A MOREHEAD BOY MADE GOOD

If the plans now underway by a small group of serious minded men, motordom can look forward to the launching of a salesmen's association which will take its place in the automotive field along with the many other splendid organizations to which the motor industry has given rise.

A series of luncheon meetings held by representative salesmen of the National Capital is chiefly responsible for the launching of this newest co-operative movement in the automotive industry.

These weekly meetings grew up out of a need which the salesmen felt for some forum through which an interchange of helpful ideas would be possible. They were spontaneous and because they filled a definite need they attracted the attention of a number of the most representative Washington salesmen.

So successful were these meetings in the achievement of the purposes which motivated them, that some months ago conversations were begun which led to definite steps toward the formation of a national organization which would give to salesmen the country over similar advantages and which would be the natural outgrowth of co-operation on a wider scale.

In order to carry out their plan, these salesmen appointed one of their number, Philip E. Banfield, born and raised in Morehead, a veteran in the Washington automotive field, to take the preliminary steps which would bring the thought close to definite realization. The name selected for the new organization is the National Automotive Salesmen's Association.

Present plans call for the establishment of permanent headquarters in Washington, D. C. Those sponsoring the endeavor feel that such an organization will bring to the automotive salesmen of the country a triple assistance through a free interchange of plans, ideas and methods. The underlying thought is to be one of mutual co-operation and helpfulness, and it is emphatically asserted, it is not to be a union in the generally accepted sense of the term.

It is the hope of the sponsors that the organization will assume a position in the automotive field along with the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the American Automobile Association, the National Automobile Dealers Association, the Automotive Equipment Association and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

THIS IS A TRUE FISH STORY
Oscar McKenzie, of Coswell brook, took to town Wednesday a cat fish that weighed 26 and one-half pounds. Messrs Sam C. Caudill and H. B. Tolliver, of the Morehead Grocery bought the fish. This is the biggest fish story we've heard in Morehead in this year. Perhaps Rowan county this year. Perhaps the Editor Daily of the Flemingburg Times Democrat or Editor Allen, of the Cynthiana Democrat have heard of bigger fish this year.

WILSON-LANE

The marriage of Miss Lucy Wilson and Mr. Clark Lane took place Tuesday at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Caudill. Dr. P. C. Burton performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Lane has been the director of Athletics for women at the Morehead State Normal for the past three years. She is a graduate of the State University at Lexington and is a very popular young lady.

Mr. Lane is from Mt. Sterling and is the son of Judge J. W. Lane. For the past few years he has been connected with the business office of the State Normal. Both these young people have many friends who wish them much happiness during their life together.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for a motor trip to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Charley Flora, a well known stock buyer of Elliott county, was found dead last Thursday morning, August 11th near Bear Town in Elliott county. A search was instituted and Mr. Flora was led to the place where Mr. Flora lay dead by the howling of his dog. The cliff he had fallen over was sixty-two feet ledge.

The neighbors said she had heard the dog howling since the Sunday before. It is not known how Mr. Flora came to fall over the cliff but it is supposed he lost his way and got off the regular road. The body was badly decomposed.

KIWANIS CLUB

A discussion of the school system of Rowan county constituted the program for the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Monday evening in the parlors of the Baptist church. The program was in charge of Supt. Harlan Powers, and Capt. Ezra Proctor, the former making the principal address. Mr. Powers stated that the 1926 school census showed 2,400 boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 18, and there were employed in the schools of the county seventy-six teachers. A number of schools have suffered in remote sections because of the consequent shrinkage of attendance in some districts, which resulted in other sections in congested conditions when these people moved into such districts. One instance was cited where enrollment was 51 last year, and 71 this year. For maintenance of Rowan county's schools this year there is available between $55,000 and $60,000. The salary schedule of this county starts with a minimum of $60.00 and due allowances with corresponding additions to salary are made for high school and college credits which the teachers may have or in other words adequate compensation is paid for professional training. The average salary for the county would approximate $75. Supt. Powers said the County School Board also employs a Truant Officer who when giving full time to his duties receives $90.00 per month. It was pointed out that where the teachers are really efficient, truant officers are unnecessary as there will be no effort to avoid attendance. One great difficulty has been, according to the speaker, that the trustee's selection of a teacher in his school district was final, whereas by a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, the trustee now recommends, and the final selection is left to the Board. In making recommendations for the future, Mr. Powers said that the Educational Survey is being planned. Involving a study of the needs of the schools, and the type of work being done, and the results of such a survey will be of great benefit to the patrons. A Sanitary Survey is already in progress, which should result in a great improvement in physical conditions. There is also a great field for development in the co-operation of the schools with a County Agent which would result in a great benefit to both the parents and the children. Too many parents look upon schools as simply a place to put their children when they are not working at home, and when they don't want to be bothered with them, instead of realizing what wonderful opportunities lie open to these children through comprehensive school work, said Mr. Powers in closing, further stating that the Education of our children is Rowan county's biggest business.

