Local Water Supply Ample Despite Long Drought, Doran Says

Morehead State College President Adron Doran today said that a serious water shortage is imminent in Morehead.

Pointing out that the Evans Branch Reservoir, which the college sells water to the city, has fallen only about one foot, Doran said a number of weeks could seriously deplete the supply, but said the situation is not one of immediate shortage.

The prolonged dry spell - which records show began on Sept. 12 - has forced the college to start using water from the 25 acre, 125,000-gallon reservoir. Normally water for the college is provided from Trapp's Creek, and in periods of drought water supply, the reservoir is used to supplement natural sources.

Poll Officers Are Named For The Election

Rowan County's election commissioners have named precinct officers for the Nov. 5 balloting in the county's 13 precincts.

Forest Fire Situation 'Critical' As 6-Week Drought Holds On

Six weeks of extremely dry weather has brought the forest fire situation in this area to the critical stage, a spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service said this week.

And weather forecasters said Tuesday there is no drought-breaking rain in sight.

Almost miraculously, however, not a single blaze has been reported in this part of the 450,000-acre Croft-Corbin National Forest, and only two minor ones have been recorded in the southern portion.

Surveillance of the forest area has been stepped up, with all personnel on 24-hour alert duty. All of the lookout towers in the forest are manned on a 24-hour basis, and low-level aerial trips are being made periodically, particularly during periods of low visibility, Mauk reported.

Closing of Kentucky's woodland by selective order has helped the situation, Mauk pointed out.

absentee ballots here total 16

A total of 16 persons applied for absentee ballots for the November election. County Clerk Clerk Orlin W. Egan reported this week.

The number is one of the smallest for a general election in many years. The drop is attributed to the fact that only 16 of the 1962 General Assembly are restricted use of absentee ballots to students, members of the military services and government employees.

A lot is being said and written these days about the need for more and better education, but here's still no way to pile enough shovels on natural dumbness to camouflage or neutralize it.

United Fund Will Open $14,000 Drive Monday

Kickoff Dinner To Hear WSAZ News Director

The Morehead-Rowan County United Fund's first campaign drive will be launched here Monday with a kickoff dinner scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in Doran Student House.

Principal speaker for the affair, which will culminate months of pre-campaign activity, will be Benjamin B. Johnson, news director of WSAZ-TV, Huntington. "A fund drive goal of $13,997.87 has been set, and some 50-100 volunteer solicitors will start ringing doorbells shortly after the Monday dinner, in an attempt to see that the quota is met in short order.

A United Fund spokesman said this week that the first campaign would serve to test whether or not Rowan Countyans want a United Fund.

"We are confident that our people will respond generously to the appeal for funds from the 11 agencies which are involved," he said. "Throughout the organization of the United Fund we have stressed the fact that one three-week campaign would take care of the major portion of fund-raising for health, welfare and recreational purposes in the community. The test is now at hand; if five is a success we will know that Rowan Countyans want to utilize this method in the future."

Solicitations have been broken into six categories with chairmen named for each division. They are: Industrial - Randy Wells and Russ Brown. Residential - Morehead Women's Club and Rowan County Women's Club. Commercial - Bob Bishop and Bob Moore. Rural - Adrian Razor and Janet Boyd. Schools - Clifford Cassidy.

Morehead State College, a chairman to be named. The Circle K Club will assist with the student drive.

An urgent appeal for additional volunteers is put in solicitations for the United Fund was issued this week. Campaign aides said only about half of the required minimum of 100 workers have been recruited and that success hinges on the drive "may well succeed, whether we get the additional workers that we so badly need."

Persons who will help should call Finis Moorefield at (414-41).

He is campaign chairman.

At Republican Rally

GOP GET-TOGETHER - Rowan County Republican leaders are pictured with U.S. Senator John Sherman Cooper and Judge Elmer to a rally and speaking by Louis B. Nunn, GOP candidate for governor here Tuesday afternoon. Shown are: Mr. Roy Cornette, Campaign chairman, and Robert Bishop. An estimated 200 persons heard Nunn blast the Louisville Courier-Journal in supporting his opponent. Nunn told the enthusiastic group he "would be afraid if they were for me." He cited a number of losing candidates the newspaper has supported as the basis for his reluctance with its support.

Democrats Parley Here

LEGISLATOR-LEADERS - Members of the Legislature from this district, along with two of his long-time friends greeted Harry Lee Waterfield here Friday night when the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor addressed a rally at the court-house. Shown are: Lt. Glenn W. Lane, State Senator, Ed J. Kelly, Waterfield, Representative-elect Allie W. Young and William Caudill.

Location Of Interstate 64 Unchanged; Step-Up In Construction Sought

No Construction Schedule Set Up On Grayson-Mount Sterling Sector

Despite reports to the contrary, no change has been made in the routing of Interstate 64 through the valley of the North Fork of the Triplet River.

That was the word this week from Commissioner of Highways W. R. West, who said the state is proceeding with engineering to develop final plans for this section of the coast-to-coast super-highway.

At the same time, West said that no construction schedule for the Grayson-Mt. Sterling section has been set up, but hinted that a speed-up might come if construction approval of the entire Interstate Program despite its original 1952 date.

West said: "I assure you that the location of Interstate 64 which has been approved in the Morehead area north of US 60 is still the approved plan."

Two Injured In Accident On Thursday

Two single-car accidents were reported in Rowan County this week by Kentucky State Police.

Serious injuries were incurred in one, while the other resulted in heavy damage to an automobile.

Charles T. Whittier Jr., 21, of Gaithersburg, Md., and a passenger in his sports car, Susan Seitz, 18, of Lima, O., were hurt in a mishap at the intersection of Dietrich and Croney Creek roads last Thursday afternoon.

Trooper Marvin Jennings said the car driven by Whittier was traveling north on Dittney Ridge road and failed to round a curve where that thoroughfare intersects with Croney Creek.

He said the car went straight ahead, plowing into an embankment. The vehicle skidded 105 feet before striking the bank.

Whittier and the sportswoman were taken to St. Claire Medical Center's emergency room for treatment.

A Sunday accident on Ky. 277 caused heavy damage to a car. The car left the highway for no apparent reason. Trooper Jennings said. It traveled along the ridge for about 200 feet before plunging over an embankment and overturning into a field, coming to rest on its top.

Jennings said three areas on the vehicle were flat at the time of his investigation.

Route Follows North Fork

Announced more than a year ago, the route which Ward reaffirmed this week generally follows the valley of the North Fork of Triplet, entering Rowan County in the Holly section and leaving at the LaGrange River some three miles north of Farmers.

Alternate routes considered included one which would have sent the road near the base of the range of hills which ring Morehead on the south, and another which would have gone by way of the Clearfield section through Dark Hollow and west from that point.

The two latter locations were ruled out by Federal officials, who have the final say since 90 percent of the money for I-64 is provided by the Federal government. The North Fork route was given stamp of approval despite its proximity to large pipelines carrying natural gas which cross-cross that section. Relocation of some of these lines is expected to be required as a result of I-64 construction.

Ward said no construction schedule has been set up for the Grayson-Mt. Sterling stretch "because the intricate problems involved in trying to determine the exact scheduling are such that final conclusions on the entire ... 700 miles of the Interstate System in Kentucky have not yet been finalized."

This has been complicated, the roads need approved by the fact that the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads has not yet approved all of the Interstate Highway in Kentucky, a fact that must be completed before final scheduling is possible.

Perkins To Address Fund-Raising Dinner For Democrats

Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins will be the principal speaker at a Democratic fund-raising dinner tomorrow (Friday) at Rowan County High School.

The dinner will begin at 6 p. m., with Perkins' talk scheduled for 7:30 p. m., Campaign Chairman Eugene White said.

Tickets priced at $10 are being sold by members of the campaign organization.

Smoke Tests Slated To Ferret Out Leaks In Morehead Sewers

Wesley said smoke occasionally backs up into bathroom and other vents and gives the appearance as it is coming from the house. And in the case of improperly vented installations smoke occasionally actually seeps into the house.

