8. Bookkeeping, Shorthand and typewriting are taught at moderate charge.

TO STUDENTS

It is strongly urged that all who contemplate entering school, do so on or before the opening day of the term. With enlarged facilities and an increasing corps of teachers, the Morehead Normal School again presents its claims to your attention. The present year is the best in its history. The prospects are bright for thoroughly successful work.

TO FRIENDS

Friends of education can be of great assistance to us by sending to us the names of young men and young women who are planning to go to school. If you know of any such young people, send in their names and addresses and we will send them catalogues and other information about the school.

A LAST WORD

A cordial welcome awaits all students. Committees of the old students will meet trains and show newcomers to the school grounds. Everything possible will be done for the student's pleasure and profit. For further information address the Principal of the Morehead Normal School, Morehead, Ky.

HISTORICAL

The Morehead Normal School was founded in 1887, with Mrs. Phoebe E. Button and F. C. Button as teachers, and with one pupil in attendance the first day. Each succeeding year has brought to the school a large measure of success. The liberality of Gen. William T. Withers, of Lexington, Ky., made the school possible; the generosity of Hon. T. F. Hargis, of Louisville, Ky., provided for the first school house and the grounds for all the buildings; a gift from Robert Hodson and wife of Oquawka, Ill., being the basis of a fund for the erection of a boarding hall. For thirteen years it was supported by the Kentucky Christian Missionary Convention. On July 31, 1900, it passed under the control of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. Under this new and competent management the buildings have been repaired and enlarged, the number of teachers has been increased, the courses of study have been strengthened and a new epoch in its history has begun.

LOCATION

Morehead, a growing city of 1,800 inhabitants in Eastern Kentucky is situated on the Lexington division of the C. & O. railroad, midway between Lexington and Ashland. Its beautiful and healthful situation makes it a favorable location for the school. During recent years a marked change for the better has come over the community. Lawlessness is a thing of the past, and Morehead because of its order and quiet has become the chosen residence city of many prosperous and cultured people.

The Student Young Men's Christian Association is gaining a strong foothold among the students. Under its auspices weekly religious services are held on Monday evening, and Bible classes at regular intervals during the week. A strong effort will be made to enlist all young men in this work.

The students' prayer meeting is held every Tuesday night at Hodson Hall. For several years the students have met regularly for this purpose and these meetings have been most memorable and uplifting. A very important and valuable work is being done by the students who conduct Sunday Schools in communities near by.

GENERAL REGULATIONS

At the very beginning of each term the students are assembled and informed in plain terms about the rules of the college against the use of tobacco and intoxicating drinks, possession of concealed weapons, employment of profane or indecent language and similar misconduct. No student is left in the dark as to the requirements of the school authorities. We have no printed list of ironclad regulations, because we have found that these frank meetings with the students, in which all questions of conduct and discipline are discussed on a lofty plane, secure and maintain better order and stricter compliance with our rules.

No student will be permitted to leave any grade or department until all studies are completed therein.

Discipline: Every effort will be made to place the student upon his honor, trusting that he will be so true to himself that he will live above wrong.

ADVANTAGES

1. Expenses are remarkably low.
2. The location of the school is famed for its healthfulness and beauty.
3. Students have access to a large and well selected

ies. During this period students are required to be in their own rooms and at work on their lessons for the next day. Nothing is allowed to interfere with this period of study. This rule prevents loitering about town in the evening and secures regular hours for retiring.

COST OF LIVING

For $2.00 per week we furnish board and room, fuel and light, and washing of bed and table linen. It is not possible to secure better rates than this elsewhere, when the quality of food and situation of rooms are considered. All our teachers and visitors share the students daily fare. We have no better advertisement than the one our dining room provides. Washing and incidental expenses can be kept within a reasonable figure.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Each dormitory student is required to furnish the following articles: two pillow slips; two sheets and a pair of blankets, also towels and napkins.

No student under fourteen years of age is admitted into the dormitories.

INCIDENTAL FEE

An incidental fee of $1.50 will be charged to all Dormitory students. This fee is to be used in repairing damages done to buildings, rooms or furniture. Said fee to be returned to students in case no damages occur for which they are directly or indirectly responsible.

RELIGIOUS DUTIES

All students are expected to attend public worship on Lord's day. There are four churches in town and pupils are free to attend the church of their choice. Daily morning devotional exercises are held in the school chapel in the presence of the whole school.

GROUNDS

There are one hundred and ninety acres of land belonging to the school. The grounds have been enlarged recently by the purchase of an adjoining tract of three acres with a cottage of four rooms and a farm containing about one hundred and twenty acres. An imposing hill, heavily wooded, rises immediately in the rear of the building to a height of 300 feet. This hill is included in the school property and is a favorite resort for students and teachers who are given to pedestrianism and hill climbing. The grounds are within easy reach of the depot and post-office and are at the same time removed from the noise of the main streets.

BUILDINGS

Hargis Hall contains five large recitation rooms and library. These rooms are well lighted and supplied with modern school desks. This building has been named in honor of the late Chief Justice, Thomas F. Hargis.

Withers Hall, the new dormitory for young men is a beautiful frame building containing twenty rooms, with furnace heat, bathrooms, basement, etc. The rooms in this building have a most pleasing outlook and make admirable quarters for young men.

