Will you welcome an old correspondent back into the columns of the good old TIMES? I have not forgotten to write but have just been neglectful.

(Crainly, you are more than welcome into our paper, and would like to hear from Carter every week—Editor.) Are we not having beautiful weather for January? But will it last? We hardly think so.

Miss Rebecca Lyttleton returned from Morehead, Wednesday, where she has been teaching school. Several of the young folks are anticipating a surprise party at her home on Saturday night.

A Sunday School entertainment was given at Rock Springs Sunday. All had a pleasant time.
The Sunday School closed until April.

Dr. W. F. Ramey left Tuesday for Louisville, where he is attending the medical college.

Miss Sallie Worthington left for Salt Lick, Tuesday, where she is attending school.

Quite a number of the young folks gathered at the home of Mr. Zornes, Sunday night, to watch the New Year in. They report a pleasant time was had, in music and capping corn.

Mr. C. G. Harris came home to spend X-mas. Mollie was all smiles but not smiling Thursday as he left for Salt Lick.

Robert Bassett and his sister, Nettie, of Portsmouth, spent Xmas with friends at Carter. No wonder that Mabel was all smiles with that new gold locket.

Miss Mabel Ramey is teaching a select school at Rock Springs this winter.

An X-mas tree was had at Iron Hill. A nice time was enjoyed by all.

Miss Mollie Everman entertained quite a number of young folks at her home Wednesday night.

George Gannon and Charley Zornes started into school at Coopersville Tuesday with Fred Artist as teacher. We wish him success with his school.

Elmer Warnock returned home a short while ago from Portsmouth and is now clerking for Mr. Lewis.

For fear I may not be welcome back after so long an absence, I will bring this letter to a close.
I doubt if my name is really suitable for the present, for I expect I have been forgotten long ago.
FORGET-ME-NOT.

W. A. Frizzell, who spent holidays with relatives, in Vanceburg is back at his place of business in Armstrongs Drug Store.

Miss Carrie Patton has just completed a new silk crazy quilt and it is a beauty.

Hon. W. B. Whitt was in this city Monday.

Quite a serious cutting affair occurred at the new brick yards last Monday afternoon. Andy Bartley, a youth of about 18, had some words with some other boys and was thrown to the ground when Laurence Johnson, a young tough rushed up from behind and plunged a knife into the fallen lad in the left side near the heart.

Johnson is but 11 years old and is just about as tough a proposition as can be put up in one package of his size. Bartley is considered in a very bad condition. He has always had an excellent reputation and was never known to have been in any previous trouble. We hope to hear of his early recovery.

Mrs. H. L. Snodgrass is reported to be rapidly recovering.

Lost: A letter addressed to Miss Carrie Patton, Olive Hill. Finder, will please return to the Florence Hotel and receive reward.

Mrs. C. L. White has been on the sick list for the past week.

What is a world of wealth compared with a clear conscience?

The management of the proposed daily paper called The Olive Hill Daily Reporter desire to announce that the first issue will appear just as soon as all arrangements can be made. It was the intention to begin the publication of this paper with the beginning of the new year but owing to unforeseen circumstances the time will be delayed for perhaps three weeks. In the meantime all persons who desire to see this paper published are requested to submit their names to the manager Rev. Cyrus Riffe. You can pay your subscription after the paper is started. This paper will be devoted to Carter Co. generally and Olive Hill particularly. It will be edited by Miss Alice Riffe and published by the Maddix Printing and Publishing Company.

The wood thrush was chanting soft and low; its evening hymn. An Oriole, perched on top a Laurel tree, sang to me of a life Divine.

The lonely Harbell, that bloom in the shadow, had bowed its beautiful head in humble devotion.

The night wind sighed through the branches of the trees, and whispered courage to the weary soul.

Through the gathering dusk a thousand stars shown out—silent witnesses of the sermon in the soul.

It was Spring-time's first caress, and the wild honey suckle flung forth in pink and red, that harmonized with the climbing orbiculus that trailed in wildest freedom among the rock.

I had left the haunts of man and sought this secluded retreat. Glad nature's being to commune with God.
The God that clothed the Lilly with a splendor that Solomon never dreamed of; The God that has taught me the beauties of wood and field.

Far into the soft and balmy night I sat outside my tent, close by a tiny rill sings to the wild flowers that fring its brink.

The clouds that had presented such a beautiful picture early in the evening had merged into a dark mass, and softly, very softly, a sound was wafted to my ears, a sound I delighted to hear.

At last the storm broke upon the still forenoon. The lightning's flashes presented a strange, weird spectacle, as they played among the nighty trees.
The thunders crashed and the rain beat upon the tent roof. Slowly the storm more resigned. A spreading my blanket on the tent floor—which was the ground —I was soon lost in sleep; sweet sleep, that only a woodsman knows. I waked in the early dawn already a ruddy glow shone the horizon silently herald the approach of a new born day. The glittering dewdrops blazed like diamonds from tree branches.

