

Judge and Juries at Mt. Sterling Enforcing the Law—Judge Beckner for State Treasurer.

[Special to the Courier-Journal.]

Mr. STERLING, KY., June 10.—Judge Cooper is dispatching the business of the Circuit Court docket with much promptness and energy, permitting no unnecessary delay. In the past week four persons have been tried and sent to the penitentiary, as follows: John Grunwade, cutting with intent to kill; Pleas Tribble, colored, murder, seven years; Richard Biggers, colored, house-breaking, two years; Will Owens, colored, hog stealing, one year.

The grand jury found an indictment for murder against R. G. Forman, Deputy Town Marshal, who, it will be remembered, shot and killed young Cravens the second of January last, and A. M. Bowling, Town Marshal of Farmer, Ky., who shot and killed John Gill, one of a posse summoned to arrest Bowling sometime in March. Forman's case was set for trial to-day, but owing to the absence of some witnesses for the defendant the trial was postponed until tomorrow at 1 o'clock. There seems to be a healthful reaction among juries in this section and they are rigidly applying the law in every instance. Forman will ask for a change of venue.

Morgan county instructed for Judge Wm. Beckner of Winchester for State Treasurer, last Monday. Wolfe county, it is said, will do likewise.