Dr. H. L. Nickell, following the above address, urged the employment of a Public Health Nurse and pointed out that if we could make their sympathy during our recent bereavement in the loss of our husband and father.

PROGRESSIVENESS
The beautiful shade trees along some of the principal streets of Morehead are in much danger of being cut down to give way to the progress of the city. We are a friend to the trees and believe wherever one can be left alone without marring the beauty of the town, it should be done. What is better along any street or highway than the Maple shade trees, which it has taken years to grow? We are not saying this because we have trees which we would like to keep, but show us a town without trees and we will wager it is a town without beauty.

Many a man keeps his nose to the grindstone so that this wife can turn hers up at the neighbors.

INDISPENSABLE TO BUSINESS "Advertising pays"

That enterprising declaration is questioned by no one informed in the history of business and commercial development. It is a statement of fact, obvious and indisputable.

Quality and service have built vast commercial and industrial situations, but with their handmaid advertising and their institutions have been built in far less time and at far less cost. Advertising brings buyers and quality service and advantageous price keep them.

One can point to several automobile manufacturers who use their exceptional success in selling a better car, but no one would better advertising than their competitors. And several manufacturers have learned too late that success in this line industry depends upon more than making a good car.

It is significant that the names of those products whose copyrighted names are synonymous with the product itself have all been large-scale advertisers. Making a better mousetrap wasn't enough. Just a few illustrations are the Kodak, Victrola, Uneda, Biscuit, Planola, Steinway, Coca Cola, Keds and Parker Pen.

Advertising helped these products make a name for themselves. What these famous national advertisers have accomplished for the trade names of their products has been done by merchants for their business names. Advertising has made one store synonymous with clothing, another with furniture, another with meats and groceries, and another with music.

In every business and community there is some far-seeing and enterprising manufacturer or merchant who raises his product and business name above the common level by making advertising work for him.

FARM LIFE IS DIFFERENT

The farmer knows that life in the country has not always been the idyllic existence country-hungry city folks have pictured it. Only the "new farmer" can not remember the struggle against nature and the days of sun-up to sun-down toil once the lot of men and women on the farm. The modern farm is as unlike its antecedents as the modern factory is unlike its prototype and as the modern city home is unlike the home of two decades ago.

On the farm today are found the automobile, tractor, telephone, electric lights and power, milking machines, harvesting and planting machinery performing several operations simultaneously, the radio, the household comforts and conveniences of this city home and even leisure and recreation. The prodigious son wouldn't know the old farm if he returned today after an absence of two decades.

True it is that some farmers still employ primitive methods of agriculture and refuse to be able to emancipate themselves from their slavery to the soil by adopting labor-saving devices. And it is just as true that agriculturists as a class have been slow to adopt modern methods.

The time is not long past when "unfenced notions" were exceedingly distrusted on the farm. The "old way" was good enough for the fathers and what was good enough for the fathers was good enough for the sons. Success in the management of the farm. It was not vanity nor ostentatious wheel, cause of food farmers to scoff at scientific methods in those days. The best of farmers sincerely believed they could get out of the soil what they could get out of it, one's own.

The change on the farm has been coming short of a revolutionary and the revolutionists have been the men and women who for generations had stubbornly resisted change and impeded progress.

CARBON-PAPER INSERTER TIME IN OFFICE WORK

To simplify the task of inserting a sheet of carbon paper between printed forms and receipts, an insurance company has devised an apparatus which does the work at the rate of 4,000 sets an hour, equivalent to the performance of six girls, says Paper Mechanics Magazine. The carbon is fed from a roll, automatically cut to the required size and inserted between the forms. Varying thicknesses of stock can be used, and the outfit is adapted to different weights and sizes of paper. A feed device prevents clogging.

A recent survey showed that 600 Carlisle county farmers are selling milk or cream. This is an increase of 1,000 percent in four years, according to County Agent L. C. Pace. There has been a large increase in the number of well-bred cows in the county and in the use of pure-bred bulls. Six thousand acres of Japan clover was sown last spring, and many farmers are growing soybeans and cowpeas.

NOTED AUTHOR DEAD

James Oliver Curwood, author and noted conservationist, died at his home in Orono, Mich., Saturday after an illness resulting from streptococcus infection, which had confined him to his bed since last Saturday.

Death came to the noted writer of stories of the North Woods at his home, "Curwood Castle," after a desperate battle against the infection that steadily sapped his strength. In an effort to stay the ravages of the infection two specialists from the Henry Ford Hospital at Detroit were rushed by airplane to the Curwood home and a daughter, Mrs. Antonio P. NO CITY CAN MOVE FORWARD WITHOUT A CONSISTENT STEADY BUILDING PROGRAM —AND A SPIRIT OF CO OPERATION THAT GETS THINGS DONE

Your Electric Light and Power System is the most faithful servant in the community. Its hours are long—24 a day—and it works for less than any other servant.

It is the silent partner of industry—furnishing economical and efficient light, heat and power and saves endless hours of labor and countless dollars of expense.

