HUNDREDS OF ADDITIONAL STUDENTS EXPECTED TO INCREASE TOTAL BEYOND EXTREME MARK

Mid semester at the Morehead State Teachers College will open on Monday, April 4. According to the college authorities, another large increase in enrollment is expected to pile the total semester enrollment to even greater size than at any previous time. Advance registrations and reservations indicate that the total will approach 1,500, for the semester or nearly five hundred more than were enrolled at the same time last year when the largest previous enrollment was enjoyed.

According to Dean Vaughan, any where from 250 to 350 new students are expected to be on hand next Monday when enrollment will begin. Added to the already large enrollment which the college is enjoying, this will bring the total up to not less than 13,000 and probably more.

Every room in the dormitory has already been engaged and there will be hundreds of students seeking rooms out in the city for the balance of the semester. There are already approximately three hundred students are living out in town from the heavy enrollment at the beginning of the semester. It has been found that rooms suitable are difficult to obtain, and many of the city residents who are in a position to take care of students and furnish suitable accommodations, are loathe to take the responsibility of looking after the students. Naturally the college authorities are forced to depend on the home owners to aid in carrying out the college rules to as large an extent as possible, when the students room out in town. And equally as naturally, they are forced to follow a selective process in approving homes to which students will be sent. That does not mean in any sense a criticism of those who may desire to keep roomers. It simply means that the college authorities are required to make certain regulations and establish certain standards to be met.

Miss Curralean Smith, Dean of Women at the college has charge of the placing of students in the local homes. Miss Smith will appreciate it if those who desire to take students to room will notify her of the fact, together with a statement as to the number that can be accommodated. You may get in touch with Miss Smith by calling Fields Hall and asking for Dean Smith.

A number of additional courses are being offered for students enrolling at this time. Courses in Economics and Sociology, Education, English, History and Government, Mathematics and Physics, Science, Music, and Physical Education are in the list offered. Other will be added on demand.

Two new teachers are being added to the faculty for the balance of the semester. They are County Superintendent Arville Wheeler, of Paintsville, county superintendent of Johnson county and Miss Elizabeth North of Danville. Mr. Wheeler, who is well known in Morehead having taught here before, will be in the Education department, while Miss North who holds her M. A. degree from Peabody, will be in the training school.

Other additional classes will be taken care of by increasing the load of the present faculty wherever possible, in order to keep down expenses.

TO HOLD REVIVAL AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Methodist Church will hold a series of revival services from April 18, to May 1, 1932. Rev. Y. L. Moore will do the preaching and a singer will be with Dr. Moore. While this is sponsored by the church, it is hoped that the influence of the revival will be community wide. We hope that all Christian people will keep these dates in mind and we shall all work for the thing we need.

Jekyll And Hyde At Cozy Friday

For forty four years Robert Lewis Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" has been the leading mystery thriller of the stage, with its awesome struggle between the beautiful and the hideous in man's soul. Today after two generations of use in thrilling audiences, it is brought to the talking screen for the first time with Frederic March in the title role. Paramount's vivid dramatization of this classic is the feature picture at the Cozy Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

As a play, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" has attained more success, writes a famous critic, than the original Stevenson story. The reason for this, says the critic, is due to the fact that the theme presents unlimited possibilities for an actor, because seeing the transitions from Hyde to Jekyll are more realistic than merely reading of them.

Many To Attend K. E. A. In April

Morehead and Rowan county are to be strongly represented at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Education Association, if membership in the organization of State Teachers is any indication. Morehead has a one hundred percent membership in K. E. A. while the county as a whole has at least 75 percent membership. Practically the entire membership is making plans to attend the annual meeting to be held April 13, 14 and 15.

Plans are now being perfected to be announced later, for special trips is carried out it will meet special bus or train rates, and special hotel accommodations for all the teachers of the county who attend.

DUMB BELL PARTY IS POSTPONED

The party planned for April 1 by the Epsilon Sigma has been postponed and will be held Monday evening, April 4. An invitation to all Stars, Masons and their families is extended as well as to their friends. The O. E. S. is giving dumb bell party. Don't ask why you are invited, but please be dumb and say you'll come. Dumb Dora will be delighted. W. M. Dumb Dora.

