NEW CITY COUNCILMEN ASSUME DUTIES AT MEETING HELD AT CITY HALL ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Mayor Wilson Administers Oath Of Office And Cites Law For Legality Of Action; City Attorney D. B. Cudill Takes Exception; Old Two Members Leave; One Remains But Refuses To Vote; Allow Claims

The Morehead city council met on Tuesday night with the three new members appointed by Governor Laffoon, taking their seats and being recognized by Mayor H. L. Wilson, as bona fide members of the council, over the protest of City Attorney, D. C. Cudill. Mayor Wilson had previously administered the oath of office to the new members, J. C. Wells, G. D. Pratt and W. H. Rice. Dr. Wilson cited decisions of the Court of Appeals to uphold his ruling, in which the court declared that an office could be filled when it has been "abandoned" by the holder. Abandonment by the holder, the ruling said, could be accomplished by failure to qualify or failure or neglect to perform the duties of the office. In this case, Mayor Wilson said, the failure of the officers to attend the meetings, as well as their written resignations made the offices vacant.

Mr. Cudill, on the other hand contends that a written resignation must be submitted to the city council at a regular meeting and must be accepted by them before the office is vacant. In that case he contends that the resignations have not been legal and that therefore appointments of Governor Laffoon are not legal since they were made to fill offices which were vacant at that time caused by the death of Prof. D. M. Holbrook. If Mr. Cudill's contention is correct, then the two resigned members of the council are still members of the council and the newly appointed members are not legal members of the council.

However Mayor Wilson announced the appointment of the new members and previously accepted the resignations of the old members, which left the council without a quorum. If Dr. Wilson's contention is correct then the governor's appointments stand.

At any rate the new members, recognized by Mayor Wilson attended the meeting Tuesday night and took up their duties. Considerable business was transacted, care of, especially in the allowing of claim.

The minutes of the last previous meeting were read and over the motion of the city attorney objecting to the approval of the minutes, the new members voted to approve while the old members rejected approval. Mayor Wilson untied the vote by voting for approval. Mr. Daugherty and Mr. S. M. Cannon then withdrew but Mr. Swift remained, giving the council a quorum. In voting on further business, Mr. Swift refused to vote while Mr. Wells, Mr. Rice and Mr. Pratt voted aye. The majority of the business transacted was the allowance of claims.

It is believed that on the advice of the city attorney the city treasurer will refuse to pay the claims on the grounds that they were illegally allowed. In that case, it will serve to make a test case of the matter, as those who have received vouchers will undoubtedly bring suit to collect. That will serve to bring the action into court where a decision will serve to settle the entire question.

Musical Trio To Appear Here

Green Stockings At College High

Green Stockings, a comedy in three acts by A. E. W. Mason, will be presented by the high school senior class in the college auditorium Wednesday night, May 18, at 8 o'clock. The play has been popular since its first production at the Thirty-Ninth Street Theatre in New York City in 1911.

The comedy has an English setting, the title being derived from an old English country custom which requires an older unmarried sister to wear green stockings to a younger sister's wedding. Celia Faraday, played by Sara Fraley, has worn green stockings twice to the weddings of her two younger sisters.

Now the third one wants to marry but Celia's father, portrayed by Logan Riddle, is determined that Celia must "get off" first. Celia, twenty-nine, unaffected, and possessed of a sense of humor promptly invents a fiancé, a Colonel Smith, in the army. The family is awed and overjoyed. Complications arise when Celia has Colonel Smith killed and a real Colonel John Smith, in the part of Raymond Ison, turns up. The part of Admiral Grice, a testy old gentleman friend of the Faraday family will be taken by Raymond Hall. The two younger married sisters, Madge and Evelyn, will be played by Esther Crothwaite and Alla Mae Burke respectively. Phyllis Faraday and Robert Tarver, who are in a hurry to get Celia married so they can, are portrayed by Lillian Messer and John Mack Nickell. Aunt Ida, who shares with Celia the

"Union Depot" At Cozy Monday

In a season of great pictures, "Union Depot" which comes to the Cozy Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, May 16 and 17, bulks as one of the big ones. It is big in every way, in story, in cast and in setting. "Union Depot" which has Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Blondell at the head of a cast of 3,090, is the story of a group of people thrown together by circumstances in one of his great railroad terminals of the country. The play covers only four hours of a day, but it is packed with thrill and romance, one of the fastest action stories brought to the theatre in many a season. It originally was a play, written by Gene Fowler and Joe Laurier, Jr., and was adopted to the screen by Walter De Leon and Kenyon Nicholson.

