CAMPUS

Improvements Adding Both Beauty and Usefulness to College Grounds

The decided change in the appearance of the campus within the past few months is only a forerunner of the change that will be made in the near future. One of the most costly and useful improvements recently completed is the new service road around the rear of the buildings.

COMEDY

"Her Husband's Wife" To Be Offered Here As Lyceum Feature Number

Wednesday night, February 11, the students of the college will be privileged to witness one of the most entertaining plays now being staged. The entertainment will follow the Eastern-Morehead game, "Her Husband's Wife," named after the play with a universal appeal, is distinctly novel, entertaining and satirical.

CALENDAR

For the second time in as many years the schools in the Eight Regional Tournament to be sponsored by the Eight Regional Basketball Tournament to be held here March 12, 13 and 14th.

This is the first building in all the Morehead plant that has been named for a faculty member. This recognition of the faculty in the naming of the building is very much appreciated by the faculty staff.

One of the most notable changes made in the building of a number of retaining walls on the campus. The walls are of various heights, the stone for such being obtained from various parts of Kentucky, from Indiana, from the mountains of the south, and from the mountains of the north.

As usual, everything is cleaned up at the finish. The wife decides she is not going to die, after all, and things are brought to a happy ending.

Principal characters in the play are Start Standolph, a good-looking fellow, who is the brother-in-law of Irene Randolph, the wife of Stuart Emily Ladew, the "successor" of John Holden, an uncle of Irene and Richard.

Transylvania jumped into the lead at the onset when they tossed a pair of long ones and a foul while Morehead was making one free throw. However, when "Dove" hit the net, they were down 7-0.

It is believed that Morehead will draw from the race this year in the early days and swing their vote to Morehead in order to keep Ashland from getting it. The entry of Morehead has caused the split in Morehead's vote with the probability that Ashland would get the vote.

ABOUT CAFETERIA REGULATIONS

The recent announcement that students residing in the dormitories would be required to purchase and consume six tickets each week has resulted in what we believe is uncalled for criticism. The majority of the students residing in the dormitories patronize the cafeteria. It is not necessary for the institution to operate the cafeteria at cost. No attempt to profit from its patronage is now or ever will be made. It is necessary that each student taking advantage of the unusually good housing facilities provided by the school likewise share in the reasonable cost of the maintenance of the school. Increased patronage will mean lower prices but it is absolutely impossible for prices to be lowered when this valuable branch of the institution is not supported by the residents of the dormitories.

Elsewhere in the Trail Blazer is printed the new regulation that it is a regulation that was adopted a number of years ago by the other state colleges of the state. By purchasing at one time the six tickets required each nine weeks a saving of five percent is made. When compared with the action of other colleges this saving alleges the ruling is quite liberal. Each student is simply assuming a part in maintaining a part of the college plant which probably ninety five per cent of the students desire.

WHY NOT "MOREHEAD STICKERS"

The term "stickers" can be applied to various conceptions. In one way it can be thought of as the tendency to hold on to an erroneous or the solution of an interesting problem; in another way it can be used to classify a victim of the magnetism of a particular person.

However, we are not referring to either of the preceding meanings. Our reference is made to those gum pieces, bearing the seal of your college, which we see on so many suit cases, traveling bags and other articles which the students from the various colleges carry about their person. These stickers, generally, seem to be used to display them where they had been.

We see no reason why students from Morehead cannot be privileged to advertise their school in the same manner. When the name of the school is in the public's eye and the students are conscious of it, perhaps they will come to the realization of the fact that they have a task to fulfill, and will act accordingly.

We will present this merely as a suggestion, and see no logical reason why it cannot be carried out.

Students Issue New Insurance

A people of surprising students at the University of Colorado have organized a new insurance scheme. It is an insurance business "run" and "owned" by the students. The students have a policy which will pay them in the event of death. Premiums vary according to the age of the student. The students have a policy which will pay them in the event of death. UNDERTOW

An Interview With Lewis Henry Horton

The reporter was given a notebook bearing three questions to be asked in case of a favorable interview. After a few minutes he knew only enough "Oh, Mr. Horton" to answer the first question. "What is your favorite interpretation of the 'Little Grey Home in the West'?" "Don't you just love the 'Little Grey Home in the West' or have not you heard 'When and where do you compose'?"

Behind the reporter at dusk on Main Street under a flickering light, he stands outside the Horton house. The sounds that emanate are not encouraging. . . . Three bars later followed by a green that would credit to a Sherlock Holmes assey.