JIMMIE CLAYTON HAS BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mrs. Morgan Clayton entertained a number of small boys at lunch on Monday of this week. The dinner was held in honor of the third birthday of her son, Jimmie Clayton. Those present were George Black, Roy E. Graves, Jr., and Don Battson. The little guests enjoyed a pleasant afternoon.

Stant Johnson Buried Monday

Stant Johnson died at his home on North Fork Saturday after an illness of several weeks. Death was due to heart failure. He had been ill with a serious attack of flu and pneumonia which he had contracted several weeks ago, and while he had apparently recovered from the illness, his heart was left in such a weakened condition that death resulted.

Mr. Johnson is survived by his wife and by three children, D. Johnson, Roxie Johnson and Frank Johnson of Hills, Ky. and by one brother, H. S. Johnson of Sebasta, Kansas.

Mr. Johnson has long been a resident of Rowan county and was one of the prominent citizens of the county. He has taken a prominent part in the political affairs of the county. He joined the Christian Church at the age of 23 years and has been a member of the organization since that time. He has lived in Rowan county for the past 23 years.

Mr. Johnson served in the army for 9 years and was a Spanish American War veteran.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. R. Perkins, minister of the American Legion, while Don Jack Cecil, Adjutant of the local Legion post presented Mrs. Johnson with the American flag which is furnished by the government for the burial service of each service man.

Shooting Fatal To E. L. Kercheval

E. L. Kercheval, a prominent merchant of Bath county was instantly killed Saturday afternoon by Salt Lick when he was shot by Ollie Dyer, 35, also of Salt Lick. Dyer was wounded a few seconds later by Carl Kercheval, a son of the slain man.

According to witnesses, the affair started as Mr. Kercheval left the post office at Salt Lick to go to his store next door, when Dyer is said to have bumped into him. Mr. Kercheval told him he didn't think it was necessary and Dyer, it is said to have cursed him. Mr. Kercheval then struck Dyer and Dyer who was wearing a necktie is said to have pulled his pistol from his overcoat pocket and fired point-blank, the bullet striking Kercheval under the chin and ranging upward thru the brain. Death was instantaneous. Mr. Kercheval's face was burned with the powder.

Upon hearing the shots, and a cry from his father, Carl Kercheval ran out of the store next door to the post office, with a pistol. Eyewitnesses say that Dyer fired one shot, but Carl held his fire until a number of bystanders who were in direct line had cleared away. He then shot twice, one bullet entering Dyer's hip and the other striking him in the calf. Dyer's injuries are not serious.

Kercheval immediately surrendered to the county sheriff of Bath county who was in Salt Lick at the time on another matter and was placed under bond of $1,000 at Owensville. Bond was filed immediately by W. J. Shouse, an uncle of Mr. Kercheval.

According to reports Dyer and Mr. Kercheval had had words before. Dyer had been away from Salt Lick until a few days before the killing occurred.

Mr. Kercheval was one of the most prominent and highly respected men of Salt Lick, having been a long resident of that community and having been prominent in all community enterprises. He is survived by his widow, three sons, Carl and Forest of Salt Lick and Ralph who is attending State University at Lexington, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Murray of Goode, Va. Dr. C. K. Kercheval of Ashland is a brother.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Mr. Kercheval, burial being made in Lexington where he lived for a number of years.

Thursday, June 2, Commencement Address, the Reverend H. P. Abbott, Bishop of the Lexington Episcopal Diocese.

Special emphasis is being placed upon Alumni Day this year. A new Alumni organization has been created, with Hubert Counts as president. Mr. Counts is giving the work a great deal of personal attention and is preparing for a great program on Wednesday, June 1. Members of the Morehead Alumni will give the program in chapel at 11:00 a. m.

The Alumni will organize under the direction of Mr. Counts for a baseball game with the Morehead

MRS. BULR JORDAN DIES IN OHIO HOME

Mrs. Burl Johnson of Scottdale, Ohio died Wednesday of heart failure. She was the daughter of J. W. Ambergue and a former resident of this place.

She is survived by her husband, and by five sisters, and one brother. She was aged 64.

