Thomas Files Contest Against J. T. Jennings

CHARGES THAT FRAUD CAUSED DEFEAT IN RACE

It's A Politician's Trick To Beat Me Out Of Post, I Won Fairly' Representative-elect Says

TRIAL COMES BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Allegations that Rowan County Judge Charles E. Jennings, deliberately placed troops and patrolmen at five precincts in Rowan County on November 5 for the purpose of coercing Democratic voters and securing votes for his father J. T. Jennings and the Republican ticket were among the charges charged in a petition contesting the election of Representative-elect J. T. Jennings, served here a few minutes before midnight Friday night, the expiration of the time for contest.

The contest was filed by the defeated Democratic candidate J. J. Thomas, Owensville, who alleged he was fraudulently defeated.

Thomas charged in his petition which was served on Jennings by Rowan Sheriff Mort May that the County Judge had National Guards county patrolmen, State Police and constables placed at Morehead precincts No. 1, 7, 8 and 10 and Hildesheim precinct 8 and the Hayes precinct, to frighten many Democratic voters, especially women, away from the polls, and that these officers were to threaten any voter who came 50 feet away from the polls.

Thomas further charges in the document containing 11 separate counts of alleged fraud that Judge Jennings had the roads plowed up in normally heavy Democratic precincts so that Democratic voters could not get to the polls; that Judge Jennings had the voting places at Morehead No. 1 changed from the first floor of the courthouse to the basement where unsanitary conditions kept many people from casting their votes; that officers coerced and intimidated voters; that the voting in Farmers No. 2 (the POLITICAL PATRONAGE: In the allotting of political patronage for this county by the Chandler administration, C. B. Lane, accountant at the Morehead State Teachers College, and an ardent and helpful supporter of the successful Versailles candidate, will have much to say in the matter, provided, of course, that Mr. Lane wants to play a part in the contest.

Mr. Chandler entered the Governor's race with no funds, and in early primaries he was unable to raise sufficient money for use in the smaller counties, as is Rowan, spending what he did have in the larger voting centers. It fell the lot of Mr. Lane to raise the money for the Chandler forces here, and he was successful to the point that the Chandler group gathered around $2,000 during the 3 races. Lane, possibly proved as much benefit to Mr. Chandler, as did any man in the county. It is naturally assumed that he will have much to do and say in whatever political patronage the administration seeks to dish out for this county.

BOARD OF REGENTS: Coming from a fairly reliable source is the information that Attorney Elijah Hagg, of Morehead, will be one of the two members of the Board of Regents of Morehead College, when Mr. Chandler does the appointing next spring. The terms of E. W.

Work Starts On 2 Voting Booths In Rowan County

Work began this week on 2 of the 17 stone voting booths to be constructed by the Works Progress Administration in Rowan County. The 2 to be started first were Morehead Precinct No. 1 and Brushy.

Work will be started this week on the Pleary and Pine Grove voting houses, while the remaining 13 are expected to get underway within a few days.

APPROVAL GIVEN ON WPA PROJECT

Congressmen Vinson Wires That Dormitory Funds Okeyed

President H. A. Babb was notified today that official approval had been given at Washington for the $181,000 dormitory for the Morehead State Teachers College.

A telegram from Congressman Fred M. Vinson read, "Morehead dormitory approved by Comptroller General and work may be started as soon as authorized by state administration."

Although funds for the dormitory had been allotted some weeks ago, officials at the local institution became skeptical as to the final outcome of the loan grant, since Morehead has already received appropriations for 2 buildings costing over a half million dollars. Mr. Vinson started working on the matter almost a month ago, but it was not until today that the final approval was given.

A $252,000 Science Building had already been approved. President Babb said that he expected work

HOLBROOK PLAYS HERE THURSDAY

Freshmen To Meet Kentucky Yearlings In Preliminary

Sixteen basketball games—eleven of them to be played at Morehead—appear on the 1935-36 basketball schedule of the Morehead College Eagles released today by athletic Director G. D. Downing.

The Morehead five opens the season against Alfred Holbrook College of Manchester, Ohio, here on December 12. As a preliminary to this match, Bill Scroggins' up and coming Morehead freshmen meet the yearlings of the University of Kentucky, in a game that appears to be out of the locals class, but may, in itself, develop into a close hall game. Scroggins' has the best first-year material that has ever been at Morehead, and this includes the Eagles of 2 years ago that dropped but one tilt.

