THINGS ABOUT KENTUCKY

WORTH KNOWING

The museum of the Kentucky Geological Survey at Frankfort contains nearly 200 rock samples, trimmed 3 x 4 inches, to show the resources of the State's quarries. About 25 of the samples are polished to reveal the value of the stones, for interior decorative work. An exhaustive treatment of the State's remarkable resources in this line is contained in a Geological Survey volume of 356 pages, "Building Stones of Kentucky," by Charles Henry Richardson, Assistant State Geologist.

First sale of road bonds voted by Henderson county in March was made last month. Out of the million dollar issue authorized by the citizens of the county for the purpose of modern highways, $200,000 of the bonds were sold at a premium of $2.15. The bonds bear 4 1/2% interest.

An investment of over half a million dollars is said to be represented in the recently completed plant of the Lee Clay Products Co., at Clearfield, in Rowan county. Already over 100 men are being employed and full production by the plant will require as many additional operatives. Those interested in the industrial development of the State point to the enterprise as an example of the opportunities Kentucky offers in the way of natural resources attractive to manufacturers. The mineral clay deposits of Rowan county are said to be exceptionally well adapted to the high quality salt glazed vitrified clay sewer pipe, wall coping and flue liners which the company manufactures. The company is reported to be developing a market for its products in Kentucky as well as states of the North and East.

Twenty-five out of the 120 counties of Kentucky contributed to the cotton crop of 1914. The State produced a total of 11,454 bales, Fulton county led with 7,477 bales and Hickman county was second with 2,078 bales. Madison county is out of debt for the first time since 1927, says the Richmond Post-Argus. Thirty years has been discovered on Jennie Creek in Johnson county, will well recently brought in producing half a million cubic feet of gas daily, the Paintsville Herald reports.

The Hopkinsville Hatchery has produced over 100,000 chicks since the first of this year, says the Todd County Standard, of Elkton. The chicks were shipped to 25 different states.

Princeton is assured of a new shoe factory employing at the start about 100 operatives, according to press dispatches.

Work of installing machinery in the new condenser of the Pet Milk Co., at Bowling Green is now in progress. The plant will be in operation in the near future, the Park City News states.

"Leitchfield Day" on April 30 was such a success the business people of the town plan to repeat it sometime in June, the Leitchfield Gazette says. The event was planned to bring to the county seat visitors from the surrounding territory, with a program of special bargains by merchants, music and speeches and free picture shows as the drawing card. One merchant, it is said, sold a ton of sugar in 10-pound lots.

Two good oil wells were brought in on the same day last week in the oil fields of the Owensboro territory, The Messenger reports.

The hydro-electric plant which the Louisville Gas and Electric Co. is building at the Falls of the Ohio will be the eighth largest in the world, it is said. A yearly output of 400,000,000 kilowatt-hours is expected. Three pages of a recent issue of the Manufacturers Record are devoted to description and illustration of the project now under way. The company's investment in the project will amount to $7,500,000, while the Government is expending more than $3,500,000 at Louisville in development of navigation on the river.

Contract has been let for a $50,000 community house at Elton, to be used as a meeting place for the various clubs of the city.

The Kentucky Geological Survey has just issued an oil and gas map of the Whitley county. The Lexington Herald quotes Dr. W. H. Johnson, State Geologist, interpreting the county's geological structures as pointing to "natural gas in large quantities."

GOOD CARE BRINGS EGGS

Mrs. T. W. Luttrell and Mrs. L. E. O'Hara, Caldwell county women cooperating with County Agent J. F. Graham in demonstrating the value of good breeding and care in poultry raising, have reported several outstanding egg production records. One of Mrs. Luttrell's hens laid 27 eggs in 91 days, another, 79 eggs in 93 days and a third 78 eggs in 94 days. In Mrs. O'Hara's flock a hen laid 37 eggs in 118 days, another, 85 eggs in 102 days, and a third 78 eggs in 106 days. Both flocks are Barred Plymouth Rocks, and most of the hens have good color markings.

