AGUST ELECTION.

For the Legislature. WILLIAM W. BLAIR, Esq. L. W. ANDRWS, Esq. HENRY D. BURGESS, Esq. CAPT. JOHN BRINN.

The immediate attention of the candidates is invited to the queries of many voters. They are made by responsible and intelligent men of both parties, and the votes of many depend upon the man in which they are answered.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE?—This question is frequently asked, and to which it would be difficult, consistent with the truth, to give any other than the following reply: That very little business of importance has been done, but that incalculable evil has been prevented by the firmness and patriotism of the House of Representatives.

The Hon. Wm. Gason, has been mentioned, in some of the Southern papers, as a suitable candidate for the office of Vice President.

Messrs. Andrews, Blair, Burgess & Brinn. Gents: As the period is approaching when the people of Fleming, are expected to cast their votes for some two of you, to represent them in the next General Assembly, and as many of the voters of the county have not had the advantage of hearing your addresses or opinions on many important subjects connected with the interest of the people of Kentucky, will you give direct answers to the following questions:

1st. What are your opinions upon the propriety or impropriety of the system of Internal Improvements as now adopted for the policy of the State?

2nd. Are you or are you not in favor of the system of Common Schools adopted by the last Legislature or some other system, by means of which every class may be educated, and would you be willing to appropriate the funds of the State for such an object?

3rd. Are you or are you not for sustaining the State Banks. If you are how far; and should they continue in the state of suspension until the meeting of the next Legislature, will you or not, if elected, vote to compel a resumption or cause them instantly and permanently to forfeit their charters?

4th. Do you or do you not believe that the salaries of the Judges of the Circuit Court should be equal. If so, are you willing that Walker Reed, Judge of our District, shall serve for $5,000 less than others, while his labor is at least equal to any in the State. Will you, therefore, if elected, vote to repeal the law partially raising the salaries, or have a law passed equalizing the salary of our Judge, who seems now to be prescribed, receiving as he does but $1000, to the same standard with the most favored; and do you believe that the Judges salary bill, as passed at the session of '36-7, Constitutional or based upon sound policy?

5th. Do you or do you not believe in the unqualified right of instruction—that officers are but public servants—and the people legitimately their masters, and if so, is not the representative body at all times and on all occasions to vote for such laws or measures as from the best sources of information he may have that his constituents may require regardless of his private opinion?

6th. Are you or are you not in favor of calling a Convention? If so, give us your reason for so thinking; if opposed to it give your objections.

7th. If a majority of the people of Fleming who cast their votes at the coming election shall have voted for a Convention, or if a majority of the people of the State who have cast their votes shall have voted for a Convention, in either case, if elected, will you vote for a law similar to that of last session, giving to the people the right again to vote on the subject; and, if no one else will introduce a bill for such object at the proper time will you?

Will you be pleased, gentlemen, to answer the above questions through the columns of the next 'Flemingsburg Kentuckian.' MANY VOTERS.

LIST OF ACTS, PASSED AT THE 25th Session of the 25th CONGRESS, BEGIN ON THE FIRST MONDAY IN DECEMBER, 1837, AND ENDED ON THE 9th DAY OF JULY, 1838.

To change the time of holding the Circuit Courts of the United States, in the 7th circuit.

town (Tenn.) Republican, thinks from the character of the boat that there is some probability of its being true.

Paducah, Ky. the village almost totally destroyed by fire in May last, is beginning to rise Phenix like from its ashes. The improvements, says the Banner of that place, are progressing finally—the hum of industry and bright anticipations of soon repulsing her have chased away the melancholy, which rested on the countenances of those whose fate it was to have their property destroyed by the recent fire. Ere long Paducah will be mistress of herself again.

The Whigs of Maryland have had a great meeting at Havre-de-Grace. Mr. Prentiss, Mr. Monticue, and other distinguished members of Congress were present and addressed the meeting on the occasion.

POETRY.