However, he pointed out that the smoke is harmless and is practically odorless, and that persons who see it coming either from vents in their homes or persons in whose homes it actually accumulates should not be overly alarmed.

Representatives of the Utility Plant Board and the engineering firm will go door-to-door in sections which are being tested prior to the smokes being released to inform residents of the tests, Johnson and Wesley said. In the case of persons who are not at home, a written notice will be left. These measures are taken to insure that persons in that area are informed of the tests and will not become apprehensive should the house suddenly start smoking.

Lewis Riddle Is Claimed By Death

Funeral services are scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) at 1 p. m. for Lewis Riddle, prominent Rowan County farmer who died Wednesday.

The services will be held at Stucky Funeral Home, with Rev. Lincoln Caudill officiating.

Burial will be in Coffee Cemetery on Flemingsburg Road. Riddle was 87.

He was born Oct. 17, 1876, at a son of the late Nathan and Mollie Prather Riddle.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Allie Riddle, and these seven children: Vencil Riddle, Wilk, Hamborg, O.; Charles Riddle, Lester, Riddle and Kenneth Riddle, all of Morehead.

Section May Be Final One

The Grayson-Mt. Sterling stretch of I-64 may well be the final part of that route to go under construction. Work has been completed on virtually all of the highway from Mt. Sterling to Louisville and is progressing rapidly on that section from the West Virginia line to the vicinity of Grayson.

This leaves the 70-mile Grayson-Mt. Sterling portion the only major gap in the super-highway.

Ward indicated that an accelerated schedule may be set up not only the Grayson-Mt. Sterling section, but on all of Kentucky's Interstate System, if Congress will give its approval financing the speed-up.

Focusing out that Congress in 1956 set a completion date of 1972 for the 41,000-mile nationwide Interstate System, Ward said he and a number of other highway executives from other states have been attempting to persuade the Federal government and Congress to provide some means of expediting construction of the entire Interstate so that it can be completed far in advance of 1972.

Attorney General Stamps OK On 'Released Time' System

The system of releasing public school pupils to attend religious instruction elsewhere apparently is valid if other precautions are taken, Atty. Gen. John Breckinridge said this week.

"Pending further decision by the Supreme Court, released time programs may be conducted in Kentucky's common school system, subject to the limitations imposed (by the statutes and the regulations)," he said.

Breckinridge said there really is no such thing as released time in itself and each case must be judged individually. He said in a 19-page opinion which has no force of law, Breckinridge answered this question by Walter H. Power, principal of Galatin County High School at Warsaw:

York state and approved by the Supreme Court.

The court upheld in 1957 the New York arrangement. It found that the school system was neutral on religion, used no coercion and did not get its teachers involved in the released time plan. Breckinridge indicated these limitations are necessary if any released time plan is to be valid in Kentucky.

Weeks ago the attorney general said Bible reading and devotionals in state public schools apparently are invalid under the Supreme Court's view.

His new opinion seems to open a path for those who objected to the advice on Bible reading in schools.

But Breckinridge said that what appears as released time to one group could be viewed in a different manner to opponents.

He said that in another opinion under preparation he holds unconstitutional a purported released time plan.

Bonus Program Ends; $126 Million Paid

A total of $126,573,196 was paid to 409,219 veterans of their benefits, according to the 68-page final report released by Maj. Gen. Arthur V. Lloyd, adjutant general of Kentucky and administrator of the Kentucky Veterans Bonus.

The average claimant received $312.76. Payments are near completion with only a few claims still pending for final action.

A detailed account is included in the booklet of the entire operation, beginning with the first proposal of a bonus bill, shortly after World War II.

This booklet is to be distributed to all members of the Kentucky General Assembly, the United States Senators and Congressmen from Kentucky, county court clerks, public and college libraries, all agencies of State government, and to adjutant general of all other states.

The Bonus Division, which had 374 employees at the peak of its activity, now has only four. They are recording all documents and microfilm to reduce space required for storage.

Minister Charged In Auto Death Of Fleming Man

A 79-year-old retired minister was charged with negligent homicide Thursday by a coroner's jury in connection with the death of a pedestrian Wednesday in Fleming County.

Coroner Robert M. Jones quoted investigating officers as saying that a car driven by the Rev. Jerry Henderson, Olive Hill Route 2, rammed the rear of a hay-loaded wagon towed by a tractor and the impact knocked the tractor into Ruben Wolfenbarger, 59, Fleming County, who was killed instantly. The accident occurred on Ky. 32, three miles north of Rowan County line.

Minister Charged In Auto Death Of Fleming Man

"In asking this question, we are aware that this schedule for one hour each week may or may not interrupt regular classroom instruction in academic areas. This is also within the time limits of 8:45 a. m. to 3:15 p. m."

Breckinridge cited two Supreme Court cases plus the Kentucky statute that says:

"The boards of education shall fix one day each week when pupils who have expressed a desire for moral instruction may be excused for at least one hour and attend their respective places of worship or some other suitable place for receive moral instruction in accordance with religious faith or preference of the pupils."

He said he thought the legislature had in mind a program similar to that carried out in New

Cooper Says Tobacco Exports Are Important To Kentucky

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), speaking in Lexington last week to the Burley and Dark Leaf Tobacco Growers' Association, pointed out the importance to growers and the entire tobacco industry of expanding exports of burley and dark leaf tobacco, and said that any bars against their export to the European Common Market countries would be harmful.

He said: "It is of central importance that burley and dark leaf producers continue their efforts to secure equal access to the Common Market countries - West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg - maintain their present export levels, and participate in the expanding use of tobacco in these countries."

Senator Cooper said exports to the Common Market countries of the type tobacco grown in Kentucky amount to 10 million pounds, representing 43 percent of burley and 31 percent of dark tobacco exports. "The danger is that Common Market countries have increased their duties on burley and dark leaf tobacco. We must urge our government to insist that fair treatment be accorded burley and dark leaf tobacco. We must urge our government to insist that fair treatment be accorded burley and dark leaf tobacco."

ONE - The U.S. will negotiate its industrial and agricultural exports jointly to retain full bargaining power to secure their treatment for tobacco and other agricultural products.

TWO - He will negotiate to secure lower tariffs upon our tobacco exports, and also to remove other barriers such as quotas and preferences given to other countries.

THREE - He urges tobacco growers to concentrate on quality tobacco, for since American tobacco costs more than tobacco from other countries, it is quality which sustains the market for our tobacco at home and abroad.

VICIOUS VIET - Perhaps official Washington should give Mme. Nhu the cold shoulder. It is said hell hath no fury like a woman scorned, and at least she's pretty furious.

The Rowan County Soil Conservation District Supervisors met last week to take up business which they said needs the attention and support of the people.

"One was the possibility of having lakes behind some of the fills that will be made when Interstate 64 will be built through Rowan County.

These lakes could be used for multiple purposes, including recreation, livestock water, irrigation, and also for industry and the home.

The Supervisors have also agreed to offer a second prize of $10 and a third prize of $7.50 for the Soil Conservation Essay Contest sponsored by the Courier-Journal, Louisville Times and WIAS. First prize in the district will be a $25 Savings Bond, offered by the sponsor. The state prizes will be $200 in Savings Bonds for the first, $150.00 in Savings Bonds for second, and $100 in Savings Bonds for third.

INSURANCE OF SAVINGS

1. Q. What is the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation?

A. It is a permanent government corporation which Congress created in 1924 to guarantee the safety of savings in insured associations up to $10,000 for each savings account.

2. Q. How may I know whether an association is insured?

A. Insured associations may be identified by the emblem pictured below.

3. Q. What protection is afforded savings placed in an insured association?

A. Savings in an insured association are protected by:

- (1) The security found in first mortgage loans on homes, U.S. Government bonds, and other assets;
- (2) Sound, progressive operating policies administered by experienced, local management;
- (3) Annual examinations and audits required by the insurance regulations; and
- (4) Insurance against loss afforded by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

4. Q. Does the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation insure the safety of savings in insured associations regardless of the cause or type of loss?