The cast of Union Depot is, without question one of the finest ever brought together for pictures. There are ninety name characters and over 3,000 additional players who lend action to the story. Realistic in the extreme, the main story is told in the midst of many little human stories of travelers of all sorts and conditions. Mr. Fairbanks is supported by Joan Blondell as leading lady, Guy Kibbee, Alan Hale, Geo. Rosener and others equally well known.

The May Pole festivities, which had been postponed one week, were held last Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock in front of the library building. Before a large crowd of students and townspeople, Miss Alouise Cress, Danville, was crowned Queen of the May. Mr. Edward Keaton served as Prince Charming.

The procession marched from Fields Hall to the front of the library building where the ladies and lords grouped themselves about the throne as Prince Charming crowned the queen. There were several dances including the May Pole dance, among different groups of girls. Given by the musical selections were numbers by members of the Foster Choral club and the junior high school glee club.

Miss Mary Everett served as crown-bearer; Miss Scotty Hankins and Miss Eaythe Allen, as heralds;

Miss Farris Hendrix and Miss Katherine Purcell, as train-bearers; Miss Irma Scott and Miss Mary Ann Thomas as flower girls. Miss Beatrice Goodwin was the Spirit of May Day. Mr. Eddie Kuphal acted as Court Jester.

The lords were Oakley Wootton, Jim Maggard, Harold Keaton, Francis Keaton, Luster Oxley, Willard Johnson, Paul Sparks, Jack Coyle, Allie Holbrook, and David Nickell. The ceremonies of the day ended with a May Day dance from 8 till 10 in the college gymnasium. Music was furnished by the town orchestra.

Murderer Of Wife Held In Local Jail

What is said to have been one of the most atrocious murder ever committed in Elliot county occurred Tuesday morning near Sandy Hook when Harry Burton murdered his wife, Virgin Burton, as she worked in her garden. Mrs. Burton was 40 years old and the mother of six children several of them grown. Burton is being held in the county jail here awaiting examining trial.

According to reports from people who are said to have witnessed the crime, Burton approached his wife as she lay on the ground, he jumped and knocked her down, insensible. As she lay on the ground, he jumped on her, pulled his knife from his pocket and cut her throat from ear to ear. He then is said to have struck her in the throat with the knife, severing her jugular vein. Burton is said to have been entirely calm during the entire proceeding. It is related that he accused her of "not being the onions properly."

Burton then left and went to Sandy Hook. Men and neighbors formed groups to locate him. Excitement is said to have run high with threat of mob violence. According to reports the daughter of the murdered woman witnessed the killing. Two sons are said to have been in the groups that were searching for their father with shot guns. Burton asked to be removed to another place for safe keeping. He was brought to Morehead disguised in an army overcoat, by John W. Green.

Tuesday night a group of Elliot county citizens were in Morehead and it was feared for a time that mob violence would result, considering the high tension to which sentiment had been raised. Many of them were told that Burton was no longer in the Rowan county jail, but had been removed elsewhere.

Mrs. Burton is survived by six children, two daughters and four sons. They are Clyde, Roy, Rufus, Cecil, Golote and Mrs. P. M. Stogall.

Burton is said to have been tried once before for murder, but came clear. He is also reported to have just been released about four months ago from the penitentiary at Frankfort.

Heffner Show Is High Quality

While up to the present the crowds that have been attending the Heffner-Vinson show, which is in Morehead this week on the S. M. Bradley lot, have not been large, those who have been attending have been highly pleased with the entertainment that has been offered. Mr. Heffner has surrounded himself with a number of real artists and particularly in the department of vaudeville specialties, both in quality, number and variety, the show is far above the average, and probably the best that has ever shown here. Mr. Heffner carries a large company, with chorus girls and special feature dancers many of whom are headliners on their departments.