AGRICULTURE DEVELOPMENT OF STATE ADVOCATED

Upholding of the State in wealth and population by encouragement of diversified agricultural pursuits was given as an objective of prime importance at a conference of representative chambers of commerce from various Kentucky cities held recently in Louisville under auspices of Associated Industries. Exceptional opportunities are presented in communities in nearly every section of the State, it was pointed out, for raising, purchasing, stock raising, fruit growing and poultry raising. Various examples were mentioned as indications that manufacturing industries gravitate towards those areas of rich and lowland where the agricultural industry, the surrounding territory has developed along profitable lines. Judge J. Dan Talbot, Secretary of the Bardonia Chamber of Commerce, presided at the conference. Mr. Will P. Scott, of Dawson Springs, Secretary of the West Kentucky Development Association, was elected chairman of the next conference of the group.

NEW MOTOR CAR The Ford Motor Company yesterday announced "early production" of a new Ford car, but withheld details of the new model until a later date. Complete description, it was said, will be made "within the next few weeks." Assembly of the present "T" model will be discontinued, but production of parts will be continued for some time. A statement by Henry Ford and Edsel H. Ford, president of the Ford company, said, "With the new Ford we propose to continue in the light car field, which we created, on the same basis of quality production which we have always worked high quality, low price and constant service." "The new car," the announcement continues, "will cost more to manufacture, but it will be more economical to operate." "Only a comparatively few men will be thrown out of work at a time while the different departments of the company are being toolled for the new product, the announcement added. "The famous model T Ford which still leads the automobile industry after twenty years of manufacture, will continue to be a substantial factor in Ford production in view of the fact that about 10,000,000 cars of this model are still in use and will require replacement parts and service," a statement signed by Henry Ford said.

Nurse Advises WEAK, RUN-DOWN WOMEN To Take Cardui "I have known of Cardui for nearly twenty-five years," says Mrs. Edna Messmer, 1072 Harrison Ave., Beaumont, Texas. "During that time, I have taken it several times and have frequently recommended it to others, for it is a splendid medicine and I am glad to give people the benefit of my experience." "I have been a nurse for several years and have often come in contact with patients who were run-down and weak. Often I have told sufferers of Cardui, and the way I myself had been helped after taking it, and advised them to give it a trial. Many of them have since thanked me for what I told them, so I am willing that other women should know about it, too." "I first took Cardui because I was awfully run-down. I had no appetite, and was weak and listless. It was hard to keep going under such conditions, and I looked for something which would help me." "I had read of Cardui and decided to try it. After taking it, I improved so much that I have taken it since whenever I needed a tonic." Sold by all druggists.

PRODUCE REVIEW

The butter market in Chicago today on 80 score Standards is 40 1/2 cents; Monday a week ago, 41 cents. New York market today on 92 score Extra's is 42 1/2 cents as compared with 42 1/2 cents last week.

The declines in markets are largely accounted for by increasing receipts. Weather conditions generally have been favorable, and pastures are well advanced. Consumption is good as a result of attractive prices. The market is fairly steady at present quotations, but the speculative buying is not heavy, although the into-storage movement, as shown by the storage holdings in the twenty-six largest cities of the country, is heavier than a year ago. Storage holdings of butter are materially less than a year ago.

The Chicago wax market today on First is quoted at 21 to 22 cents, a decline of 1 cent a dozen compared with Monday last week. The New Market has remained unchanged at 23 to 24 cents.

Receipts of eggs on the large eastern markets are decreasing, but are equal to or slightly above last year. Compared with consumption, receipts are still excessive. Speculative buying demand is decreasing as egg quality, with the advancing season, becomes less desirable for storage purposes.

Chicago quotations on live fowls today are heavy weights 22 1/2 cents; average medium weights, 24 cents.

New York heavies are 26 cents and light and medium weights 27 cents. Quotations in both Chicago and New York are unchanged as compared with a week ago.

Receipts of fowls in Chicago and New York have decreased and the buying demand has been more active. This situation has tended to cut down the margin on selling prices between heavy and light fowls and the situation has generally improved.

Quotations on live broilers in Chicago ranged from 30 to 41 cents; New York from 30 to 42 cents. This represents a slight advance in quotations in Chicago; New York unchanged. The proportion of broilers received compared with total receipts has been lighter and there has been good buying, which has had a strengthening effect on quotations.

HINGES ON PILL BOXES

PREVENT MISTAKES

To safeguard against administering or taking the wrong kind of pills, the navy medical corps has had hinges placed on the boxes containing these medicines, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This prevents misplacing covers and identifies containers that have special pills. The plan was adopted in view of the tendency of influenza and other patients to regard capsules merely as capsules and to take them without always first determining their nature. Aspirin, quinine, calomel, etc., are now kept in the new hinged boxes.