A. Yes.

5. Q. What types of accounts are insured?

A. Generally speaking, all forms of savings in an insured association are insured against loss up to $10,000 for each account. The certification of insurance or the seal of insurance will be found in your passbook or investment certificate.

6. Q. What is meant by insurance protection up to $10,000 for each account?

A. The actual ownership of the savings determines whether an account is insured. An individual may have only one account insured up to $10,000 in a single institution. However, two or more persons may have individual insured accounts of $10,000 in addition to having an insured joint account with right of survivorship.

7. Q. May one person have accounts in more than one insured association and receive insurance protection on each account?

A. Yes. Savings in each insured institution will be protected up to the $10,000 limit.

8. Q. Must an insured association be closed before the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation acts to protect the people who have placed their money in it?

A. No. The Corporation may make loans to, purchase the assets of, or make contributions to insured associations to prevent default or to restore insured associations to default to normal operation.

9. Q. When an insured association is closed, how do the people get their money?

A. As promptly as possible, the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation either makes payment in cash or selects sound insured institutions as paying agents to issue to the insured savers new insured accounts equal to their insured accounts in the closed association. The Corporation pays cash to its agents in an amount equal to the new accounts they will issue. An insured saver may either leave his money in the association acting as paying agent or request its withdrawal.

United Fund's Success Here Depends On The Public's Response

A new era in fund raising for health, welfare and recreational activities opens Monday in Morehead and Rowan County.

With a modest goal of approximately $14,000, some 100 volunteer workers will get out in an attempt to make a success of the first Morehead-Rowan County United Fund.

In vain or whether it will be an overwhelming success depends on whether the public responds to the call of such an organization in the community. Its full support goes to the endeavor which will be undertaken here Monday.

We feel that our citizens will approve of the United Fund once they understand it, once they have tried it.

Conceived as a method of consolidating an estimated 25 individual fund raising campaigns, the Morehead-Rowan County United Fund, has finally come into being as the result of dedicated and unselfish effort of the part of a small group of local citizens — spearheaded by Rev. Charles L. Brooks, pastor of the Morehead Christian Church.

The groundwork for the drive which opened Monday ran through Nov. 15, has been laid by Rev. Brooks and a handful of people working closely with him. The thousands and thousands of details, policy and otherwise, have been worked out by them. They have arranged for affiliation with the national organization of United Fund and have screened requests for monetary allocations from the local United Fund. They have ordered literature, distributed this literature, prepared and distributed publicity concerning the United Fund, in fact they have through their own almost singular efforts brought the Morehead-Rowan County United Fund to the point where it stands.

They have done all this and:

The success or failure of the three-week effort is now out of their hands and into the hands of the people who must ultimately decide whether or not a United Fund is a good thing for Morehead and Rowan County.

It is in the hands of the general public — the people whose judgment as to the merits or demerits of the United way of giving will ultimately prevail.

The response which the 100 volunteer workers meet when they start ringing doorbells will decide, more than any other single factor, whether or not the work which has gone into setting up the United way of giving here has been worth the effort.

The success or failure of the three-week effort is now out of their hands and into the hands of the people who must ultimately decide whether or not a United Fund is a good thing for Morehead and Rowan County.

This Nation Needs More Quality

The most critical question for our country today is not how to spend money, but how to spend it wisely. We are a mass production country. We are the richest people in the world. We make, too often, that everything we have, or think, is better than anywhere else in the world.

There are industries we are losing the race for quality in education, for quality of products (including defense products), for quality in statemanship, for quality in the field of art and even for quality in space vehicles.

Withdraw Troops From Germany

The truth, which is not pleasant either to the U.S. Army, to West Germany or to Washington, is that we should withdraw some of our troops from Germany before too long and that this process should begin immediately.

Of course, we know that President Charles de Gaulle wants American military force to leave, so that he can gain dominance over continental affairs, but this is merely an irritating coincidence. And it may be that we will seem to be fulfilling De Gaulle's prophecy when we actually are withdrawing our soldiers, but his is not the case.

Cold Weather Brings Fire

With cold weather approaching, it is well to remind readers of some fire-detecting homes and property will soon be occurring much more frequently than during the summer months.

The loss of life and property from fires in the United States is still a staggering one, and the average reader would be surprised to know how many people who suffer disaster from fire do not have insurance to protect them from loss.

October Is Top Sports Month

In some ways, October is the top sports month of the year. It is the first full month of volleyball, it includes the classic of all sports events — World Series, and the college football season is in its prime.

October is also the best time to visit the United States, the monetary loss incurred from forest fires is tremendous each year. These fires are sometimes started by lightning as the reader knows, but more often they are started by the same thing which is responsible for most fires — carelessness.

Prizes Offered In Conservation Essay Contest

By Joe J. Mauk

This week the annual soil conservation essay contest for grade and high school students throughout Kentucky was announced. The topic for this year is "Forest Conservation, How It Can Benefit My Community." Frankly I do not know of a more appropriate time for the parents to sit down with their youngsters and discuss the many ways forest conservation can benefit their community. Each of the reasons they can point out to a flooding and explain what is extremely careful to do everything within their power to prevent grass or forest fires during the existing drought. The following is official release on the essay contest.

Action Is Needed On Flood Control Idea

Many to get a flood control project started. Perhaps few know what such an undertaking entails, or fear the cost would be prohibitive. The situation is much more favorable here than in Fleming County and the expense would be much less.

What we need here in Rowan County is to inform the public what the advantages are and to let them know how to go about securing them. If only half of the dozen local citizens were really interested, we could set up a flooding and explain what is extremely careful to do everything within their power to prevent grass or forest fires during the existing drought. The following is official release on the essay contest.

And His Friend, TIMOTHY TUGMUTTON

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where you are taking the Supreme Court to take prayer out of the public schools isn't having much success with that; either school or they started.

It don't surprise me none fer nobody to be so mad at the Supreme Court. I believe in the legal end of prayer in the school, but I believe the Supreme Court is wrong in their decision. If they didn't hold again in a year, I would have a prayer in my heart.

I ain't never fell out with a feller over what kind of politics or religion he's got, so long as he's got some. But I believe everybody ought to have a little politics on his mind and some sort of religion in his heart. I heard a preacher say once that a atheist was worried about getting a shirt over his wings when he ought to be worried about getting a hat over his horns. And that about sums up my feelings in the matter. A feller's religion might as well be as deep as a well or as high as a chimney, but so long as he's got some, it's a comfort to me, whether things look bad with Russia, to remember some scientist feller who said that has outlived God on earth.

But I believe in the legal end of prayer in the school, but I believe the Supreme Court is wrong in their decision. If they didn't hold again in a year, I would have a prayer in my heart.

Halloween Franks Called 'Reckless' By Safety Chief

State Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern said a plea will be issued to motorists who are tempted to wantonly disregard the state's traffic rules before and during Halloween, calling the violations "reckless, irresponsible and dangerous."

Lovern said he would appeal the judges to apply severe penalties to offenders, especially if any property damage, injury or death occurred as a result of their actions on the highway.

Recently a member of Lovern's staff was returning after dark to Frankfort from Walton, on U. S. Highway 127 when his car struck a 4 1/2-inch hole in a road sign which had been placed across the highway. The accident occurred about 1 1/4 miles north of Monterey. Although the man was not hurt (he was wearing a seat belt), his automobile was thrown sideways after skidding on the curve, and the back end hit the guardrail.

"The accident could have been avoided," Commissioner Lovern said, "and apparently it was the work of vandals."

The staff member was returning from a Lions Club safety meeting in Walton after showing the film, "The Sixth Wheel."

Saturday Deadline Set For Entries In FFA Contest

Saturday is the deadline for Future Farmers of America to enter in the 1963 F.F.A. Contest sponsored by the Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and W.I.A.S., Inc.

Prizes totaling $775 in U.S. Savings Bonds will be divided among 19 winners. A $100 bond will be awarded to the champion Future Farmer and the top entrant from each of the state's 15 F.F.A. Districts. The runner-up districts will receive a $25 bond.