One particular feature, the athletic dancer, created considerable favorable comment, to such an extent that a number of people asked particularly for her to repeat her performance.

Featured among the performers, is the Fox family, two daughters and their mother, who not only dance in the ensemble, but who also do special dancing. The Fox Sisters are well known here having done a week's engagement here two years ago.

The harmony trio who sings feature songs every night are another attraction well worth hearing. Mr. Heffner himself is the comedian and he is good. The show will be here the balance of the week.

MISS MILLER WINS IN ATWATER CONTEST

Methodists To Dedicate Church

Next Sunday, May 15 will mark an epoch in the history of the local Methodist Church. For on Sunday, May 15, the new church edifice will be dedicated for service. The church has been built for three years and will be dedicated for church services on Sunday morning. Services will start promptly at 10:45 a. m. with Bishop W. F. McMurry, D. D. of Fayette, Missouri, and President of the Western Virginia, Baltimore, Illinois, Louisville and Kentucky Conferences will preach the sermon and dedicate the church.

The dedicatory services are very impressive and will be well witnessed by everyone who is interested in the church future of the community, whether you belong to the Methodist church or not. Every one is invited to attend the inspiring services next Sunday. This dedicatory service is the culmination of five years work of the local Methodist organization and it is hoped that they may have a goodly number present for the service.

The formal service has not yet been announced. Then News has been requested to call attention to the change in the time for the Sunday school, next Sunday only. They are meeting at 9:30 a. m. in order to give the congregation time to assemble for the dedicatory service.

Just one more day and it will all be over so far as the seniors of the Morehead High School are concerned. Today the class is enjoying their own day CLASS DAY. A program which is published in another column of this page was held at 10:30 this morning in the high school gymnasium. Miss Edna McDaniel offered the salutation as the second high ranking student. Miss Grace Evans served as class historian and gave a review of the class from the time it entered high school until its final exit as graduates. The class sang their class song. The class program was read and the seniors learned what and where and how they will be years hence. Miss Mildred Caudill read the class will while Audra Hall discussed Grumblers. Luther Jayne, President of the senior class delivered the Key Oration which was responded to by Catherine Jackson President of the Junior class.

Miss Marie Thomas, honor student of the class and valedictorian, delivered the valedictory. As a final of the program gave the valedictory gave the valedictory. As a final close of the program the class gave their class yell.

There is always a mixture of fun and sadness in a program of this sort and the class day exercises this year were no exceptions to the rule. The senior class has planned a last hike for this afternoon.

On Friday evening at the High school gymnasium the commencement exercises will be held, beginning at 7:30. The program is also published on this page of the News.

Outstanding on the program several numbers by the Glee Club.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dean William H. Vaughan, dean of the Morehead State Teachers College. Dean Vaughan is a forceful speaker and one who always has a decided message to deliver. He will undoubtedly, have a real message for not only the graduates of the school but for their parents and friends.

On the same night at the same time Roy Holbrook, principal of the grades will present the diplomas to the Eighth Grade graduates of the school.

And congratulations will be in order.

On Sunday night, May 9, Baccalaureate services were held at the Methodist Church in honor of the Seniors. Rev. A. R. Perkins preached the sermon which was crowded with good advice and inspiration for the seniors as well as for the older members of the assembled crowd. 250 members of the assembled crowd.

This year's senior class of the Morehead High School is the largest that has ever completed the course in the local school. Twenty members will receive their diplomas Friday night, which indicates that they have completed the prescribed course of study and are now ready to start out on their own walks, either in college or in business.

Ohio Nine To Perform Here

After two weeks of inactivity during which Coach Downing has been remedying weaknesses prevalent in the Morris-Harvey games, the local ball team will take the field here Friday and Saturday for two game series with Marietta (Ohio) College.

The Eagles starting lineup is apt to be changed from that of the Morris-Harvey tilts. Downing has indicated that the outfield may be shifted around with some new faces injected in the starters.

