

GRAND JURY IN FINAL REPORT TO COURT COMMENDS SPEED WITH WHICH JUSTICE IS METED OUT

Grand Jury Returns Eighty Indictment During Seven Day Session Most of Which Have Already Been Given Trial; Commend Chief of Police Adams For Excellent Work; Work Satisfactorily Done.

The following is the final report of the Grand Jury for the March Term of the Rowan Circuit Court on Wednesday afternoon, Hon. H. R. Prewitt, Circuit Judge Rowan County: Your Grand Jury for final report say:

We have been in session 7 days, and have presented in open court 80 indictments for violations of the law within the county.

We have had witnesses from most every section of the county, and in all instances where the evidence justified we reported true bills. We are impressed with and commend the position taken by this court in relation to expenditures of the county funds. This should be curtailed in all proper ways, and when an expenditure is made, it should be attended that full value is given therefor. The continuation of this plan will go far toward liquidating and paying all legal bills against the county; and we earnestly urge that unauthorized bills be not paid.

We find the officers whose duty it is to enforce the law are active and vigilant. We do feel however that in the disposition of all liquor cases in the lower courts, the defendant should be required to tell under oath the person or persons from whom he purchased the liquor and that prosecution should follow that disclosure.

We have examined the public buildings and find them in reasonably good condition.

We are greatly encouraged in our work by the diligent manner in which the cases are being carried in to trial, and it seems the juries are willing to convict when the case authorizing is presented. This will go far to deterring the violator and meets our hearty approval.

We find a great many people have not paid their dog tax license. It is our conclusion, that in view of the unusual condition of the times and the general hardship, that those people who own dogs have no more chance. To that end, we have attached hereto a list of those who have not paid their license tax and believe if this list or a copy thereof be furnished to the sheriff and that he either destroy the dog or collect the tax.

There are some who have been summoned to appear before our body, who have not, and we have a list hereto to be remembered that they be required to appear before the next regular Grand Jury.

The Chris Martin case, charged with seduction, together with the Jim Dean forgery and Claude Brown, et al., stealing turkeys, should be carried to the next Grand Jury for further investigation.

In the lower court, we think the report of the court should be in detail and show the name of the man married, the disposition of the case and the names of witnesses.

Some children are not kept in school by their parents. This should be looked after promptly.

We commend our Chief of Police Mr. J. H. Adams for the manner in which he is doing his duty.

Feeling that we have performed our duty, we respectfully submit this as our last and final report.

John W. Hyden, Foreman.

FIRE DESTROYS VENCILL HOUSE

Fire discovered Tuesday afternoon completely destroyed the residence in this city formerly occupied and still owned, according to reports, by Roy Vencill of Eldonport. The fire was entirely beyond control when the department arrived in response to the alarm. The fire was of unknown origin, as the house had been unoccupied for some time.

Ashland Teams Win Regional Tourney

Due to the untoward circumstance which arose last Friday but very few from Morehead attended the Regional Basketball tournament at Ashland where the Morehead girls were competing for Class A honors against Ashland and Russell. The Amazons under the direction of William Caudill, who was acting as the Amazon coach, won Friday afternoon from the Russell Red Angles. Friday night the Mt. Sterling boys lost to Ashland while Grayson won from Fullerton. The Haldeman boys defeated Webbville and the Blue Belles from Haldeman won over the Owingsville girls.

Raceland and Haldeman met in the class B boys finals after they had defeated Camargo boys. The Haldeman girls took the measure of the Camargo girls to win the Class B girls, Ashland overruled the Amazons in an affair that was too one-sided to be interesting to assure the Kittens of entrance into the final Saturday night.

"Under Frozen Skies" New Story

Our readers will find below the opening installment of our new serial story "Under Frozen Skies," a story of Alaska and the Yukon of great interest. We have been waiting for the right story to come before offering it to our readers. We believe that this new serial is one of the best we have ever published and that you will like it as well as we did.

"Smoke, old chum, there's something a-dit out there to the south." Ears pricked, the massive black-and-white husky raised slant eyes to the speaker.

Jim Stuart watched a distant object which regularly disappeared, and lift again on the white raft of the running.

Crossing the clearing, where the grass grew thickly among the brush to the group of white washed log buildings of the little fur post, he entered the trade house.

"Looks like a capsized canoe out there, Omar," he said to the broad-backed figure seated crosslegged on the floor shaping with a drawknife a slab of birch into a saddle.

"You're too bitter, Omar," said the facts of Sunset House. "We can't let men drown before our eyes even if they are from LeBlond's."

Stuart took his service binoculars. Crossing the clearing to the shore

Cozy To Show Comedy Roar

A stellar comedy trio, composed of Buster Keaton, Jimmy Durante, and Polly Moran does its share to succumb to the charms of a timing gigolo. Keaton as the willing but bungling plumber gets into one absurd situation after another. Charles Galore are promised from the moment the plumber soaked by his expert activities in the bathroom appears before the distraught heroine in nothing more than a towel, to the delicious episode in which, encouraged by Durante, he engages in his attempts to prevent the girl from succumbing to the charms of a timing gigolo.

IRENE WILLIAMS SHOOT'S SELF IN ARM

Irene Williams of Christy Creek, Ky., shot herself in the arm Tuesday afternoon, when she discharged a .38 Special, the bullet entering her left arm near the elbow and passing out at the back of her arm tearing a large hole. She was rushed to the Dr. Nickell Clinic here where she was examined and later sent to the pit at Lexington. It is thought she will lose her arm.