That buccaneer of air—the crow were winging their way to a distant world in quest of a morning meal, and as I prepared my humble breakfast by the camp fire, I sang praises out of a heart overflowing with gratitude, to the Father of all that's good for blessing things we are all apt to fo-get in our mad scramble for that, article that destroys the better self—the dollar.

Thus, I have spent many, pleasant days, in harmony with nature; my companions, the wood folks; and with God's help I aim to spend many more and every day and every hour I shall be a better man.

Died at his home on Trough Camp Olive Hill, Ky., Dec. 28th 1905, Mr. J.
H. Armstrong, Sr., in his 78th year.

This announcement will be read with sorrow by a host of friends in all parts of Carter and adjacent counties, as he was widely known and greatly beloved by all with whom he came in contact and those who were best acquainted with him loved him most for his sterling qualities of head and heart. Many who read these lines will pause to drop a tear to his memory, for some kind act or deed, or some unassuming advice he has given which helped to raise drooping spirits when hope had almost fled. He had unbounded faith and confidence in all mankind and believed and practiced the principles of a universal brotherhood existing at all times unto others as he would have them do unto him. But after a long and well spent life, full of noble deeds of charity and benevolence he has laid aside his burden and gone up higher to a still greater and noble life, and while the Golden Rods of Summer will nod to the breezes above his grave, and the Snows of Winter will cover the mound of earth with a mantle of white, yet the memory of this good man will remain with his many friends and admirers as long as life with them shall last.

Mr. Armstrong served through the Civil War as a Lieutenant of Volunteers and did as well his part in this vocation as he afterward practiced the principles of peace. His funeral was attended by a large edcourse of friends and relatives; all his children were present, except Mrs. Dr. Wilhoit, of St. George, Kansas, but her son, Dr. Claude Wilson, and her two daughters, Miss Della and Mrs. Lida Marshal, with her husband, were present.

N. C. Buckler, formerly of Olive Hill, but now of Boyen City Mich. writes the following letter:

Dear friends; I take this opportunity of again writing to the good old TIMES. I take pleasure in sending a few items from this northern country. We are having a thaw which is something unusual for this time of the year. It takes an abundance of snow to make business good here in the winter.

We have moved twenty five miles to the north-west and are now out of the great snow belt.

Our city is a hustling little city of 2,500 inhabitants, situated on the shore of Pine Lake, which is the southern arm of Lake Michigan. This lake is 25 miles long and 4 miles wide. The boats out of Chicago make regular landings at this point. Wm. Sexton, formerly of Carter Co. Ky, but now of Manclona Mich. was here this week prospecting. There are only four Kentucky families here.

Rob't Bush and family, Wert Calley and family N. C. Buckler and family of Carter Co. and Marcus Adams of Powell Co. All are well but they often sigh for their old Kentucky home, and well they may for there is no place like old Kentucky with her shady dell and sunny slopes. We enjoy hearing from Carter Co and no one can tell how welcome the letters are received by the Kentuckians in this Northern clime. Where is Klondike and his long windy articles? Zeke Parson give us one from you. Wishing you all a prosperous New Year, I will say good bye for this time.

STREET LIGHTS

It seems that all ears are deftly turned to the appeals made by the people, on East Main Street, for a street light. A street light is needed in that end more than in any other part of town. Several of our leading business men who pay into the town treasury probably as large amount of taxes as any of those now enjoying the benefit and protection of one of those artificial suns, are forced to plod along and, at night, after a hard and toilsome busy day's work, through the mud, without the aid of a light, unless he lets HIS light so shine that he may see the few fordable places, and cross thereover. It is nothing less than shameful, even ridiculous, that the lighted condition of so prosperous portion of our fast growing little city, is in such a plight that could be so easily remedied and with so little cost to any one, and would be so highly appreciated by all benefited.

The czar of Russia, has been doomed to die by some of the revolutionary leaders, who have been holding secret meetings for the past two weeks. Premier Witte has been asked to resign and permit the national duma to begin its work. The vote to decree the death of the czar was taken after a violent debate, and was carried by a large majority.

Amid a dead silence all chief except 10 signed the death warrant of the monarch, which was similar in terms to the death sentence decreed against Von Plehve.

Things will be kept going lively at Frankfort for some time to come. The Supreme Court of the United States sustained the court below in the case of Jas. B. Howard vs. the State of Kentucky, which convicted of the murder of Governor Goebel. Howard appealed because one juror is said to have conversed with a person not a member of the jury. He is under sentence to life imprisonment.

POOR MADE HAPPY.

Over 200,000 Persons in New York City partook of a Bountiful Christmas Fare.

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE CHARITY.

Nearly Five Thousand Families Given Christmas Dinner Baskets by the Salvation Army.

Thousands of Newboys Feasted at the Expense of Randolph Guggenheimer and Lodging House.

New York, Dec. 26.—Christmas day in New York was marked by a bountiful suspension of business and the usual family reunions and general outpouring of public and private charity. Fully 200,000 poor persons partook of the bountiful Christmas fare provided in all city hospitals and asylums, in missions and other benevolent institutions supported by private charity and at the annual distributions of dinners by the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America.