C. L. Goff Talks To College Club

C. L. Goff addressed the General Assembly of the State Teachers College on Monday, May 23, 1932. He spoke on the subject "Budget Commission." He said that the budget commission is a new thing in the history of the state. He said that the commission will have to depend on the millage tax as in former years.

"The income of the Morehead State Teachers College in past years has come from a tax on real estate, inheritance, franchises and intangibles. The tax has given the institution an income of $50,000 yearly.

"Those acquainted with the depressions in assessments and real estate values are of the opinion that the tax during the next biennium or two year period will amount to not more than fifty percent of what it has amounted to in previous years. This means that the income of the Morehead State Teachers College will be cut $125,000 at least.

The intangibles are much less than they have been in former years because of a recent decision of the Supreme Court declaring that non-real estate is not required to pay local property taxes. From inheritance tax on corporation stock owned in Kentucky intangibles are also largely a thing of the past, because of the small income, and in most cases real loss of corporations doing business in Kentucky.

"The situation at present looks like a program of severe retrenchment at Morehead State Teachers College.

TAX SALE WILL BE HELD ON MONDAY

We call your attention again to the fact that on next Monday, April 4, County Sheriff Dan Parker will offer for sale all real estate on which taxes are delinquent. The list has been published for the past three weeks and the property must be offered for sale.

CUT OF APPROPRIATIONS MADE BY GOVERNOR LAFFOON MAKES A PROGRAM OF RETRENCHMENT

Sophs, Juniors Win Tourneys

The first inter-class tournament in basketball came to a close with the finals at the Morehead Public School last Friday night, the Sophomore boys had the Junior girls winning the finals over the Senior boys and the Senior girls.

The tournament opened Wednesday afternoon when the Senior girls defeated the Freshman girls 18 to 0 and the Junior girls took the Sophomore lassies into camp by a good margin of safety.

Thursday afternoon the Senior boys had an easy time with the freshmen boys winning handsly to go to the finals. The exciting game of the afternoon was the contest between the Juniors and the Sophomores.

The Juniors took an early lead in the contest and held it until the last ten seconds of the game. At one time their lead was sufficiently commanding to cause them to let down a bit. And that let down cost them the game and possible championship. With twenty seconds to go the Juniors had the ball out of bounds. They had a one point lead and victory seemed assured. But it wasn't.

The Junior failed to stall for 20 seconds. Instead they passed it in, dribbled down the floor, shot, missed the ball and thereby the game.

Arnold Crosthwaite shot the winning goal for the Sophomores.

In the finals the Junior girls had an easy victory over the Seniors and the Sophomores.

The thrilling affairs that are so popular with the spectators, it went to the overtime periods after being tied at the end of the regular playing period. And the Sophomores made their experience and endurance count to finally nose out with a three point lead to become school champions.

The tournament was sponsored by the Hi-Y Club and proceeds from the admission are to be used to purchase a loving cup to be awarded each year in the future to the winners of the class tournaments.

The action of Governor Laffoon in vetoing all those parts of the appropriations bill passed by the Legislature before their adjournment, which applied to the state educational institutions, including Morehead State Teachers College, the University of Kentucky, and Murray, Eastern and Western State Teachers Colleges has left the five educational institutions in a dilemma so far as the conduct of the schools for the next two years are concerned. The veto of the Governor placed the five institutions back on the millage tax and the tax on real estate for funds with which to carry on their work. Unless ways are devised by which these funds may be supplemented, there is likely to be a considerable curtailment of the educational work of the institutions, according to President John Howard Payne. President Payne has just returned from Frankfort where he had been for several days, together with presidents of other state institutions of learning. He has little hope that any means will be devised.

It will mean that the program on the college for the next two years will have to be materially altered to meet the new financial condition that confronts them. This, however is not expected to effect the present school year, since the appropriation for the expenses of the balance of this year were made two years ago by the 1930 Legislature.

The following statement was issued by President Payne on his return to Morehead:

"The $255,000.00 appropriation, made by the Budget Commission of the Morehead State Teachers College was vetoed on Monday by Governor Laffoon. In his veto message he says that the institution will have to depend on the millage tax as in former years.

"The income of the Morehead State Teachers College in past years has come from a tax on real estate, inheritance, franchises and intangibles. The tax has given the institution an income of $50,000 yearly.