Hodson Hall, the young ladies' dormitory is a three story frame building containing about twenty-six apartments. Every room is well furnished. The dining room and kitchen are carefully looked after by the matron in charge. Last year at one time 145 boarders took meals in this building.

Burgess Hall is a modern building of brick and stone. The basement is used for general purposes. On the first floor are rooms for young men and the professor in charge.

The chapel room with a seating capacity of 500 occupies the second floor. These buildings are connected by broad stone walks. They are well adapted for the purpose they serve.

AIMS

The founders and sustainers of this school are men and women who have the supremest belief and confidence in God and in His Word. Their idea of education is more than intellectual development. Here in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky are scores of bright young men and women who have never yet discovered the talents they possess and who could be brought to become efficient servants in the world's work. The purpose of this school is to reach these young people with the influence of a thorough Christian education. In a positive Christian environment it seeks to train young men and women for distinctive Christian service at home and in foreign fields.

METHODS

Text books are used, but the student's attention is directed mainly to the study itself. All work is made fresh and interesting. Daily recitations are required of each student who thus comes in close contact with the teachers. Lectures are given by the teachers from time to time. Special instruction is given in Reading, Music, Parliamentary Law, Physiology, Physical Culture and Bible Study. The work of each student is discussed in the monthly Faculty meeting and methods of helping each one advance in the work are considered. Every legitimate means is employed to keep the interest of the student aroused.

SUBSIDIARY MEANS OF INSTRUCTION

1. Frequently men and women of prominence are heard from the chapel platform.
2. Literary Societies. Two literary and debating societies are conducted by the students, the Philothean and the Crescent. These are invaluable agencies for the cultivation of literary gifts, for training in public speaking and for drill in parliamentary usage.
3. Missions. During the year, classes for the study of missions are conducted. During the fall a new and interesting work on some of the mission fields will be taken up.

DORMITORIES

4. Much emphasis is to be placed upon the home influence of the school. Young ladies reside in Hodson Hall under the direct control of the lady teachers who have rooms in the building. Youngmen are in Withers Hall under the supervision of teachers there. Necessary rules are carefully enforced. The training in manners and morals acquired in this dormitory life is one of the best features of the school work.

STUDY HOURS

After supper a study hour is maintained in all dormitor-service.

Quartets and sight-reading classes may be organized each term.

Each student above the Fourth Grade is required to supply himself or herself with the text book in music.

BIBLICAL DEPARTMENT

It is now generally conceded that the study of the Bible should be a part of the curriculum of every school. A more prominent place will be given to this important part of a liberal education. Opportunities will be given to every student to become acquainted with the great facts of Bible history.

Four courses are offered:

- I. Sacred History in both Testaments.
- II. Apostolic History and Doctrine.
- III. Expository and Homiletic work.
- IV. Sunday School pedagogy and organization.

The class in course IV will recite 30 minutes daily for one term; the other class work will occupy one hour daily for one year in each course. Course I is required of all graduates. The Classical course as given elsewhere plus the four courses here outlined will be the Classical-Ministerial course, while the regular English course and the above four courses will be the English-Ministerial course.

MANUAL TRAINING

WOOD WORKING DEPARTMENT

We announce a course in wood-working for boys who would like to find out whether they are "hand-minded;" and if not especially so, would like to train the hand to do some things anyway.

The training of the hand is no new thing. Nothing can so help the young mind to develop as some hand craft, which causes the mind to be strengthened thereby. No better craft than working in wood has ever been devised. The placing of wood-working as one of the subjects taught in every manual training school, leads us to think this statement is true. The mind and hand should be trained jointly. These facts have been known for a long time, but not until recently have they been correlated.

BENCH WORK EQUIPMENT.—We have an equipment of saws, planes, try-squares, gauges, screw-drivers, oil and oil-stones, chisels, sand-paper, etc. Our benches are equipped with rapid-acting vises, tail-vises, bench strops, etc.

For these tools and benches the pupil is held responsible and is taught to protect the same and to keep tools in good working condition.

INSTRUCTION.—Instructions suitable to both young and old will be given according to the demands, but to give a full outline of the work here would require more space than we are allotted. For further particulars write J. A. Robison.

No extra charge is made for this instruction, but all who take manual training must pay $1.00 which is to cover expense of material used in said department. Each student is expected to make some complete object shown either from a blue-print or from his own draft. These individual pieces become the property of the student, at close of term, provided he furnishes the material required to construct them.

SEWING

A thorough course in the use of the needle is given. The practice begins with the simpler forms of work and advances gradually to the more complicated pieces of work, such as cutting, fitting and dress making.

Two recitation periods are given per week.

Courses of StudyCLASSICAL COURSE

The classical course is arranged for those who wish to prepare for college. Our graduates are admitted without examination into Transylvania University and State University.

ENGLISH COURSE

The English course in the Academic department is intended to meet the wants of those who are unable to undertake a long course of study. It is practically the same as the classical course exhibited on the opposite page with the exception of the four years of Latin.

TEACHERS' COURSE

The Teachers' course is arranged with special reference to the wants of common school teachers. Prof. D. M. Holbrook has this work in charge. It furnishes a thorough preparation for teaching the common branches.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Private lessons are given in Vocal Music and on the Piano and Organ.

Three pianos are in constant use in this department.

Each year a Ghorus is organized, to which students of the High School, Normal, and upper Grammar grades are eligible. This Chorus leads the music for the Chapel
