Historical Information: The University Breckinridge School was established in 1924 as a laboratory school for teachers attending Morehead State Normal School (presently Morehead State University). The Robert J. Breckinridge Training School was relocated to a newly constructed three story building in 1930 and remained in operation until 1982. The training school later became Breckinridge Hall and currently serves as office and classroom space for the Communication, Media, and Leadership Studies Department of the University.

Scope and Content: Collection consist of class registers of the University Breckinridge School, a teachers training school of Morehead State University, from 1929 to 1955. Some of the class registers contain the name of student, town and county of residence, date of birth, occupation of parent, religion and class photographs. Included with the class registers are correspondence from school director, student handbooks, school polices and a self-study conducted in 1969.