According to reports two shots were fired from the gun. Miss Williams is the daughter of Clarence Williams and is a cousin of Chester Williams who was seriously injured in an automobile accident on Tuesday.

Good Picture At Trimble

Next Sunday and Monday at the Trimble Theatre theatre goes will have an opportunity to see a new team of players Charles Farrell with winsome Marion Nixon in "After Tomorrow." Mr. Hoover, the manager of the Trimble saw this picture at a preview in Detroit last week and he says that we are going to be surprised and delighted with the way and the acting of this pair.

Farrell does the best work of his entire career, not excepting "Seven to Heaven" in which he was co-starred with Gayne, and Marion Nixon clearly demonstrates that she is a star of the first magnitude, in fact it is extremely doubtful if Janet Gaynor could have taken the feminine lead in this picture with the same surety that is evidenced in the work of Miss Nixon.

The play is laid in New York City, part of it being photographed in the towering Empire State building, the highest in the world, and it deals with the struggles of two young lovers to get enough laid by to make their marriage a possibility, despite the handicaps of mother who is afraid of losing her only son by the marriage and of Marion's father who is cheerful failure, these two pairs being screamingly played by Josephine Hull (what character she is!) and William Collier, Sr. Directed by Frank Borzage who made "Seventh Heaven" and "Bad Girl", this fine human drama of young love will delight all who see it.

Williams Boy Injured By Auto

Chester Williams, son of Andy Ouster injured on Tuesday afternoon when an automobile driven by Joe Smith crashed into him as he was crossing the intersection at the corner of Main Street and the boulevard. Smith who is a member of the fire department was responding to a fire alarm at the time of the accident.

A number of conflicting stories are told as to how the accident occurred. According to one story Smith accompanied by George Turner, both members of the fire department, and both employed at the S. M. Caudill Garage, heard the fire alarm and started to answer the call taking a Chevrolet car belonging to the garage. At the time they reached the intersection they were making about 40 miles per hour. Smith who was driving behind the horn down. One story relates that he ran a red light at the intersection. Another states that he did not run the light but that Williams was crossing on when given examination and hurried Williams had started across from

CROP LOAN BLANKS HAVE ARRIVED HERE

County Agent, W. L. Hoff reports that Federal Crop Loan application blanks have arrived and some farmers are making application for this money. The terms of these loans are about the same as last year, that is, crop mortgages secure the loan and the money is to be used for seed feed and fertilizer. The notes bear 5 and one half per cent interest. The need for these loans is not as great as a year ago because there is plenty of feed and some seed on most farms in Rowan county. Prices of these materials are much lower than they were twelve months ago, so liberal in granting loans this year. The loan office will probably not be year as they were last.

Flora Brothers Open Bakery

Quietly and unassumingly, the Morehead Bakery has reopened and judging from the progress the new management has been making since their reopening several weeks ago, it has reopened this time to stay if it support the owners receives approaches that which a local institution is entitled to.

The bakery is now under the ownership and management of Flora Brothers and, judging from reports is turning out a high quality of products that is winning friends and patrons daily.

There is little question but that this city can support a bakery as well or better than neighboring cities and towns. There is undoubtedly a large and growing market for bakery products here and other things being equal the local concern should be favored over others. There seems to be equally no reason why, if the products are equal, local merchants will not be glad to handle Morehead bakery products in preference to out of town concerns.

It is merely an application of the time worn slogan "Trade at Home" the slogan that is a favorite of every merchant when it is applied to his customers. But one very easily and often forgotten when it applies to the other fellow.

Professor D. M. Holbrook Buried Friday

Funeral services were held for Prof. D. M. Holbrook who died in St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington last Thursday morning as the result of injuries sustained the preceding Friday night, when a motor cycle crashed into him on Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Morehead State Teachers College where for the past 27 years he has been a teacher. Services were conducted by Dr. P. C. Button under whom the greater part of Prof. Holbrook's service was rendered. Rev. T. F. Lyons and Rev. W. H. Chappel. A group of twelve Morehead boys who were students and former pupils of Prof. Holbrook stood watch while the body lay in state for two hours preceding the service.

The quartet of the Church of God of which Prof. Holbrook was a member sang a hymn at the opening of the service, followed by a quartet from Ashland. Rev. Lyons led the prayer followed by a scripture reading by Rev. Chappel. Dr. Button delivered one of the most touching and beautiful talks ever heard here in which in simple language he drew a word picture of Prof. Holbrook's life and activities. He pictured him as a barefooted, worn filled with a thirst for knowledge and a desire to impart that knowledge to his own kind in the mountains. He told how this determination led him to the Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio, how he finished his work and returned to his home in Elliott county and built a school on his own land, and conducted it for several years. He was eventually called to service in the old Morehead Normal. He was the oldest in point of service on the present faculty.

"He first learned to pray and in later years to play," said Dr. Button "and after all, there is very little difference." He told how Prof. Holbrook followed the athletic fortunes of the college and High school teams living in them the things he had wanted to do in his youth but which circumstances had prevented his doing. "And he was playing the game which his son Roy's boys had just won when the accident which resulted in his death occurred."

Prof. Holbrook was laid to rest in Lee Cemetery. Prof. Holbrook is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lulu Hogge Holbrook, two sons, Roy and Albin, and four daughters, Mrs. Thelma Barron, Mrs. M. Sterling, Mrs. J. S. Shawhan of Aveland, and Mrs. M. J. McInnis of Morehead.