JUDGE YOUNG FOR SENATOR

We are announcing Judge Allen W. Young in this issue to succeed himself in the State Senate from this district, in the fall belief that he will have no opposition in either party.

Judge Young is an old fashioned Democrat and seeks the nomination by his party at the primary August 6th. It is necessary that any candidate have a party nomination in order to get properly on the ticket. In Judge Young's case, there is no party division in this section. Everybody of both parties wants him to serve another term in the Senate, because they know he will lay down politics and fight for the best interests of his people and they further know his ability to make things "come to pass."

Judge Young is one of Kentucky's ablest men, both in law and business, and his influence is co-extensive with the state. He is one of the best known and most popular Kentuckians in public life, today. He is being done in the interests of his district and of the entire state as the needle to the pole.

Hold up your right hands, Democrats and Republicans, and let's make it unanimous for Judge Young, the man who has the ability and willingness to serve our interests.

A QUESTION OF VERACITY

If we were called upon to decide a question of veracity between a Chicago penny-liner and the Governor of Kentucky, we would certainly decide in favor of the Governor.

The story sent out from Chicago

Memorial Day

MONDAY, MAY 30, 1927

Time changes custom. Most changes are for progress, but there are exceptions which individuals and nations always recognize and stand firmly for worthy principles which may be threatened. Any change in the observance of national holidays, which through the life of the nation have been set aside to keep the fires of love for country alive, should be opposed. Memorial Day is again with us. It is one of our most sacred national days. It is a tribute of the living—to their dead—those who gave all—their life—that our nation should free—and not perish from the earth.

Let us pause for a thoughtful moment in the true spirit of the day—and be grateful for the freedom that is ours. In so doing we will be giving place and honor to the soldiers of all our wars who made the supreme sacrifice. Let not the greatness of their deeds be forgotten. Imbue a reverence of the day in the hearts of your children and their children's children. You are of the next generation to which the last generation looked to carry on.

Ours is a nation free at last from sectional lines or strife—a world leader in every great movement for peace and happiness. We should be eternally grateful for our enviable position as a nation. A nation entrusted to us by those who faced the cannon's mouth.

and printed in the Courier-Journal that Governor Fields had lambasted the Jockey Club most unmercifully both in an interview and a banquet speech, is denied by the Governor, and his denial is corroborated by S. J. Duncan Clark, a former newspaper man of Louisville, who was at the banquet and says Governor Fields made no such talk.

A man who would believe an un-known scribbler rather than the Governor of his own state, is not worthy to be called a Kentuckian. The mistake the Governor makes is; he writes too much. The dignity of his office forbids his entering into a newspaper wrangle with an unscrupulous set of politicians.

EDITORIAL FOR SHOTS
Look out Messrs. Hamilton and Duggett, for a threatened "Rush" against your fortifications which may "hurt" your chances to represent the "pieces of the crown" as the old law-books call it.

Since Pegasus sprang from the body of the slain Medusa and wheeled his course through uncharted space, opening up, with a blow of his hoof, the inspiring fountain of the races, no such race had ever been seen until "Bob" Crowe rolled up his breeches and stepped into the gubernatorial derby.

Governor Fields denies the allegation of Chicago reporters who quoted him as ripping up the race-horse men in a recent interview in the "windy city," and we will wager Saccharine vitality that he can whip the "Alligator" who misquoted him.

Mr. Weather Clerk, we would thank you for a little more sunshine on the moonshine.

Mt. Sterling Advocate head-line: "Why is on the candidates mind?" Now that's a pretty question to ask, why didn't you ask what isn't on it? If, indeed, there is any of it left!

FIELDS SCORES BINGHAM AGAIN

Governor Fields was recently quoted by Chicago reporters as having said some hard things against the racing interests of Kentucky, which was reproduced by the Courier-Journal. The Governor writes a second letter of denial to Judge Robert W. Bingham, according to the following dispatch:

Frankfort, Ky., May 16—Governor Fields today addressed the following letter to Judge Robert W. Bingham, publisher of the Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times: "I read in Sunday's Courier-Journal the statement alleged to have been made by Michael Munie, who, according to the statement, is a newspaper correspondent who called on me in Chicago.

"I reiterate my former statement, and add that I have not sworn an oath in many years, or even employed the use of the word damn, as this statement alleges I did.