From the Gleaner's Magazine.
A PART FROM THEE.
By MISS C. WATERMAN.
Apart from thee, apart from thee,
My lingering footsteps slowly rove,
Beside the silent river's side,
I trace the haunts we used to love,
The blushing flowers in gladness spring,
And twine their garlands round my feet,
And birds their early carols sing,
And yet, nor bird nor flower is sweet,
They have no song or breath for me,
Because I am apart from thee.
The moonlight gleams upon the stream,
And all the silver stars of even,
In my bright and shining beam,
Still mirror thee the light of heaven,
And like a playful child, it glides
In music thro' the quiet wood,
And wakens with its gentle tides,
The echo in its solitude;
But aady doth it speak to me,
Because I am apart from thee.
Alone, I watch the morning rise
In beauty o'er the distant hill,
And mark the bright and glad earth fill,
With golden gleams the glad earth fill,
And far adown the crimson tides,
Alone I watch its fading light,
And linger still, till darkness shrouds
Its glory with the veil of night;
For like the light of life to me,
Because I am apart from thee.
Apart from thee, low, sad, low, sad,
Have all my early feelings grown;
The heart can no longer glad,
That broods in solitude alone;
And like a hawk that hounds its prey,
Thy I hark to the wester wind,
No courtly ditties of the throng,
Its buried music may command;
Thy silent all, 'till I shall be
No longer, low, apart from thee.

those dispositions which constitute the bliss of an unending existence. Tested by its tendencies beyond the grave, religion, in its bearings and results, transcends all other sciences. The knowledge which it imparts does not perish at the time to which it devotes the body from its ethereal companion. Whilst its precepts tend to the highest improvement of this state of probation, the spirit is congenial with that ineffable reward to which we aspire. It is the preparation for immortality, which should be daily and hourly wrought out, amid all the mutations of time.

UNITED STATES, by steamboat accidents. In 1837, six or seven hundred, and thus far in 1838 nearly or quite one thousand.

GROONIES, a Greek word, and the name of some agricultural essays in the Boston Courier, is thus translated in the West:—Geep-ponics.

AN OKAGE VENTURE.—Leigh Hunt would not venture on an orange, "Madman, I should be happy to do so, but I'm afraid I should tumble off."

THE LAST SCENE.—A Yankee pedlar, recommending a safe, said that one of the same kind and style was so sharp, that they hang it on a tree in Kentucky, and its shadow cut a man's leg off!

Progress of time.—A pedlar going through the land with wooden clogs.

DR. H. J. MOFFETT, HAVING returned from the West, continuing to practice his office in this city, and being thus situated, anticipating no other distant calls, expects to embark calmly and deliberately in the various functions and offices of his profession, being well equipped with treated and genuine Medicines, counterpoisons, instruments, &c., for the successful management of all cases in the practice or range of common medicine—also, in that of operative surgery and obstetrics.

INDUSTRY.—The following anecdote may give some encouragement to the industrious man:—Not long ago a country gentleman had an estate of £200 a year which he kept in his own hands, and he found himself so much in debt, that to satisfy his creditors, he was obliged to sell the half and to let the remainder to a farmer for twenty-one years. Towards the expiration of the lease the farmer wanted to pay his money, but the gentleman wanted he would sell the farm. "Why will you buy it?" said the gentleman. "If you will part with it, and we can agree," replied the farmer. "It is exceedingly strange," said the gentleman. "Why tell me what it happens to be, while I could not have rent twice as much land, for which I pay no rent, you are regularly paying me a hundred a year for your farm, and you wish to pay me to purchase it?" "The reason is this," said the farmer: "you set off, and said 'God! I got up and said 'come! you fall in bed and I enjoyed your estate.' I rose in the morning and minded my business."

LAW NOTICE. THE undersigned having removed from near to Flemingburg, in this part of the State of Law. His office will be kept up stairs above the late post office, where he may be found or at his residence near town, unless absent on business—and hopes by a vigilant attention to the profession to share a portion of the patronage.

THOMSON WARD, 15m-31
THOMAS THROOP,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HAS removed his office to the frame building on the east side of Main Cross street, opposite the store of N. S. & J. W. Andrews, where he will attend to all business, and is necessarily absent. In addition to the Courts of Fleming, he will regularly attend those of the Circuits of Mason, Bath and Nicholas; and will endeavor to discharge faithfully his duty to those who may entrust any business of his profession to his care.

