WORK OF PURCHASING TRACT FOR EAST KENTUCKY-Forest Reserve Gets Under Way

Examiner Arrives To Open Headquarters In Winchester—Discusses Plans Of Department Of Agriculture For Carrying On Work—500,000 Acres To Be Included In Tract Ultimately—Here Around July First

The following article from the Winchester Sun of May 19, is of particular interest to the people of Rowan county who have long included in the proposed forest reserve.

W. E. Hodges, chief land examiner of the United States department of agriculture has arrived in Winchester where he will remain until the first of next week when he will go to Jackson county to begin work on the purchase of a 500,000 acre tract of land which eventually will be a national forest.

Mr. Hodges drove here Tuesday, from his home in Elkins, W. Va., and has established temporary quarters at the Brown-Proctoria Hotel.

Approximately 30 land owners, representing 15 counties of the Kentucky national forest area, conferred with Mr. Hodges here today. He explained the plans of the government and asked that prices be set on the land.

The examiner and a crew of eight men next week will set up a camp near McKee, Ky., from which the actual valuations and purchase will take place relative to approximately 45,000 acres of forestry in the immediate neighborhood.

From Jackson county the workers will proceed north in a semi-circle east of Winchester, including Bath, Rowan, Wolfe, Powell, Lee, Morgan, Menifee, Estill, Owsley, Ricketts and Madison counties.

Mr. Hodges explained that it will be impossible to complete the work in one area before moving to another, but as far as possible it offers will be accepted before the work is

"It is impossible," he said, "to say exactly when the work can be finished. My project aims to bring the Kentucky situation under the supervision of the department of agriculture and there are now more than 20 such units, all unfinished. Obviously, only a portion of the congressional provision can be used annually in this state."

Mr. Hodges added that more than ten years had been spent of the development of other national forests and as yet none of these had been "blocked off." He said that in the gross area in eastern Kentucky included in the original survey was approximately 580,000 acres, but that the department would not likely purchase more than 500,000.

When questioned concerning the price per acre allowed by the government, Mr. Hodges said that in his work he had learned to expect controversy when purchasing lands that in reality could be purchased by the government and condemned under legal action of the department of agriculture. The average price per acre, he said, will be between $10 and five dollars. He added that it would not be the policy of the department to condemn property.

In reference to income which the government may derive from the forest area (the examiner stated) that 35 percent would be returned to the county in which the land is situated. All gas and oil rights will be reserved by the original owner. Other than this, the government's deeds of ownership will be clear.

Mr. Hodges outlined the manner of purchase whereby the government will allow the owner to reserve what improved land he has provided the tract purchased by the government is reasonably coherent. In the event the owner sells his farm lands, the land will be leased to the former owner at a reasonable figure.

The crews are to be composed of appraisers who will value the properties according to classifications of the department of agriculture concerning soil and timber," the examiner said, "and the owner is asked for his price. Calculations are then made and a fair price is offered. Providing all deeds are clear and the situation of the site is understood completely by the owner, the purchase is made."

Mr. Hodges remarked that official

Mr. Rannels, Head of the Art Department of the University of Kentucky addressed the students of the Morehead State Teachers College on Wednesday during chapel period discussing and explaining the copies of old masterpieces on display in the exhibit being held there this week.

Clinic Was Great Success

One Hundred and Nine Cripped children from Rowan, Bath, Montgomery, Clark, Menifee and Wolfe counties were present at the Crrippled Children's Clinic held at Mt. Sterling on Wednesday of this week. It was undoubtedly the most successful clinic in hold in the district.

Rowan county through the efforts of the chairman, Prof. C. O. Peratt sent the greatest number of any of the counties represented, twenty-two Rowan county children being there for examination. Of these two were sent to the hospital from Mt. Sterling. A number of others are to be sent later in the year.

The two children who were sent to the Shriners Hospital at Lexington for immediate treatment were the five year old daughter of John Lewis of Rowan and the five year old daughter of John Ingle for treatment for hare-lip.

Among those from Rowan county who furnished cars to take the children to Mt. Sterling were Howard Lewis, Dr. R. L. Hoke, Dr. R. L. Riddell, Chas. Hodge of Gates, Russel Becker of Haldeman, Dr. A. W. Adkins, Charles Goff, Dr. H. Van Antwerp of Farmers and Stoner Clark of Haldeman.

