

Terms of this Paper.

The Campaign Flag will be published every Friday on an issue about one week in advance of the date upon which the Presidential election in November will take place...

The Campaign flag.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31, 1848. Thirty cheers for the Baltimore Convention!!

One Friday last we received the joyful news in this city, that on the preceding day, Gen. LEWIS CASS, of Michigan, had received the nomination at the house of the Baltimore Convention...

It is true that next to the lamented Sirs Wright we preferred Gen. Wm. J. Worth for the first office; but this preference was based alone upon the supposition that he would prove more acceptable to the democracy of New York...

Indeed, a more able and trust-worthy man could not have been given in the democratic party than Gen. Cass, nor one who is favored. He is all that the people can desire he should be...

It is needless to say Gen. Butler is universally popular, and that his political integrity is unquestioned and unimpeachable. While the vote he will receive in Kentucky will astonish the natives...

Will you please acquire of your correspondent, friend Wickliffe, whether or not the President "had" them out of gold spoons? It is important, just now that the people know what visitors are at the White House...

Has the editor seen Gen. Taylor's letters? Suppose Mr. Clay should be the nominee, and Gen. T. should run, as he says he will, in opposition, where then will be your general acquiescence? Echo answers—where?

The Herald.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

The meeting on Saturday.

It is hoped that no Democrat will fail to be present at the Court House, on Saturday next at 2 o'clock, as, in addition to the ratification of the nominations of President and Vice President...

Meeting between Col. Johnson and Mr. Powell.

These gentlemen met, recently, at Burklew in Cumberland county. Their meeting was the most friendly character, and a mutual friend to both, Dr. Gaither, proposed to Mr. Powell that he should run as Lieutenant Governor...

"That there are some dark spots in the horizon, we do not dispute. But the very object of the Convention is to dissipate them."—Ola, and repeats.

These "dark spots" we suppose to be the Northern Abolitionists, with Black Tom Corwin at their head. They are "dark spots," indeed; but we fear the "Whig Convention" will be unable to "dissipate them" with any thing short of hard cider...

Gen. C. M. GUTHRIE, LEVI T. LIND, WM. T. CAMPBELL, J. B. H. HENRY, S. S. RONALD, J. M. GUTHRIE, LEVI TYLER, LINN BOYD.

From the Louisville Courier. To the editor of the Louisville Courier. MANSON COURT, KY., May 18th, 1848.

Sirs: As humble as you seem to deem me, I am not so silent in self-reproach, as to enter into a war of words with you. You have never done me, or any honorable man, justice. Your course herefore towards me was such as I anticipated.

THE FIRST TIME.—On Saturday last our neighbors of Aberdeen were favored with an exhibition of Rockwell & Co.'s splendid and attractive circus; but we regret to say, that owing to some cause or other, the audience was small during the day. There was a full turnout at night, however.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The posts are up on the telegraph line from this city to Lexington on Saturday last. The Lightning will begin to give us news in a few days.

THE question answered. In reply to our query, last week, as to the truth of Mr. Guthrie having written a letter to a gentleman of this State, in which he said "If the Democrats of Northern Kentucky wish or intend to interfere with the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor, they may all go to hell," the Georgetown Herald, of the 24th, replies as follows:

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

Candidates for Lieut. Governor.

Louisville, May 21st, 1848. Hon. John P. Martin—Sigs—George W. Johnson, Esq., who was nominated as the democratic candidate for the office of Lieut. Governor, by the convention held at Frankfort on the 16th of March last, has declined that nomination...

There is something equally ridiculous in the idea of Mr. Bortland's endorsing for the voters of the State. When I first read this, I thought Mr. Bortland was going about in the lap of Eternity with his "moral"...

Letter from Cassius M. Clay. From the Louisville Courier. To the editor of the Louisville Courier. MANSON COURT, KY., May 18th, 1848.

Sirs: As humble as you seem to deem me, I am not so silent in self-reproach, as to enter into a war of words with you. You have never done me, or any honorable man, justice.

THE FIRST TIME.—On Saturday last our neighbors of Aberdeen were favored with an exhibition of Rockwell & Co.'s splendid and attractive circus; but we regret to say, that owing to some cause or other, the audience was small during the day.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The posts are up on the telegraph line from this city to Lexington on Saturday last. The Lightning will begin to give us news in a few days.

