ROWAN CIRCUIT COURT OPENS MARCH SESSION ON MONDAY WITH NUMBER OF PENAL SENTENCES

Juries Receive Instructions From Judge Henry A. Prewitt and Return Number of Indictments First Day—Six Are Sentenced to Penitentiary First Two Days—Many Other Important Cases To Be Tried This Term

The March term of the Rowan Circuit Court opened on Monday morning of this week with His Honor, Judge Henry A. Prewitt on the bench. The morning was occupied with the formalities of opening the court, selecting the petit and grand juries and with Judge Prewitt's instructions. One of the features of his instructions was the stress laid on the indictment of habitual gossipers. Judge Prewitt failed to mention delinquency in the payment of dog taxes. He scored violators of the prohibition law and asked that the Grand Jury again make a thorough examination and report on the expenditures of the Fiscal Court and the County Board of Education, to learn if either of them had exceeded their budget.

The Court settled down to earnest work Monday afternoon and a number of important cases were disposed of by Tuesday night. A record of the Rowan Court was established when three were convicted and given penitentiary sentences Tuesday.

Those following cases have already been tried and disposed of:

Day:—Allen Stegall—Stealing from a Common Carrier. Sentenced to one year in penitentiary.
Sam Lemaster—Stealing from a Common Carrier. One year in the penitentiary.
Seelye—Drunk. $25.00

Many Plans For Lights Are Suggested

Following the circulation of the petition last week pledging the signers to deduct 25 percent from their February light bills, and to do the same each month until a satisfactory reduction was agreed upon with the Kentucky Power and Light Company, the question of light and power rates has been the one all-absorbing topic of conversation and discussion in Morehead. Many plans have been suggested and out of them all it is hoped to finally and in a comparatively short time to develop one that will have the proper and desired effect of giving Morehead a rate that is comparable to that in other neighboring cities drawing their current from the same source.

One suggestion that is being given consideration is a petition asking the City Council to offer a franchise for sale for the sale and distribution of current. It is believed that the franchise of the Kentucky Power and Light Company has nullified itself, if the council desires to force the issue. At any rate it is not and could not be by law an exclusive franchise and the council is permitted to sell as many as they may deem necessary to protect the interests of citizens. If it is decided to do this, there is little doubt but that the petition will receive the signatures of a vast majority of the citizens of current in this city. It is reliably reported that, if the franchise is sold, there are already at least two men who are anxious to purchase the franchise who will furnish the city with current at a much lower rate than is at present in force.

Still another suggestion that is receiving considerable support is the idea of building a municipal plant, on the plans offered by Fairbanks-Morris or the Diesel Engine Company. According to this plan, as outlined, either of these companies offers to build a plant and system at their own expense and to maintain and operate it for a period of years. A fair rate will be charged for current and out of the gross receipts the operating expenses will be paid. After paying these operating expenses, the balance, or profits will be applied to the cost of the plant plus a fair rate of interest. At the time when the profits have paid the cost of the investment plus the interest the plant will be turned over to the city. In other words either company will agree to build and operate the plant and when it has paid for itself turn it over without additional cost other than a fair rate of interest. This is only a brief outline of the plan as it has been worked in other places.

Another plan suggested is that a petition will be drawn and signed for submission to the authorities of the Kentucky Utilities Company, asking a reduction of 33 1-3 percent under the current rates. A reduction in rates of almost that sum was recently granted to Mt. Sterling consumers and it is felt that what is fair in one community is fair in another, especially when the current is all produced at the same source.

Consideration is being given to all suggestions that have been made with a view to developing the best plan and the one most likely to obtain with every user of current wants, lower rates for the current used, and rates more in line with the price of other commodities.

In the meantime any further suggestions will be welcomed. The important thing in the minds of the citizens is that the action of last has made people anxious for the problem.

SIDNEY HOLLIS HAS BROKEN ARM

Prof. and Mrs. E. V. Hollis drove to Lexington Friday to bring home their son Sidney who had been taken there the previous week suffering from a badly fractured arm sustained while playing in the gymnasium at the college. While under the anesthetic, the doctors also removed his tonsils. He is at present recovering nicely.

MIKE FLOOD HAS DINNER PARTY

Mr. V. D. Flood entertained at dinner at his home on the Midland Trail Tuesday night at dinner in honor of Judge Henry R. Prewitt and Commonwealth's Attorney W. C. Hamilton. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock. Following dinner a delightful hour was spent in conversation. Other guests were County Attorney J. W. Riley, E. Hogge and Jack Wilson.