"Those acquainted with the depressions in assessments and real estate values are of the opinion that the tax during the next biennium or two year period will amount to not more than fifty percent of what it has amounted to in previous years. This means that the income of the Morehead State Teachers College will be cut $125,000 at least.

The intangibles are much less than they have been in former years because of a recent decision of the Supreme Court declaring that non-real estate is not required to pay local property taxes. From inheritance tax on corporation stock owned in Kentucky intangibles are also largely a thing of the past, because of the small income, and in most cases real loss of corporations doing business in Kentucky.

"The situation at present looks like a program of severe retrenchment at Morehead State Teachers College.

MARGIE ANN GULLETT HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Waltham Gullett entertained a number of the little children of the city on Wednesday, March 23 at her home here, in honor of the fourth birthday of her daughter, Miss Margie Ann. Games were played and a delightful afternoon of fun was enjoyed. After a lunch each guest was presented with a basket of Easter eggs.

Those present were Misses Patty Gault, Mabel Orens Carr, Ella Florence Alfrey, Peggy Renolds, Bobby Ann Tatum, Christie Tatum, Robena Littleton, Lucille Littleton, Mary Ella Lappin, Eleanor Jane Gullett and Margie Ann Gullett, and Bill Fraley, Carl Scott, Jimmy, Jackie Lindreth, Sonny Allen, Finney Williams, Don Battson and Franklin Fraley.

"You think I'm vain?"
 "I know you are."
 She nodded as she moved about the room. That's true. I am. Fathers made a fool of me—"

They turned at a knock at the outside door of the house.
 "Come in!" called Stuart.
 Omar's broad face thrust through the doorway of the living room.

"You speak wid me," he asked of Stuart, with a sidelong glance at the girl.
 Nodding Stuart turned to the girl with, "You'll excuse me?" and left the room.

"What you do wid her?" demanded the half breed as the two walked to the rear of the building.
 "What can we do with her, Omar? She's got to stay until teh wind drops."

"You don't know Louis LeBlon," muttered Boisvert, ominously. "Eef she stay here this night it mean trouble for you and me."

"All right let it come then!" angrily answered teh trader. "A little more won't hurt us. We can't get her home tonight in that 17 foot pater bore, and we can't get her out in the bush, can we? She's got to stay here. If he wants to make trouble—let it come."

Stuart left the halfbreed and went in side, "Miss LeBlond," he said. "There's no thail alongshore and theres a swamp at the outlet where you'd be eaten alive by mosquitoes. To start with our small canoe means filling, in a mile or two!"

She studied him with sober face; then, thick brows knotted in a frown, she demanded, "You're not trying to deceive me, are you?"

"No, my fate has thrown into your hands? Oh, Sir, somewhere in your black heart there must linger a trace of pity, of honor. Spare my tender youth!"

With a muttered exclamation of irritation, he turned to the window and gazed out where the remaining seas grayed in the fading twilight.

"Well, anyway, wibether you're a villain or not," she continued, "I don't intend to swamp in that lake in the dark and get wet again. Oh-h! It was cold! It makes me shiver to think of it, and besides" her eyes flashed with humor. "Suppose my what you call ems, gibo-dieg-wason shrank? What should I do?"

"They know you took a canoe?"
 "Yes but they may think I landed on an island and couldn't get back. By the way, do you happen to have such a thing as a cigarette? Mine were water soaked."

"Yes, such as they are. But you'll find them pretty poor." He went to his bedroom and returned with a package.

"Now," she said when he had given her a light and filled his pipe, "tell me about yourself!"

"There's not much to interest a lady from W. Winnipeg."
 "Try me. You came here three years ago to start a post for the Hudson Bay company. I know that much. Father was here first, for his North West Trading company, and, naturally, he didn't like it. I've heard so many terrible things about you, that I've been gasping to learn just how much of a liar Paul Paradis was."

"So—Paradis has been blackening my reputation, has he?"
 "Blackening is mild to what he's told me about teh factor at Sunset House. You came from God's lake, didn't you? Well it seems you left a very dark and mysterious past up there Mr. Stuart, according to Paul."

"Oh, very! It's really a terrible man, Miss LeBlond. Hadn't we better have Sarah in here as chaperone?" She laughed as she shook her head.