Later, the reporter's three knocks bring no response. Desperately she pushes open the door and stands with her back against it for a moment. The small figure at the piano turns slowly, frowns, clutches the air three times slowly and murmurs his eyes closed slightly.

As Professor Lewis Henry Horton murmurs his last "slightly" he turns and gives a tremendous roar of defiance, crying "Don't do it!"

"There, it is finished! Good-bye to the west! Not of original text but made to fit, and stays the broken hearted nightingale of the following:

"Little Bobby with the shears Cut off both the baby's ears— Mama raised her eyebrows slightly."

Seeing baby no sunlight."

As the reporter looks hastily over her notebook to catch the words Dr. Horton continues to sob quietly.

"Realize, that, the reader in a cut off both the baby's ears— After three more thumps on the piano, he continued "Art, what do you see and 'O' beauty? What is beauty? I will show you. . . See."

I seize the baby's hair and draw the hairpins out of the hair's tail over the intestine of the female quadruped." So saying he hits the violin under his chin. "And, see, I drew an angel down, art via the intestine as it were. That's got into the subject."

He played a number of nocturnes and two or three jokes before the reporter remembered to say, "What is your favorite interpretation of the Restory?" His expression of pain said that "Well, what do you think of 'Little Grey Home in the West'?"

"Horror! horror! tongue cannot name it. Mine is a concrete art."

Who said that? It was the radio which "isly sentiments exactly" says Mr. Horton.

"What and where do you compose?" "After a supper of cold chicken and a drink of beer, I composed the poem in the blue little gibbons with green eyes—want to hear him?"

The reporter "interposes" healthily. "What is your conception of the 'Little Grey Home in the West'?"

"That reminds me," the composer says in a low, hoarse, but it would rather key the Millay line. "When you are corn and roses are at rest it is wondrous how they ever long for Nirvana."

The king is plain. "Oh, yes," cries the reporter, adding "Thank you so much, Mr. Horton. I'll remember that. 'When you are corn and roses are at rest—do you ever long for Nirvana'?"

"Lyns Pickett had to do as well as Mr. Horton."

Coast Them as They Fall! The latest invention of Black and White is a combination of a hairbrush and a comb, designed for combing the hairs of the head. It is especially adapted for those who are getting bald.

The subject sits in a revolving chair to the back of which a metal attachment containing hundreds of rollers is attached. As the subject sits in the chair, the rollers grip the hair from the scalp and each hair is counted the color of each wire by a cord and as each hair is counted the wire automatically releases the rollers. The rollers are counted and recorded on the drum of a millitron of . . .

This is the first invention of its kind on the market. It will do no good by relieving the nervous system, but it does relieve the sufferer from the mystery of the bald head. The subject can sit in his revolving chair each morning and in less than three minutes estimate number of hairs in his head. His record can then be compared with a chart for the previous day, the record for the previous year. Also the company will furnish forms by which he can compare his record with thousands of other records of his own age and physical condition.

Often the subject will be surprised by an analysis by a doctor that his hair is not falling out as he supposed but that as a matter of fact the falling hair was limited to some previous period.

As for the combinator record book, it is a record of the rapid increase in the number of hairs lost per day, the subject had been told that he had lost one or two hairs at once or take refuge in the philosophy of the old adage: "What is it that no man wishes lost, no man would do without?" Ans: "A bald head."

In the preparation of the "Black Hair Comptometer" Dr. Black furnished most of the scientific data which the machine was perfected. But Dr. Hoke served as the subject on whom the comptometer was tried out. Dr. Black had advanced to such a state of hairlessness that even the comptometer was unable to grip enough hairs to function successfully.

The invention is patented and costs $275 installed.

"SNOOKS" PREDICTS

Dr. "Snooks" Crutcher, sports writer & ex captain of the Trail Blazer, after being quizzed by the Regional Tournament was to be held in the school by the maintainers out to the memo and proceeded to make a few predictions about how the whole thing will turn out.

Dr. "Snooks" says although he has looked on the matter from every angle in hopes of seeing a way out to most predict both the Ashland "Kittens" and the "Tomcats" will clinch the boys and girls "A" class title. "The Falcons," he says, "would win with a snarl but the Cats will have their slinking. The Kittens online year, will cop the state title in a crawl while the Cats won't get further than the quarter finals at Lexington, unless they show more than they are far."

As for the "B" class title, Crutcher picks it to go right in Howard county, with the Morehead High boys and the Hillsman girls coupling the cups. "Morehead High easily outclassed Betsy Layne in the game here," he tells us, "and Betsy Layne is the Vikings' toughest opposition. The score of the matchup with the Big Saddy boys was only 16-13. Betsy Layne has been lugging them all up Big Saddy and is leading the conference. Haldeman has shown more class in this section than any 'B' class girls team. Their game with the 'Kittens' was not fairly representative of their real strength."