In addition, the top 10 winners and their parents will receive all-expense-paid trips to Louisville for the annual Farm Awards Luncheon where the prizes will be presented.

That little old blue dog comes up to Anderson Rose a wagging his little tail very friendly like. But Anderson didn't want no little blue pup dog. Anderson don't care much for dogs and his woman don't nutger. He scolded at the little pup dog but it didn't do no good. Anderson was stuck with that dog and he began to look around to see how come he had this dog.

Anderson looked over in the weeds below the big road and there he spotted the orange collar of this little pup dog. It was Squire Wiley Pefrey. He had dropped off the dog in the weeds to see how it would be welcomed. Anderson would have been angry over the dog but Anderson didn't care. He scolded at the little pup dog but it didn't do no good. Anderson was stuck with that dog and he began to look around to see how come he had this dog.

Ben Creech had many difficulties with the old pig. The weeds got stuck and his mowing machine wouldn't go. He had to get out of it to unclog his sickle. A nest of bees was also got clogged up in the weeds. He chased Ben away. He sneaked back and hid out of that mess of clogged weeds and bumblebees. He didn't get stung much but he got wadded good.

RCHS Sets First Homecoming; Vying For Queen's Crown

Rowan County High School will be jumping with activity for two days, beginning tomorrow (Friday).

The school's football team will be going after its sixth straight win, and at the same time the first homecoming ever held at RCBS will begin.

Planned by the Student Council and the Beta Club, the homecoming will feature the crowning of the queen at half-time of the Rowan County Fleming County football game, formation of an alumni association, and a homecoming dance.

This is the schedule:
 Friday, 1:30 p. m. — Rowan County Fleming County football game.
 Friday, 3:30 p. m. (following football game) — Meeting of all RCBS alumni in the library for formation of alumni association.
 Saturday, 8 p. m. — Homecoming dance in high school cafeteria.

The homecoming queen will be crowned by Graydon Hackney, co-sponsor of the senior class. She will be chosen from this group: Roberta Hardin, Janet Atkins, Dorothy Templeman, Paulette Jamison, Darlene Fraley, Alma Casky, Karen Thomas, Rita McManus, Sue Razer, Judy Smith and Diana Isen.

A guest register will be provided at the school during the activities. Alumni will be asked to register in order that a complete mailing list for next year's homecoming can be compiled.

Tickets for the dance are priced at $1 per person and $1.75 for couples.

25 Are Enrolled In Training Class At RCBS

An adult class in "tailoring techniques" held its organizational meeting Oct. 15 in the Home Economics department at Rowan County High School.

The first lesson included help in fabric and pattern selection for making a tailored garment and a study of the equipment used in tailoring.

Next meeting will be Tuesday at 7 p. m. "The pattern," including altering, layout, and cutting, will be studied at this session.

Open to any interested adults in Rowan County, the class is being taught by Mrs. Norman Roberts, assisted by Pearl Lucas and Mrs. Nancy Kovach, student teachers.

Enrolled at the first meeting were: Jean Cline, Era Mae Smelley, Mrs. Mary Jo Thompson, Mrs. Delphia Myahner, Mrs. Lucille Walters, Mrs. Mary Goolsby, Mrs. Oval Hall, Mrs. Lorene Sharpe, Mrs. Ann Norris, Mrs. Dolores Conley, Mrs. Outelema Baldwin, Mrs. Laura Barbour, Mrs. Mae Estep, Mrs. Katie Durkin, Mrs. Mary Stone, Mrs. Evelyn Kidd, Mrs. Lake Cooper, Mrs. Juanita Crapp, Mrs. Betty Alderman, Mrs. Pauline White, Mrs. Mary Cline, Mrs. Mable Kelley, Mrs. Louella Johnson, Mrs. Shirley Ellington, and Mrs. Jean Brown.

October Is Membership For Morehead PTA

October has been designated as "membership month" for the Morehead Grade School PTA which has adopted the slogan "Be a worker for the hive, join your PTA and watch it thrive."

Pointing out that children "deserve parents that serve," PTA officials urged that all parents of school-age children join the organization.

HeartGroup Names Mrs. Oscar Calvert Gifts Chairman

The reappointment of Mrs. Oscar Calvert, Morehead, to serve for another term as Rowan County Memorial Gifts Chairman for the Kentucky Heart Association has been announced by Charles R. Despain, Bardonia, KHA secretary.

Memorial gifts are tax exempt and earmarked for research, and are reported each year as part of the final annual total of contributions to the local Heart Fund.

Despain emphasized that "this is a year-round service" which is offered to the residents of the county. It is separate from the annual Heart Fund drive which is held each February.

OVERPLAYED

"A Florida mother has moved her family to Australia because, she says, teenagers rule the American home," a news report says. "U. S. teenagers aren't so bad. It is rare that one of them murders a parent or two, and usually they only because of extenuating circumstances, as, for example, his being denied the use of the car on occasion."

String Intact

Rowan County High School's 1963 gridiron squad may not win any official championships, but Coach Paul Ousley's eleven should easily take the title of "Kentucky's most improved team," if such an award were made.

Developing from a first-year squad which emerged victorious in only one contest in 1962, the Vikings have now racked up their second year win, insuring that their season they will receive a winning season.

The RCBS Eleven Friday ran its season's mark to five wins against two losses by edging past a heavily-favored Boyd County High School 7-6.

The only team which Ousley's charges defeated last year — Fleming County — comes to Morehead tomorrow (Friday) afternoon for a 1:30 p. m. encounter and the Vikings are heavy favorites to down the Panthers and run their string streak to six straight.

Going with 10 juniors and a senior, RCBS has defeated Madison Central, Wheelwright, Mt. Sterling, DuBois, West Liberty and Boyd County, while dropping their first two tilts of the season to Paintsville and Russell.

Friday's win was a thriller for the Outlawsmen.

40 High School Bands To Be Here Saturday

Over 2,600 high school bandmen and majorettes from 40 high schools will be on the Morehead State College campus for the annual Band Day Saturday.

Highlighting the band day will be individual performances by 22 of the 40 bands during the morning program which will get under way at 9:30.

Each of the 25 performing bands will give a six-minute show to be witnessed by the other bands and interested spectators. There will be no admission charged.

"We feel that this part of the program is exceedingly valuable from an educational standpoint as it provides the participating bands an opportunity to observe the unique techniques which have been developed by other high school bands," said Dr. J. E. Duncan, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts.

The bands will perform three numbers in a mass formation directed by the renowned Morehead State College marching band.

Bill Sive, director of the Morehead State College marching band, is coordinator of the day's events which are being held in conjunction with an Ohio Valley Conference football game between Morehead and Middle Tennessee.

The participating bands are: Bath County; Boone County; Bracken County; Breathitt County; Callettsburg; Eastern; Middletown; Fleming County; Fort Gay, W. Va.; Grant County; Harrison County; Jenkins; McDowell; Maytown; Meigs; Meade Memorial; Member County; Millersburg Military Institute; Morgan County; Mt. Orab, Ohio; Mt. Sterling; Owensville; Paintsville; Paris; Pikeville; Prestonsburg; Pritchard; Grayson; Putnam Jr. High, Ashland; Coles Jr. High, Ashland; Raceland; Ripley-Union Lewis; Ripley, Ohio; Rowan County; Russell; Salyersville; Shawnee; Camden, Ohio; Southwestern, Patriot, Ohio; Whitesburg; Boyd County; Louisa; Mullins; Sandy Hook and Georgetown.

 dry them soft and clean ELECTRICALLY!

This is a job for the gentlest of all drying. Clothes tumbled in warm, gentle electric heat respond beautifully. Diapers and T-shirts dry soft, clean, white. Playtoys are kept in wear, and wear much better. All because an electric dryer uses pure ELECTRIC heat. No harsh flame here to fade, yellow or discolor clothes. It's indoor drying at its very best. You can dry clothes any day, any time of day!

Enjoy first class drying — choose ELECTRIC.

BUY YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE OR DRYER NOW! WE'LL HELP PAY YOUR WIRING BILL.

