NEGRO KNOWN HERE

Lays Claim To A Large Tract of 300 Acres in Elliott County

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.—Jesse Walker, an aged darkey, and reported half brother of "Taller Dick" Combs, once accused of assassinating William Goebel, falls heir to 300 acres of valuable land in Elliott County and several hundred dollars worth of personal property through a decision of the court of Appeals which established his relationship as brother of Richard Watson, who died intestate and possessor of this property in 1909.

Two sets of claimants to the estate presented themselves, all claiming to be the brothers and sisters of Watson, and neither group in any way related to the other. They entered suit and the Elliott circuit court decided for neither one, but on appeal, the Court of appeals decided that one set of claimants had not established their relations, leaving the question as to Walker open.

He has established his claim in the face of remarkable obstacles, growing out of slavery conditions and the court in remanding the case for judgment, gave notice to bring other members of the family into court before the estate is distributed.

The family takes its name of John Walker, whose slaves they were. Jesse Walker, father of the claimant and of Richard Watson, first married Aleck Combs, who bore him "Taller Dick" and a son named Jesse, but they took the name of Combs because their mother was owned by a man named Combs. Thus there was another Dick and another Jesse, sons of this same father, to add to the confusion.

Long before the war father and mother and all their progeny excepting Jesse Walker, the claimant, were scattered through Virginia Tennessee and Kentucky. Jesse, then a child, was given by Walker to his son, and carried into Carter County in 1850. He never saw any of his family again until he met his mother in Tennessee five years ago. She told him his brother Richard had been sold into Virginia and brought back into Elliott County. The original home of the Walkers was on Troublesome Creek, in what is now Knott County.

The original bill of sale for Richard Walker was discovered among the family papers of the Walkers and witnesses were brought in who corroborated the statements of the claimants and traced the family tree for that generation conclusively, in spite of the confusion of names.

The above which reads like a romance, is now going around the Associated Press, and is all facts. The Richard Watson mentioned was one of the very few negroes residing in Elliott County. Jesse Walker, who is a well respected negro, has lived at Soldier, in Carter County, most all his life (this being an adjoining county to the one in which the man lived in whom it has been proven was his full brother. Attorney D. M. Howerton, who was then only beginning to practice, took charge of the case for Walker and established all the proof in the now noted case, that has won for Walker and his sister the thousands left by their brother. He, however had the assistance of a patent Attorney on the final appeal. He is now a member of the firm of Kinser & Howerton of Cattleburg.

The Sign of the Switch

Morganfield, Ky., Feb. 17.—James Lee, one of the most prominent members of the Stemming District Tobacco Association in this county, found a lot of switches at his door to-day with a note attached warning him to resign at once from the county board of the Association.

During the recent troubles over the sale of the Stemming district pool, Lee had been one of the most active in urging that the law be upheld at all hazards, and at the meeting Saturday in Morganfield he was one of those who worked hard to have the county union vote in favor of selling the pooled tobacco at the buyer's price.

The measure passed defines trusts and prohibits agreements for the purpose of promoting a monopoly. It makes a violation of the law a misdemeanor, an offense that is punishable either by fine or imprisonment or both.

If Mr. Wilson will just bear those thoughts in mind during the coming four years he will be called a greater doctor of national ills than many of his predecessors.

HAIL COLUMBIA to pay now! The Burns delegates broke into the West Virginia state pasture and took in charge five of the state's choicest lambs. The senate is trying to elect a United States Senator and the word was passed that money was afloat as an influential factor in the election. Detectives were put on the job and in a short time arrests of legislators were made. A special grand jury has been called and wholesale arrests in connection with the bribery charges are expected.

William Seymour Edwards is classed as a Progressive Democrat. The legislators arrested are charged with influencing other members to vote for Edwards, and some denounce the arrests as a political trick to injure Mr. Edwards in his race for U. S. Senator, as he was counted a most probable winner.

Never in the history of Carter County has the need been felt more keenly for clean, qualified men as county officers than is felt at this time. The demand is for men with enough backbone, principle, respect for their trust and for the confidence upon them, when elected to office, to not submit to the rules and lash restrictions of the old party machine bosses. We have them, and us Carterites have had some experience along that line. Every man interested in the betterment of the county—in a financial and economic way especially—should give attention to the doings of the day as caperers Carter, and get in the parade for honest, trusty, capable officials in office. Good men in office is the foundation of good government.

Of course, it's natural, that everybody thinks they live in the best town on earth, if it's their home town; but this may, and most probably is not true in a great many instances, but, for a town full of loyal, generous, big-hearted business folk—and citizens as well—Olive Hill would certainly be hard to beat. Yet even these could add to their splendid traits some lacking good quality, as few human beings are perfect. But when you talk with a business or professional man and he readily takes some interest in your own interest and shows some concern for your success in a venture—like building a newspaper—it certainly makes a fellow feel "bully." Such was our experience last week when we made a roundup of the best business of town and out of the even 21 solicited only three failed to respond. A newspaper is the best and widest representative a town can employ, and a wide-awake business party appreciates the fact that a good representative is worthy his hire. Every business should be represented among the advertisements of our newspaper and let outsiders see what there is in Olive Hill.