Amazons Win For Class A Girls District

The Amazons came through the district basketball tournament at Olive Hill last Saturday, but it was a sad day for the Vikings and their backers, when, after a brilliant victory over Olive Hill Friday night the boys lost their mental grip on the situation in the game against Grayson Saturday afternoon and lost after a hectic session that had the big crowd on its feet, yelling, sobbing shouting itself hoarse and actually crying, as the game went to two overtime periods before Grayson finally grabbed a lead and held it to win the contest, against a team that has had nothing but bad breaks throughout the season, a team that was conceded by unbiased officials to be twenty points better than any team in the tournament, a team that in spite of their defeat placed two men on the all-tournament team, had another placed, but withdrawn to make room for a man from another team, and had every man on the team mentioned by one of more officials as worthy of a berth. Some record for a loser in a tournament.

As a matter of fact Grayson did not defeat the Vikings. They were defeated Friday night within five minutes of the winning of the Olive Hill contest, when the most regrettable accident occurred, that marred the tournament and put a dampener on the spirits of not only Morehead fans but on every fan in the entire section, the accident that resulted in the nearly fatal injury to Prof. D. M. Holbrook, father of Coach Roy E. Holbrook of the Morehead teams. The mental strain and worry of knowing that "Pappy's" father was lying at Death's door was the final touch that broke down the morale of the Vikings and caused them to lose the game. Of course, it is easy to say that if they had done this or that they would have won. But, after all basketball more than any other sport is a mental game and if the mind is in control the body acts automatically.

Far be it from us to detract in the least from Grayson's victory. They defeated a team that by the minds of every fan in attendance was from fifteen to twenty points better than any team in the tournament and deserve credit for their fight. That however does not alter the fact that Paul Jenkins of Ashland breathed a sigh of relief when the Kings were defeated. Paul was there to observe Morehead and was like everybody else surprised when the upset came.

The tournament opened Friday morning with a battle between Sandy Hook and Soldier which the Soldier boys took handily. Grayson girls won the right to meet Morehead Amazons in a battle staged Friday afternoon. The Haldeman boys defeated Hichins in a walk in the afternoon session.

Friday night saw what was the largest crowd of the tournament on hand to witness the contest between the Haldeman Blue Belles and the Hichins lassies. The Belles showed their tournament class by defeating the Hichins team by a top heavy score.

Morehead Club Meeting Monday

The Morehead Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Grace Ford on Monday night of this week, with Grace Ford, Mrs. Hartley Battsom, Mrs. T. J. Trumble, Mrs. M. P. Davis and Miss Elizabeth Davis as hostesses. Twenty seven members and three guests were present.

The business session was devoted to the election of officers, with all the old officers being reelected. The officers for the coming year are: Mrs. J. H. Payne, president; Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill, vice president; Mrs. Lester Hogge secretary; Mrs. G. C. Nickell, recording secretary; Mrs. H. C. Willett, treasurer.

Mrs. D. M. Holbrook chairman of the garden department had charge of the program but due to her unavoidable absence, Mrs. Payne introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. B. Oldham of Mt. Sterling, who gave an interesting talk on "Flower Gardens."

The meeting was then turned over to the hostesses who introduced the Spirit of S. Patrick in a series of potato games. Four Irish girls sang Irish songs. A delicious (so the guests politely said) lunch was served carrying out the St. Patrick idea and color scheme.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. E. V. Hollis, Mrs. Lee Oppenheimer and Mrs. A. B. Oldham of Mt. Sterling.

ENTERTAIN AT ST. PATRICK BRIDGE

Misses Margaret and Mary Alice Calvert entertained their bridge club Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Ernest Jayne with twelve members and four guests present. The home was beautifully decorated in St. Patrick colors and shamrocks and lighted with green candles. Prizes were awarded at the close of play, Miss Elizabeth Nickell, high score, and Mrs. Everett Bell second high.

Delicious refreshments which again carried out the color scheme were served.

Regional Meet Starts Friday

The drawing for position in the Regional Tournament to be held in Ashland this week was held on Sunday afternoon with Roy Holbrook absent due to his presence in Lexington at the bedside of his father.