If you change from 2-wire to 3-wire, 100 ampers service, and install an electric range or clothes dryer, we'll pay $15 on your wiring bill.

New Armo Furnace In Production

A new blast furnace, proclaimed as the largest and most modern of its kind in the world, went into operation Monday at Armo Steel Corp., Ashland.

Lynn Johnson, of Hinsdale, Ill., 14-year-old granddaughter of Armo President Logan T. Johnson, applied a flaming torch to a port and said, "I now declare Amanda furnace officially lighted."

The furnace is 224 feet high and has a capacity of 3,340 tons of pig iron per day. Johnson said it is the first electrically programmed and completely automated blast furnace, the first to use "two iron-etches" to draw off the iron and first designed to use 100 percent processed ores rather than traditional ores of the Mesabi Range in Northern Minnesota.

Amanda is a larger twin to the Bellefonte furnace nearby which has a 1,900-ton-per-day capacity and was proclaimed, when built in 1942, the largest in the world.

It was named for a charcoal furnace which operated from 1829-35 less than a mile away and had a capacity of one ton per day.

Gov. Bert Combs said the furnace "will warm not only Eastern Kentucky but will be felt all over the globe."

C. W. Wells, 78, an Armo blast furnace operator for 43 years before his retirement in 1954, delivered the torch to Miss Johnson, looked at the new furnace and said, "It's a beauty."

Campton-Van Cleave Road Bids Sought

The State Highway Department has advertised for bids for the construction and surfacing of a 12.5 mile sector of the Southeast Prong of the Mountain Turnpike from Campton to Van Cleave.

Bids are to be opened Nov. 1. This is along the general route of KY 15, Campton to Jackson, and is the sector of the Parkersburg south prong on which the Federal government recently made a grant of $2,300,000 of A. A. A. Redevelopment Agency funds to match state funds.

It is estimated the sector will cost about $4,500,000.

Diagnosis, Treatment Given 3,442 Children By State

Diagnosis and treatment for 3,442 children were provided by the Kentucky Commission for Handicapped Children during the past fiscal year, according to Dr. Alexander A. Limper, acting medical director.

Total expenditures amounting to $1,075,000, of which over $1 million was spent for hospitalization, was added. Significant was that 83 percent of the Commission funds were used for direct medical and surgical services.

The Commission's out-patient diagnostic clinics, located in 28 centers throughout the state, made 13,300 examinations. An average of more than two clinics per work-

State Leads The Nation In Highway

Kentucky still leads the nation in building better highways.

The U. S. Department of Commerce, which awards a sharp eye on highway building, said that Kentucky awarded 700 contracts on highway building during the first seven months of this year. This is more than one-fourth of all such contracts awarded by 50 states.

Kentucky's contracts covered improvements on 1,311 miles of roads—more than any other state.

Kentucky's strong position among the states is due to local effort. In using its own money to improve its highway system, Kentucky has set a pace that is unmatched by any other state.

When the results of the state's own efforts are added to what it does with the help of the federal government, Kentucky stands second only to Texas in the number of miles of roads being improved.

In important areas of its highway program, Kentucky is moving at a faster pace this year than in 1962. The all time record for road building in the state.

With three months yet to go in the year, both of Kentucky's programs for improving rural roads are ahead of 1962. Contracts awarded through September under the Rural Secondary program total $6,013,262.61, compared to $5,623,608.58 for all of last year. Rural Highway contracts add up to $1,142.23 for the first nine months of the year; the 1962 total was $280,964.23.

On these roads where the federal and state governments share costs equally, contracts reached a total of $2,282,728.98 through September. This is more than was done all of last year, and caps a four-year rise in this type of work.

STOP SECRET SESSIONS!

Back Room Business Is Bad Business! Yet many City Council decisions affecting all of us have been made out of public view following a motion to "... ADJOURN TO THE BACK ROOM" during the past year and ten months. The INDEPENDENTS will vote "No" to every such motion. If outvoted, a TAPE RECORDER will be taken into every "adjourned" or "recessed" or "special" session, and a COPY OF EVERY WORD said will be given to the NEWSPAPER and a copy of the tape will be given to the RADIO STATION. PUBLIC BUSINESS MUST BE CARRIED ON IN PUBLIC! YOU HAVE TO PAY THE BILLS, YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW WHAT GOES ON!

You all know that NORMAN TANT is making no idle promise when he says he will INFORM THE PUBLIC. RICHARDSON and MEADOWS both AGREE TO FIGHT SECRET SESSIONS, using whatever means are necessary.

Vote For A Balanced City Council — Vote Independent

VOTE FIRST FOR NORMAN TANT, VIRGIL RICHARDSON AND H. M. MEADOWS

No city should be shackled with a single point of view in its governmental body. No city government should be made up of a group of men drawn from only a very small downtown area. City voters should look over all nine candidates for City Council and vote for the ones whom they believe will see the whole town and all of its problems from street repair to Morehead State College to full treatment of newly annexed areas, and about everything. Vote only for whom you believe will do a conscientious, impartial, fair job of conducting the public's business in an open, aboveboard manner. Vote first for Tant, Richardson, and Meadows!

Norman Tant
 Education and Professor of Audio-Visual Instruction at Morehead for more than 11 years and has contributed to the growth of NBC from 698 students up to the present 2,300 member of City Council (1961-64) and holder of all time record for written votes in city elections in Morehead. Member of Morehead Methodist Church and contributor of thousands of feet of television news film to WSAZ-TV and WKAS-TV during the past 18 months which pictures Morehead favorably and was a factor in getting government inspectors for the Morehead to state warehouses. He is a "can-do, will-do" fellow.

Virgil Richardson
 Small businessman of West Triangle Food Market on West Main Street, member, treasurer, Board Member of Church of God. Has a long history and political affairs in Morehead and Rowan County. Mature and sound of judgment with a very strong sense of right and wrong. Is in very close touch with the main body of the city. Called "Seydhead" and has no private "axe to grind." His motto: "It is not right, and fair it shouldn't be done, regardless of whether it is legal or not."

H. M. "Satch" Meadows
 H. M. "SATCH" MEADOWS—widely experienced in numerous types of business. In auto mobile business 1923-1954, except for period of service during World War II. Largest property owner and highest taxpayer among the candidates for Council and one of the largest taxpayers in the city. Has a special understanding of the problems of the property owner. Longtime resident of Morehead, enrolled in Morehead College in 1928 and is familiar with the growth and needs of the city. Independent, clear-minded and beholden to no clique, group, or man. Interested as a candidate only in the growth and development of Morehead. Free to vote as he thinks the city's welfare demands, not fettered by fear of losing a customer.

Children To 'Trick Or Treat' Tuesday For UNICEF Money

Under the sponsorship of Morehead's United Church Women, children of the community Tuesday will conduct their annual solicitation for the United Nations Children's Fund.

Accompanied by women from the church organization, the children will complete their drive in a one-hour period, from 6:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Durie B. Mullins, local chairman, said all groups will convene at the Morehead Christian Church and will return there for a recreation and refreshment period at the end of the drive.

Children will be identified by orange and black tags, and will give UNICEF book marks to each donor.

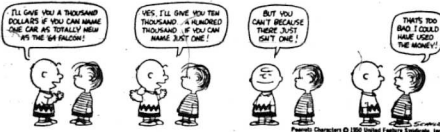

The United Nations Children's Fund conducts its campaign annually at Halloween, urging local residents to "Trick or Treat" for all the world's children.

Funds gained from the yearly solicitation are used by UNICEF for some 500 programs in 115 countries, programs in which the receiving country must match UNICEF funds dollar-for-dollar.

C. Lloyd Bailey, executive director of UNICEF said each country actually provides about $2 for each $1 raised through the U.S. effort.

Funds are used in an attempt to eradicate diseases such as leprosy, tuberculosis, malaria in various regions of the world.

Mrs. Mullins said the price of an ice cream cone would protect 10 persons from tuberculosis in Chile, the pennies for a candy bar will cure a child of yaws in Nigeria, and the price of a comic book will furnish 50 glasses of milk to a child in India.

