this self-study came the organizational pattern which today is ready to be adapted to university status.

- ✓ The faculty has grown to well over 200 and more and more highly qualified men and women have become a part of the "friendly campus" of Morehead

Prophetic Statement

"When the skirmishes have been fought and the smoke and dust have cleared, we will have reached the level of maturity where we will not be contending for a system of higher education representing a dominion, an empire or a republic, but will be comforted in the righteous cause of a democratic system of higher education, where the institution is the center of gravity in the region and the autonomy of the college is recognized and respected . . . and so it shall be!" — Founders Day Statement at Morehead State College by President Adron Doran, Nov. 22, 1963.

University of Kentucky should work to expand and greatly strengthen its PhD programs — something the commission strongly urges.

- ✓ The renaming of the present state colleges would not weaken the status of the University of Kentucky but would strengthen higher education across the board in Kentucky. This has been proven time after time in other states as the large multi-purpose colleges have become state universities.

- ✓ The multi-purpose institutions should be distinguished from the small, single-purpose private and community colleges of the state.

- ✓ The change in name represents an emerging pattern of institutional growth similar to that which has taken place when the state colleges evolved from normal schools to teachers colleges and then to regional state colleges. It is documented that the University of Kentucky got its name through a unified effort (in 1907) of the two state colleges and the State Agricultural and Mechanical College. The three petitioned the Legislature the name of the A and M College be changed to State University.

We urge the members of the State Legislature to follow the advice of the Commission on Higher Education and rename the state colleges state universities. Such legislation would benefit higher education in Kentucky and would bring even greater recognition and honor to Morehead and all of Northeastern Kentucky.

State College.

We repeat--All of these things have not just happened. They have been the result of the great energy, resourcefulness and lofty ideals of a great man and his charming wife, a dedicated Board of Regents, and a splendid faculty and staff.

And while not enough praise can be heaped upon Adron Doran, the same holds true for his vivacious wife Mignon

Nobody Could Have Visualized In 1887 The Morehead Of 'Today'

No one would have dreamed in 1887 that someday the residents of this area would pick up the Morehead News and see today's headline indicating a University in the making in the growing and progressive city of Morehead.

Because in 1887, almost four score years ago, Morehead had no streets, no sidewalks, no electric lights and less than 500 people. But Mrs. Phoebe Button and her son Frank saw an educational and cultural void that encouraged them to open the doors of their small home located where the Doran Student House now stands.

They started the Morehead Normal School which for 13 years was under the control of the Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention, and in 1900 was placed under the control of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, St. Louis, Missouri.

Mrs. Button died in 1892 and her son carried on until 1911 when J.M. Robinson became principal of the Normal School. Dr. J. Wesley Hatcher served as principal from 1913 to 1919 and W.O. Lappin became principal in 1919 and served until the school closed its doors in 1922.

Opened 42 Years Ago

The General Assembly of Kentucky created the environment for change in higher education in 1920 when it authorized a study of the educational needs and facilities of the Commonwealth. It was recommended that two new normal schools be established—one in eastern Kentucky and one in Western Kentucky.

A special commission was named to locate the two normal schools and the members decided upon Morehead in eastern Kentucky and Murray in western Kentucky.

The doors of the Morehead State Normal School opened for the first time on September 23, 1923. Dr. Frank C. Button was named the school's first president and three college students and 70 youngsters in the secondary school greeted the original faculty.

During President Button's administration, five new buildings were constructed: Rader Hall, Allie Young Hall, Thompson Hall, Button Auditorium and Fields Hall.

The first name change came about in 1926 when Morehead Normal School became Morehead State Normal School and Teachers College by an act of the General Assembly.

Dr. Button resigned the presidency on July 24, 1929, and was succeeded by John Howard Payne, who took over the who has put "umph" into the all-important first lady's job.

Not only has she participated in campus activities as have few college president's wives, but she has brought great recognition to Morehead State College through her two-year presidency of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs and service as a member of numerous statewide committees.

The same holds true for President Doran, who currently is serving as chairman of the National Education Association Legislative Commission—a job which is held by a Kentuckian for the first time.

We could go on and on pointing out the diverse activities of this team which has helped place Morehead State College in her present position of prominence in the state, region and nation . . . but simply let us say "We're fortunate to have these wonderful people."