Under Frozen Skies

But the journey to Lake Expans would consume a fortnight and the thought of what might await him behind a certain split rock on an island ten miles across the untraversed surface of Milawangaganna led him to postpone his start until tomorrow.
The spell of the northern summer was unclouded as the dusky spruce green of the slages; the cool depths of the translucent lake as Jim paddled along shore toward the sturgeon sediments at the outlet, to deceive his sharp eyes which followed his departure from the post. Then with a savage lunge his paddle tore the water to foam. Across the lake they laughed at LeBlond. Sunset House, did they? So they held the Pipestone and Sturgeon River trade by bribing a sorcerer! Well, as Omar said, there were ways of handling a shaman. Esau was an old hand at the game, He and Omar should have their wish. They would go to the summer camps of the Pipestone Lake Indians—carry the war into the enemies' country. Jim Stuart's future as a fur man was at stake. He'd stayed fair, but now all rules were off and henceforth there'd be no quarter.
Then his anger cooled as he thought of the girl whose message he was padding ten miles to look for at the split rock. A reckless game, this, he admitted. Some day she'd be seen and followed. Then, even, might be caught. Then what? He laughed aloud at the thought. Well, she was worth it—this bewildering daughter of LeBlond.
It was mid-forenoon when the birch bark of Jim Stuart approached the split rock on the stony beach of the island. Stepping from the canoe Jim's eager eyes searched the bushes behind the rock for the telltale white note which she had promised to leave. Then, lying under a stone he saw to his surprise a folded sheet rolled, as if torn from a small note book. It did not seem like his—his soiled scrap of paper at his feet. Puzzled, he picked it up and read: "This is your first and last warning. Louis LeBlond will see that there are no more love notes here for you. The next time you come for a letter you'll get lead."
The note was written in pencil in an immature hand and unsigned, "Paradis."
He had followed her at a distance, and finding her note, had left this. And now LeBlond would not let her out of his sight—would watch her as a lynx watches a rabbit. Jim Stuart had seen the last of the girl who had filled his living room at Sunset House with laughter—whose departure had left him lonely, vaguely restless, puzzled with himself.
Nice dog in the manner, this Paradis! The head man of LeBlond had only run true to form in spying on the girl who laughed at him. Then the angered Stuart rasped aloud, "Get lead, eh, if I come again? If I could meet Monsieur Paradis here, I'd come again tomorrow!"
"Weel today do?" From that thick spruce in his rear a voice wheeled. Jim in his tracks as Paradis appeared in the brush back of the canoe, carrying a gun. Stuart was unarmed, leered at the man who watched him.
"Well, Monsieur Stuart, here sees Paradis!" he taunted. You have your wish. What weel the writer of love notes do about eat?"
"You're a pretty specimen of a man, Paradis," said Jim coolly, refusing to take the situation seriously. "You swing a gun on me then, ask what I intend to do. Drop that gun and come down here on the beach, if you're not afraid, and I'll show you what I intend to do about it."
"Ah, he boasts," Paradis grinned in derision.
"Well, there is only one way to call a bluff," growled Jim. "You hold the cards it's your play."
"Yes, it is my play." A Paradis bent with laughter, Jim edged a yard nearer. "But I have not made up my mind whether to shoot you or take you to Louis LeBlond and let you taste the sting of Black Jule's dog-whip." At the fantastic threat the hard thinking Stuart grinned in derision, but the situation was not humorous. Was his wild eyed Paradis fingering the trigger of his rifle, fifteen feet away, unbalanced over the girl—or drunk? Either condition was dangerous with that rifle.

"Shoot me eh?" Jim scoffed, sliding a moccasin a foot nearer the man who covered him. "You'd hang, if my man, Omar didn't get you first, and they'd run the North West trading company out of the bush." Then an idea flashed through his brain as the inflamed eyes of Paradis glared at him. Take me to LeBlond. It's his daughter. Let him settle it. "I'll settle my own affairs." The face of Paradis was distorted with passion. Slowly he brought the rifle to his shoulder.
Stuart's heart started with a leap. The man was crazed! He would shoot! With a desperate bound Jim strained to reach the madman, to deflect his aim; but fell, sprawled in low brush. A short of his gun, as Paradis backed away, his goal still covering his enemy.
"Ah," chuckled the other, "that was worth the blow in the face at Medicine Lake—to see you jump like a frog!"
Jim got to his feet, his eyes on the grinning face behind the rifle barrel. He must get closer, risk getting hit to get that rifle. But how?