WOOD CARRIAGE. WE are now prepared to cut wood of every description in the neatest manner, and at short notice. The cords will be superintended by Mr. Samuel McCawley, who has an interest in the factory and has been engaged in the business 22 years and is fully conversant as a carter and machinist we flatter ourselves that we can card as well as it can be done at any factory in the state. We pledge ourselves, that every attention will be given to satisfy the customer in every particular. The cord will be furnished at a moderate price to those who prefer it. Our patrons are requested to prepare their wood free of burrs, and send it as early as convenient. Our prices will be 8 and 10 cents per bushel. We have P. S. We are also prepared to colour wood Linsey Plaster, and yams of different shades. BEAN, STOCKWELL, & Co. Flemingsburg, May 11, 1838. 24-1f

EAGLE TAVERN. CORNER OF FRONT AND MARKET STREETS, MAYSVILLE, KY.
Mrs. Judith Goddard, (Late of the Washington) HAVING been compelled to give up the house she has so long occupied, takes pleasure in informing her friends and the traveling public that she has succeeded in getting a new and better place, known as the EAGLE TAVERN, (formerly in the occupancy of John T. Langborne and more recently kept by John Dudley,) where she will at all times be pleased to see her old friends and attend to the business known as the EAGLE TAVERN. In taking leave of the stand she has so long occupied, she would be doing injustice to her own feelings were she not to return grateful acknowledgments to those who have so kindly supported her for the last four years, and in doing so, to announce to the factors which has been invariably extended to her, she pledges that no exertions shall be wanting on her part to merit it. For the management of her present establishment she makes no promises, but referring to the past, ventures to assure all, who may visit her house that no pains or expense shall be spared to render their stay at once comfortable and agreeable. Her bill will as usual present in conformity to a receipt, and her BAR will be supplied with the choicest Wines and Liquors. Mayville, Oct. 18, 1837. 1-6

JUST RECEIVED and for sale, in addition to our former stock, Mackeral, Raisins and Almonds.

June 8, 1838. 33-2f

PROSPECTUS OF THE RURAL REPOSITORY, devoted to Political Literature and Statistics, Agricultural Treatise, Original Communications, Biography, Traveling Sketches, Anecdotes, Miscellany, Humorous and Historical Anecdotes, Poetry, &c. On Saturday, the 23d of June, 1838, will be issued the Fourth Number of the Fifth Volume (Sixth New Series) of the RURAL REPOSITORY.

On issuing the proposals for a new volume of the Rural Repository, the publisher tendered his acknowledgments to his numerous contributors, agents and subscribers, for the liberal support which they have afforded him from the commencement of this publication. New subscribers to the part of the publisher of the present year, a neat and tasteful volume, would seem superfluous, he will therefore only say, that it will be conducted on a similar plan and published in the same form as heretofore, and that no pains or expense shall be spared to promote their gratification.

CONDITIONS.—The RURAL REPOSITORY will be published every Saturday, in the Quarto form, and will contain twelve or thirteen pages each, with a title page and index to the volume, making in the whole 208 pages. It will be printed in handsome style, on Medium paper of a superior quality, with great type, making a neat and useful volume, containing matter equal to one thousand and a half pages, which will be both amusing and instructive in future years.

TERMS.—The Fifth volume, (Sixth New Series) will commence on the 23d of June next, at the low rate of One Dollar per annum in advance, or One Dollar and Fifty Cents at the expiration of three months from the time of subscribing. Any person, who will remit five Dollars, free of postage, shall receive ten copies, and any person, who will remit Ten Dollars, free of postage, shall receive twenty copies, and no copy of either of the previous volumes. No subscription received for less than ten copies. Subscribers to be sent by the 23d of June, or as soon as convenient, to the publisher, WILLIAM B. STOCKWELL, Hudson, Columbia Co. N. Y. 1838.

ONE CENT REWARD. RANAWAY from the subscriber, living in Fleming county, Kentucky, on the 15th of October last, a young man named Morgan McCall, aged 15 or 16 years, an indentured apprentice to the Farming Business. The above reward will be given for the delivery of said boy, but no extra charges paid. Any person or persons, who find or protect said boy, will have the law enforced against them.

CHARLES NEALIS, Sen.
May 18, 1838. 30-6

NOTICE. THE subscribers having purchased the whole and entire stock of Drugs, Medicine and Fish Farming, &c. of McDowell and Thomas, of Flemingsburg, desire to inform the public and the public generally, that they design and intend to continue the above business in the same house heretofore occupied for that purpose, and hope, by their attention to business to merit a share of public patronage. They will keep for sale or receive on hand or preparing and sell, to help superintend and manage the concerns of the establishment.