Miss Kathleen Adams, a student at the University of Ohio, was a weekend guest of Miss Gladys Dawson.

RIO GRANDE LOSES TO DROOPING EAGLES

Cosch Downing's Eagles easily defeated Rio Grande College of Rio Grande, Ohio here last Friday by a 38-20 count in a slow game. The contest lacked anything spectacular or approaching it, and it was a sorry exhibition the locals put up in spite of the fact that they were never in danger of being tied after the first few minutes of play.

Morehead took the lead in the first play of the game and gradually forged ahead. Playing listless they scored fifteen points to Rio Grande's five in the first half, while if they had been in their stride they could have rung up fifty.

In the last half the visitors did a little better and scored fifteen while Morehead was tallying twenty-three. The substitutes failed to perform any better than the regulars during the last half which only helped to complete an exhibition of high school playing.

Rifflie was high point man for Morehead flipping in a half dozen crups for an even twelve points. Holbrook placed second with eight. Knight of the visitors was best tallying seven points.

How Queer It Is!

Jim Woodward went home over the weekend and felt a bit queer. One day for a quarter while on his journey.

Mary Jacobs is thinking of enrolling in this school for the next course of the Eighth Regional.

Jessie Manry and Bob Sauerfeld failed to eat at the same table this morning.

Paris Hendrix has refrained from wearing the Wesleyan jacket on the campus.

Bruce Dorsay went to breakfast yesterday morning.

Rex McDowell went for twenty-four hours without calling Margaret DeHart's name.

"Liz" Robertson went from Fields Hall to the cafeteria without yelling a single time.

Kathryn Friend did not have a date with "Charlie" Sunday night, but passed the evening in Fields Hall with Gordon Kercher.

John Ridgway went to town yesterday and did not return until after dark.

George Scott was seen at Sunday School last Sunday.

Virginia Jones has given up the idea of matrimony and says that she is much happier.

Jimmy Maggard has shaved every day for nearly a week.

The hospitality and the messes of caring for the athlete was extremely good last year, which no doubt in a large measure accounts for the manner in which the schools voted this year.

Mr. Sterling Ashland won in 1930 last spring over Ashland by a 12-9 count in the biggest upset in the state. They come back to pull another upset to take the championship with a win over Betsy Layne in an overtime period.

Mr. Sterling failed to come through at the state meet, losing to Lexington by a top heavy count.

Ashland's "Kittens" easily coasted through the girls class but lost to a third upset to Hazard in a game the Falcons would have clinched nine times out of eight. The Mayhew girls after winning the "B" class here went to the semi-finals at Lexington before being eliminated.

The Regional tournament is a follow-up of the district affair and is next to the state tourney. Four teams from each region will be eligible to compete at the state meet in Lexington the week following the Regional. Announcement has been made to the effect that the National Tournament will not be held this year, as the winner of the state is at the top of the ladder as far as Kentucky teams are concerned.

1930 Tournament Success

The Regional tournament probably enjoyed its biggest success last year when it was held here. More enthusiasm was manifested by both the teams and the fans. Approximately fifteen thousand people passed the turnstile in the seven sessions of two games each.

Music Dept. In New Quarters

The opening of Morehead's second semester brings with it the introduction of many new improvements. While the opening of the Johnson-Candian Library and the Breckinridge Training School are noted events of significance, the centralization of all music classes in new quarters and offers additional opportunities for those interested in the art. The basement of Fields Hall, the location of the training school before its occupation of the new building, will be entirely given over to the use of the Music Department.

To date, the music classes have been conducted in various buildings of the campus. A room in the basement of Thompson Hall, the auditorium and the parlor of Fields Hall formerly housed the department. The bringing together of all music classes in one building will greatly facilitate the work and it is welcomed by not only the students but instructors. The move is but another step in the expansion plan of the department.

Under the new arrangement each instructor in music will have a separate room. Five rooms will be fitted and equipped to meet the needs of the students. There will be a department office, three class rooms proper and a combination practice and recreation room. Piano practice in the latter room will be possible at any time during the day to persons studying that instrument. A radio will be installed in the recreation room to be used in appreciation, and history work. This room

JUNIOR CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS AND SPONSOR

On the morning of January 21, the Junior College Class met for organization. The election of officers was as follows:

President — Kathryn Friend
Vice President — Allie Holbrook
Secretary — Magaine Vincent
Treasurer — Bedford Reed
Sponsor — G. O. Parat

The purpose of the Junior Class of this year is to entertain at a social function in the spring; to entertain the Senior Class and to carry on constructive Junior College work and activities.