In the Class A girls division in which the Morehead Amazons are to take part, they drew Russell's Red Angels and will meet them on Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

The winners of the two games will meet Saturday morning at 9:00 a. m. in the Class A finals. In the Class B division Ovingville meets Haldeman at 9:00 a. m. Friday morning. Raeland meets Camargo at 3:00 p. m. Friday. The winners meet Saturday morning at 8:00 a. m. in the Class final. Winners of Class A and Class B meet Saturday night at 7:30 in the tournament final, the winner this year going to the state tournament the following week.

Professor D. M. Holbrook died at 2:00 a. m. Thursday morning as the result of injuries sustained on Friday night of last week.

Coming as a complete shock to citizens of Morehead, was the news of the serious accident which resulted in the fatal injury of Prof. D. M. Holbrook at Olive Hill Friday night. The accident occurred when a motor cycle ridden by a Camifax boy crashed into Prof. Holbrook as he was walking down the hill from the high school gymnasium where he had just witnessed his son's team win an exciting game of basketball from the Olive Hill Comets.

Prof. Holbrook was so seriously injured that he was immediately hurried by ambulance to Lexington where he was placed in St. Joseph's hospital under the charge of Dr. Bullock.

A number of versions of the happen in which the accident occurred have been given all of them by eye witnesses, Prof. Holbrook and Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill, with whom he had gone to the game, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Holbrook and family, were walking down the hill from the scene discussing the fine game they had just witnessed. Mrs. Caudill says that she glanced up and saw nothing, then went on across the street toward their car. As she got across she turned to say something to Prof. Holbrook and found that he was no longer at her side. Others say that they had just come down the hill on a man remarking to another and referring to Prof. Holbrook, that "there is a man who is really prof tonight" when he saw the professor step from behind a parked car and into the path of the motorcycle which was coming from toward Grayson.

The crowd which had been so happy but a moment before was plunged into consternation and dismay. A crowd bent on celebrating, became a crowd of mourners, as the extent of his injuries became known. Prof. Holbrook suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and a concussion in the top of the head. It was believed for some time that he could not survive his injuries. He was rushed to Lexington immediately where he was put under the care of Dr. Bullock.

Following two days of hopeful indications, Professor Holbrook suffered a relapse and sinking spell on Tuesday afternoon from which he failed to rally, finally sinking in to a coma and passing peacefully away at 2:00 o'clock Thursday morning. The remains were brought to came when the Vikings and Comets took the floor. Olive Hill has a good team and for the first half the play was as exciting as one could wish. At the half the Vikings led by a three point margin and were never headed. The last half was an exhibition of basketball as it should be played and is played by a great little team. Crip shot won the victory over long shots. McGill and Tyree, crack Olive Hill guards were held without points. Fred Caudill covered himself with glory and won the highest praise from both referee and umpire by the masterly way in which he handled the team. Tatum, Miles, Robinson and Trumbo all came in for a full measure of the credit. They were conceded the tournament by 90 per cent of the fans.

TOURNAMENT

Saturday morning Haldeman defeated the Soldier girls to win the B Class final in the girls division. The Amazons won over the Gray county girls to cop the A Class and the right to meet Haldeman in the finals. The game was marked by the number of fouls called on both of the teams several players going out and a total of 37 being called to establish a record.

Saturday afternoon the Soldier boys created considerable excitement by leading the Haldeman team the first quarter by playing them so close throughout the game that it was uncomfortable at all times. The game ended with the Leopards holding a four point lead after four quarters of up-and-down football that whetted the appetite for that which was to come.

And then came the Deluge. And the Viking ship was sunk, but not with all on board. The sympathy of the crowd was with them. If rosters could win they would have won, but why go over it again. It is still fresh in the minds of those who saw it.

Grayson and Haldeman met in the finals, which are always an anticlimax. Grayson, played to death by the losing Vikings, was dead on their feet. and the Leopard defeated them handily. The Amazons Haldeman was equally uninterested particularly in the first half. The games had no effect on the Class representatives. The high lights of the tournament were the Olive Hill Vikings encounter, the Soldier Haldeman go and above all the big game, the high point of the play in the Viking-Grayson meleé.