"Therefore, a man who will misrepresent my language will misrepresent me in any other way also. I was neither drunk nor doped when Mr. Munie saw me. He may have been, but I do not believe he was. "The purpose of this whole affair is obvious, and those interested in racing (or any one of them) care to believe this alleged statement of Mr. Munie, and as result of that belief choose to support Mr. Beckham for governor, whose nomination I am opposing, it is certainly their privilege to do so."

S. J. Duncan-Clark, former Louisville newspaper man and now a resident of Chicago, in a telegram sent to the Herald-Post Monday denies that Governor Fields made the statement in his speech at Chicago last Tuesday night, as was attributed to him by the Chicago Journal and the Bingham papers in Louisville.

"Governor Fields made no such statement at banquet at Chicago," Journal quotes him," and Mr. Clark in his telegram. "In his speech he said merely his administration was interested in bigger problems than racing, such as roads and education."

MESSAGES OF CONDOLENCE

These messages mean much to us and our family as they are from men, some of whom he had worked for and been associated with for a number of years:

May 21, 1927

"Mrs. S. S. Casisty and children,
Morehead, Ky.
My Dear Friends:

I am shocked and grieved in hearing of the death of Brother Casisty, whom I have known and esteemed for forty years. For the last year I have been reading with great appreciation his excellent paper, one of the best county papers in the state. I had the pleasure of meeting him some months ago in Morehead with great enjoyment. A bright star had disappeared from the editorial surface and the world is poorer by the loss. Let me assure you of my profound sympathy, in this hour of deep sorrow and bereavement, with prayers for the Holy Spirit's Presence as Comforter. I remain,
Sincerely yours,
J. J. DICKEY."

The following telegram is from our friend and neighbor, who is in Louisville and could not attend the funeral of his life-long friend,
Louisville, Ky.
"Mrs. S. S. Casisty,
Morehead, Ky.
I regret of hearing the news of the death of your husband. Here is my deepest sympathy.
E. HOGGE."

Olive Hill, Ky.

May 23, 1927
To the family of Mr. Sam Casisty:
Please accept my few words of condolence in the death of your husband and father, Mr. Sam Casisty.

I have known him since 1916 and as a surveyor he was of the best and as an editor he was excellent by far. I have never known a more noble man than he. Friendly, kind, honest and upright and always for that which was good.

I wish to extend to you my sincerest sympathy in these, your darkest hours.
Sincerely yours,
SCHUYER CLARK"

My Dear Mrs. Casisty:

I was very much distressed to learn from Mr. Leadbetter of Mr. Casisty's death.

May I express to you my sympathy for you and the family in your great loss. I know nothing can be said or done to help you bear your sorrow, but I want you to know my thoughts are with you all during this great trial.

I feel a good friend has left me with Mr. Casisty's passing away. For many years we had very close business associations that ripened into a friendship and mutual confidence in each other that I will always remember. He was a good and honest man. What more can one say.
Very sincerely,

Mrs. S. S. Casisty,
Morehead, Kentucky.
My Dear Mrs. Casisty:

I have just learned of your great loss and I am so sorry. Please accept our deepest sympathy for yourself and family.

I know by experience how futile words are. No matter how hard we try, we never can express our feelings.

A good man has gone—one the public at large will miss—one who ever stood for the right and condemned the wrong. Though our acquaintance with Mr. Casisty was slight, we felt that through the columns of the clean, interesting paper he edited we had grown to know him as a personal friend. As such we mourn his loss.

Very sincerely yours,
Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Manning
May God bless and help you.

LAST MEETING THIS SUMMER

The last meeting of the Rowan County Woman's Club until September was held in the parlors of the Baptist church Tuesday afternoon of last week.

The Civics Department of the club had charge of the meeting, and gave a party in honor of Mrs. Graves, who is leaving town before the next meeting.

Miss Louise Hunt and Miss Meta Redwine each read a group of delightful poems, and Mrs. Sam Caudill sang "Farewell to Thee."

Mrs. Clarence Nickell, on behalf of the Club, presented Mrs. Graves with a basket of cut flowers, as a slight token of the love and esteem in which she is held by the members of the club.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of tea and sherbert and angel food cake, were served to about thirty-six guests.

