FROM ROWAN COUNTY.

Arrival in the City of Judge Carey and Sheriff Humphrey.

Everything Quiet at Morehead and the Recent Enemies Now Friendly.

Judge James F. Carey and Sheriff W. C.
Humphrey arrived in the city from Morehead last evening. They are representatives of the Martin or Republican faction, whose quarrel with the Tolivers has caused so much trouble in Rowan county. They are stopping at Alexander's Hotel, where they were seen by a reporter soon after their arrival.

"Things are quiet in Rowan now," said the Judge. "Mr. Humphrey came in from Carter county this morning, but he didn't ride through the streets with a double-barrelled shot-gun, as I was stated in one of your afternoon papers. He came in quietly on the train and at once signed the peace agreement left by Gen. Castlemann, Craig Toliver, Jeff Bowling, ex-Sheriff Day and Dr.
Wilson, the main men on the other side, were at the depot and shook hands as friendly as could be when Mr. Humphrey got off.

"The reason we came here was partly because I promised Gen. Castlemann that I would bring Mr. Humphrey, and partly because of a little hitch in the arrangements. It was agreed that the Sheriff should stand back for a while and let his deputy, Mr. Dillon, take his place until things quieted down.
Mr. Dillon was willing at first, but now he thinks better of it, and so, the Sheriff has not resigned. Some people think he ought, so a new one could be appointed, but Dillon don't want the position now. Under these circumstances I judged it best to bring in Gen. Castlemann as what we'd better do.

Immediately after coming to the hotel Judge Carey sent a note to the General's residence, but he was not at home at the time, and as he did not return until late, no conference was held last night.

Sheriff Humphrey informed the reporter that he was as anxious for peace as any one. He is a small man, but looks like he is not the one to back down before anybody. He says he and the Judge are both anxious to have the law settle the matter. He signed Ed.
Pearce's name to the agreement as well as his own.

"I brought Pearce with me from Carter county," said he, "because I didn't think it safe to come back by myself. He is not an ex-Sheriff, but he has been standing up for some time.
He had a watch-case of that pattern which has half a dozen
set around a ring center, and some papers,
the usual things of the kind, and some silver. It had also a watch-key of
set around a ring center, and some papers,
the usual things of the kind.
Judge Carey met with a piece of bad luck on his way here, or soon after his arrival.
He lost his pocket-book, he thinks, on the train, but did not miss it till he had reached the hotel. It was a leather purse, and contains three hundred dollars in silver. He had a watch-case of
set around a ring center, and some papers,
the usual things of the kind.

The Judge was naturally annoyed by the loss, and will liberally reward any one returning it to Alexander's Hotel.