Ordinarily the Holbrook match is a warm-up for the Eagles, but last year the Ohioans caught the Moreheadians flat-footed during the early part of the game, and it was only through an 8 point rally in the last 2 minutes that Morehead emerged with a 3 point decision.

The Holbrook game is the only one scheduled before the Christmas holidays. Ordinarily the Eagles play the alumni, but the grads have been dropped from this year's schedule.

Western and Morehead will play this season for the first time except in tournaments. Western comes to Morehead on February 11, and the Eagles will be gunning for the victory.

TOBACCO PRICE OVER $20 MARK

Burley On Lexington Floors Records Market Increase

In its heaviest opening week in several years, the Lexington burley tobacco market last week disposed of a total of 6,569,360 pounds of leaf for an average of $19.98, placing $1,312,618.72 into the hands of the growers of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas.

The market opened Monday morning, and during the first day 930-100 pounds were sold for an average of $18.67. Prices on the opening day ranged from $2 to $34, with the high crop averaging $31.75.

The market gained strength every day during the week, averaging $19.78 on Tuesday, $19.83 on Wednesday

During the week prices ranged from $1 to $40, the low being paid for a few baskets of extremely wet, green nondescript tobacco, and the top being paid for a basket of 162 pounds of wrappers. The high crop of the week, sold Friday, contained 7,746 pounds that averaged $36.49. Nearly 200 crops were sold during the week for averages above $30, these coming from two dozen Kentucky.

Writer Helps Solve Perplexing Problem Of What To Give This Year

By ELSTON REEVES

About this time of the year millions of otherwise happy people feel an attack of "pre-holiday blues" coming over them. It's a sinister epidemic—a most unseasonable indisposition caused by a sudden discovered deflation of the pocketbook, a vast worry over how to spread it over a formidable Christmas list, and a vague premonition of scurrying about, hysteria and disappointment in attempting to please the scores of people that must be pleased at Christmas time.

So take the advice of an experienced Christmas shopper, and remember—do your shopping gracefully, easily. Take time out, and let your hand save your feet and your purse—and above all, get some fun out of it!

The Inevitable Budget

Of course the logical way to start with your Christmas shopping is with some sort of budget. You don't have to be a mathematical expert to work the budget plan out successfully either. You can do the whole thing by more or less approximating the amounts you want to spend for the different names on your list. For example, if you have a magnificent sum of a hundred dollars to spend on Christmas gifts and you just figure roughly that you can spend around five dollars on each one.

It's a good idea to keep the budget elastic, and here's the way to go about it. For instance, if you find

Moreheadians Have Part At Inaugural Ceremonies

The Morehead State Teachers College played a prominent part in the inauguration of Governor-elect A. B. Chandler at Frankfort Tuesday.

The Morehead College band of 50 pieces, directed by Prof. Marvin E. George left by train at 6:00 o'clock Tuesday morning for the capitol where they marched in the parade. The Kings Jesters, Morehead College orchestra, under the direction of Earl King Senff, played for the Governor's Ball at the Capitol Tuesday evening.

Hundreds of college students and townspeople accompanied the Morehead band, while hundreds of others went by bus and in private cars. Mrs. Allie W. Young, wife of the late Senator Young rode with Mrs. Bea Johnson in the inaugural parade.

'Messiah' To Be Presented By Civic Chorus Sunday Morning

The Morehead Civic Chorus will present Handel's, "The Messiah" in the College Auditorium next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the first staging of this classical production in Morehead. The play, practice on which has been conducted for several weeks, will be directed by Prof. L. H. Horton.

There will be no admittance charge. However, the production bids to be one of the foremost of its nature that has ever been given in this city.

New Governor Pledges Self To Promises Made In Campaign; Talk Brief

LAFFOON PROMISES SUPPORT

The saga of a smile which carried a bare-footed new boy of Caydon, Ky., through college and through the vicissitudes of legal practice and political strife was climaxed today as Albert Benjamin Chandler, of Versailles, took the oath of office as the 44th governor of Kentucky.

