FOREWORD

In this annual, we give to you the year as it was in its best, in its happiest, in the most solemn moments...The gladness of greeting old friends on the first day back to school, the tenseness before the Homecoming Queen was announced, the unbearable excitement of tournament games, the indescribable (???????) experience of learning, the preciousness of lifelong friends...All this we bring to you. May it, in the years to come, show you this year in all its phases and make you remember as though it were only yesterday.

Frederick Brian Skaggs

We, as young Americans, are watching the world we live in, and now our eyes are turned to Vietnam and the cruelty of the war that has and is taking our brothers and relatives, our future husbands and our friends. We look at Vietnam with anxiety and sorrow and yet with pride for the men, young and old, are fighting for our nation and the freedom that is America. They are fighting for a way of life that is, in its present form, ordained of God.

Frederick Brian Skaggs was a good friend of many, a part of Morehead, and the beloved of his family. Our pride is centered in him, a symbol of the fighting men. We, the Annual Staff, dedicate this yearbook to Frederick Brian Skaggs (Freddy) and to all the men in Vietnam.

The majority of the students ride buses to school.

Raising the Flag is a service performed by the Junior Beta.

The majority of the students eat hot lunches in the cafeteria each day.

We learn about our neighbors in World History.

Bookkeeping is good training for the future.

In Industrial Arts one learns by doing.