Here Is Shoe News

The Sole And Heel That Will Never Need Repairing!

Yes, we guarantee that the sole and heel of this shoe will never need repairing. Long before they begin to show any wear at all, the shoe upper - which itself gives unusually long and satisfactory service - will be worn out. Thus there will never be any need for repairs.

We can make such guarantee because the sole and heel of this shoe are of a new substance (injection-molded polyvinyl chloride) ten times more durable than ordinary heel and sole materials. This remarkable 10 to 1 ratio has been proven conclusively through wear-tests by active, rough-on-shoes youngsters.

Further advantages are that the sole and heel are a one-piece construction bonded to the upper leather, which means no threads to break or rot. They are lighter, more flexible, more comfortable. And the new substance is waterproof, so moisture cannot damage it. Another feature - which mothers especially like - is that the non-skid sole and heel will not mark up floors.

You get all this life-of-the-shoe durability plus the other advantages described above... an outstanding value!

Persons Over 65 May Be Missing Their SS Benefits

A good many people 65 and over are losing monthly social security payments because they have not recently checked with the Social Security office, according to Thomas B. Thompson, district manager of the Social Security office in Ashland.

These people fall into two main groups. In the first are those who do not believe they worked long enough under Social Security to qualify for payment. Changes in the law in recent years have reduced the amount of work required for payments. Therefore, persons who have not applied for Social Security or discussed their eligibility for payments since 1960, should try again. They may now qualify for monthly payments.

The second group are those who are 65 and over and are still working. Persons in this category may be eligible for some benefits. Many people believe that if they earn over $1200 a year, they cannot receive benefits. This is not the case. For instance, a man over 65 with a wife who is also 65 or older may, depending upon the amount of his benefit, make as much as $3500 a year and still receive some payments from Social Security. In the case of a single person, it is possible in some instances to receive some payments even though the worker makes $2900 a year. Regardless of earnings, payments can be made for any month in which a person earns $100 or less and is not active in a business of his own. If his total earnings for the year are $1200 or less, payments may be made for every month in the year.

State Police To Crack Down On Violations By Truckers

Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovers, after warning that truck accidents were rising, ordered State Police Friday to step up their arrests for violations.

Tied in with the order was a request for judges to hand down convictions against truckers and other motorists who they considered guilty.

To support his decision - announced at a regional Department of Public Safety seminar in Prestonsburg - Lovers reported there were 101 fatalities among the 6,440 truck accidents in the first six months of 1963. During the same period last year, there were 83 deaths and 5,914 wrecks.

The commissioner also reminded the 300 delegates from the Eastern Kentucky area of the dangers involved in overloaded gravel trucks.

"Increased road construction throughout the state brings with it increased numbers of gravel trucks," he said. "Overloaded gravel trucks, driving recklessly and carrying a load that could shift or roll off, are lethal weapons."

In underscoring the need for public support for increased traffic convictions, Lovers said the conviction rate from State Police arrests last year was 68 percent as compared with the 80 percent recommended by the National Safety Council.

He closed by urging the conference to support legislation for annual inspection of motor vehicles, re-examination of licensed drivers and driver training in high schools.

Forest Fire-

This greatly reduces the number of persons in the woods, and lessens the possibility of fires through carelessness. However, MSAZ urged extreme caution on the part of motorists and others who may have occasion to be in wooded areas, pointing out that one thoughtless act could set off a blaze that might prove ruinous to extensive timber acreage as well as wildlife.

No measurable precipitation has fallen in Rowan County since the 24-hour period of Sept. 12-13, according to Forest Service records. Occasional "traces" have shown up on moisture-measuring instruments, but these amounts have been insufficient to provide relief from the extremely dry conditions.

Mauk said the situation now is "not quite as critical" as it was during similar periods in 1952 and 1953 because of the absence of any appreciable wind movement.

"Should the wind suddenly spring up," he declared, "we could be in a much more serious condition than we now are."

Gov. Combs Friday closed all forests, brush lands and fields to the public indefinitely.

Fire Control Chief H. W. Berckman said the proclamation covers almost 11 million acres in Kentucky.

"I hope the order will make the public aware of the potential destructiveness we're under," he said.

Berckman said facilities in the 32 state parks are not affected, except that camping now is forbidden in woods.

Forestry Director Gene Butcher had asked Combs to invoke the closure law because of a six-week drought that has left many wooded areas in the state tinder-dry.

The governor's order said forest lands "have become so dry that an extraordinary fire and hazard endangering lives and property, with official forecasting promising no appreciable rainfall within a reasonable time."

It said a blanket of dense haze is hindering quick detection of fires by state rangers who operate in most of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Emergency Declared

Declaring a state of emergency, Combs' proclamation banned entrance or movement through any state, county, municipal or private forest lands, fields or idle or abandoned lands.

The only persons permitted on such acreage will be the owners, tenants, owners' subcontractors and forestry workers or those on official duty.

Kentucky has been without a general rain for six weeks. Portions of the state have reported drought that has left many wooded areas in the state tinder-dry.

Cemetery Has Grave Of Early Patriot

Travelers along Kentucky Highway 32 north of Morehead have often admired a picturesque country church set back from the road and surrounded by a grove of aging oak and maple trees. Few probably have taken the time to walk through the neat, well-kept cemetery which adjoins the church. Morehead News photographer Norman Tant did take the time, not only to get a picture of the church, framed by the covered bridge which leads to the chapel but to explore the cemetery. Among Tant's discoveries was the grave marker of a Revolutionary War soldier, Joseph Goddard, for whom the little community apparently was named. Worn by the weather and cracked by some force of nature, the stone marks the final resting place of one of the nation's early patriots.

Eight Counties To Vote On Tax For Support Of Library Program

Bookmobile and library service in eight counties rides on the outcome of voting Nov. 5 when each library tax ranging from five to 10 cents per $100 of assessed property valuation.

The eight counties are Meade, Monroe, Rockcastle, Lawrence, Leslie, Magoffin, Fleming and Harlan. All have library programs and Bookmobile service set up with the aid of state funds and the thousands of books, magazines, records, and other library materials provided by the Kentucky Department of Libraries.

"Assurance of permanent local support for library programs in these counties assures additional state support, also on a permanent basis," Margaret Willis, State librarian, said. She pointed out that four of the eight counties now cooperate in one of the state's 12 library regions and that favorable votes in the other four will decide their eligibility for regional status.

Counties in regions benefit from the professional and clerical staffs provided by the Department of Libraries for each region, Miss Willis said. They also have access to specialized material and reference books which circulate among member libraries as needed.

Meade County which this year won the Book-of-the-Month Club's $1,000 Dorothy Canfield Fisher award for improving its library service, is asking for a nine-cent levy. The county is a member of the Oxbow Library Region and now operates one of the new 2,000-volume Bookmobiles.

Monroe County is seeking a 10-cent tax. A member of the South Central Library Region, Monroe also operates a large Bookmobile.

Rockcastle County, a member of the Valley of Parks Region since 1957, is asking for a five-cent tax. Rockcastle countians also receive service from a new Bookmobile.

Lawrence County seeks an eight-cent tax which would qualify it as headquarters of a new library region. This county also sponsors a large Bookmobile.

This year by the Department of Libraries. The county now operates one of the older 800-volume vehicles.

Magoffin County, already a member of the Eastern Kentucky Library Region, will retain its regional status and library materials if vote on a five-cent tax is favorable. A "yes" vote will mean a Bookmobile for the county.

Fleming County, which had no library or Bookmobile service prior to joining the Buffalo Trace Region this year, is voting on a five-cent tax. Fleming now receives from the Nicholas County Bookmobile but will be eligible for one of the new models if voting is favorable.

Harlan County, which now operates a small Bookmobile, will also receive one of the 15 new Bookmobiles if voters approve a five-cent tax for library service.

Miss Willis stated that the proposed tax in each of the eight counties means a proportionate levy on property at its assessed (not real) value. Most voters in all eight counties would pay a small amount ranging from 25 cents to 50 cents per year — far less than the price of a single book, she said.