But there was no smile on the face of Mr. Chandler at the noon hour when, before the gaze of 25,000 spectators on the lawn of the state capitol building, he solemnly declared:

"I entertain the cherished hope that when I shall have finished the course you may be able to say that I have, with my entire devotion kept faith with my fellow Kentuckians, and that the state shall not have suffered because of the confidence that our people have reposed in me."

Then he took the oath of office. The 37-year-old Versailles attorney turned to William Rogers Clay, chief justice of Kentucky, and, with hands raised, he and Keen Johnson, 39, of Richmond, the new lieutenant governor, took the Kentucky oath which includes the non-dueling clause.

Postmaster Gen. James A. Farley, representing the national administration; governors and senators from other states; John L. Thomas, president of the United Mine Workers of America, heading a labor delegation, and thousands of cheering Kentuckians representing every county in the state were witnesses to the ceremony. Christmas Advertising

Did you ever stop to consider that the progressive and most-forward business houses in every city are all ways the ones that do the advertising? It is a sure indication that advertising has helped to make those stores what they are—individual in that they are superior to the competition.

Advertising is one of the most important stepping stones toward an increased volume in business. Advertising makes the cash registers hum a merry tune. So it is particularly at this time of the season. The places that can best fill their Christmas needs are the houses that advertise in these and other newspaper columns. Their advertisement is a definite indication that they are progressive; the wise shopper knows that the greatest bargains and most pleasing purchases, invariably come from the progressive store.

Whether you want to purchase a tricycle; a week-end bag; stationery; and the hundred and one other gifts, items you will find them in the advertisements that will appear in this newspaper between now and Christmas.

It was ordinarily planned to publish the special Christmas edition of the Independent this week, but advertising copy came in so fast and heavy that it is necessary that it be published next week—exactly 7 days before Christmas. Many advertisers realizing that the last week's business was greater than that of all other Christmas shopping combined, made the request that this paper publish its Christmas edition—checked full of beautiful gifts and features Christmas material—next week.

Journalism At Clearfield

Volume 5, Number 2 of the "Quill," publication of the Clearfield CCC camps appeared last Friday. This ten page small tabloid size newspaper serves to portray many of the useful activities and functions of the Clearfield Camp.

The paper is neat in appearance, well made up and a distinct honor to its editor, Mr. Frank Houser, the staff and the entire camp. We dare say there are few camps of this nature in the country that are fortunate enough to have a publication that measures up to the "Quill."

This CCC newspaper is another indication of the good work that is being done in camps all over the country. Just as the boys are fortunate to have the "Quill" as the moving hand that records the happenings of the week, so are we of Rowan County fortunate to have this CCC camp.

Pays To Grade Fruit

The expense of a group of Ohio farmers in the field of marketing territory which formed an association, pooled all their fruits and vegetables, and sold them over one market, as related to the Kentucky State Horticultural Society's annual meeting here last week, should contain a helpful hint for those in the Louisville area. Made in Pettinger, president of Cincinnati Produce, Incorporated, the farmers' association, described the activities of the group but confessed that prices had dropped very low on certain types of prod-duce when the market was flooded by the members with fruits and vegetables of low grade.

The Jefferson County Fruit Growers' Co-operative Association has marketed strawberries, peaches, tomatoes and grapes on a different theory. Its members have graded their fruit and put out only the best. The association has not looked primarily to supplying the local market but, in fact, has shipped most of its products out of the city. Here they found that speed of movement, as described by their sales agent, Vincent Denunzio, was a principal factor. The fruits were harvested quickly, graded and packed immediately after being brought in from the field, and placed on trucks as fast as packed and sent off to the waiting consumers. In this fashion the top prices were realized. The Louisville market was supplied incidentally and discriminating buyers preferred the top grade packs over those dumped on the market by non-members without being graded.

Putting only the best fruit on the market brings up the price for the grower and makes a more prosperous farming community. Culls can go to canning and preserving plants for what they will bring.

THE VIRGINIA JUDGE COZY SHOW SUNDAY

Marsha Hunt, new screen find, who makes her film debut in Paramount's "The Virginia Judge," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Cozy Theatre, starring Walter C. Kelly in the title role, started her acting career when she was five years old.

Her first stage was the platform at the head of the stairs in her home. With her father she would put on little plays, written for the occasion, and her father, mother and whoever happened to be there, were the audience. Parental obligations never hindered Miss Hunt's leaning toward the stage. Her mother, Minabel Hunt, is a noted concert pianist.