DAY PARTITION ATTENTION (EVEN SUNDAY) to the receiving and forwarding of Goods, Wares and Merchandise of every description, entrusted to their care.

It having been reported through the interior of our country, that many of our citizens were being misled by unscrupulous persons, who were offering to sell, to the public, a quantity of counterfeit money, and others that were still in a pretty good state of successful operations, and with a good stock of the various articles in our line, on hand, which we offer on good terms at the low rates in the place. We hope all our friends will be so good as to support us, by sending towards us.

It is difficult for a man to forsake his adopted habits, however deleterious they may be to his present and future welfare. Hence it is of inestimable importance to the rising generation, that the parent or guardian of each use the utmost diligence to instill into the young and pliant mind, a love of prudence, industry, economy, benevolence, temperance, and industry, and to encourage each youth to the constant exercise of these virtues. By the faithful and well-timed prosecution of these ends the majority of parents will be happily rewarded with virtuous, grateful, and obedient children, and the inheritance of a million without the practice of the cardinal virtues.

INDUSTRY.—The following anecdote may give some encouragement to the industrious man:—Not long ago a country gentleman had an estate of £200 a year which he kept in his own hands, and he found himself so much in debt, that to satisfy his creditors, he was obliged to sell the half and to let the remainder to a farmer for twenty-one years. Towards the expiration of the lease the farmer wanted to pay his money, but the gentleman wanted he would sell the farm. "Why will you buy it?" said the gentleman. "If you will part with it, and we can agree," replied the farmer. "It is exceedingly strange," said the gentleman. "Why tell me what it happens to be, while I could not have rent twice as much land, for which I pay no rent, you are regularly paying me a hundred a year for your farm, and you wish to pay me to purchase it?" "The reason is this," said the farmer: "you set off, and said 'God! I got up and said 'come! you fall in bed and I enjoyed your estate.' I rose in the morning and minded my business."

The National Intelligencer of the 4th, has these appropriate reflections upon the anniversary of American Independence.

This heart-stirring anniversary, formerly so radiant with the glow of glory, but latterly dimmed by the distresses of the people and the sad feelings of those who had been taught to despair of the Republic—returns to-day to us with a new and more glorious meaning. It is the anniversary of the restoration of the elements of the shattered prosperity; but it is the anniversary of partial success and the anticipation of ultimate triumph; when the Government will be restored to its legitimate action, when the Constitution shall regain supreme, when the laws shall control the Executive will, and the servant of the people cease to be their master.

INISH HONOR.—A few days ago, one of the Irish Librarians on the railway was very severely hurt by a fall of earth—However, he complained not, but desired he might have a wail of tobacco. He then laid on a beard, and hoisted on four men's shoulders, and was carried off being conveyed to the infirmary. Upon moving, "Arrah, by the powers," he exclaimed, with all the characteristic humor of his country, "the did I expect to live to see my own funeral!"

CHOICE TASTE.—A diplomat starchy coquette, on a steamboat, was asked if she would be helped to a bit of food. The young tar, wishing to be extremely polite and ostentatious on the occasion, with much dignity of air replied: "Thank you prodigiously, sir; I prefer a nice little immediate gift of those ramfled baby passengers"—Helena (Amk) Say.

SHARPSHOOTER MODERATED.—Two lovers were sparring the other day, in front of the Bank, when one drew a wad from his pocket, and said: "He who steals my purse shall die!" "Yes," replied the other, "and he who fleeces from you your good name, takes from you what you need!—had!"

A NEW IDEA.—One of our jobbers, the other day, on reading the deaths in a dowry, said to his partner, who was sitting at the list to be so and upwards, said he could see how people appeared to live so long at the north—he would be 30, and had it money enough to hold out much longer.—N. O. Picayune.

In the days of the blue-laws, a shoemaker was condemned to be hung for some crime; but, on the day of execution, it was discovered that the man was a Quaker, and he was taken to the town and could not possibly be spared. A weaver was hung in his place, as they had plenty of them.

ORIGINAL ANECDOTE.—A sturdy and undisciplined man, on being arrested for being present when two persons were speaking of a certain land case, having been denied by the Court in Bank, feeling no doubt his temper rages at the mention of the word Bank, and Ah, good fellow, he might have known that it was not in his hand in the matter, he could not succeed!