"From what I've seen of Sarah, I'd wager she's on guard now, waiting to rescue you from the woman with the gibedieg-wason. No Paul Paradis didn't impress me. He made you too black. Father is different. He intends to beat you but he feels sorry for you—sent here by your people on a forlorn hope."

Stuart's features hardened, Forlorn hope, was it? LeBlond was a bit previous, anything of his own past?"

"Oh, trust Paul for that! Most were to believe him. Why what do you know about him?"

"An enigmatic smile was Stuart's reply.
 "You do know something, eh? Well I'm sure father does, too; but the scellings, I wonder with the Indians. That excuses a lot."

"When did you leave Winnipeg?" Stuart changed the subject.
 "In June. It took me three weeks to get here, but it was wonderful—that trip."

"You like it—in the wilderness?"
 "I love it. Of course, I'd tire of it after a while."

"You go back in the autumn?"
 Lifting her chin she slowly exhaled a cloud of smoke, her half shut eyes on the speaker, poles of the scellings tilted head baring the round throat in its loose flannel collar brought by its scarf of crimson silk.

"Yes," she answered, after a space "my father seems bound to marry me off in Winnipeg, you know and Paul Paradis worries him with his moaning around ever since I came inland. I," she laughed, "that monk."

"Paul Paradis?"
 "He's quite beautiful," objected Stuart. "I'm him at medicine Store lake, last November."

Without turning her tilted head she flashed a sidelong look at Stuart from under her long lashes, "seems to hat, what have done to him?"

"Nothing," absolutely nothing protested Stuart, except to him down when he tried to hold trail."

"The girl straightened in her seat, her vivid face alight with interest. "What? You dared to do that the great Paul Paradis?" she mused.

"There was no trouble" dr Stuart. "It was nothing. He's a clown. What did he tell you about Aureore?"

on the trail and he was compelled to tell me that you had choked you."
 "If you ask Black Jules Re your fathers head voyager, might tell you the Paradis had poor memory."

"Oh, when I saw you today, know it, Paradis choked you?"
 Her dark eyes lingered significantly on the wide shoulders, the corded, umm of his neck, the evident po in the brown hand which held pipe. "But why waste time on people when we are so interested ourselves?"

Her frankness was exhilarating. Imagine Mary Christy, he thought so fr forgetting her sense of proprieties! Mary Christy with whom Stuart had been contrasting this raven-haired daughter of his rival. He could see mary's blond eyebrows lifting in scorn of the sheared hair and the whipcord jeans; of Aureore LeBlons unembarrassed acceptance of the situation which hd made her his guest; of her complete candor.

"Lead on, Miss Aureore."
 So she led on while he listened; amused, startled, now charmed, now puzzled by the direct thinking and amazing sophistication of this graduate of convent school in Winnipeg.

Her education completed, she was living life to the full—tasting its thrills, exploring its by-ways, testing what ever of interest it had to give.

"Little as this country can offer to a woman curious of life," he observed, "it managed to provide you with one first-class thrill this afternoon."

"Two," she corrected, her eyes were both drowned today—and now I'm here. You mean you were saved from drowning?"

She leaned toward him.
 "No, I drowned, but it is to despair—and I learned what it means to have life given back to me." The eyes of the girl misted in the intensity of her feeling her lower lip trembled. "You did that—gave me back my life! I did not thank you—made light of it, but I do thank you now."

His face flashed, his grey eyes shifted uneasily under the poignancy of her dark gaze.

"It was nothing," he avoided. "We were lucky to see you—that's all." She shook her head, "I saw how you had to fight to reach me." then with a shrug she shed her grayity as one sheds a coat, "Now tell me about yourself, Mr. Jeem Stuart."

But Stuart did not dwell long on his life in the Hudson's Bay Posts with a chafar who had died at God's lake, Avoiding the girls interest in his three years with the Canadian Expeditionary forces, he talked of the coming of the Hudson Bay company to the Lake of the Sandby beaches, and the building of Sunset House.

"It sounds rather like a forlorn hope, doesn't it? I heard that your father thought it a great joke—said I knew what I was doing when I named it. It wouldn't last any longer than the setting sun."