At the Illinois Mann School, an extension of Columbia University, Miss Hunt studied for the stage and directed a few student plays there. Much experience was gained there from little theatre plays in Monroe, Connecticut. Following her graduation from high school, where she was active in all dramatic organizations, she started posing for commercial photographers at the age of fifteen. A course at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London was planned. Instead she enrolled at the Theadora Irvine School of the drama in New York. In this school, Miss Hunt says she obtained her most rigorous dramatic training.

"This school is unique compared to other dramatic schools," she explained. "Each week a play is given by the students. New scripts are produced and important scenes from old stage productions are used. Parents, agents, directors and other dramatic students make up the audience. It is good training, the nearest to stock company experience one can get," she said.

"The Virginia Judge," Miss Hunt plays the part of the town belle in a small southern community in the picturesque mountain country of Virginia. Rivals for her affections include the town's wealthiest youth and the judge's son, whose efforts to win her love results in a series of dramatic events which involve the judge in a case where he is forced to try and sentence his own boy.

Stein Fitchit, Johnny Downs and Robert Cummings are in the cast.

COLLEGE FEATURE MISS COLBERT

"She Married Her Boss" at the College Theatre Friday, is rated by Harrison's reports as "Very Good." It combines comedy with human interest and holds the spectators' attention throughout. The story is made entertaining by intelligent direction.

Miss Colbert, an extremely efficient secretary, marries her employer, Douglas. He expects her to remain at her position but she has other plans. Her sister-in-law, Katherine Alexander, treats her as if she were a gold digger, and her husband's child, Edith, listening to her aunt's suggestions, behaves in an unruly manner. She finally conquers them and runs the household in a manner she sees fit.

Douglas is annoyed because she does not help with the business and chased and gets everything in order and then startles everybody by an escapee with a friend which is written up in the papers. This engages Douglas and almost leads to a separation. The child helps to reconcile them and they take a big trip together and become friends again.

Marking her promotion to the top rank in films with a performance that gets the utmost entertainment value out of a rich romantic comedy role, Ginger Rogers makes her debut as a solo star Sunday in "In Person" at the College Theatre.

"Tamed" is swift, light, destituted for universal appeal. Miss Rogers' role exactly fits her distinctive talents.

From the pen of Samuel Hopkins Adams, "In Person" concerns an egotistical and temperamental screen star suddenly transformed into a quaking lass when she is mobbed by a crowd of admirers. Donning disguise and seeking a nerve cure, she persuades George Brent, a perfect stranger, to hate her as his guest at his mountain lodge. She falls in love with him, but simultaneously reverts to a domineering creature. Her frantic efforts to lure Brent into marriage, while he tries to change her into a normal human being by remaining indifferent, reaches an unexpected climax in an ultra-modern version of "shotgun" wedding.

Although "In Person" presents Miss Rogers in a dramatic role primarily, it is not without melody and pace. The neoprene player exercises her rhythmic talents, known to millions of fan through her ace performances with Fred Astaire, in three Lavant-Field melodies, "Out of Sight, Out of Mind," "Got a New Lease on Life" and "Don't Mention

Slow Him Down!

Love to Me." George Brent plays his role to the hilt, giving a convincing characterization as the father of the shrew Alan Mubray, as a screen leeching man, evokes some lusty laughs in other excellent performances seen Sam Hinds, Louis Mason, Swencher Charters and Grant Mitchell. Allan Scott scenarized the story for BKO Radio and William Sester directed.

THE THANKSGIVING WEDDING

Out in the Barnyard all was in a bustle
Every soul was in a merry haste
The proudest gobbler in the whole flock
Had decided to tie himself down in wedlock
He had his trade all worked up
The one with the roughest red snout
All the hens were cackling around
Tremble to get the bride into her wedding gown
The wedding went off at the zero hour
They all sang to the best of their power
That wedding must have been a gain affair
From the egg-liner and gobbler that went on out there

But the bride in the midst of her content
Was doomed the next day her wrath to vent
For the farmer considered the marriage a flop
For old Mr Gobbler wound up in his pot.