Going Up At Morehead State

reigns on August 1, 1929.

The Morehead State Normal School and Teachers College became Morehead State Teachers College in 1930 by an act of the General Assembly and graduated 11 seniors that year. The faculty numbered 22 and the student body 256.

John Howard Payne left the presidency on Sept. 13, 1935 and Harvey Babb became the institution's third president. During the 1930's, four major buildings were constructed: Johnson Camden Library, Breckinridge Training School, Lappin Science Hall and East Men's Hall. Jayne Stadium was also erected during this period.

Morehead State Teachers College opened the decade of the 40's with a new president—William H. Vaughan who took over the presidency on April 30, 1940.

During the war years the enrollment dropped to 255 in 1942 and a low of 166 in 1944; and when William Jesse Baird became Morehead's fifth president in August of 1946, he was greeted in September by 614 students.

The next name change occurred in 1948 when an act of the General Assembly changed the official designation of Morehead State Teachers College to Morehead State College.

No new buildings were constructed during this period and the enrollment hovered at the 600 mark during the college's most static period of growth.

On January 9, 1951, Dr. Baird was granted a leave of absence for health reasons and Charles Spain was named the college's sixth president in May, following the February 15 death of Dr. Baird.

The Turning Point

Dr. Spain officially resigned the presidency on April 6, 1954, and Dr. Adron Doran was named the seventh president. Now in his 12th year, Dr. Doran has served longer than any of his predecessors. And he has far surpassed the goal of "a college with 1,000 students" which the Board of Regents charged him with the task of developing in 1954.

The enrollment during this period doubled, then tripled, then quadrupled, quintupled and has now reached 4,869—making Morehead State College one of the fastest growing institutions of higher learning in the nation.

The faculty growth, physical growth, and development of new programs have kept pace with the rapid increase of student population and Morehead State College has now reached the level for another change in name by an act of the Legislature.

It has been an orderly process. It began in 1887 as the Morehead Normal School and grew into the Morehead State Normal School in 1922; the Morehead Normal School became the Morehead State Normal School and Teachers College in 1926; and Morehead State Teachers College in 1930.

The last change came in 1948 with the present name—Morehead State College. The process has been similar to that of many other colleges which began as normal schools, grew into teachers colleges, became multi-purpose liberal arts colleges and have become regional state universities.

This has been the growth and development of Morehead State College. This is the background on which the Governor's Commission recommended that the ever-growing institution of higher learning become Morehead State University.

It's Now Morehead State University

It's official now!

Governor Edward T. Breathitt, Jr., signed HB 238 on Saturday, Feb. 26, re-naming Morehead, Western, Murray and Eastern state universities.

But it was not until after some anxious moments in the Senate that the bill, which had passed the House 83-0, finally passed the Senate 29-6 on Friday, Feb. 25.

The law will not become effective until June 18 [90 days after the adjournment of the legislature] but for all practical purposes, Morehead State College is now Morehead State University.

Governor Breathitt presented one of the pens used to sign the bill to President Adron Doran at the Saturday morning signing. Dr. Doran, in turn, presented the pen to Gary Cox, Student Council President, in ceremonies at the Morehead-East Tennessee basketball game. [It is ironical to note that Morehead played East Tennessee on the evening it became a university, winning then as well as at Morehead's first game as a university.]

Also presented pens at the historic signing were Sherman Arnett, Representative from the 71st. District, and Ed Kelly, Senator from the 27th. District. The two, who represent Rowan County in the state legislature, were credited with "yeoman service" in passing the bill by Dr. Doran.

"Ed Kelly and Sherman Arnett were highly instrumental in the passage of the bill," said Dr. Doran, "and their dedication and support of Morehead State University will place their names in the annals of history as the men who joined with the many other foresighted legislators to pass this much-needed legislation."

"As we face the most challenging period in the history of higher education, it is encouraging to have such able leadership in the executive and legislative branches of government in the Commonwealth of Kentucky," added Dr. Doran.

A ruling by the Attorney General is expected to clear up any question of the 1966 June graduating class position. Campus sentiment almost unanimously supports the 1966 class position of desiring to graduate from Morehead State University as opposed to receiving degrees from Morehead State College.

