NO. 24 BROADWAY, PADUCAH, KY.

Who would wear a seedy Coat or badly Fitting Vest, Or Pants all threadbare, old and worn, for new ones are the best. When A. SOLOMON so cheaply sells a suit of beauty rare, In Fit and Fashion, just the thing that every man should wear. Oh! who would wear a Dress Coat, the style of by-gone years, Where signs of age and service long, on every seam appears, When A SOLOMON, has such a stock, at terms so very low, That everybody wonders how he can sell them so. Oh who would go to Stores, where on credit a man can buy, And pay a price for Clothing which is much too high. When A. SOLOMON can suit him, and fit him very nice, And give a better article for only half the price. Then if you wish for Coats or Pants, a Vest, a Shirt or Collars, Or Handkerchiess or Socks, and you want to save your Dollars, To A. SOLOMON, be sure to go -- there is no other place, And he always will wait on you with a pleasant face. March 25, 1865.