TOBACCO PAYMENTS DEPEND ON PRICES

Adjustments under the new tobacco contracts will depend on prices, with the exception of next year, when minimum payments are guaranteed, it is announced by the AAA through the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

If tobacco prices are low, adjustment prices will be correspondingly higher, and if prices are high the payments will correspondingly low.

For 1936, however, there will be a minimum payment of $2.25 per 100 pounds of base production of burley tobacco and $1.50 per 100 pounds of dark air-cured tobacco. No minimum payment is specified in the fire-cured contract. Payments may be greater than $2.25 and $1.50 depending on the price.

Except for the minimum rates for 1936, the payments will be an amount which when added to the farm price will tend to bring the growers' returns to not less than parity on the quantity of each type used for domestic consumption.

Under the new contract only one adjustment payment will be made each year. Payments will be made directly to theoperator and each tenant or share-cropper in the same proportion as their interest in the crop.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Summary of 14 poultry flock records in Fleming County showed receipts on 1,040 hens to be $4,760, expenses $2,555 and net profit of $2,205. Egg production per hen ranged from 73 to 185 eggs a year, culled flocks had the highest average egg production and the largest profit.

Demonstrations showing the value of soft-curing tobacco were held in Graves County. "Every one had tobacco superior in color and in quality to their neighbor who did not use that method of firing," commented the county farm agent.

A soil conservation exhibit was held in connection with the merchants and manufacturers' exposition at Danville last month. Need for winter cover crops and control of soil erosion was stressed to the 3,000 or more people who saw the exhibit.

The CCC, the soil conservation service and other agencies have cooperated to further soil improvement work in McCracken county, says county Agent W. C. Johnston. Sixty-a living room that was completely phosphate have been spread, cover crop demonstrations started and farms terraced.

Farmers in Davies county are feeding slop from local distillery to their cattle and hogs, adding grain and protein feeds. About 4,800 bushels of grain are mashed daily by ten distilleries, which buy part of it locally.

At an exhibit in Henderson county, a living room that was completely-refurnished, a well-equipped curb-market table, canned fruits and vegetables, rugs, etc., were shown. Sixteen homemakers clubs assisted in the exhibit, attended by 350 farm men and women.

CORN-HOG CONTRACT FEATURES EXPLAINED

Under provisions of the new two-year corn-hog adjustment contract which became effective December 1, signers will agree to produce for sale next year at least 50 per cent of their market hog bases, but not more than 100 per cent if they are to receive maximum hog adjustment payments, says a statement from the Kentucky College of Agriculture at Lexington. Signers must plant to earn at least 25 per cent of their bases next year, but not more than a percentage which is within the permitted optional range of 70 to 90 per cent of their corn bases.

The 1936 hog adjustment payment will be $1.25 a head for each hog in the base. Deduction will be made at the rate of $2.50 a head if the producer fails to raise 50 per cent of his hog base number and $5 a head if he raises more than his base. According to an AAA announcement signers will receive their entire hog payments as soon as possible after final compliance has been checked after the close of the year.

Corn adjustment payments next year will be made in two installments - about August 1 and December 1, at the rate of 35 cents a bushel multiplied by the approved yield and the number of adjusted acres.

Payments on the 1937 production will be announced by November 30, 1936, and will be determined from the outlook for supplies and prices at that time.

Football Banquet To Be Held At M.S.C. Dec. 16

Mr. Barber, of the athletic department of Columbia University, former major league baseball star and National Sports luminary will be the principal speaker at the Morehead College football banquet on December 16, Coach G. D. Downing announced today. Swaters will be awarded varsity men by Coach Downing, and numbers will be presented freshmen by freshman mentor Bill Scroggins at this time. President H. A. Babb and Dean William H. Vaughan will speak on the banquet program.

FRESHMEN CONCEDED CHANCE TO DEFEAT KENTUCKY HERE THURSDAY

The Morehead Freshmen, a band of 30 basketball players, open the season here Thursday evening, opening the University of Kentucky first year five. The Kentucky match is the first tilt of a 14 game schedule. Only 9 games have been definitely conceded for a return match, but with the Kentucky freshmen, and home and home games with Pikeville Junior College and Sue Bennett Junior College. If games are not arranged with Pikeville Jr. College, College and Sue Bennett netmen. Other Junior Colleges or state freshmen fires will round out the schedule. It is the largest number of games that a Morehead yearling outfit has ever played.