WORK OF THE GIRL GARDENERS

They Raise Tomatoes While the Boys Raise Corn.
HAVE CANNING CLUBS TOO.

The Splendid Movement Was Started by a Strong Minded Teacher and a Few Pioneering Parents—Mary Rogers, Who Canned 238 Quarts.

The farmer's wife had been exclaiming the display, for corn at the Boys' Corn show. At length she looked up and asked in a puzzled and hazy manner: "How about our girls? You have Boys' Corn clubs. What is there for the girls to do? There must be something."

Corn growing contests for the boys in our rural schools are comparatively new, but they are a great success. Girls' Tomato Canning clubs are still newer, but they, too, are a success. In less than four years the membership in the Girls' Tomato Canning club has reached the splendid total of 27,000. All working under directions from the government and scattered all over the United States. In these contests each girl must grow one-tenth of an acre of tomatoes and strive to can the greatest possible amount of the fruit.

Although the Boys' Corn club is three years old in Kentucky we believe this year is the first for the Girls' Canning club. Last spring, when Jefferson county organized its Boys' Corn and Tomato club, it also organized a Girls' Canning club and offered some very substantial prizes. The season was an unfortunate one, and those having the work in charge did not at first realize that it was not only a matter of growing and harvesting a crop, but also a matter of manufacturing the crop into a marketable commodity. Nevertheless, the club marks the beginning of a very good beginning at that.

One strong teacher at a small, dilapidated schoolhouse ten miles from the city was the prime factor in this beginning. The second factor was a strong mother who had the ability to see and understand the educational value of the work for her child. That child was Mary Rogers, whose clear gray eyes spell an ability to hold fast to what she undertakes.

"Yes, it was awfully hot part of last summer," she replied to the questions put to her, "but I had made up my mind to win if I could."
"Lots and lots of my tomatoes rotted because of the rain," she continued, "and then we ate a great many too. I bought my plants, and they began bearing about the 1st of August, so I had six weeks' canning. Yes; that was hotter than the patch, because I did the work over a week longer. Next year I think we'll get one of those ten dollar canning outfits. You know, you can use them out in the yard under the shade of a tree if you want to."

"Yes; I'm going to be in the tomato club next year, if they have one. Oh, I'm only thirteen, so I have several years more in the club. I forgot to tell you that I canned 238 quarts. I have had a good many offers for some of them, but I've gotten the prize, which is quite large. We will eat most of them at home."

Mamie Belle Shepherd, who was the winner of the second prize, tried to grow her own plants, but for that reason got a very late start in canning her crop.

Commissioner of Agriculture Wilson in his late report wrote the following: "From a department with 2,444 employees in 1897 and an appropriation of $6,372,000 it has increased to 15,358 employees at the beginning of the present fiscal year, with an appropriation this year of almost $28,000,000."

"Whereas there are now $2,000,000 reserved every week for department publications, there were but $500 in 1897, and during this period 22,000,000 copies have been published."

Progressives to Meet.

Marion, Ky., Feb. 13.—A call was issued yesterday by the Progressive voters of this county for a meeting Saturday, February 22, at 1 p. m., in the court house here to ascertain what the wishes of the voters of the party are in regard to placing a Progressive county ticket in the field this fall. The Progressives polled about 360 votes in this county in the last election, cutting a large enough figure to make themselves an important factor in the county election to be held this fall. Their meeting, therefore will be watched with interest by all the parties here. The normal Republican majority was, before the disruption of that party, about 400. Last year they carried the county by about 130. County elections have been much closer, and the Democrats have frequently elected officers.

Questionable Doings at Ashland.

A man giving his name as William E. Dean and claiming to be from Louisville, is behind the bars in the city jail, charged with robbing J. D. York, of Olive Hill.

York came to this city Monday to visit a niece. He claims he met Dean in a saloon, and after having had several drinks together, went to the Arlington Hotel, York being intoxicated. Dean registered for both giving the names of Smith and Perkins. York claims he was doped, and the next morning his watch and $7.50 in cash were gone. Dean was out early next morning and went into Schilling's saloon, and there he met Ryan Darby, also of Olive Hill. Darby said something about work, when the stranger remarked: "If you had any brains you could do without work." He asked Darby to go with him to his room at the hotel for a few moments, as he had to go there on business. When in the room, he said: "Be quiet, or you will awaken that man"—and at the same time handed him a watch and said: "You can keep it." By this time York raised his head and Darby recognized him. They were both suspicious of Dean, and Darby went to Police headquarters and turned over the watch and notified the police of what had happened.

Policeman Layne went looking for Dean and found him near the Hotel Ventura on 13th street. In the police court when searched he had about $2.50 on his person, and claimed to be innocent of the charges, but he will be held for trial.

