REVISION OF TARIFF

The President Elect Will Call a Special Session of Congress.

NOT LATER THAN APRIL 15

Mr. Wilson Holds That Business Interests Require Removal at Once of Uncertainty as to What Particular Schedules Shall Be Revised.

New York, Nov. 20.—Not later than April 15 of next year, President-Elect Wilson has just announced, he will call congress together in extraordinary session to revise the tariff. In this statement made public on the eve of his departure for a four-weeks' vacation in Bermuda, he says that he has determined upon this course not only because he was elected on a platform which declared for an immediate downward revision of the tariff schedules, but also because he feels it is due to the business interests of the country that they should be relieved of all uncertainty as to what the general purpose of the incoming administration at Washington is.

Governor Wilson's formal statement follows: "I shall call congress together in an extraordinary session not later than April 15. I shall do this not only because I think that the pledges of the party ought to be redeemed as promptly as possible, but also because I know it to be in the interest of business that all uncertainty as to what the particular items of tariff revision are to be should be removed as soon as possible."

While the platform adopted at Baltimore declared that the Democratic protection has so incriminated itself that one designed for revenue purposes is unconstitutional, compliance was taken of the fact that a policy of protection has so incriminated itself that the commercial interests of this country that it would be unwise to attempt anything more than a gradual elimination of the duties considered objectionable. The demand that this gradual reduction be instituted immediately was nevertheless unopposed.

It was an extraordinary session the president-elect has made no comment on the situation other than so far as he was concerned the tariff schedule of his party and its platform would be carried out.

TURKS HEAR TERMS

How Constantinople Can Be Saved From Invaders.

Sofia, Nov. 20.—Telegrams to Hamid Pasha, Turkish grand vizier, but Grand Premier Gueushoff has set out the conditions under which the Bulgars will consider an armistice. The Bulgars have agreed to consider the proposition made to them by Turkey for an armistice with peace in view, and this is the first time.

First, the allies will not enter Constantinople if the Turks of the Balkans are evacuated and four important Turkish towns are surrendered. Before they will hear of an armistice the diplomats of the little states will call upon Nazim Pasha to lead every one of his fighting men from the city in front of the capital which was straggled in some to be led.

Second, Adrianople, that has stood out against the Bulgars, must be evacuated. The Bulgars came across the border at Mustapha Pasha and where so many Turks have lost their lives in desperate battles in the face of a falling army. There, where cholera and dysentery have been a bitter enemy of the Turk as the foe outside his walls, must be surrendered.

Third, that Serbia, which place the Montenegrins are besieging and have been besieging since they started the war and whose commander said that he would not give up the city in the defenses before he surrendered, must be given up by the Turk if he seeks an armistice.

Fourth, the beleaguered by the Greeks, and Dibra in Albania, must open their gates to the allies before they will give their promise not to enter the sultan's city.

Bleating Attitude of the Dual Kingdoms About Victory-Flushed Serbians Locked Upon With 'Apprehension'—Respite in Fighting.

Constantinople, Nov. 20.—On the embattled shores before the Tiber, the Bulgars are the Bulgars and the Turks are laying their dead, an eight hours' armistice having been agreed to between Nazim Pasha and the Bulgarian commander. Both sides have suffered heavy casualties and the bodies of the dead on the field of battle increase the danger of cholera, that has proved so great a menace to the combatants. The brief respite was welcome to Bulgarian and Turk alike, for the fierce days and nights of fighting.

London, Nov. 20.—The sudden breaking up of the quarrel between Serbia and Austria, which seemed for a while to have died down and the great of the allies in the Turkish proposal to discuss the terms of an armistice with peace in view, are the two principal topics of interest to the diplomats who follow the cables from the Balkans.

Daily the relations between Austria and Serbia are growing more strained. There are accusations of bad faith and breaking of promises coming now from both sides. In spite of the assurances of optimists, the quarrel between the two countries over the right of Serbia to come to the Adriatic has not been abandoned. Austria has given out a number of statements of such import that there are things which she would not do before the question is decided, and fighting that may extend to include both the two nations concerned. It is generally believed that the Austro-Hungarian minister at Belgrade has been instructed to demand from Serbia a decisive answer as to the possibility of Austria's coming to the Adriatic seacoast and the Balkans.

So far the Serbs have answered Austria in a vague and ambiguous manner. There are certain limits to a certain period or if that answer is not satisfactory, then vigorous military measures will follow. It is said, however, that the minister of Austria is quoted as saying to one of his advisers: "We are in favor of peace. We are not in favor of peace at any price. There are certain limits to which our patience cannot stretch."