Kentucky will be favored here Thursday, but it would be little more than a mild upset if the Eagles defeated the Kittens. Scroggins has the best prospects for a winning combination that he has ever had before. The Morehead fire has been unable to get in as much practice as desired, but should be in fair shape, considering that none of the team have sustained any injuries, and all have been working hard in an attempt to make the starting lineup. A previous game scheduled with Rio Grande, was cancelled by the Ohio school.

The Morehead-Kentucky Freshmen game will be played as a preliminary

TAYLOR GETS MENTION FOR ALL-KENTUCKY

A disastrous record practically eliminated all football players of the Morehead State Teachers from consideration in the all-state S. I. A. A. elections, but Joe Taylor, Eagle team center, although not coming up to the standards he is capable of, managed to get in as the first honorable mention for Center on the Lexington Herald team.

It was necessary for Taylor to pile up enough votes on the second team selections of coaches and sports writers who did the picking to get in the honorable mention column. Dean Adlington, Morehead tackle, barely missed getting honorable mention.

The all-state first and second team selected by the Herald is:

tucky counties and from Tennessee and Missouri. The prices during the first week of auctions this season were as high and in some cases higher than the grade for grade level of a year ago. The principal advance was in the better types, trash and lug, which were from $2 to $5 a hundred above last year's levels. The AAA ruling permitting excess in the percentage of red and tail and tobacco coming to market, with the resulting decrease in market averages, although these types have been selling well and finding a ready market. Receipts were only moderate during the week, and by Saturday night more than 9,000,000 pounds were up on the city's 24 warehouses, which have a floor capacity of 15,000,000 pounds.

International honors again came to the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, when four of its students placed near the top in the annual essay contest conducted by the well-known Saddle and Soin Club of Chicago during the International Live Stock Exposition. Only 20 awards were made in the entire contest. Paul S. McComas, a Burkesville, Ky., won the silver medal, and the Kentucky College received the sterling silver cup for making the sterling silver cup for making the best showing of any institution in the United States and Canada.

James D. Toy, Belknap, was 4th; Carl R. Camenish, Stanford, 11th; Wendell E. Linkley, Fulton, 16th. Thus four of the highest prizes were taken by Kentucky students. The subject of the essay was "Meat Animal as a Farm Labor Saver." McComas by winning the silver medal at Chicago, also won first in the James B. Harlan memorial for Kentucky students.

SYNOPSIS

The future of the still youthful and comely "Miss" Marcia Howell, recently released by death from her dining self...

What disaster had laid him here helpless before them? As if their questions penetrated his consciousness...

"No matter, we're used to salt water here," she answered. "How do you feel? Nothing hurt?"

"Well, telephone Doctor Stetson. Meanwhile, you must get into these wet clothes. There is no surer way of catching cold..."

"I guess so—if it isn't far. I'm awfully dizzy. I don't know why. I suppose, though, I must be getting wet legs."

"You certainly must. Come, Sylvia, lend a hand! We'll help him up."

"No matter. We must get something hot inside you right away. Don't fuss about how it's done..."

"I'll get it." "I'd rather you didn't talk about it," continued he, hurriedly. "Just put it in a safe place. Will you, please?"

hold it a second until I pry the brick up. There we are! Now give it to me." She reached hurriedly for the package...

"It was well she had made haste, for no sooner was the clamp on the box snapped and the treasure concealed beneath the floor than Sylvia returned..."

"You're a nice waterlogged, I notice," she said, with a slight smile. "Something of the sort," returned the man...

"You don't say? Well, I ain't surprised the post-ern pocket-book from a robbery at one of the Long Island estates..."

"I'm afraid that's all I can offer in the way of burglary inducements." "That's the case, I suppose you do start next the patient upstairs..."

"What is my next move?" he inquired. "I told you before—you must take off your wet things and rest," she repeated.

"I still prescribe that treatment!" he said with a grin. "Why not?" was her quick answer. "Very well. I am quick, gentle..."

"He told me that name," Stanley Heath. "It's quite a romantic name, too. But I didn't mean that. I mean where did he come from and why? Didn't he tell you?"

"Not a word." Obviously the girl was disappointed. "I thought perhaps he might have been a mystery. I was gone long before he came to see me..."

