POETRY.

From the Diffusionist.
ADVERTISEMENT EXTRAORDINARY.
Immediately wanted, a youth about twenty, in Buffalo people assure me they're plenty, Or whom, if he'll not and then bear admittance. A husband I'll make him with all expedition; And, to show that most serious is my intention, A few indispensable here I shall mention. I'm indifferent to height, so he's perfectly straight, But perhaps should prefer him about five feet eight, Well proportioned and muscular, walking with ease, Adding Belvidere's grace with the strength of Hercules.

The Fine Horse, SINGLETON.

A COLT of the celebrated Ripel of New York, reached my residence a few weeks since, and will stand the ensuing season in Flemingsburg, or its vicinity. He will be exhibited at Washington, Sharpsburg, and other places in this county, in due time. Those wishing to breed from so fine a horse, will find it to their interest to see him before they make engagements—as I have no hesitancy in saying, that in point of blood, his appearance, and performance on the turf, he is superior to any horse we have ever bred from, north of Licking river, and inferior to none in the State. For pedigree and performance, see bills in due time. DANIEL ROGELAN. March 2, 1888. 19-4

PERFORMANCES.

MAY, 1880, over the BUCCOCK COURSE, at Lexington, two mile heats, Buck-Elk, four years old, in two heats, beat Dr. Warfield's Rowens, by Sumpter, out of Lady Grey, and Mr. Blackburn's colt by Whip-Sure, month at Newport, two mile heats, shall not be charged with an unworthy design to undervalue his merit, when I express the opinion confidently entertained by me, that Buck-Elk was, on that occasion, said to have been the finest specimen of a Stallion. I trust I can now speak and read with ease and fluency.

ROBAL TAVERN,

CORNER OF FRONT AND MARKET STREETS, MAYSVILLE, KY.
Mrs. Judith Goddard,
(Late of the Washington Hotel.)
HAVING been compelled to give up the ROBAL TAVERN, she has succeeded in getting that old established house, known as the EAGLE TAVERN, (formerly in the occupancy of John T. Langhorne and since re-named by John S. Lippel, who she will at all times be pleased to see her old friends and other who may be disposed to favor her her custom. In taking leave of the stand she has so long occupied, she would not be unjust to her own feelings were she not to return grateful acknowledgments to those who have so kindly supported her for the last four years, and in asking a continuance of the favors which have been invariably extended to her she pledges herself to merit it. For the management of her present establishment she makes no promises, but referring to the past, vouches to assure all who may visit her house that no pains or expense shall be spared to keep her table at all times comfortable and agreeable. Her table will be supplied with every delicacy the market affords, and her BAR will be supplied with the choicest WINE and LIQUORS. 1-c