All income arising from the special library tax will remain in the respective county to aid its Bookmobile and library program, Miss Willis added. Use of the funds is decided in each county by its library board. Local funds could cover such expenses as operating costs for the county Bookmobile, utilities and maintenance of the library itself, additional books etc. To date, 10 counties have voted favorably on the special tax for library service.

Counties voting favorably share in State and Federal funds distributed by the Department of Libraries for new Bookmobiles, and Bookmobile books, cash grants for qualifying libraries, and for library materials such as books, magazines, records, framed paintings and educational films.

During the present fiscal year, the Department is providing $17,000 for Bookmobile books and $100,000 in State aid for libraries and Bookmobiles. Fifteen new Bookmobiles costing over $6,000 each are now on order and will be delivered before the end of the year. The Department is al-

Industrial Arts Meeting Set For Saturday

An Industrial Arts Teacher-Education Roundup will be held Saturday at Morehead State College in the Industrial Arts Building.

All industrial arts teachers and student teachers within a radius of 75 miles have been invited to the meeting.

"Let's Talk It Over" will be the theme of the program.

An informal seminar will be conducted for the Industrial Arts teachers. The Industrial Arts Club will serve as host to the students by touring the campus with them and showing them various exhibits and demonstrations. Wives of the Morehead State College faculty members will entertain the wives of the visiting faculty participants.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, Chairman of the Division of Applied Arts, said the roundup is a means of exchanging ideas, discussing common problems and proposing tentative solutions to those problems.

At the conclusion of the morning's activities, the participants will attend the Morehead State College-Middle Tennessee football game at Jayne Memorial Stadium as guests of the Industrial Arts Department.

Clutch Burns Out, Fire Unit Called

A truck in which the clutch caught fire last Thursday became the first alarm answered by the Morehead Fire Department in some six weeks. Assistant Fire Chief Walter Calvert said the vehicle operated by Edward McDaniel caught fire on Main Street about 11:45 a. m. Damage was minor, Calvert said. The department used carbon dioxide to extinguish the blaze.

HISTORIC REMNANT — "Passenger if thou art a soldier, Remember the distinguished and gallant services rendered the Country (sic) by the Patriot who sojourns beneath this tomb," reads the inscription on the grave of Joseph Goddard behind the Goddard Methodist Church. Broken and in need of restoration and preservation, the unpublicized slab of native stone further tells, "Sacred to the memory of Joseph Goddard who departed this life June 28th 1844 in the 85th year of his Age." This record indicates Goddard was 17 years old when the Declaration of Independence was signed and 30 years old when George Washington was sworn in as the first president of the United States under the Constitution. Truly, here is a priceless remnant of American history.

Big Bubble Gum, Baseball Card Controversy Soon To Be Settled

After nearly two years of charge, counter-charge and investigation from Capitol Hill to the pitcher's mound the great American bubble gum hassle is at last about to be resolved.

Depending on action by federal courts and/or the Federal Trade Commission, the nation may soon know whether it is viler monopoly or just good clean fun to sign baseball players to long-term contracts for using their faces on bubble gum trading cards.

A trading card, as any American-born since 1880 knows, is a small pasteboard square which shows the face of a sports figure or other hero and is swapped off for similar cards until one has a complete set or series to put in a shoe box and store on the attic until judgment day.

Baseball players have appeared on trading cards for more than 75 years as premiums with tobacco, dairy products, deserts, bread and buttons. And in the past generation, with bubble gum, too.

Whether they actually help sell bubble gum to the kids is another matter as the world's penniest confections and its market of unaccompanied juvenile consumers operates by no law known to man. Sometimes football cards do better than baseball cards. Sometimes sports cards, astronauts, movie stars or — of all things — gum without any cards at all take the sales lead.

This, of course, is all beside the point as it is not the kiddies who make the bubble gum, but rather grownups. And for the past 15 years the grownups in the industry have figured that the kids want baseball cards.

"Well, you never saw anything like it," says a former Bowman's bubble gum foundry. "The competition to sign baseball players to gum contracts was hotter than a pistol."

"After the major leaguers were all signed up, the fight moved to the minors. It was real cloak-and-dagger stuff and all over a piece of gum and a player you never heard of then or now."

"What used to be a simple one-year contract and $100 in the old days had become by 1959 a whole legal library, 10-year contracts $200 payments and lots of lawsuits — but still over the same piece of gum."

In Decline
In 1956 when the Bowman company went out of business and left the baseball preserve in the virtually uncontested hands of the Topps Chewing Gum Co., trading card premiums, and especially baseball cards, were in one of their periodic declines.

By 1959, when baseball cards came back into fashion, Topps had signed at least 90 percent of the players to five-year contracts for exclusive use in the confectionery market.

Well, is it monopoly and control of the public interest as the 1962 complaint by the Federal Trade Commission indicates? Short contracts limited to one year? Have trading cards replaced 19th century railroads as the last vestige of the trust?

"It may appear humorous," says Joel Shorin, executive vice president of the Topps company which has asked federal courts to require an FTC ruling on a motion to dismiss the complaint.

"But we have a monopoly on neither the product nor the market. All through this time kids have been getting — and trading — baseball cards from cereal packages, and desert preparations, dog food, hot dogs, potato chips and cookies."

"Meanwhile, our expenses in legal fees and executives' time have been very high. Our sales are down. And we've had to expend great effort to reassure the baseball players that an FTC complaint is not an indictment."

In Washington, an FTC spokesman points out that it is not unusual for the commission to drop a complaint on the basis of testimony. But at present, he says, there has been no testimony but only pre-trial examination.

To this casual observer, who once got two Ernie Lombardi for a Dixie Walker, this would seem to be the proper moment for a smart gum company to bring out a series of trading cards of the Federal Trade Commission members — past and present.

Insurance Rate Hike Is Upheld
A 10 percent statewide increase in automobile liability insurance rates was upheld last week by Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs.

In a memorandum opinion, Meigs found no evidence to overturn the findings of a special deputy insurance commissioner or the order of Insurance Commissioner J. Elliott Flannery upholding the rates sought by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters.

The rates, in effect since January, were attacked by the Louisville Automobile Club as excessive, arbitrary and unfairly discriminatory.

"It is regrettable that room for doubt as to their propriety was afforded in the initial stages of these proceedings," Meigs said, "but any such shadow has more than been erased by the careful and thorough attention given the latter by the special commissioner thereafter."

Meigs apparently referred to a squabble over the rate increase, which developed after former Insurance Commissioner L. D. Cassidy approved the rates in January without a public hearing.

Stites Names
The Louisville Automobile Club protested that no public hearing was held. Cassidy then called a hearing, and Gov. Bert Combs appointed former Court of Appeals Judge James W. Stites as special deputy commissioner to preside.

When Cassidy failed to rescind the rates at the start of the hearing, he was fired by Combs.

CONFESSION? — Ask
The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed this out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained" (John 20:22, 23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles and their successors to pardon or to deny pardon, as they judge the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself — and what is this but Confession?

But Confession — the Sacrament of Penance — is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven — no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived — from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good — and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing — the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

We will send you a pamphlet explaining the seven Sacraments... how they can help you meet the seven basic needs of your life. Nobody will call on you. Write for free Pamphlet No. KCS-5.

High Court May Expedite Ruling On Absentee Vote

The Court of Appeals may decide on the constitutionality of the 1952 absentee voting law before Nov. 5 election.

A speedy decision was indicated Friday because judges began studying briefs on the case only a day after they were filed.

Because of a heavy docket, the high court customarily does not take up a case with such dispatch. Although it usually hands down decisions on Friday, the court may issue opinions any day.

Jefferson Circuit Judge Lawrence S. Gramman ruled the law invalid Oct. 1. But he urged attorneys to seek a final ruling immediately from the Court of Appeals because voting rights of many Kentuckians are involved.

The 1952 absentee voting law drastically restricted the right to cast absentee ballots.

The previous absentee ballot law permitted any voter to cast an absentee ballot if he were required by business to be absent from his county on election day.