"I don't think father knows very well," she said with conviction. Their talk was checked by a knock on the outside door.

"What is it demanded the trader with some irritation, for his evening with the daughter of his rival was proving very agreeable.

"Come outside! I show yop something." Leaving his guest Stuart went out side into the wind with the half-breed.

"Look," and Omar pointed up the lake shore.
 On a point far up the shore, like fireflies in the dusk, a light flashed—then another.

The variety to use decided upon, the quality of the seed stock should be considered. By this is not meant merely freedom from scab, though that is desirable, but more particularly freedom from running-out diseases the symptoms of which cannot be seen, but which operate to reduce yield. Generally, tubers suffering from running-out diseases are small, but large potatoes may be affected as well; mere size is no guarantee.

The only way to be sure that the diseases are not present in seed-stocks is to use only certified seed. The word is somewhat loosely used but the way to be sure that the stock is truly certified is to look for the tag that marks it as genuine. Such a tag should specify by

Who makes your Fire Insurance Rate?

Property owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

There is nothing secret in the making of fire insurance rates. Several major facts enter into the determination of these charges, such as construction, occupancy, the quality of private and public fire protection, exposure from other property and general loss experience.

ELIMINATE HAZARDS

Stock Fire Insurance Companies maintain bureaus to assist in eliminating fire hazards or correcting defects which may affect your rate. The advice of such bureaus is offered to you free of charge through your insurance agent.

AFTER 40 bowel trouble

Constipation may very easily become chronic after forty. And any continued constipation at that time of life may bring attacks of piles and a host of other unpleasant disorders.

Watch your bowels at all ages. Guard them with particular care after forty. Whenever they need any help, remember a doctor should know what is best for them.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin" is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, or when your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Dairy plant managers and employees, milk inspectors, farmers and others interested in the production and distribution of milk attended a week's course in market milk at the Experiment Station. The course consisted of lectures or laboratory practice in testing, grading, pasteurization, refrigeration, and other operations connected with the production and retailing of milk.

Boyd County To Grow Potatoes
Twenty-five Boyd county farmers recently met with county agent Joe Hurt to consider ways of improving potato production. A survey revealed that most of the potatoes consumed in Ashland and Caledonia were grown outside the county. Preliminary plans include a campaign to encourage 100 farmers to grow at least a quarter of an acre of potatoes each, using the best known method of potato production.

Among The County Agents
Corn is selling at 20 cents a bushel at public sales in Casey county, due to the fact that farmers grew enough in 1931 to last them two years.

Farmers in the vicinity of Eddyville are planning a large acreage of strawberries and a shipping association for 1933.

Caldwell county farmers who applied phosphorus as well as limestone secured excellent stands of alfalfa from last year's seedings. Farmer, says he has made more money from dairying this winter than in any recent winter, due to having alfalfa hay to feed.

Rowan county agriculture suffered a serious loss in the recent death of S. E. Logan, owner of the only registered herd of Jerseys in the county.

Soybeans have abetted displaced millet and cane as feed crops in Knot county. Large crop will be sowed this year.

Everett Ryle sold the first commercial crop of lopeseda seed to be produced in Boone. A large acreage will be sowed in the county this year.

Several Lee county farmers will start vineyards this year. One man started two acres of grapes last year. Farmers contributed their labor to assisting the Leslie county Civic Club in improving the road leading to Hyden Hospital.

Last week's discussion treated of general specifications for good potato land, together with suggestions as to its preparation and general treatment. The matter of winnifertilization to use, and how to use it was also touched upon, as was the titim of seed. This latter will bear elaboration.

If you once have a taste of the New NuGrape, you always come back for more. It's just that sort of a flavor—a mysterious something, born of plump Concord grapes and sunshine. There is nothing anywhere near like it, with its bouquet of dew-ripened grapes, and its sparkling, dancing life—as of champagne.

Next to impossible to keep the New NuGrape on ice at home—the family sneaks in for "just another bottle," even when a case is purchased at a time. But since Nature and Science brewed it and brought it to its delightful state of appetizing perfection—you can drink as much as you please as often as you please.

There is no substitute for the New NuGrape. Accept none, for it would only mean disappointment. The genuine is sold everywhere for 5¢.