In the home, it cooks, sweeps, sews, washes, irons and assists in many other ways—particularly lessening the burden on the housewife—and makes the home more cheerful with pleasant and healthful light.

It works in the school and church—helps the police guard against crime and protect our property.

It is most democratic—responds whether the button is pushed by mechanic or magnates.

BAYS

E. O. Bays died Tuesday with heart drops at his home at Farmers. Mr. Bays was raised in Morgan county and was 57 years old. He followed the carpenter's trade for many years. He was a true Christian gentleman, honest in his dealings with his fellow men. He, with his family, moved to Morehead a few years ago, but his health got bad and he built him a home at Farmers where he hoped the rest and quiet would help him.

Mr. Bays joined the Christian church in early manhood and had always been true to his faith. He was married to Miss Elsie Masey, the daughter of Rev. Rainey Masey of Morgan county who, with one daughter, Mrs. Cleo Bayborn survive him. He is also survived by four brothers and two sisters, James, Granville, Tom and Ed, all of Morgan county, Mrs. O. R. Wise of Tiffin, Ohio and Mrs. Mollie Dixon of Hazard.

Funeral services were held at the Christian church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. Paader, pastor of the church there, and Rev. Callahan, who is conducting a revival meeting at the church here, followed in the Carey cemetery near Farmers. We deeply sympathize with the wife and daughter in this, their darkest hour.

JACOBS-RUHL

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Clara Clarice Jacobs, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Jacobs, of Moorefield, and Mr. Joe Kendall Ruhl, of Morning Glory. The young couple were married at the office of Judge George Batterton, in Paris, May 21, 1927. Miss Jacobs taught in the primary department of the school last year. Mr. and Mrs. Ruhl will make their home in Rayton, O. Mrs. Ruhl was a former student of Morehead State Normal. She is the sister of Miss Mary and Orville Jacobs who attended school here last year.

Petit jury, No. 2. Mrs. G. W. Pritchard, Mrs. Joe Redwine, A. M. Day, Charles Candill, Willis Auster, Hiram Clegg, Ballard Norman, Sam Blair, H. L. Conley, Tom Henry Lewis, Ora James and Bob Johnson.

OBEY THE STOP SIGNS

The city council did a wise thing when they had the "stop" signs put up over town, but from general observations it isn't always obeyed by the drivers of automobiles or trucks. This is the law of the city and a good one, too. Everybody should have respect enough for the law to obey it. Be who it may, no one would think of going to come other town and driving by the stop signs. Why do it here? Stop and maybe save the life of your neighbor or your neighbor's child.

GONE TO HOUSEKEEPING

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Blair have gone to housekeeping in their new home on Main street, which has been undergoing repairs for some time.

H. L. LINK HERE IN INTEREST OF COUNTY AGENT

Prof. H. C. Hazan and H. F. Link have been out in the county this week to see the farmers about placing a county agent for Rowan county. The mountain counties of Kentucky, which have the agents are well pleased and have found them to be of an invaluable help to them in their farming.

SELECTED TEACHERS

Dr. F. C. Huston attended the meeting of the Board of Directors for the Morehead State Normal School, at Frankfort Monday. The entire faculty of the school with the exception of Prof. Groves and Nickell, who had previously resigned to accept places elsewhere, were elected for the term of 1927-28 school year. This is very pleasing to the citizens of Morehead for no finer people have ever come among us to live than these teachers.

THE FAIR

It used to be, "Are you going to the Fair in some distant city?" but now it is, "Are you going to the Fair in Morehead on October 7 and 8?" The question is being asked all over the county and much enthusiasm is being manifested in the fair this year especially among the farmers of the county. All one has to do is travel out one of the roads leading from Morehead and he is asked the question several times before he travels many miles. Crops are being carefully watched so that the winner can be selected. Good judgement is being used as never before for one knows that in competition the flaws must be carefully eliminated to defeat a rival.

Now is the time to get in all the cases and all things in cake baking for when the time comes to get the cakes, doughnuts, candies, etc. ready for the fair, nothing must be found wanting in the cabinet. The stove must be tested out to ascertain the proper temperature for certain kinds of cake and bread baking. A knowledge of these often determines the winner.

The man who the house and yard set out if he comes home and finds dinner a little late for probably the wife has been getting something ready for the needle work stags. There are few men but who do not admire stylish things made with the needle and how much better a meal tastes when the table is dorned with the little fancy work. Rowan county showed last year that she can excel in this line of work.

There will be no objection in giving over larger space to care for an increased display of any kind of product. The children of the rural schools should be encouraged to bring their things ready. There will be many things of interest to them. New clothes for the doll can be made for there will be prizes on the best dressed doll, Aprons and dresses will be given for their share. Specimens of drawings, poster making in beath, map drawing of Rowan county farm products and too many things to mention at this time.

A great time is expected at the Fair. Old friends will be met that have been absent for a long time. New friends will be made for exhibiting in a friendly spirit always builds for the betterment of the community interests and spirit. Plan now to make the fair better than last year and make it a credit to the community. It can be done.