DEATH OF MRS. FULTZ

Mrs. Elizabeth (Thomas) Fultz, wife of James Fultz, age 54, died at Wheelersburg, Ohio, on the 7th and was buried there, leaving her husband and eight children to mourn the loss of a good wife and mother. She was the eldest daughter of the late Frank Thomas, of Rowan county. She has a brother and two sisters living in this county, to wit: James Thomas, Mrs. Kate Hamilton and Mrs. Mayme Pelfrey, the only living children of a family of nine. James Thomas, her brother, of this county and Frank Fultz and wife, of Carter county attended the funeral and burial. There was a very large crowd at the funeral, which attested the high esteem in which she was held by her friends and neighbors.

NEW YORK TO PARIS WITHOUT A STOP
Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, the young American aviator who hopped off from New York Friday morning all alone in his monoplane arrived in Paris Saturday, safe and sound, as every one hoped he would.
The sandy-haired son of the middle west dropped down out of the darkness at Le Bourget flying field, a few miles from Paris, at 10:21 o'clock (5:21 p. m. New York time) only 33 1/2 hours after leaving Long Island—the first man in history to go from New York to Paris without changing his seat.
To the young American it was seemingly more the achievement of an ambition. To Paris, to France—to America—to the world—his landing made the greatest of heroes mankind has produced since the air became a means of travel.
The youthful Lindbergh, who piloted a "blind" plane with a periscope, made his way across the Atlantic with a precision a veteran navigator of great ocean vessels might well envy.
"Well, here we are," was what he had to say. "I am very happy."
A crowd of at least 25,000 surrounded his plane. "The Spirit of St. Louis," when it came to earth after its epochal voyage from the new world to the old. The airman was lifted from the seat where for two days and a night he sat fixed guiding his plane over land and sea, and for 40 minutes he was hardly able to talk or do anything else, except let himself be carried along by a mass of men, made delicious with joy at his achievement.
Then a vast flood of spectators broke over the field and surged around the plane. Hundreds tried to get the boy on their shoulder.

RAISES STANDARD OF LIVING

"Within the past 40 years, the people of the United States have come to use the telephone for neighborhood and for distant communications to an extent that no other people understands," says the Gainesville, Texas, Register.

"The telephone service is an es-

"This industry seeks greater efficiency and fuller cooperation with the people it serves. To that end it wants the people of every community to become fully acquainted with how it works, its objects in community building and in individual service."

WINTER DAIRYING FOR BUTTER PRODUCTION IS INCREASING

A number of important changes in the production of dairy products during the period from 1917 to 1925 have been noted by T. R. Firtle, dairy market specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture. One of these changes of importance to the milk producer is the decrease in creamery butter production of 79.2 per cent during the period. Only 17.8 per cent of the total milk production of the United States was used in the manufacture of creamery butter in 1917, whereas the amount was increased to 25.54 per cent in 1925.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the seasonal trend of creamery butter production has varied during the period. If the year is divided into two parts, namely, the feeding season (November to April, inclusive) and the grass season (May to October, inclusive) it appears that the trend has been toward an increased production of butter during the winter feeding season. In 1917 the proportion of creamery butter made in the feeding season was 36.1 per cent and in the grass season 63.9 per cent. In 1925 the production in the feeding season had increased to 39.9 per cent of the total output, leaving 60.1 per cent for the grass season.

These figures indicate that winter dairying for butter production is increasing. There was a sound reason for this change, says Mr. Firtle. In Minnesota, for example, the average price of a balanced ration sufficient to produce a pound of butter in 1917 was 24.96 cents, and in 1925, 21.6 cents. The average price of 92 score butter in New York in 1917 was 42.7 cents per pound. In 1925 it was 45.3 cents. The feed cost had decreased 13.5 per cent while the price of butter increased 6.1 per cent for these two years.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR WOMEN IN INDUSTRIES

Paul F. Deitch, president of a large candy company, Bloomington, Ill., recently, in an address before a large group of women, called attention to the opportunities in industry for the women and girls who have neither the money nor the time to put into equipment for a professional career. A visitor to the plant of a large Kentucky industry the other day was impressed by the fact that the average wage paid was over $18.00 per week—and this for work done by ordinary trained craftswomen. One girl, 20 years of age, in charge of a machine, said the week previously she drew $27.50 for her work. "Of course, we do not always have such good weeks, but we keep constantly on the job and if the work is here and the machine keeps in good order, that is about the usual pay each of us in this department makes."