Taken all together the tournament was one of the best and most interesting ever attended. It was perfectly managed by Hubert Counts, an assurance that it would be conducted right. Professor Blakey, principal of the Olive Hill school was courtesy itself. Bill Scroggie, coach of the Olive Hill teams was everywhere ready to do anything to make visitors comfortable.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the tournament was the high type of officiating furnished by Mr. Hanson of Lexington and Mr. Kerits of Wesleyan. Both officials were in complete control of every game at all times. Naturally their decisions did not escape criticism, but it was without doubt the best refereeing as a whole that has been observed in a long time. The result was that the games were kept clean. Both Mr. Kerits and Mr. Hanson are to be congratulated on the type of officiating they gave. There could be no question, even among those who did not agree on some few decisions but that they called them as they saw them, regardless of team or effect. It was the type of officiating that leaves a good taste in the fan's mouth and sends them away satisfied.

Morehead girls and Grayson boys will represent the district in the A Class at Ashland, while the two Haldeman teams will represent the B Class. It came near being an all-Rowan county finals.

On Tuesday Judge Prewitt also appointed his new Jury Commissioners for the year. They are Lester Blair; H. L. Wilson and Jerry Fletcher. Their duty is to select the names of those who may be called for jury service during the next year.

While it is impossible to tell at the present time how rapidly the court will move, it is expected that the session will consume the rest of this week and all of next.

A number of important cases are set for trial at this time. The trial of Mrs. Hilda Pultz for the murder of her husband last fall is due to go on trial today (Thursday). The case of Bert Biggs charged with the murder of William Kilgore is also set down for today.

deman meets Webbville in the first game at 11:00 a. m. Raceland in the other half of the B Class meets Carmargo at 4:00 p. m. Friday. In the A Class Ashland and Mt. Sterling tangle at 7:00 p. m. Friday while final session of the first round on Friday night at 8:00 p. m.

Ashland is slated in both the girls and boys division to carry off the tournament honors, both because the tournament is being played on their own floor and because they rate higher than the others in the tournament. Haldeman is expected to win the B Class without great effort and to go to the finals both girls and boys. The Haldeman boys, because of their early season game with the Tomcats are conceded to have a chance. The girls are not given as much encouragement from the dope, as they suffered a 36 to 18 defeat at the hands of the Kittens earlier in the season. Personally we believe that the girls have the better chance to come through. The Amazons meet Russell Friday afternoon and should defeat them. But after the games in the district Saturday, we have no faith in hope and but little in judgment.

Morehead will certainly turn out a good crowd to watch their girls perform in the regional and a larger crowd to watch them play the Kittens, in case they win Friday afternoon.

HEALTH in the HOME

Practical Studies for Wives and Mothers

By Dr. ERNEST H. LIMES

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

MANY wives and mothers do not realize to what a great extent they have it in their power to control the health and, therefore, the success, happiness, and longevity of their husbands and children. Good health is the principal source of physical energy, and the mind and body are so interdependent, the one upon the other, that our mental energy also, depends greatly upon the state of our health.

People who are full of vitality are usually cheerful and happy. Happiness, in fact, is an end to health. Moreover, since good health depends on our physical and mental energies, one of the best ways of preparing ourselves for success is to keep our bodies fit at all times.

Many men, women and children are lacking in cheerfulness or are sluggish, languid, irritable, or depressed, simply because they are ill, or, at least, are not of good physical condition. Restore them to health, their spirits rise and they display more energy and interest in their work and in life in general. The husband's energy and fitness, the efficient work, the children's ability to attend school regularly and do well in their studies are at stake. Many a child, considered dull in school and at home, has really been (physically) incapacitated by malnutrition or by some undiagnosed physical impairment.

When a woman, favorably or unfavorably, has her habits of living, according as they are good or bad, in great part, these habits of living are habits of preference for certain kinds of food, for certain methods of cooking, for proper or improper ventilation, suitable or unsuitable clothing, as well as her hygiene or unhygienic ways in the care of the body.

With an elementary knowledge of hygiene, wives and mothers can regulate the home life along lines that will help greatly to establish right habits of living and thus improve the health of the family and prevent accidents and much illness. They should know something about foods and their values and the advantages of sunlight, fresh air, ventilation, proper clothing, cleanliness, exercise, sleep and rest.

Prevention of disease depends largely on properly applied knowledge of these factors:

If by attention to the simple rules of right living she can train her charges, husband and children, to keep up to the mark physically, the wife, or mother, will find for herself, rest, peace of mind and happiness that will amply compensate her for the effort she has made.

QUESTIONS:

All wives and mothers should be able to answer these questions: "If my husband and children are usually a cheerful one? How many times a week should I help my husband and children in good health? What are some of the principal habits of living that affect health?"