THE question answered. In reply to our query, last week, as to the truth of Mr. Guthrie having written a letter to a gentleman of this State, in which he said "If the Democrats of Northern Kentucky wish or intend to interfere with the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor, they may all go to hell," the Georgetown Herald, of the 24th, replies as follows:

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

An Excellent Article.

Under this head the Mayville Herald of the 24th inst., publishes an article from the New York Journal of Commerce, which hits the whig party some of the severest blows of anything which we have read for the last month.

From the Louisville Courier. To the editor of the Louisville Courier. MANSON COURT, KY., May 18th, 1848.

Sirs: As humble as you seem to deem me, I am not so silent in self-reproach, as to enter into a war of words with you. You have never done me, or any honorable man, justice.

THE FIRST TIME.—On Saturday last our neighbors of Aberdeen were favored with an exhibition of Rockwell & Co.'s splendid and attractive circus; but we regret to say, that owing to some cause or other, the audience was small during the day.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The posts are up on the telegraph line from this city to Lexington on Saturday last. The Lightning will begin to give us news in a few days.

THE question answered. In reply to our query, last week, as to the truth of Mr. Guthrie having written a letter to a gentleman of this State, in which he said "If the Democrats of Northern Kentucky wish or intend to interfere with the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor, they may all go to hell," the Georgetown Herald, of the 24th, replies as follows:

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

Candidates for Lieut. Governor.

Louisville, May 21st, 1848. Hon. John P. Martin—Sigs—George W. Johnson, Esq., who was nominated as the democratic candidate for the office of Lieut. Governor, by the convention held at Frankfort on the 16th of March last, has declined that nomination...

There is something equally ridiculous in the idea of Mr. Bortland's endorsing for the voters of the State. When I first read this, I thought Mr. Bortland was going about in the lap of Eternity with his "moral"...

Letter from Cassius M. Clay. From the Louisville Courier. To the editor of the Louisville Courier. MANSON COURT, KY., May 18th, 1848.

Sirs: As humble as you seem to deem me, I am not so silent in self-reproach, as to enter into a war of words with you. You have never done me, or any honorable man, justice.

THE FIRST TIME.—On Saturday last our neighbors of Aberdeen were favored with an exhibition of Rockwell & Co.'s splendid and attractive circus; but we regret to say, that owing to some cause or other, the audience was small during the day.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The posts are up on the telegraph line from this city to Lexington on Saturday last. The Lightning will begin to give us news in a few days.

THE question answered. In reply to our query, last week, as to the truth of Mr. Guthrie having written a letter to a gentleman of this State, in which he said "If the Democrats of Northern Kentucky wish or intend to interfere with the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor, they may all go to hell," the Georgetown Herald, of the 24th, replies as follows:

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

Candidates for Lieut. Governor.

Louisville, May 21st, 1848. Hon. John P. Martin—Sigs—George W. Johnson, Esq., who was nominated as the democratic candidate for the office of Lieut. Governor, by the convention held at Frankfort on the 16th of March last, has declined that nomination...

There is something equally ridiculous in the idea of Mr. Bortland's endorsing for the voters of the State. When I first read this, I thought Mr. Bortland was going about in the lap of Eternity with his "moral"...

Letter from Cassius M. Clay. From the Louisville Courier. To the editor of the Louisville Courier. MANSON COURT, KY., May 18th, 1848.

Sirs: As humble as you seem to deem me, I am not so silent in self-reproach, as to enter into a war of words with you. You have never done me, or any honorable man, justice.

THE FIRST TIME.—On Saturday last our neighbors of Aberdeen were favored with an exhibition of Rockwell & Co.'s splendid and attractive circus; but we regret to say, that owing to some cause or other, the audience was small during the day.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The posts are up on the telegraph line from this city to Lexington on Saturday last. The Lightning will begin to give us news in a few days.

THE question answered. In reply to our query, last week, as to the truth of Mr. Guthrie having written a letter to a gentleman of this State, in which he said "If the Democrats of Northern Kentucky wish or intend to interfere with the nomination of a Democratic candidate for Governor, they may all go to hell," the Georgetown Herald, of the 24th, replies as follows:

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

THE HERALD.—It affords us pleasure to see that we have, at last, been able to infuse life enough into the hitherto dormant editor of the Herald to induce him to breathe up and show signs of life...

Job Work NEATLY EXECUTED AT THE OFFICE OF THE KENTUCKY FLAG.