York is now at the Arlington, where he will be for a few days.

Later—The stranger giving his name as Dean was released at 11 o'clock today, as it was claimed there was not sufficient evidence against him. The watch was turned over to York. Just after Dean was released, a reporter of the Independent called York at the Florentine hotel and, though still under the influence of dope, York was firm in his belief that Dean was the guilty party, and, realizing his plight, said, "Now, who was the worst, he or I?"

Dean, it seems is an entire stranger in the city, and York claims he had never seen him until he came to Ashland last Monday.—Friday Ashland Independent.

Examining Trial of Bailey's Slay.

The examining trial of Newt Arnold, who killed Attorney Harry Bailey at Cynthia Jan. 27 was held before County Judge T. E. King there Wednesday.

The prisoner, who was taken to Lexington for safe-keeping on the day of the shooting, was taken to Cynthia Wednesday morning in an automobile. A large crowd packed the court house to hear the evidence, but the prisoner did not testify and his story will not be heard until his trial in circuit court.

Luther Ammerman seems to be the chief witness against Arnold. He testified as follows: Harry Bailey was standing talking to Arnold when I first noticed them.

What first drew my attention, I heard Mr. Arnold speak a trifle loud, and I looked up, the first I noticed of him. I heard Harry say, "No, I never." Arnold said, "By God, I know you did!" Harry says, "Newt, we won't have any trouble" and with that Harry started up the street. Newt says, "You damned"—I will get you for that"—and with that Harry turns and walks back and they both struck at one another and I think two kicks passed and then they clapped and shoved against the plate glass sherry near as far as the door there and kinda came down and then Mr. Arnold kinder rose—

"I don't know whether Harry hit him or shoved him—Harry kinda toward the sidewalk. Harry

The city of Washington is shaded by 100,787 trees, according to the report of Treasurer Latham, superintendent of trees and parkings of the District of Columbia, submitted to the commissioners.

The report states that 3,224 trees were planted during the last five years and 3,406 removed, making a net gain of 6,630 trees. The city of Washington has many shade trees and many more will be planted in the future.

We neglected to mention last week the narrow escape from a probable serious accident, of Miss Laura Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woods, who is attending Oxford College at Oxford, O. She, together with a party of seventeen other girl students were coasting, when the coaster crashed into a pole, seriously injuring, the entire coasting party more or less, with one exception. On this particular drive Miss Laura did not coast down, which most probably saved her an injury.

We want to furnish some reliable party at each post office, stationery and stamps for correspondence to the Progressive, one who will send each Tuesday, a budget of the happenings—especially births, deaths and marriages, of that neighborhood, and act as our agent to collect subscriptions, etc., on which we will allow a reasonable commission. Drop a card to this paper as soon as you read this and your supplies will be sent by next mail.

Cooksey's Store Broken Into

The store of B. H. Cooksey, on Railroad Street, was broken into Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The miscreants threw a couple of rocks through the rear door of the store, entered and took a few dimes from the cash drawer—$1.20 being all that was left on closing Saturday night. The burglary was not discovered until near noon Sunday. It is thought some boys are responsible for the act.

Mrs. Kate Hunter, of Willard, is visiting her sister, Mrs. O. H. Burley and other relatives.

SUFFRAGE PARADE

To Be Feature in Inaugural Ceremonies On March 4.

At two o'clock, Monday afternoon, March 3rd, a great woman suffrage parade will form in the plaza facing the Peace monument at the base of the capitol at Washington. At 3 o'clock sharp it will start, rain or shine. There is to be a great gathering of the women from all over the nation—from the nine States where women vote, and the thirty nine benighted states where they do not vote. There is a fair prospect that the women's parade on the 3rd of March will be more interesting to the throngs of visitors in Washington than the great parade of the next day. Long lines of men in silk hats may show the solid strength of the Democracy but they won't please the aesthetic sense as will women clad as heralds, mounted on their chargers and blowing golden trumpets, and in many other picturesque and varying costumes.

Mrs. Genevieve Stone, the wife of representative Stone of Illinois, is the "organizer of delegations from the States," and she expects a large delegation from Kentucky. Mrs. Breckenridge, the State president, asks that all Kentucky women who can march in the parade communicate right away with the procession committee, 1420 F. Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. Contributions may also be sent to Miss Edna M. Gillett, at the same address. Mrs. A. W. Wiley, of the hospitality committee 924 17th street can arrange dormitory accommodations for parties at $2.00 a night without meals.

The state legislature of Montana has passed a bill to submit a woman suffrage amendment. With only two dissenting votes in each house. If the rest of the people are so unanimous—and a unanimous legislature is a fairly reliable straw as to the way public opinion is blowing—Montana will soon have joined the goodly company of Colorado, Wyoming, Washington, Idaho, California, Utah, Arizona and Kansas, the free States.

A bill to submit a constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women is up before the legislature of Tennessee. The southern states are not always to be at the tail end of the procession.