This is the first of a series of 12 articles to be published in the H. W. News. The second will be on Light and Ventilation.

Bluegrass, by proper soil treatment, may be made to grow well in all parts of Kentucky, thinks Prof. E. J. Kinney of the college of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. He points out that the experiment station, by applying limestone and phosphate, has obtained good stands of bluegrass on its soil fields in western and southern Kentucky. In some instances it grew as well as it does in the bluegrass region of the state. As a rule the soil outside the bluegrass region must be treated with limestone and phosphate.

Prof. Kinney suggests that farmers who would like to have bluegrass pastures, especially those who have limed their land, include a few pounds of bluegrass seed in their pasture mixtures. This spring, it should be understood that two or three years are required for bluegrass to become established, and therefore it should be sown on fields that can be left in pasture for some time. For less permanent pasture, orchard grass is more practical than bluegrass.

Spring seeding should be made in February or March. Sow 10 to 15 pounds to the acre, adding 4 or 5 pounds of red clover. Lespedeza can be used, if desired. Outside the bluegrass region redtop and lespedeza make a good mixture with bluegrass. On limed land a few pounds of sweet clover or red clover may be added.

Bluegrass is the ideal grass for lawns, golf courses and public parks. In seeding such areas, use 50 to 60 pounds to the acre, together with 8 to 10 pounds of redtop and five pounds of white clover.

DAIRY

L. R. Jones, a Bourbon county dairy farmer, told the recent Farm and Home Convention at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky how he made money last year, despite lower milk prices. He did it by building up production and reducing feed cost. After three years of keeping records, culling out low producing cows and careful feeding, he made more money last year than in previous years, even the milk centripices had dropped 63 cents per 100 pounds.

Mr. Jones began dairying in the fall of 1927, losing money the first year. He then joined a dairy herd improvement association and began to keep records and to feed according to production. In the year 1928-1929 his 25 cows averaged 225 lbs. of butterfat per cow. The following year his herd of 24 cows averaged 281 pounds of fat and produced 38,000 pounds more milk than 25 cows had the previous year.

In the testing year of 1930-31 the Jones herd, now reduced to 20 cows averaged 361 pounds of butterfat and produced a total of 185,904 pounds of milk compared to a production of 176,523 pounds of milk obtained from 24 cows the previous year.

During the three years that Mr. Jones has been keeping records the price of milk has dropped 25 percent or 63 cents per hundred pounds, and yet his income above feed costs for each cow was greater the last year than in any preceding year.

Prevailing prices of milk will not pay a dairyman whose herd does not produce well, he declared. Besides high production, the feed cost must be kept down and each cow must be fed according to her capacity to return cheap milk.

EARLY POTATOES

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Potato planting time is coming apace. In fact, some gardeners here and there may have already planted their early potatoes. For these this discussion is obviously too late for the rank and file of gardeners who raise potatoes, it is still in time.

The essentials for potato growing are: Good ground, capable of holding moisture, for potatoes are for the most part water a bountiful supply of plantfood, used in the proper manner; good seed planted in the right way, correct cultivation.

As for land, most gardens automatically provide it, for soil that as gardeners are, is well enough filled with humus to make it water-retentive. One thing remains, and that is to break as deeply as the soil permits. Ten inches is excellent but 12 inches, and even 14, is better. The larger the moisture reservoir the other things being equal, the better the crop will be.

With regard to plant food, even a highly manured garden needs it, if a maximum crop of potatoes is to be the result. Manure is excellent of itself, as far as it goes, but because manure is not a balanced plant food for potatoes, even heavy manuring is not enough. Manure contains a high proportion of nitrogen, because of this too much top growth may take place, with a light setting of tubers. Manure contains also a plentiful amount of phosphorus, but it lacks phosphorus in the amount to balance these two. If heavy manuring is done, it is conceivable that to apply phosphate would be to supply the three plant-foods in the proper proportion, but because the nitrogen in manure is in a slowly available form and because much of the success in potato growing lies in getting a thrifty plant quickly, it is wise to use a complete fertilizer of an analysis of about 2-12-6.

Heavy manuring is not particularly suggested for potatoes because of the danger from scab; at least the manure should not be fresh. Better, is to use well rotted manure, to furnish humus, and to depend entirely on fertilizer to feed the crop. A suitable analysis is 3-8-6, or 4-10-4. If fertilizer with 5 percent nitrogen, as for example, 5-10-5, is obtainable it is well worth while to use it.