From the capital of Serbia, on the other hand, is a semi-official statement that the majority of the Serbs believe Serbia's legitimate claims the Serbs will do their utmost to cooperate in the matter of Austria's economic life. It is not to be expected, however, that this statement, are doing their best to preserve the sympathy of the civilized world. Vienna and Budapest should recognize this and understand that Serbia must annihilate the national aspirations.

The occupation of Alessio by the combined Serbian and Montenegrin armies has done much to raise the ire of Austria. That nation felt indignant when they learned that the Serbs were near Durazzo on the Adriatic and the occupation of San Giovanni De Medina by the Montenegrins and the loss of the city of Alessio to the Austrian citizens and property there has had no cooling effect. But while diplomats so far as to say that they are not in favor of peace at any price, they are certain limits to which our patience cannot stretch."

The reply sent by the allies to the key follows: "The Bulgarian government, in agreement with the allies of Greece, informs the ports that plenipotentiaries have been appointed with instructions to arrange with the allied powers in chief of the Turkish armistice conditions of an armistice and subsequently to proceed to the conclusion of peace."

It is probable that all the steps toward peace will be taken by Turkey, and the allies independent of the powers, whose services in mediation are no longer needed. The armistice of Europe will do their utmost, however, to prevent the allies from making too drastic demands upon defeated Serbia. That they terms demanded by the allies will be drastic is the general belief. Turkey took the initiative in the peace talk. She led the Bulgars to the attack and she has been defeated and that they will give up their advantage seems most doubtful.

OUR PLATFORM OF PRINCIPLES

1. That shall love thy country, which preserves thy household and protects (or should protect) thee against anarchy.

2. That shall not yield thy manhood upon the keeping of any political or ecclesiastical party, nor worship any political idols, nor bow down to them, because their aims will be visited upon thy children and will be a curse to the country, even to the third and fourth generations.

3. That shall not profane the righteousness of patriotism, nor use it as a cloak beneath which to hid his selfishness and the deceit of chicanery.

4. Remember the day of reckoning, that is sacred and must be kept holy.

5. Honor the virtue and the manliness of the ballot, and the sacredness of the ballot-box, that the energies of this Republic may be many and peaceful.

6. That shall not murder the soul of freedom by failing to exercise the royal rights of an enfranchised manhood.

7. That shall not corrupt the purity of civic life by entering politics or charging political duties merely for gain, place or power.

8. That shall not encourage public officials to steal, commit iniquity or to be led into temptation by the indifference to the Nation's welfare.

9. That shall not suffer greed for political reward and unscrupulous party fealty to bear witness against the patriotism.

10. That shall not cover any public office for which they are not fit. These are the first and great commandments; the other and last one is like unto them:

11. That shall respect and protect the rights of the religious of his own. On these two classes of commandments hang all the laws of the Constitution—the basis of our country's salvation.

A Minority President

Governor Wilson must surely come to look upon his victory with mixed feelings. As a partisan and the successful candidate, thrills of jubilation will course through his being. But as a student of American history and politics, he can discover little that is pleasing to him personally.

Study of the vote state by state show that Mr. Wilson can lay claim to public support only upon the solid south—which vote according to its habit and prejudice, merely by the skin of his teeth, the govern or won over his closest rival in Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Nevada, Oklahoma, Oregon and Rhode Island. Not only in these states, but also in Arizona, Connecticut, Maryland, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, and Wisconsin, a combined Republican and Progressive would vote would have snuffed the Democratic party under Mr. Wilson fell considerably short of getting half the ballot cast.

By the strangest of political accidents, the governor has received the largest electoral vote ever given a candidate and must be chronicled, at the same time as a minority President-elect to a degree never before written down in American history. Abraham Lincoln was a minority President in his first term, but he had this to boast of which Mr. Wilson has not—the states he carried, he carried with magnificent majorities.

In the full flush of his triumph, Mr. Wilson is bound to dwell upon the lesson of the election. But when he enters the White House he will bear with him the knowledge that the majority of the people of the United States are not friendly to him or his party. If he is wise he will not try to force too vigorously his policies on an unwilling people, nor carry his partisanship to the extent which marked Demo-

Roosevelt's Greatest Service

In the first defeat of his national career, Theodore Roosevelt has rendered to his country his greatest service. Beaten overwhelmingly for an office he once won by the largest popular vote accorded an American citizen, he has earned to a greater degree than ever before the gratitude of the nation.

When Colonel Roosevelt entered presidential contest last spring he had all to lose and nothing to gain. Easily the most noted figure of his generation, no elective honors that might come to him could add to his personal fame. His refusal to re-enter public life to grapple with the vital problems of the day offered an obvious course for a man of selfish purpose and personal vanity. It was the easiest way.