The 1952 law restricts absentee voting to full-time students and members of the armed services and merchant marines, federal employees and religious or welfare employees connected with the armed services.

The filing deadline under the 1952 act was Thursday, but would be Tuesday.

Ast. Atty. Gen. Walter Herdman advised county clerks to keep on file applications for ballots from Kentuckians who are eligible under the previous law.

The new absentee voting law was voted by the general assembly with the backing of the present state administration "in a move to correct abuses in cast-in absentee ballots."

No figures are available on how many absentee votes would be affected by the Court of Appeals' decision.

FAIL DRAFT TESTS

President Kennedy has appointed a Cabinet group to recommend a retraining program when he learned last the men reported for draft duty fail the mental or physical examination.

It was noted that 306,073 men aged 22 and 23 years old reported for the draft in 1952. Of these, 414 percent were found unqualified.

New Milk Production Standards Will Aid 35,000 Producers

Kentucky's 25,000 producers of milk for manufacturing purposes will benefit from new production standards, Dr. Russell E. Trause, commissioner of the State Department of Health, has announced.

Better quality milk and a steady increase in markets are the two chief advantages of the new standards, he added.

This new program to upgrade milk for manufacturing is effective for plants Jan. 4, 1954, and for farms July 4, 1954. It was designed by the Health Department in cooperation with the Kentucky dairy industry.

Gov. Bert Combs, in a conference with a special committee representing the Dairy Products Association of Kentucky, Inc., the University of Kentucky Dairy Division, and the Kentucky Farm Bureau, said that the State "would accept responsibility in starting this important program."

He will appropriate from his contingency fund the money necessary for the remainder of the fiscal year. The cost for special State inspectors is estimated at $55,000 per year.

K. E. Mennen, Springfield, vice president of D. P. A. K., estimated that the industry's cost in field supervisory personnel will be about $500,000 per year.

That the industry's cost in milk production and processing must be equal to, or superior to, the standards of those states in which our products are sold," said Shelby Johnson, director of the Health Department's Food and Drug Program. "Otherwise, our milk and milk products can be excluded from these states for non-compliance with their laws and regulations."

"These new standards controlling production, packing, transportation, and sales are equal to or superior to those of the states in which Kentucky milk is sold. In this new program, and if it will copy it," Johnson said.

Last year, gross income from milk on Kentucky farms totaled $10,000,000, the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Louisville reported. This year $12,410,000, 1,650,000 pounds of milk sold to plants and dealers for $23,410,000, 1,650,000 pounds of cream to these outlets for $49,000, 23,000,000 quarts of milk and cream retailed by farmers for $4,970,000, and 315,000,000 pounds of milk and cream used on the farms where they were produced and valued at $12,316,000.

These statistics rank Kentucky second only to Texas in the dairy industry among 16 South Atlantic and South Central states.

Milk for manufacturing purposes is used primarily for cheese and evaporated milk. Kentucky led the year for the sixth consecutive year for the highest among American cheese-producing states with 82,688,000 pounds and the state's production position is unswerving. Evaporated milk, 202,344,000 pounds, advanced to second place in the nation.

Farm sales of dairy products to a whole now rank behind only tobacco and meat animals in Kentucky farm marketing. Cheese reflect only two parts of Kentucky's mammoth dairy industry in general and manufactured-milk products in particular. In 1952, production of mozzarella dry milk reached 22,789,000 pounds; cottage cheese, 11,326,000 pounds; and ice cream, 4,874,000 gallons.

"Our new standards will enable the Kentucky dairy-products industry to continue to grow," Johnson said. "This action is necessary for growth."

He said that in the new milk-for-manufacturing program, the dairy industry will do most of the inspection work on farms. The Health Department's role will be supervisory to see that the program is carried out. The department will (1) train industry checks and surveys of farms.

The dairy industry's field staff for inspection now numbers about 100, Mennen said. This total will be increased by about 25 to 30 new men, he estimated.

Gov. Combs, at the same conference at which he pledged State aid to new milk standards, also made a $28,000 appropriation from his contingency fund to continue the Grade-A milk program for another year. This program, conducted through county health departments, has upgraded Grade-A milk regulations to the extent that Kentucky interstate shippers may ship regularly to Arkansas, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Georgia,

Breathitt County Gets 2 Retraining Projects From ARA

Five new retraining projects have been approved for two Kentucky counties by the Area Redevelopment Administration. Earl S. Powell, commissioner of the State Department of Economic Security, has announced.

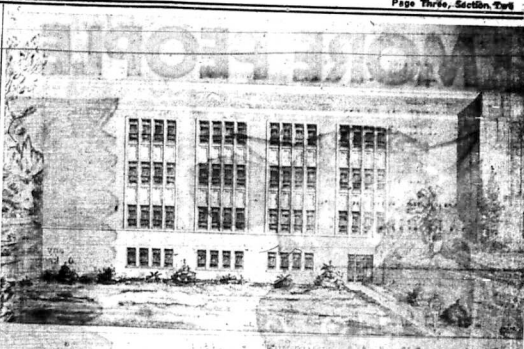

Three projects in McCreary County and two in Breathitt County were authorized for 16 weeks each. All five will provide bench work training in library, wood, and plastics. Use of different materials will be taught in each class.

Training was approved for a total of 120 people, with 60 in each county.

The federal government appropriated $70,790 to cover expenses of the projects. The Department of Economic Security was granted $48,616 to make retraining subsistence payments to the trainees while they are in class and to cover the expenses of selecting and retraining unemployed people who will be enrolled.

The Bureau of Vocational Education in the State Department of Education was allotted $20,174 to cover the use of facilities and the cost of conducting the classes.

Any products made by trainees enrolled in the A. R. A. classes are donated to tax-supported institutions, Powell said.

JOHNSON CAMDEN LIBRARY—Plans for the extension of Morehead State College's Johnson Camden Library are complete and construction will begin this year. The new addition to the building will almost double the size of the library.

Concrete for Kentucky Interstate highways is saving millions of dollars in future expenditures

With all its advantages of long life and low maintenance cost, concrete costs no more to build than asphalt on Interstate highways. Construction costs for the two pavements are virtually equal. And remember, on every mile of Interstate highway, the Federal Government pays 90 percent of the construction cost. The State pays 10 percent. Kentucky, in selecting modern concrete pavement, is building a network of super-highways that is equal to any in the nation.

The big savings come in upkeep. Once these high-mileage roads are built, Kentucky will pay 100 percent of all resurfacing costs as well as routine maintenance.

Performance studies on concrete highways prove concrete will need no significant upkeep for decades.

These same studies show asphalt highways in Kentucky require not only continuing maintenance, but complete resurfacing 8 to 12 years after they are built. To resurface just one mile of Interstate highway with a two-inch layer of asphalt will cost about $24,000. That is as much as Kentucky's 10 percent share of the cost of building it in the first place.

With approximately 1,000 miles of Interstate highways and turnpikes to be completed in the next 10 years, the resurfacing dollars saved with concrete will be an important contribution to the modernization of the farm to market roads.

FIRST COST SAVINGS WITH CONCRETE ON KENTUCKY I-75
Mileage awarded	Average paving cost per mile
Asphalt 9.9 mi.	$845,500
Concrete 78.7 mi.	241,100
Concrete's first cost advantage	$ 4,400 per mile

"75,000 NEW JOBS for Kentuckians in the next 4 years"

NED BREATHITT, Democratic Candidate for Governor

"During our administration my running mate, Harry Lee Waterfield, and I will do everything possible to promote increased economic growth for Kentucky. We will work to bring 75,000 new jobs to Kentucky . . . to improve the economic level of present jobs . . . to develop better living for all Kentuckians."

Here is part of the Democratic BETTER JOBS PROGRAM:

- Introduction of new industries and plants
- Expansion of existing plants and markets
- More new roads . . . improvement of present roads
- Industrial research to develop new products for Kentucky
- Improved vocational training to equip Kentuckians to handle new and better jobs
- Cooperation with Federal Government to help depressed areas
- Development of good business and economic climate