All fertilizer should be used under the furrow, in this wise. The furrows should be laid off 4 or 5 inches deep unless the ground is extremely wet, and the fertilizer should be sowed in their bottoms, at the rate of 1 pound to 20 or 25 feet. Then a block or a chain should be dragged through, or a narrow bull-tongue may be used, to mix the fertilizer with the soil, but keep it in the bottom of the furrow, and then the seed pieces dropped, 12 to 18 inches apart. If planting is done before the likelihood of frosts or freezes is over, the seed should be covered with a slight ridge. If the weather is definitely warm, the furrows should be closed lightly, the balance of the soil dragged to the row in cultivating.

Better Feed Often Found Sole Need of Suffering Cattle

During the past winter the department of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, has been called upon to determine the cause of sickness and unthriftiness in several droves of feeding cattle. The number of sick animals and the losses were such as to lead to the belief that a serious infection was present. Examinations failed to show any disease that the trouble was due to improper feeding and to parasites.

In one instance 75 calves from shipped to market, sold through public market and turned on rather poor pasture. Most of the calves failed to do well, lost flesh, and developed a cough, nasal discharge and diarrhea. Postmortem examinations revealed slight infestation of lungworm and considerable pneumonia. When the calves were put on a ration of all the hay they would eat and a small amount of grain they soon showed improvement.

In another lot of 40 calves shipped in from the west many were sick and several died. Since early fall these calves had been fed corn stover and soybean hay. They had developed diarrhea and lost flesh. When the feed was changed to hay and grain they improved rapidly. Many were found infested with lice. In another group, in which many showed a loss of flesh and diarrhea was present, the animals were found to be heavily infested with parasites of the digestive tract.

In each of these instances the first thought was that the animal had a disease that could be controlled by vaccination. A study of the trouble, however, showed that it was caused by improper feeding, care and management. While parasites were present, yet the parasites in themselves were not altogether responsible for the condition of the calves. Feeder cattle under a year old, as a rule, cannot be carried through the winter on coarse, rough feed that may do for older cattle, feed of more easily digested roughage, and should have some grain.

Proper feeding, care and management and the control of parasites are often more important than the use of bacterins, serums and medical agents, declares Dr. W. W. Dimock, head of the department of animal pathology. This is particularly true of animals under a year old. The loss from death and the failure of animals to grow properly will cost more than will the feed required to properly balance the ration.

ASSISTANCE GIVEN IN FOOD PROBLEMS

Hundreds of Kentucky families last year were encouraged to provide larger supplies of home-grown food and to give more attention to the part that balanced feeding plays in health, through the educational work of the extension division of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky last year.

Working principally in the 31 counties having home demonstration agents and conducting canning demonstrations in a dozen additional counties, Miss Florence Tmly, college field agent in foods and nutrition influenced for the better the food habits in a large number of homes.

Statistics presented in her annual report show that 12,191 families in the regions in which she worked thods.

grew and used at least one new vegetable; 1,233 families planned a canning and storage budget in order to have a supply of home produced food for the winter, and 12,558 women improved their canning methods.

Culinary Jingles by Virginia Gibson..

A charming young lady named Bitters,
Said "Men are the hungriest critters;
"They'll toil half a life
"To provide for a wife,
"If she'll give them good hot cakes and fritters!"

HOT cakes provide heat and energy producing elements in abundance and are particularly delightful during the winter months. Since the coming of the electric waffle iron, however, waffles have come to the fore and one of the most interesting parties at this time of year is the waffle supper.

What more could one ask for a late supper than hot, golden brown waffles? Served with plenty of butter and maple syrup, and accompanied by luscious little sausages, they are justly popular. Truly a feast for a King and, accompanied by a piping hot dessert and coffee, capable of satisfying the most ravenous appetite!

Waffle supper parties are intimate affairs in which four's guests are limited to three or four congenial souls who will sit together for the common good. If sausages are to be served with the waffles, they must be prepared first and kept warm. The waffle iron will require the undivided attention of one person while one person is making waffles, and it is necessary to be very busy attending to the guests and coffee.

There are several ways of making a fine hot cake and fritter, but the following recipes calling for self-rising flour are most popular. Self-rising flour is especially prepared and pre-leavened for home baking purposes. Monocalcium phosphate, salt and bicarbonate of soda are mechanically blended with soft wheat flour and the consequent perfect balance of flour and leavening takes the uncertainty out of home baking. It's economical, too, since it saves the cost of baking powder.