FARMING "LOOKS UP" IN GREEN COUNTY

The cow, the sow and the hen are rescuing agriculture in Green county, in spite of the poor yield and low price of tobacco, according to a survey of conditions, made by County Agent J. H. Atkinson.

"The cashier of the Peoples Bank of Greensburg stated that the general financial condition of the agricultural population of the county is as good as it has been at any time in recent years," said Mr. Atkinson. "This is the fact in spite of the tobacco situation. Such a year as last year, if it had happened three years ago, would almost have caused a panic in the county.

"The increased volume of poultry, swine and dairy products sales have been responsible in replacing the loss of income from tobacco. Managers of the two local produce houses stated that the quality of live poultry has improved 50 per cent in the last two years. They also said that they do not get a fourth as many second quality eggs as they did two years ago.

"Five purebred Jersey bulls were placed in Green county during April. Three foundation net-cows and 16 junior club heifers have also been brought into the county this spring."

ATTENTION DISABLED VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR!

All veterans of the World War who were wounded, gassed, injured or disabled in line of duty while in the military or naval service between the dates of April 6, 1917 and July 2, 1921 and who received honorable discharges whether over-seas or not, who desire valuable assistance in securing compensation or increase in what they are now receiving, can now do so through the State Headquarters of the Disabled Veterans of the World War at Lexington, Kentucky.

A number of disabled veterans of the state, among the number being Sergeant Willie Sandlin, Kentucky's only native born Medal of Honor Veteran of the World War, who single-handed killed twenty four of the enemy in one day, having since the first of the year organized the Disabled Veterans of the State into a strong body and expect to assist every veteran that asks for help.

On Friday and Saturday, June 10th and 11th, a State Convention will be held in Lexington to which all disabled veterans in Kentucky are invited. Several wealthy friends of the veterans have guaranteed the funds to entertain the crowd.

Every disabled veteran of the World War should at once write State Headquarters of Disabled Veterans, Lexington, Kentucky giving names addresses and state kind of assistance needed, which will be furnished absolutely free.

THE GARDEN

Mexican Bean Beetle Control By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The Mexican bean beetle need hold on terrors for the gardener or farmer who will observe the following rules:

- Begin Early
- Begin control just as soon as the First Sign Of Injury, the angular holes between the veins of the leaves, is seen. The first few beetles are not important in themselves, but each may become the parent of 300 to 500 hungry children.

Special Apparatus Use dusters or sprayers with UP-TURNED NOZZLES to spread the material on the UNDERSIDES of the leaves where the beetles feed. The beetles do not eat through the top.

Proper Materials Use dusts or sprays that leave NO LEAF BURNING after effects. Of the many combinations tried, the College of Agriculture recommends the following, as killing beetles and as being safe on bean foliage.

- Mexican bean beetle dust, made by mixing:
 - Calcium arsenate—1 pound.
 - Sulphur—1 pound.
 - Hydrated lime—4 pounds.
- A pound of dust will cover from 500 to 600 feet row.
- Mexican bean beetle spray, made by mixing:
 - Magnesium arsenate—1 table-spoonful.
 - Water—1 gallon.
 - A gallon will spray 125 feet of row.

Which To Use Whether dust or spray depends on the type of the beans. The spray works on all bunch and pole beans; the dust is useful on pole beans, but works nicely on the bunch sorts. How often to dust or spray will depend on how thoroughly the work is done, and on how early begun. One time may do; generally two applications are needed and sometimes more.

Sunday school at the Bump Manning school house is progressing nicely with large attendance and good order so far.

Vester Stevens left for Ashland and Portsmouth May 17.

Isaac Butcher and Jim Stevens went to Sandy, fishing Tuesday and had very bad luck but caught a large ground hog as they returned home.

Vansant-Combs

Charles Vansant and Fanny Combs were married May 6, at the Methodist parsonage in Morehead by the pastor, R. C. Thomas. Charley is a son of Rev. J. H. and Mrs. Vansant, of Sandy Hook, where he spent his boyhood days and where he is loved and respected by all who know him. He has been with the Fordson Coal Co., at McVey, Ky., for some time, where he holds an important position. Miss Combs is a lovely and accomplished young lady, a daughter of Mrs. Henry Combs, of McVey. She is, and has been, a teacher in the public schools, having taught at McVey for the past three years since she graduated from high school and will teach at the same place this year. She won many friends during her pleasant stay at Sandy Hook by her pleasant manners and genuine kindness toward all. They returned to McVey the 14th, where they will make their home. Their many friends wish them success and great happiness.