The entire group was royally entertained by the Christian Church of Mt. Sterling and the Mt. Sterling Kiwanis Club. Dinner was served free to the mothers and children at the clinic.

Tempest and Sunshine At College

The Revellers Dramatic Club is presenting "Tempest and Sunshine" on May 27 will place a cast on the stage that includes probably the very best dramatic talent that can be found here.

Second semester students have not as yet had an opportunity to witness the talent in the Revellers.

In "Tempest and Sunshine" there is displayed a human element interspersed with humor, pathos, and the always interesting stories of the southern planters and the realistic hope that prevailed during the period.

"Tempest and Sunshine" will be the final production of the club this year and from all indications the play will be a fitting climax to the activities of this organization for the season.

Bobaway, a no-account-good-for-nothing-nigger, with a dialect that is humorous and an appearance that befits the dialect is played by James Woods.

Hugh Stanton, a young country farmer that is in love with Sunshine will be played by Brooks Henderson. Mammy Sue, the typical southern darky mammy with her interest in

"The Front Page" is biting, cynical, humorous tense with surprise situations that make even a hard-boiled reporter, who has quit the game come back to it in order to land a scoop for a managing editor he hates like poison.

Audiences are going to be surprised at Adolph Menjou in the role of the suave, lovable but hard managed editor—Walter Burns, Menjou, whose acting has been confined to the duties of the dining room and powerful trouper in his role as something completely different from anything he has ever tried before.

Mary Brian has the role of the little girl who is going to marry a wild reporter and take him "away from it all." She handles it perfectly and again earns the praise that came to her after her work in "The Royal Family of Broadway."

All in all "The Front Page" is a picture you should not miss.

DR. JAMEISON ON VISIT TO OHIO

Dr. Joe Jameison left last week for an extended visit with his son in Mansfield, O. In addition to visiting his son Dr. Jameison is making a number of side trips a most of interest, one of the most recent ones being to Amherstburg, Ontario. Jackie Coogan At Cozy Theatre

Hundreds of children and hundreds more that used to be children will thrill to the oft-told but never old adventures of Tom and Huck, Becky and Aunt Polly, Injun Joe and Muff Potter at the Cozy Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Ma 27 and 28 when "Tom Sawyer" Mark Twain's classic of childhood, is the offering.

"Tom Sawyer" is the kind of picture that the talking screen was made for and in the hands of such capable young players as Jackie Coogan, Miti Green and Junior Durkin, it is well high the greatest story ever told in audible celluloid.

The production is faithful to the letter. Every whim of Mark Twain's original is beautifully translated to the screen. Tom Sawyer is and perhaps will remain the talk of the talkie age. If you fail to see it you will be missing one of the most enjoyable things that our present day life has to offer. It marks the first appearance of Jackie Coogan on the talkie stage, which in itself should be recommendation enough.

H. L. Prichard Goes To Corinth

Henry Lee Prichard who completed his A. B. degree at the Morehead Teachers College this semester, has accepted a position as teacher and coach at the Corinth High School for the coming year. Mr. Prichard plans on attending a coaching school this summer to further prepare himself for his duties.

His friends here are hoping for a speedy and complete recovery.

Commencement Friday

Fourteen of Morehead's finest on Friday night at 7:30 p. m. will parade the boards of the Public School Gymnasium in an "official capacity" for the last time. And at about 9:00 p. m. or thereabout, the fourteen will rise and step forward one at a time to receive that coveted bit of parchment, which marks the end of their high school career and the beginning of—

For Friday night is Commencement night when the fourteen graduates of the Morehead Public School will receive their diplomas after finishing the course prescribed.

The present class of fourteen is the largest that has ever graduated from the local high school. Members of the class are Arthur Huff, Roy Caudill, Curtis Caudill, William Caudill, Dick Clay, Ruth Marion Hoke, Brook, Lola Williams, Madeline Caudill, William, Mary Martin, Eloise Young, Jewell Fannin, Oleta Ambury.

In another column appears the program for the Commencement. Sunday evening, marking the beginning of Commencement Week for the Seniors of Morehead High School, the Baccalaureate services were held at the Christian Church.

The Seniors marched into the church taking the places reserved for them. The church was decorated in the usual class colors of blue and white flowers.