Self-rising flour is time-saving as well, for it does away with selecting, measuring and mixing salt and leavening agents. Batter made with self-rising flour is quickly and easily prepared and all one need do to insure success is to follow directions.

Doughnuts
1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup self-rising flour
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the egg with the sugar; add the milk, flour, nutmeg, and vanilla. The dough should be as soft as can be handled. Roll 1/4 inch thick; cut with a dough cutter, and fry in a delicate brown in deep fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 minute. Drain on unglazed paper, and dust with confectioner's sugar.
Frying time 10 minutes.
Baking time 3 to 5 minutes.

Sour Cream Waffles
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup self-rising flour
1/2 cup milk

Beat the egg yolks, add sour cream, then sifted flour, combine well, add shortening, and lastly, beaten egg whites. If the dough is not thin enough to pour, add cold water or milk as needed to give the desired consistency. This amount makes three waffles. Fry in deep fat, when the iron is hot greased. With a griddle from the amount about 1/2 cup is left.
Frying time, 10 minutes.
Baking time, 2 to 3 minutes.

RUN-DOWN and WEAK

"I began taking Cardui when in a weakened, run-down condition," writes Mrs. F. S. Perrit, of Wesson, Miss. "I took one bottle, and I seemed to improve so much that I sent for six bottles. After I had taken the six bottles, I seemed entirely well.
"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared.
"I gave my daughter Cardui and it helped to relieve irregular..."
This medicine has been used for over 50 years.

Rowan County Club

One of the most interesting club meetings of the year at the Morehead Teachers College was that of the Rowan County Club which was held in the auditorium Friday afternoon, February 26. The purpose of this meeting was to reorganize the club for the present semester. Roy Cassidy presided at the meeting. The following officers were elected: Roy Cassidy, president; Charlotte Daley, vice president; Maxine Causeal secretary-treasurer. Miss Bishop and Mr. Lloyd were elected as club sponsors. No definite plans other than those for sports activities have been made for the future but a meeting will be held next week for the purpose of making plans.

The members of the club are conscious of the fact that as this is the county in which Morehead Teachers College is located it is their duty to make every student here regardless of their county, as happy as possible in this college town.

Several old members and many new ones were present at this meeting and many more are expected to join the ranks, thereby helping to make it the largest organized county club.

Radio as "Efficiency Expert" Proving Farmer's Friend Today

The radio is proving the farmer's "efficiency expert" in these times of adverse conditions in agriculture. Especially is this so since the introduction of the new type air cell receivers for use in homes not served with "wired" electricity. These sets eliminate the necessity for storage batteries and use an air cell battery for power which literally breathes oxygen from the air to maintain constant voltage over a long period. They are considered the final solution to satisfactory radio reception on farms. And so, while other industries have their efficiency experts, the farmer is literally "pulling advice out of this air" to solve his problems. down losses heretofore unavoidable, and the daily market now enables him to sell his produce to better advantage.

Professor Holbrook

Morehead Thursday afternoon and funeral arrangements were made. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The remains will lie in state in the auditorium at the State Teachers College from 1:00 o'clock Friday until the hour of the services, to be viewed the friends of the family. Burial will be in Lee Cemetery.

Probably no death in this community has come as a greater shock to the entire citizenship. The circumstances preceding Professor Holbrook's death, and the wide influence he has exerted during the past forty five years on the education of people in this section, combined to bring sincere sorrow into every home in this and surrounding counties.

Professor Holbrook was a useful citizen. His far-flung influence cannot be over estimated. He built schools when Elliott and Rowan counties had no schools. He taught the children of these counties when they were offered no other opportunity. He gave his life to the education of children, and children's children. He was a Mountain Educator in the real sense.

Professor Holbrook was loved by his friends, and had no real enemies. After the accident and during the illness that followed hundreds of these friends called and sent messages to the family, expressing the deep regrets and the hopes for a speedy recovery. Former pupils and the children of former pupils, were represented. Many drove miles to Lexington to inquire after him. It is these things that make the final attack really less grim and the final good-bye more easily repeated.

Not only Morehead and Rowan counties are grieved, but Elliott and Carter are mourning as well as all pupils and through them, his influence are scattered and living.