But Theodore Roosevelt was determined to shirk a duty or evade a issue. With probable exception he threw himself into the fray for the people and for the energy and strength of his nation. His purpose was to check his "life-work" at Chicago after he had early won the nomination he sought, he continued to fight, not heartily and with splendor. Neither assassin's bullets nor adverse ballots and any terrors for him. He fought his fight to the finish.

And although he, personally, lost the battle, the vital things for which he struggled—cleaner politics, higher national ideals, a greater share of national material benefits for the plain people—have been advanced indefinitely. The old, corrupt national convention system is dead now, as one of the results of the Roosevelt campaign. The human welfare issues have become compelling demands. The cause of national righteousness and progress has gained mightily in the campaign which Roosevelt made and lost.

The debt of gratitude the country owe him has grown heavily in these last three months. That it will be canceled, even in small measure, in his lifetime, is a matter of question. But that in the review of history he will be accorded the rank that he has so richly won as one of the greatest and bravest, and truest of American citizens, there is no manner or shadow of doubt.

Eighth Virginia President

Woodrow Wilson is a native of Virginia, and he is the eighth son of old Virginia, that has occupied the White House. The seven others being, Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, William H. Harrison, Tyler and Zachary Taylor. This is a record that no state in the Union can boast of.

"It is fozsibilized" United States Supreme Court which now announces revolutionary changes in rules of procedure for equity cases. The new rules go so far as to embody many of the changes demanded by organized labor through legislation. They practically make an end of the midnight and the hair trigger injunction. They require notice to the opposite party in all save very exceptional cases before a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction can issue. They require speedy hearing after the issue. They remove needless steps in modes of pleading and bring the parties more quickly to the test. They provide for more trials by the court and fewer trials by the way of

Making Voting A Labor

Someone with an ingenious mind might be able to make the Australian ballot lately marked, folded and counted more awkward in shape and size. But we're very certain he'd have to work at the problem very hard and at the expense of much midnight oil. The ballot has been long and grown until the voter has to be careful lest he step upon it and tear it while taking it into the booth. He has to read through a maze of names, be extremely cautious in hitting on the right place to make his mark, and then back out of the booth as a horse backs out of his stall, fearful, lest he get entangled in the sheet and have the whole blessed labor to go through with again.

The next great practical reform in this country ought to be that of reducing the business of voting to an easy and unconfusing process. There are too many offices to be voted upon. Many of these could be filled by appointment without danger of excessive power becoming concentrated in power-loving hands. As one of the writers upon "short-ballot" principal says: "Taking an interest in politics ought to mean something bigger than nailing around headquarters, or leading in the names of the county committee." It also ought to mean that the average voter should not be compelled to go to a decision as to the qualifications of candidates for minor offices. That ought to be done for him by the persons he does vote into office.

If the present tendency continues, the ballot will be a tarpaulin soon, instead of a blanket. Let us stop the thing before voting is made a horror and a nightmare, a thing to avoid as we would every other painful thing we are not compelled to endure.

It is now apparent that Armadillo is the railroad junction where you change cars for St. Helena.

Vermont and Utah and the surviving remnants of the grand old party's lost Atlantis.

President Taft hasn't decided yet whether to begin the practice of law in Utah or Vermont.

This is the one of the Democratic party to be reasonable, modest and try not to make mistakes.

Well, the woods were fairly well filled with Bull Mooses, nevertheless and notwithstanding.

Jack Johnson says he is sore on Chicago, and will remove to Russia. Oa, make it Siberia, Jack.

As Mr. Nicholas Longworth thinks it over, he must feel that he wasted a great deal of fine diplomacy.

There is a furious debate going on in the rear of the Audens as to whether Byran or Debs began first to run for the presidency.

Since Colonel Roosevelt was fired on by a crank and Governor Wilson slightly hurt in an auto accident, President Taft got hit by a tornado.

A Central America republic takes great pride in showing an assemblage of marines from the United States how quiet and orderly an election may be.

Senator Bradley, since the election, has been engaged in spitting brass tacks. Well Bradley is down and out, thanks to the good offices of the Progressives. Let him go away back, sit down and saw wood.

A Western Congressman would make the trusts pay for good roads by reviving 1879 tax on tobacco and devoting the additional revenue to such a fund: Why not put the tax on gasoline, make the relation of benefit burden more direct and still send the bill to the trusts?

E. S. Hitchin, of Olive Hill, is good senatorial material for the Progressive party in Kentucky to support.—Progressive Kentuckian.

Mr. Hitchins is good timber for any party. Right, honesty, Progressiveness and good horse sense are the essentials necessary to make good officials, backed by backbone and sand in the "craw". He possesses all these qualifications, then, some.