Following the march, the hymn "On" was given by Dr. R. L. Riddell, Teachers College this semester, has accepted a position as teacher and coach at the Corinth High School for the coming year. Mr. Prichard plans on attending a coaching school this summer to further prepare himself for his duties.

The Baccalaureate sermon was delivered by Rev. B. H. Kazee, pastor of the Baptist Church. Following the Baccalaureate service the "Heavenly Abode" by Beethoven. The services were brought to a close by Rev. A. R. Perkins, pastor of the Methodist Church who pronounced the benediction.

This (Thursday) morning the Seniors gave their annual Class Day program, which was unusually interesting. Probably one of the best numbers on the entire Class Day program, was the Class poem by Mr. Arthur Barber, which was really a clever bit of work.

The entire class contributed its bit to the occasion, adding the touch of seriousness befitting to the time.

The FIGHTING TENDERFOOT

A Dramatic Story Of The Old Frontier West
 By WILLIAM McLOED GAINES

The prediction of Steve Worrall turned out to be a true one. In the dark hours of the night Deever slipped out of town and departed for parts unknown.

"Dad burn it, I got to light a shuck," he told himself. "But if I ever get a crack at this pilgrim, I'll send him a through ticket to Kingdom Come."

After which he slapped a saddle on a bronco and decamped.

This enhanced the new sheriff's reputation tremendously. The people of Concho could not follow the workings of Deever's mind. What reached them was that O'Hara had served notice on this outlaw, one of the most vicious of the bad men, to get out of town within a specified time and that the fellow had not waited to challenge the ultimatum. They deduced that he was afraid of the sheriff.

slow this crept into her cheeks.

"So you came at last," she said, "after all these months."

He had no answer for her reproach except to murmur that he had been busy. How could he tell her he dared not let himself come within the orbit of her attraction?

"Since you've come at last to see my baby I'll forgive you," she said, and drew her a fold of wrapping that he might get a better look at it.

"Would you like to hold him?" she asked, though she was conferring an honor upon her friend, a precious privilege.

"I'll try."

The baby whimpered a little as he held it.

"His name is David," Barbara said. "I hope he'll defeat all the Gollaths that he meets."

"Do you think he is pretty?" she asked.

He came through with the proper indorsement of its beauty.

Barbara laughed happily. "You're telling fibs, Garrett. I'm his mother, but even I can see that he's a homely little peanut yet. You couldn't call that little bottom of a nose, now could you? But his eyes are lovely, aren't they? They are his father's."

The nurse relieved O'Hara of the baby and carried it out of the room.

"Time he went to sleep," she announced with authority. "You may sit down and talk to Barbara, Mr. O'Hara."

"Won't it tire her?"

"No. Not if you don't stay too long. Amuse her."

After she had dleft them alone, Barbara settled back in her pillows. "You've heard your orders. Amuse me, Garrett." There was a faint friendly smile on her lips. She knew him of old.

"Good gracious! I can't. I never amused a woman in my life! I don't know how to talk with one."

"T' hendon't' herboloc-Mie, f's." With other don't' bother about amusing me. Interest me. Tell me all about yourself an' what you've been doing. I've heard all sorts of things about you. Dad says you're the best sheriff in the territory."

"Your father has to believe in me because he was responsible for my appointment."

"Lyliph agrees with him." She mimicked the Englishman's speech brown hand held the one in his and manner. "The best in the whole given him an das he looked at her a

His face was hot with embarrassment, but she had given him a way of escape. "You know, of course, that he is to be married soon—that 's going home next month to bring his fiancée out!"

"Of course I know it! I keep in touch with my friends."

He chose to ignore this thrust. "Hope he'll be happy. I don't know of anyone who deserves happiness more."

"The great point is that she and Lyliph seem so sure of each other. They haven't any doubts, either of them. She'll have all kinds of new experiences—an' that's life. And above all else, they'll have each other."

"Ye-es," he asserted.

Her eyes flashed with gay malice. "But you're a bachelor. You wouldn't think that much."

Not much, to walk hand in hand with the woman that he loved! The thought of it took its breath and it made him avert his telltale eyes. Vignettes flashed before his vision: the one mate out of a world of two men moving about his house and singing snatches of love songs in full-throated cadences; a tent in the pines beneath the stars shining for two lovers; light feet running to meet him when he came home at night; his paradise made sure by her delicious presence. No, he wouldn't think that much!