Miss Friend is from Ostrycieville; Mr. Holbrook lives in Morehead; Miss Vincent is from Lexington and Mr. Reed from Mt. Sterling.

will be available for recreational activities under the auspices of Dean Smith.

All voice work, music methods and courses in the history of music will be in charge of Prof. Lewis Henry Horton, Head of the Department. A room will be fitted to meet the needs of such work. All piano instruction will be in charge of Miss Louise O'Rear. Two pianos and a number of practice keyboards will be placed in the room supervised by Miss O'Rear making possible a clear view from top to toe in piano. Prof. Pinzel, in charge of all instrumental work, will be in charge of room devoted entirely to instrumental instruction.

In the past the department has been seriously handicapped by the lack of photograph records. The recent purchase of a quantity of permanent records will greatly enhance the work in methods, in the training school, and appreciation.

STUDENTS FROM MANY STATES ENROLL HERE

Morehead is beginning to reach the status of the state for her students but the boundaries of the state have been crossed. This semester a larger number of states are represented in the college than ever previous semester. While by far the majority of the student body is drawn from the eastern counties of the state not a few have joined in from the western counties of the Commonwealth. Five states other than Kentucky have representatives on the campus. Students yesterday enrolled from Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Virginia and Illinois.

STUDY CENTER PROVES TO BE INTERESTING

The study center group being conducted at Paintsville under the direction of the Morehead Department of Extension is proving quite popular. The number enrolled in the course, Geography 63 and offered by Miss Catherine Braun, has jumped from 10 to 25. Those taking the work have expressed a desire to enroll in another geography course at noon as the work in the present course is completed. One Ashland school official observed the work at Paintsville has expressed the wish that a study center be organized in Ashland. It is possible that this will be done within a short time.

FORMER STUDENT MARRIED IN ASHLAND

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Warts of 2513 Terrace Boulevard in this city, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Sunday, January 18 when Miss Anna Vashner and Mr. J. Walter Thompson, pledged their troth before an assemblage of relatives and friends.

Miss Irene Thompson, sister of the groom played the wedding march from Lobengrin and an impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Reverend Shumway.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy young couple left for a brief honeymoon in various points of interest in the East and upon their return will make their home in Morehead, Kentucky, where they have an attractive apartment awaiting them.

The bride was graduated from the Louise High School and later attended Morehead Teachers College. For the past year she has been a member of the faculty of the Webbville High School, where she has made many friends.

Mr. Thompson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Thompson. He is a graduate of Obeyes High School and later attended the Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond and the college of Denimery of the University of Louisville. For the past year he has been connected with the school system of Webbville—Ashland Independent.

Y. M. C. A. Has Done Good Work

A list of worthy accomplishments for the 1930-1931 semester is the record of the Morehead Y. M. C. A. The Y has not only been successful but has had no less than 100 projects but has nevertheless accomplished results. One of the acts which has been particularly successful to include in its program was the loaning of money to seven students by aid them in the continuation of their studies.

Socially the Y has helped to sponsor several enjoyable affairs. It assisted the Y. W. C. A. in preparing for the reception of the 1931-32 Winter conference. In a financial way it helped contribute to the success of Morehead's first and second Christmas parties.

Nearly 500 letters have been distributed in the Administration Building in a past case. Each week a valuable thought in cartoon form is posted by the Y. In the field of religious work the Y has helped in securing church attendance for the past year by cooperating with the churches of the city in regard to their discussion.

Three notable convocation addresses have been delivered by speakers brought here under the sponsorship of the organization Charles Thompson, Life American Secretary for the Fellowship of Reconciliation; John S. Moore, Regional Director of the League of Nations and David Takahara of Japan brought worthwhile message.

TAKE SIGHTSEEING TRIP OVER KENTUCKY

Over twenty students of the college have a most pleasant and profitable tour of points of interest in the state during the weekend under the guidance of Prof. Andrew Walker. Leaving here early Saturday morning aboard a chartered bus, the sightseers first visited points of interest in Lexington among which were "Ashland" the home of Clara Morgan Stuart and the Breckinridge home. The party continued to Frankfort where they visited the state museum, the state prison and the woman reformatories awaiting them.

After an inspection of the new capitol building, the group was met by Gov. Letcher who briefly addressed them. A visit to the governor's mansion followed.

The party returned to Lexington where the state hospital was visited. A trip was then made to Owensboro.