Adelaide—Why, Cornelia, your hair is all mussed up.
Cornelia—Yes, dear; you—you see, George stole up and snatched a dozen kisses before I could scream.
Adelaide—But why don't you step in front of the mirror and rearrange your hair?
Cornelia—Gracious! Why, I wouldn't do it for the world. Why, none of the girls would believe he kissed me.

Something for Furniture Buyers To Think About.

To Buy unknown, and indifferent Furniture, Ranges and Heaters is always a disappointment

In buying furniture it is simply a case where you must trust some one, unless you know as much about the material, finish and durability yourself.

Our business dealings have been an open book to the public, and we always give a positive assurance that the purchaser has received full value for the money.

There is always safety in buying at SCOTT'S because you get good goods at reasonable prices.

You need not be a heavy purchaser in order to get the best possible service at SCOTT'S. The small orders are taken care of just as carefully as the large ones.

A trial will satisfy you.

We are showing hundreds of different pieces. Some are plain every day goods, others better.

A rug, a chair, a table, a set, a bed room piece to match the set, a kitchen cabinet, a pair pillows, a mattress, bed springs, blankets, comforts, carpets, rockers, dressers, buffets, chiffoneers, china closets, parlor tables, couches, cribs, go-carts, lenoleum, oil cloth.

If you want to add to the comfort of the home. If you want to make the surroundings more pleasant for your family, give to them those articles in furniture that you know they need.

You can get credit if you are honest, and you are just as welcome as if you paid cash.

What is it that every one is willing to give and not anxious to take? ADVICE.
You have heard the old adage, "advice is cheap," but in this case it cost me dear. But if you will take my advice and do your trading at my store, it will make you money.

the BEST.
The BEST is what we carry in every line, in every department, and taking quality into consideration, I will sell you good goods, cheaper than you can buy in any other store in Eastern Kentucky.

HOUSE BURNED

$800 Cash Claimed to Have Been Burned
Tuesday about noon, a house owned by Harbison-Walker Brick Co., and occupied by Ed Parker, and a widow lady named Hamm, caught fire and was totally consumed by the flames. Parker lost all of his furniture, while Mrs. Hamm saved all of her furniture.
It is claimed that Parker lost $800 in cash which was burned.
The building opposite occupied by Mrs. Ward was in danger of burning but the timely arrival of hose from the brick works, saved it.
Here is another instance of the need of water works in Olive Hill.

Wanted to Reorganize

Senator Bradley and the Republican State Committee propose having an early meeting for the purpose of reorganizing.
Some soft soap will be tendered the Progressives, but Bradley is to be the High Muckamuck.
The thing for the Progressives to do is to organize and let Bill Bradley go to the devil politically. Bill is a dead duck.
Lets put him in cold storage.

A Fine Sermon

Rev. R. B. Neal occupied the pulpit of the Christian church here Sunday night and preached one of the best sermons we have heard in a long time. The main feature of his sermon was "Motif". After the sermon Mr.
Neal in a very impressive exhortation, presented diplomas to thirteen in the "Training Service."
A large crowd was in attendance.

That Electric Light Plant

What has become of it? We had been told that the stock had all been taken, and that it was a sure go. Where did it go to?
Now there is need for an electric light plant here, and there is enough home capital to plant it. The town is large enough to support it handsomely, and the town needs it badly.
Where is Olive Hill's progressive business men? Are they dead or just dying?

Birds Scarce

The hunters claim that there are but few quail in this section but that rabbits are plentiful in some parts of the county. Squirrels are not as numerous as formerly.

Why Not Do It?

Why not build water works, put in electric lights, then pave the streets? Olive Hill could then shake hands with Ashland and not be ashamed. Yes; why not do it? It is not impossible unless Olive Hill is a grave yard.
Stick a pin into yourself Mr.
Property owner and get a move on.

Take Notice

On and after December 1, no advertisement will be inserted in The Progressive at a less rate than 10 cents per running inch, also a charge of 5 cents per running line for obituaries, tributes of respect and cards of thanks will be charged, payable in advance.

Roberson Gets Letcher Co.

Judge Roberson gets Letcher county by 17 votes. This is the result of the official count. The result as first given out was that Butler had carried the county by 37 majority.
Butler still claims Pike county by 54 to 88 votes. The vote at Long Fork precinct was not counted for either Roberson or Butler, as two tickets signed by different election officers, were sent in. One certificate gave the precinct to Roberson by 17 votes and the other gave it to Butler by 34 votes.

As stated before in these columns, we believe Roberson was fairly elected. We are unwilling to believe that the criminal element of Pike county predominated, led by Shitepoke-Killedee Jeff Moore and his ilk.