MOREHEAD WINS 2ND TIME OVER LOUISVILLE UNI.

With the judges' vote unanimously in favor of the home team in the debate here last night against the University of Louisville, the Morehead State Teachers College debating squad closed a triumphant season with victories over Berea, Leesville College, Transylvania, and Birmingham-Southern and two victories over the University of Louisville. Only one defeat was marked up against the local team during the entire season, the first debate of the year having been dropped to Morris-Harvey.

From a group composed of Vahan Magarian, Lloyd Moody, George Bailey, Everett Coconangher, Kathryn Friend, and Beatrice Goodwin, under the direction of Mr. A. Y. Lloyd, the home team were drawn for successive debates on the subject, "Regulation providing for the centralized control of industry."

A brief review of the season's contests follows:

In the opening debate of the year, Vahan Magarian and Lloyd Moody, defending the affirmative for Morehead, bowed to Morris-Harvey of West Virginia, in the home auditorium, Thursday evening, February 18. Eunice Spencer and Paul Phillips were the visiting speakers.

Represented by Vahan Magarian and Kathryn Friend, Morehead captured one from Berea at a convocation period here, Monday, February 29. Irene Pennington and Evelyn Satter composed the Berea team.

The third clash was with the famed Asbury team who opened their southern tour with a non-decision but here with a "no-decision" March 5. On this occasion, Magarian and Moody met two of their old Asbury schoolmates, in a tough forensic battle.

Lee's College was defeated here Tuesday evening, April 12. Beatrice Goodwin and George Bailey were Morehead's debaters, Arthur Bossard and Thomas Gabbard composed Lee's team. The judges' decision was unanimous.

With the decisive defeat of Birmingham-Southern at the home convocation period, Monday, April 25, the Morehead team opened a triumphant week. In the Monday debate, Vahan Magarian and Beatrice Goodwin, affirmative speakers, put the Alabamians down to the tune of a unanimous judges' decision. Birmingham-Southern was represented in this debate by Andrew Turnipseed, a college junior, winner of the Strayton-Ready Debaters medal, and Bryant Whitmer, a junior, winner of the freshman and sophomore oratorical contests.

A trip to Lexington was the next event on Morehead's schedule. There on Wednesday, April 27, the Lloyd-coached team represented by Magarian and Moody, handed Transylvania their first defeat of the year, the judges' decision being unanimous. Among the debating victories which Transylvania has chalked up to its credit are defeats of teams from the University of Akron, Denauw University, Centre, and Berea. On the occasion of the debate with Morehead, one of the members of the Transylvania team suffered his first defeat during four years' experience as a college debater.

An audience decision, 12 to 2, favored the same Morehead team, Magarian and Moody, in the tilt with the University of Louisville before a class in American-Foreign Relations Thursday afternoon, April 28.

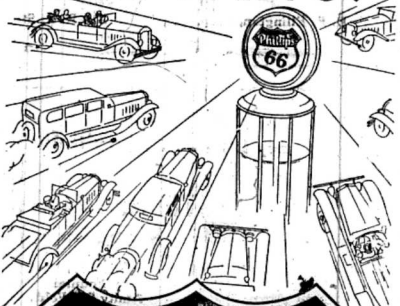

All debating activities this year have been under the direction of A. Y. Lloyd, a new member of the faculty, who will complete his government. The year follows his graduation from Western State Teachers College, Mr. Lloyd was principal of the Webster County High School at Wheatright, Kentucky. While there he organized the first debating team in that school which scheduled many debates with larger schools, losing only two decisions in the two seasons of debate following. While teaching in Vanderbilt University, Mr. Lloyd, though not connected with the debating team there, taught argument and debate to a private class of business men.

Through his high school and college career Mr. Lloyd was actively associated with debating societies and organizations. He has followed up this record with one season's conducting of debate here, which record speaks for itself. Mr. Lloyd hopes that debating may still be further improved when the school has more courses in expression and public speaking in connection with the English department.

"HIGHEST TEST" at the price of ordinary gasoline

GRAVITY from 60.6° to 71.4° TO MATCH WEATHER

PHILLIPS 66 is made by the world's largest producers of natural high gravity gasoline

Frankly, our hardest job is to get motorists to buy their first trial tankful of Phillips 66... the greater gasoline. After that our task is simple—they always come back for more.