It was announced today that a University Recognition Day will be held on Tuesday, March 22. Sponsored by the Morehead Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees, the day-long celebration will feature an appearance by Governor Breathitt at a banquet to be held in the Doran Student House at 6:30. Preliminary plans indicate a general convocation during the day and possibly a Grand Ball in the fieldhouse following the banquet. Complete details will be announced at a later date.

Following the 83-0 vote in the House of Representatives, the bill was expected to receive a similar endorsement in the Senate. But such was not to be the case.

A surprise amendment establishing a four-year college in Paducah was passed by an 18-17 vote and the bill was then passed 32-5. Political pundits quickly pointed out that the House would never accept the bill in such a form and it looked as if the bill were headed for conference committee and sure "death."

When the Senate reconvened at 9:00 a.m. on Feb. 25, after a night of hurried regrouping, an infrequently used procedure was used to reconsider the bill. It took six votes to remove the amendment and pass the bill in its original form.

The six ballots:

1. A motion was made to remove the 'clincher' from the bill. The mo-

The Kingston Trio To Perform in The Fieldhouse Tonight

The Kingston Trio, the top folk-singing group in the country, will appear on the Morehead State University campus, tonight.

The trio, which has had eight albums to sell over a million copies, will appear in concert at the 5,000 seat fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Student Council, tickets are priced at $3 for adults and $2.50 for students. Student tickets purchased in advance are $2.

Tickets may be purchased at the university business office.

The Kingston Trio--composed of former college students John Stewart, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane--got its start in 1958 in a colorful college hangout near Stanford University.

There was no stopping the group after its first single million-selling record "Tom Dooley." The trio has captured every award made to vocal groups and after eight years is still riding the crest of popularity which helped lead the way in popularizing folk singing as it is known today.

The Kingston Trio's appearance at Morehead State University is its only appearance in Kentucky on the current concert tour of college and university campuses this Spring.

Tuesday's concert is the fourth major popular concert of the season on the Morehead campus. Appearing earlier this year were the Dave Brubeck quartet, the Duke Ellington Orchestra and the Ramsey Lewis Trio. Stan Kenton and his orchestra have been booked for a June concert on the Morehead campus.

SC Primary Election Set For April 28

Final Election Scheduled On Campus Tuesday, May 3

The 1966-67 Student Council primary elections will be held Thursday, April 28, with final elections being Tuesday, May 3.

An all-student body convocation is scheduled the day of the primary, at which time the candidates will speak to the Morehead State University students who will eventually elect them.

Candidates and the offices they are seeking include the following: Dick Crowe and Bob O'Daniel, president; Jim Boyd, Perry Day and Gary Phillips, vice-president; Darlene Blair and Bobbie Quinn, secretary; Bill Kitchen, and Mary Martin, treasurer; Dan Brock, Jim Edd Miller, Denny Pass and Jon Phillips, historian and Jeanie Morrison and Jean Wilson, reporter.

Crowe, a junior business major, said that he wanted the job of president of the Student Council because he has enjoyed working on the Council this year and feels that some of the work he has started will take longer than this academic year will permit him, as treasurer of the Council, to complete.

He said that he would like to see more student participation in the Council. He also urges the Council to print a monthly or bi-monthly publication that explains the action and the path the Council is following.

"I want to make a study of the prices in the bookstore similar to the one we did for the cafeteria," he said.

He thinks the library should be kept open until 10 p.m. on weekdays, so as to permit the students more time to work on their term papers and other research. He is also chairman of a committee trying to increase late permission for girls.

In speaking about the Judiciary Council, Crowe said he thought the students are either fearful of the Council or are not informed about it. He went on to add that he felt no student should be forced into taking the Council as his judge.

When the suggestion that a mock trial to be held to publicize the Council and compare the results with those taken by the Dean of Students on a similar case he said, "I think a mock trial would be good in light of showing the students the fairness and the directness of the Council." He went on to add, "A comparative study might help the council a great deal."

Crowe is active as a member of Pas Adelphi [TAE], men's social organization; Phi Beta Lambda, national business fraternity and the Student Council as treasurer.

As a member of the Council, he said he served as chairman of the committee to work on the year's concerts of nationally renowned artists, such as the Kingston Trio, as well as getting the movies on campus. He said he will continue work of this nature along these social lines.