He smiled hopefully. His modesty would not let him believe that he had in him the qualities to win the woman he wanted to such joy. What had he to offer her so compelling that she would find in the house of his life together doors opening to dear lights and windows looking up on dawn rays with the promise of new happiness?

The young man carried away with him the goal deal of a world of two men deep in love. It would be this woman or none with him. But what about her? Was there a chance that after many days her heart would answer the deep silent call of his? He did not think so. He was almost sure she had not.

Public indignation is usually not sustained. It evaporates with the passage of time. When the rumor spread about a year after the disappearance of Bob Quantrell that he had returned to his friends and haunts the residents of Jefferson county did not believe it. The mountains and the chaparral for him, this was strictly the business of Sheriff O'Hara and such indiseret youths as he could induce to serve as his deputies.

Bob had been seen one night at Concho. Deever was with him. They made a flying visit to Agua Caliente to buy supplies. It was known they had been on Horse Creek.

O'Hara recognized that this was to be a campaign. It was essential that he have deputies upon whom he could depend at a pinch. Quietly he set about making preparations.

He dropped in at the Longhorn carral.

Steve Worrall greeted him. "What new, old timer?"

"The latest news is that Steve Worrall has been appointed deputy sheriff of Jefferson county," O'Hara said, smiling at him. "He may not know it yet, but he's practically all ready to be sworn in."

"How come? I know quite several jobs I like better than that—safer an' more comfortable an' better pay with less hard work."

"Less hard work. Hmp!" O'Hara's eyes traveled down the long lean body. "Getting soft. Too much time wasted at playing cards."

"Also," continued Steve paying no attention to the gaudious criticism, "I haven't lost Bob Quantrell any to speak of, if that's the notion stickin' in yore coonout. He's a slick fellow to leave lay when he's bustin' for nature's sweet solitudes. Bob Quantrell ain't interferin' with me any. Why should I get all het up about him? Live an' let live is my motto."

"My idea is to make haste slowly," O'Hara said, passing over the other's abjections, as negligible. "We'll not go ramping all over the country looking for him. Until we get it straight clear we'll sit tight and wait. No use chasing down every rumor we hear. When I follow a trail I want it to be a hotone."

That Chevrolet cars and trucks require only a minimum of service attention. That they give satisfactory low-cost service over exceptionally long periods of time.

Naturally, a car with such a fine record of economy represents an extremely wise investment for any buyer! TOBACCO PLANTS BEING DAMAGED

The tobacco flea beetle is damaging tobacco plant beds seriously in many parts of the county. Some of the beds have been entirely ruined. County Agent Goff gives the following method of control: Dissolve one pound of arsenate of Lead in 25 gallons of water and sprinkle on the beds. Apply enough to wet all the plants. The canvas must be removed from the bed to apply this solution satisfactorily. Many poisons will burn the plants but arsenate of lead will not burn if applied as directed.

Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE, and so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

IN congratulating the winners in this great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry. We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes. By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment. If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day. After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

Forest Reserve

headquarters will not be established until at least 50,000 acres have been purchased. Winchester has been selected, he said, because of its nearness to the various counties to be included in the tract. He said that it was practically impossible to estimate the length of time which will be necessary for the purchase of the original 50,000 acres.

When headquarters are established here, a clerk, supervisor and ranger will be employed. As interest in the forest increases additional rangers will be placed at various stations to be located throughout the tract. He concluded that unless unusual obstacles present themselves headquarters should be located before the latter part of 1932.

To eliminate any possibility of graft or monopolization of the forest area, land will not be purchased from any real estate broker, but solely from the owner. Checks are mailed from Washington direct to the original owner.

Proponents of the development of eastern Kentucky and the organization of the forest area have repeatedly suggested that the tract be known as the Great Smoky National Forest. The Government has agreed for the past two years given his efforts without cost and is deserving of the honor.

According to reports, the crews will be able to reach Rowan county around July 1. Many Rowan county land owners are unusually interested in the project and the probability are the government will experience no difficulty in obtaining the local tracts.

BILIOUS

"I have used Black-Draught... and have not found anything that could take its place. I take Black-Draught for biliousness. When I get bilious, I have to have a headache and a nervous headache and a nervous headache... you, trembling feeling that unfits me for my work. After I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I get all right. When I begin to get bilious, I feel tired and run-down, and then the headache and trembling. But Black-Draught removes all this." — J. O.
