HISTORY OF THE WOMEN OF FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH MOREHEAD KY

An early history by Miss Inez Faith Humphrey

Dear Mabel,

This paper is an explanation of the missionary society, if anyone ever needs it. Someone- maybe Mr. Ryle-asked me to write it. The gavel was handed to me by Mrs. Peratt, once upon a time. It belonged to the Missionary Society, so now it should belong to the CWF. It is made from some special wood. I've forgotten, but have written to ask Mrs. Peratt.

The Woman's Missionary Societies of the Christian Churches have been coming into existence from about 1874 to the present time. At first they were united in what was known as the C.W.B.M. (Christian Woman's Board of Missions) As such they developed a great many mission stations and fields all over the world, more than half of them in the United States.

We developed and supported all this work by our regular monthly offerings, and by special offerings in December and on Easter Sunday. The first Sunday in December became known as Woman's Day, and an attempt was made to acquaint the rest of the church with some of the needs of the world, and to let others besides members share in the offerings to support the work we were sponsoring, which grew to an annual budget of from $300,000 to $500,000. The Easter offering is for the same purpose.

In the United States we had schools for "mountain" people (the old Morehead Normal School was one; Hazel Green is the only one still supported by our offerings), for the negroes, and for the Indians. We had work among the Mexicans in Texas, the Chinese and Japanese on the West Coast, the Acadians in Louisiana, immigrants in New York and Pennsylvania, and among various groups in several cities, besides helping to support weak churches everywhere. (I believe that formerly the salary, or part of the salary, of the minister of the Morehead Church came from the C.W.B.M.

Obedying the command, "Go ye into all the world..." we established work in these other countries: Jamaica, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Paraguay, Argentina, Africa, China, Japan and the Philippines.

Once each month the women met the needs of the fields, what was being done, and what could be done to meet the needs. We still have these meetings and studies. Often a missionary society or a church undertook the support of a specific missionary and became known as a Living Link Church, the Missionary being the Living Link between the local church and a very needy field.

All kinds of work were done in the various fields. It would be impossible to mention all. Among them are schools of all kinds, from kindergarten to university; evangelist work; work in the homes; medical work and nursing; Bible schools and the training of native Christian workers.

In 1920, or about that time, several different organizations of the church were all united into the United Christian Missionary Society. That was a wise economic as well as deeply Christian move, for one set of officials and one or more buildings could be used for the ten or twelve organizations that were now united into one.

The women have kept their missionary meetings, studies, and offerings, and are still responsible, along with the rest of the church, for the work they began. In most places they have sponsored missionary education among the young people and children.

The Christian Women's Fellowship is a new way of unifying the women of the church in the work of the Lord's Kingdom. Some of our women are studying it's methods with a view to adopting them here.

For several years, the only missionary offerings from the Morehead Church, have gone through the missionary society. At times, specific missionary offerings have been taken in the congregation, but have been used for local expenses. We are always sure the money will go to the places for which it was intended when it goes through the missionary society.

We do not believe that women alone should be responsible, nor that they should have a monopoly of the missionary interest, knowledge, inspiration, prayers, and participation; hence we have tried to share these with the entire church.

If there are better plans we shall be glad to share them.

These statements are only a drop in the ocean of information concerning the fascinating work that is being done throughout the world. If we could have done enough, soon enough, we would never have had the World Wars.