"How do I know, dear?" Marcia sighed, as if determined to control her him as I do. I mean," she corrected, honesty forcing her to amend the assertion...

A Frock With Slender Lines for Matron Who Wears Size Forty-Six

Here's a real "find" for the woman who's a size forty-six, and has been seeking a dressy frock that will ably conceal extra pounds, yet allow her to look as young as she feels. Then, too, there's also a wealth of slenderness to be gained by center panels, front and back, which hold a wide box pleat in seam. Deserving of the title "bosom friend" is that dressy graceful twin jacket that so successfully conceals two ample curves. The matron will do well to choose a smooth, sleek silk, satin, or crepe for her "very best" frock, let the jabot contrast, and bright buttons do a little "highlighting."

Pattern 2487 is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 takes 3 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1/2 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to the Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 243 West Seventeenth St., New York City.

Ocean Hazard

Four-year-old Jean Holy of San Francisco didn't fall overboard, but she almost drowned in the middle of the Pacific ocean. She was wading in a pool aboard the Japanese liner Tatsuta Maru when she slipped beyond her depth. Peggy Stoneham, thirteen, leaped fully clothed into the pool and saved the child.

PIGS AIN'T PIGS

"Pigs is pigs, maybe," observed Farmer Julian Brown of Kingston, N. C., "but mine ain't." His pigs, Brown said, "regard cleanliness next to godliness." That is why he rigged up a shower bath for the sow and her litter of six. "The pigs keep sleek and clean," he said, "and enjoy the shower immensely."

Smiles FROM ABERDEEN

For the third week in succession, the dentist's surgery would reported that there was a man in the waiting room who declined all invitations to see the dentist. "Perhaps he's nervous," said the dentist. "I'll go and see him."

So he entered the waiting-room and asked if he could be of any service. "No, thank ye," replied the visitor, blandly. "I just drop in because, ye see, I'm reading a serial in one of your papers."—Stray Stories Magazine.

A Flier?

"Did you fish with flies?" asked the boy of his friend who had spent the summer at camp.

"Fish with them?" replied the other. "We fished with them, ate with them and slept with them!"

Sure, He'd Be Crazy

Ayrlton Attendant (in hot pursuit)—Excuse me, sir, I've come to warn you that if a man calls here demanding money, he's a lunatic.

Mr. McTavish—Mon, ye're right—Atlanta Constitution.

Interference

"Are you still writing profound articles?" asked the lady with a roll of manuscript.

"No," answered Miss Cayenne, "I found it interfered with my more serious duties. You can't spill ink and pour tea simultaneously."

Hawaii Discovery Made Possible by Franklin

To Benjamin Franklin is due "safe conduct" that enabled the discovery of Hawaii, today one of the most powerful units of America's national defense in the west.

In the Archives of Hawaii, on the grounds of the former royal palace in Honolulu, reposes a photostatic copy of a letter written from France in 1779 by Franklin, who was then minister plenipotentiary from the United States to the Court of France.

The document is addressed to "all captains and commanders of armed ships acting by commission from the congress of the United States of America" now in war with Great Britain, and explains that as Captain Cook's expedition had been fitted out before America and Great Britain were at war, the great navigator and explorer should be given a safe conduct and not considered as an enemy.

"How did your daughter come to take up singing?"

"She found it pleasanter work than helping mother with the dishes."

Just the Man

Hostess—Are you really a bank examiner, Mr. Tompkins?

Mr. Tompkins—Yes, madam, I happen to be.

Hostess—Then I hope you will have time to examine the baby's bank. No matter how much we shake it, nothing ever comes out of it.

Cheers for Calumet's New 10¢ Can—and perfect, never-fail baking!

"I never have baking troubles with Calumet—and I save, too!" says Mrs. Jack Conley, 880 Avalon St., Memphis, Tenn.

"Your new 10c can makes me feel very thrifty!" says Mrs. Nancy E. Williams, 497 Mountain Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

"It's real quality at a saving!" says Mrs. K. J. Tobin, of Beverly Hills, Ill. "I've never had a baking failure with Calumet."

Why does Calumet give such "kick"? Why is it different from other baking powders?

Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick one for the mixing bowl—a slower one for the oven. This Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25c! And ask to see the new, big 10c can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

A SIMPLE TWIST... and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spill, etc., no broken finger-nails!