Crowe's opponent in the election is Bob O'Daniel, a junior accounting major, who says he wants the office so that he can get into the action of student affairs and work with the administration in planning future events concerning the students.

"That area which I speak of ranges from girls' hours to plans for the new student center," he said. His objectives are not his own, he said, but borrowed from other institutions that have them in a workable fashion already.

He suggested that the Student Council form a short term loan system whereby students can borrow small amounts for up to 30 days and only be charged an additional rate that covers the bookkeeping. He said he has other ideas, but wishes them to be kept out of the election because he does not have the full story on their outcome at other institutions of higher learning around the nation. He said that he would be glad to explain the ideas if the time and situation requires such, but reiterated that he felt it best to wait for the full report on the subject.

In speaking of the Judiciary Council, O'Daniel said he thought no case should be made public and that the actions of the Council should remain behind closed doors. He also added, as did his opponent, that the students are not informed about the Council and felt that the students should be allowed to know their rights in the cases in question.

He also thought the idea of a mock trial would help illustrate the working of the Council and help to set a precedent for the working of the Judiciary Council at Morehead.

O'Daniel is a member of the Campus Club, social organization and Phi Beta Lambda, business club and national fraternity.

The vice-presidential candidates interviewed by the Trail Blazer are Jim Boyd, Perry Day and Gary Phillips.

Jim Boyd, 19, a sophomore from Sharpsburg, is majoring in political science. He is a member of the Forensic Union, Open Forum, debate team and the Judiciary Council.

Boyd said, "I hope to improve the existing student government on campus and work toward fewer restrictions now placed on the existing student government. I also plan to work toward more campus-wide activities."

When asked about the Judicial Council, Boyd said, "In theory, the Judicial Council is an organized existent body with a purpose. In reality, the purpose has not been fulfilled. We are not functioning."

"The Dean of Students," continued Boyd, "has handled all major and minor cases and issues. We have not had any cases. The Judicial Council questions the students' awareness of the purpose of the Judicial Council and whether or not they know they have a choice between the Dean and the Judicial Council."

The vice-presidential candidate further said, "My goal would be to make the Judicial Council workable or abolish it. If we are not functioning, why be in existence?"

Mathematics major, Perry Day, is from California, and a member of Alpha Theta Epsilon. He is also the current sophomore class treasurer.

When asked about the office for which he is running, Day said, "With respect to the former officers, I feel that the vice-presidential office has been weak in the past. Students aren't informed as to what is going on in the administration and I hope to create a better line between the

The Morehead State University Student Council officers for 1966-67 have been elected by vote of the student body.

Those chosen are: Bob O'Daniel, Louisa, president; Perry Day, California, vice-president; Bobbie Quinn, Louisville, secretary; Bill Kitchen, Louisa, treasurer; Jean Wilson, Dayton, Ohio, reporter and Jon Phillips, Middletown, Ohio, historian.

Approximately 2300 students voted in the election, that climaxed several weeks of campaigning by the candidates seeking the offices to be vacated at the end of the current school year.

Bob O'Daniel, the newly-elected president, said that he is grateful to all those who supported him in his campaign. "The students have proven they trust me with their student government and now I have to prove to the students that their trust was not in vain. I'll try my best not to violate that trust," he added.

O'Daniel continued, "I have always had plans, but I realize there is a great deal of work that has to be done. With the help of the executive committee and the other members elected next year, we'll get this worked out."

The accounting major is a member of the Open Forum Club, Campus Club, Phi Beta Lambda, Baptist Student Union and on the Inner Social Club Council.

Concerning his winning the position of vice-president, Perry Day said, "This year's Council was popular and the hardest working that I've seen since I've been at this school. I think Bob and I and the other new officers have a big job ahead of us to equal the present Student Council, but I will do my best."

Day is a member of Alpha Theta Epsilon and treasurer of the sophomore class.

Bobbie Quinn, the new secretary, is a sophomore physical education major. A member of Sigma Delta, Gamma Beta Phi and CAPA Tridents, she said, "I am very happy about being elected to the Student Council and will do my best in the position of secretary."

Treasurer, Bill Kitchen, is a business administration major and a member of the Open Forum and Aquila Clubs. When asked about his new