At the Grand Central palace the distribution of Christmas dinner baskets by the Salvation Army began early in the morning and continued until the needs of nearly 5,000 persons had been relieved. In addition to this hundreds of clothing for children and adults were distributed.

At the Bowery mission more than 2,000 human derelicts were fed and as many more were entertained at the city lodging house. Five thousand newboys feasted at the expense of Randolph Guggenheimer, at the Newboys club house in East Fourth street, and the usual dinner for the little fellows was served at the Newboys lodging house.

Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan dispensed Christmas cheer and presents of pipes and tobacco to nearly 5,000 men at his quarters in the bowery.

Dinner For the Inmate. At the Manhattan place hospital on Ward's island, more than 4,000 insane persons partook of a Christmas dinner and in the evening participated in the annual distribution of presents followed by the customary ball in the amusement hall.

A tragic interruption of the Christmas festivities occurred at the home of Mrs. Paul Raymond when her stepbrother, John Muscov, and his friend Casman, who had been invited to join a friendly reunion, were found dead in bed in the morning. The men, who had recently arrived from Russia, were unacquainted with the use of illuminating gas and blew it out when they retired Sunday night. Another fatality of the day was that of five-year-old Stella O'Neill, who was burned to death by her clothing catching fire from a Christmas tree at her home in East 102d street.

In accordance with the navy custom of observing Christmas day as a holiday, all work beyond what was absolutely necessary was dispensed with aboard the battleships Alabama, Massachusetts, Iowa and Maine at the Annapolis navy yard, and the cruisers Brooklyn and Albatross at the Washington navy yard. Sailors and marines received shore leave for the day.

OF Olive Hill and Vicinity by Our "Specialist"

The six residences lately completed here by Senator Whitt, are all occupied.

It is a daily occurrence to hear people making inquiry for business houses, rooms and residences, notwithstanding bricklayers, stone-masons and other artisans are daily employed here.

Great Scott! How are we growing 4,000 inhabitants and daily increasing at a rapid rate? The good, grand, honest old residents, living out in the country, are surprised every time they come to town. They can not keep up with its progress. Traveling salesmen who reach the town only three or four times per year, frankly admit that they never before saw anything like it.

They are compelled to revise their lists. Not because of any failures, but because of new ones added. Thirty-six stores and still others to be added in the near future.

The Maddix Printing and Publishing Company will soon occupy enlarged quarters, and this is a necessity on account of the growth of the business.

Two very young men, born and raised here, without any previous experience, assisted by one other young man, who very recently became connected with the office, (though he had some previous training in the newspaper office), are operating the whole business, and are making it a big success—and their job work is something beautiful, and its equal is seldom produced outside the city.

And they don't drink, or wear, or play poker, or smoke cigarettes, or swagger. They are not smart-alecs and are not stuck on themselves. They are plain, honest, good boys, who are going to have a daily paper—a real live daily, which will faithfully chronicle the daily events here.

No, it will not be a failure either. We can support it and we will. Rev. Cyrus Riffe, pastor of the M. E. Church, is the originator and will be done and prosper. He does not make failures in his undertakings. He is a highly cultivated, educated, polished, christian gentleman. He carried a basket three or four years during the '90's, when men of iron will and dauntless courage were required to achieve success. He came through it all with a brilliant record and untarnished honor; and ever since then, he has been doing things, none things.

MINIATURE OF HIS EXECUTION.

A Novel Slot Machine Made By a Condemned Man.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 26.—Perhaps the most original means ever contrived to get a man out of a few shillies is that engineered by William Van Dusen, who is under sentence to be hanged January 10 for the murder of Panny Porter. Van Dusen has for weeks been laboring with his pocket knife, shaping pieces of wood into a scaffold. The scaffold was complete, his task and then it occurred to him that he had failed to make a trap door. He remedied the defect, and to complete the job, made a canvas figure, which he fastened to the beam by a rope and arranged it so that the trap would open only when a nickel was dropped in a slot. Over the miniature scaffold Van Dusen placed a sign which reads: "Drop a nickel in the slot and see how it looks for a new job to be had."

The murderer thinks his handiwork a great joke and seems to enjoy the fact that nearly all the visitors to the jail put in nickles "just to see the trap sprung."

CHRISTMAS IN LOUISVILLE.

There Were Three Fatalities and a Number of Minor Accidents.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 26.—Three fatalities and an unusual number of minor accidents resulted from Louisville's noisy celebration of Christmas. Theresa Housman, an eight-year-old girl, was killed by George Doll, aged 12. The girl's death resulted from the unexpected presence of a ball cart-ridge among a number of blanks which the Doll boy, a neighbor, was firing in a rifle. George Irving Harper, a boy 14 years old, met death in a similar manner. While Harper was stamping a clearance in a small cannon with a

Care of Drinking Fountains.

Drinking fountains require close attention. Small chickens drink frequently and often times spit their beaks loaded with food, which is left to a greater or less extent, in the water supply. As it is necessary to keep these fountains in a sanitary, warm atmosphere, they soon become tainted and emit a disagreeable odor.