30,000 TREES PLANTED

The spring demand for trees from the state forest nursery, indicates that Kentuckians are rapidly realizing the wisdom of reforesting idle land and the benefits of planting trees along our highways and on public property. Spring orders were for more than 48,000 trees as compared with only 12,000 trees ordered last year at the same period. Black locust was most popular with the orders totaling over 21,000 trees. However, the demand was greater than the supply by over 10,000 trees in this species, and the total number of trees of all species delivered was just over 30,000. Other species planted were red oak, white oak, ash, catalpa and tulip poplar. In all about 30 plantations were established in various parts of the state. These will serve as practical demonstrations through the coming years. Interest in highway plantings also carried the demand considerably beyond the supply of desirable trees. Only ten schools took advantage of the opportunity to secure the very reasonably priced trees. However, it is expected that Arbor Day will be observed this coming fall and that the schools will then plant many trees.

NEW REAL ESTATE AGENCY

The Powers-Miller Insurance Agency will, in the near future, extend their business to cover all real-estate transactions—buying, selling, exchanging, etc. These are live wires and should make a success in the real-estate business as they have in insurance.

THE COAL OIL LAMP GOES WITH THE SOAP-BOX ORATOR

We know that electricity is in its infancy. Experts are employed to perfect and try out new apparatus and every few months some new use is found for electricity.

But electric light and power plants can be established and maintained at great cost. If the capitalists did not furnish the money to erect them, the men of genius would not be able to give to the world the benefits of their genius.

Back in the days of the coal oil lamp and the mule-drawn street car much prejudice existed against the man known as a capitalist. The soap-box orator was sure of "a hand" when he began to "sass out" the capitalists.

But the soap-box orator has gone the way of the coal oil lamp and the street car mule. Nobody pays any attention to him any more. The capitalist and the inventor became recognized assets, and the irresponsible spell-binder proved a failure. As a rule, time proves the worth or uselessness of things, animate and inanimate.

The wealth of the capitalist and the genius of the inventor combined have made possible the great power plants that send out that mysterious, invisible current that turns the wheels of industry, adds to the comfort of home and multiplies the blessings of mankind.

It is easy to imagine the chaos and discomfort that would result if the men who keep the great light and power plants running should suddenly cease their activities. We have become so accustomed to the benefits for which they are responsible that we enjoy these manifold blessings without giving thought to the systemized efforts of those who provide and scatter them.

"WHISKERY WINS DERBY"

Before a crowd of nearly 30,000 at Churchill Downs, the largest that ever saw a horse race in America, H. P. Whitney's Whiskery won the fifty-third running of the Kentucky Derby, Saturday the 14th.

A deafening roar went up from the dense throng when the blue Whitney silks flashed home in front for a great popular victory.

The time for the mile and a quarter was 2:05. The race was worth $51,025 net to the winner; $6,000 to the second horse; $3,000 to the third, and $1,000 to the one which finished fourth.

EDITOR S. S. CASSIDY

SUCCEDES SUDDENLY

Friends and relatives in Mt. Sterling were shocked Thursday at noon when news was received that Mr. S. S. Cassidy had died at his home in Morehead, following a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Cassidy was past 66 years of age, and he survived by his widow and several children, among them Mrs. Robert H. Turner, Mrs. Raliff P. Baird and Mr. John Cassidy of Mt. Sterling, to whom we offer our sympathy.

Mr. Cassidy was one of the best known newspaper men in all Kentucky. He was for some time connected with the Sentinel-Democrat many years ago and later embarked in the newspaper field for himself in Mt. Sterling, but later moved to Morehead. About one year ago he started the Mountain Scorcher and had built up a live newspaper. Mr. Cassidy was a fearless writer and stood at all time for what he believed to be the right thing, even though it cost him many a dollar. His loyalty was never questioned and white men differed with him on matters of interest. Mr. Cassidy always kept the respect of everyone.

For almost twenty-five years Mr.

Conscientious, uncompromising but tender and kind. Sam Cassidy, as he was familiarly known to his friends, will be missed in his city, his home and his church. May the air of the mountains which he loved ever blow softly o'er his grave.—Sentinel-Democrat.