They quickly prove for themselves that this gasoline is an amazing performer. That it delivers extra power, smoother running, and longer mileage. That it brings out the best in the motor. And they appreciate that this premium performance costs not a penny extra.

Give credit for these results to the famous Phillips principle of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, which matches this gasoline to the monthly changes in your weather. The year 'round gravity, from 60.6° to 71.4°, is always higher test than others.

Convince yourself of the money-saving and performance-advantages of using Phillips 66. Try it just once and you will always come back to the Orange and Black 66 shield.

When Beautiful Principles Tangle With Politics and Incompetence

A number of Kentucky newspapers, in cities of 5,000 to 3,000 population, recently published what appeared to be a genuine news article telling how the city of Trenton, Nebraska, had become tax-free and had put some ten thousand dollars of surplus earnings in the treasury by the expert operation of its municipal electric power system.

Several of the papers recommended that their own respective cities look into this municipal ownership business, with a view to achieving the city of Trenton's taxes and prosperity state by establishing the electric service company.

It really sounded pretty good, what with hard times and all, and the editorial suggestions appeared to be sound common sense.

Investigation, however, showed that the supposed news article was a "preparative dispatch" put out by a Chicago organization which, to suit the disguised purposes of its backers, exists solely to agitate for municipal ownership of utility services.

And the "city" of Trenton turns out to be an isolated village of 655 population (U. S. Census 1930) governed by trustee, its "municipal electric system" just what you would expect to find in a community of that size.

Requests for information about the "system's" operation brought the replies from officials. But the local newspaper editor kindly wrote a letter: "When I get some facts from the village trustees I will send them to you."

Distant pastures always look greenest. When you get close you so often find the grass choked with weeds and the sheep dead.

What if that work fine in Trenton, Nebraska with 655 souls, wouldn't work at 111,000 in Kentucky; and what if that work fine in Frankfort, wouldn't work in Louisville? The difference in size of a city makes the complications in operating them.

Mr. WALTER THOMAS sincerely declares: "Why the principle is the same, wherever it is."

Mr. Tom-tilden Realist dourly replies: "Myhead. But principles have a way of getting tangled with politics, graft, waste and general incompetence where government operates utilities."

"O-course," says an American municipal-ity team, "to manage successfully its city-owned electric system, for a while anyway. Sooner or later, however, something cracks."

"What if a look into the figures you generally find the fall of a debatable trick is found to make a habit of one crack after another, a black one."

"In the first ten years, then, some of the cities and towns have backed their municipally owned electric systems and ended in the power companies."

"There hasn't been any grand rush in the other direction for the very good reason that, all told, the power companies give a lot better service for a lot less money."

The isolated electric power plant belongs to the era of bustles, buggies and bangs!

brother. Both are members of the faculty of the Cincinnati College of Music; their prestige as musicians of the first rank is deserved and places them as worthy sons of their eminent father, Hugo Heerman.

The Heerman brothers are accompanied by Mrs. Thonie Prewitt Williams, who is a valued member of the faculty in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and has shown her pianistic ability in many sections of the country.

The Cincinnati Enquirer carried recently the following statement by William Smith Goldberg: "If Cincinnati were cut off from the rest of the world, still the city would not have to dispense with concerts of high order, so long as there are numbered among the residents, musicians, players . . . like Emil and Walter Heerman and Mrs. Thonie Prewitt Williams."

Marietta has one of the strongest diamond teams that she has ever boasted and they hold victories over the strongest college nines in Ohio. The only game which they have lost was to Marshall College, conquerors also of Morris-Harvey. They defeated Fairmont Teachers 12-0 in their opening game.

MARIETTA TO PLAY HERE

The Marietta team is improved greatly over last year, while to the cynical the local Eagles do not rate quite as highly as in 1932.

Barlow and Williams will probably get the hurling assignments for the series. The former holds one victory-no defeat, the latter, no victories-one defeat. However rating the pitchers according to the standard system there is no difference to choose between Barlow and Williams, as they both have allowed the same number of runs in a full nine inning battle.
