A STUNT TO PULL

Press dispatches tell how the historic Lady Godiva stunt is to be repeated in Chicago as the star attraction of some sort of benefit. The modern Lady is not going to wear any more clothes than the original Lady, the papers say, and she is to have long hair and ride a horse. Either a woman with long hair or a horse would doubtless attract a crowd in Chicago! All of which is merely introductory to the fact that someone has figured out there are now 135 "dedicated weeks" in the year. The list covers about everything from "Eat More Prunes Week" to "Press Your Own Pants Week." The Scorcher therefore suggests with a genuine horse power appeal to it, namely, a revival of "Mind Your Own Business Week" for a period of several weeks.

REMU'S TRIAL UNDER WAY

The first evidence upon which the state depends to send George Remus, the former "king of bootleggers," to the electric chair was adduced Monday after Remus had sprung the biggest surprise of the trial by declining to make the opening statement for the defense. Remus is on trial at Cincinnati for killing his wife there in Eden early several weeks ago. In his address to the jury, composed of nine men and three women, Remus' attorney, Elton, outlined a defense solely of transitory insanity and made the startling statement that evidence would be introduced to prove that Remus had been insane for two years prior to the time he shot Mrs. Remus. Up to this point, Remus has been handling his own case, but a bad cold prevented his making the opening speech. Two witnesses, Mrs. Remus' secretary and the driver of the taxi in which Mrs. Remus rode just before being killed, were examined.

When a woman starts out to shop she generally knows what store has what she wants and what the price will be, but that doesn't prevent her from looking and prying it in every other store before she goes there to buy it.

CLAY CITY WITHOUT A DOCTOR

Clay City, a town of 1,000 people is without a doctor. The only one they had died a few days ago. According to the Clay City Times, they have had five doctors there since 1908, four of them have died and the one remaining living moved away. They offer to raise a guarantee fund for any doctor to come there. If they could give some guarantee, it might be more inducements.

If demand really governs supply, it is probable that Baranus' estimate of the birth rate was a little low.

Dreaded Aches, PAINS Disappeared

"My health had been poor ten years, before I took Cardui," says Mrs. Anna Cronin, of Rockport, Ind. "I was lifeless and 'no account.' I dragged around day after day, every move an effort, and never feeling the joy of being well. At times I had a dreadful ache across my back, and my sides hurt me. I worried along, sometimes hardly able to leave my bed, but the demands of a growing family had to be attended to, so I would get up, do what was absolutely necessary, and then lie down again. One day, someone suggested Cardui to me. I took it for several months, and all the time I was growing stronger, and less nervous. My aches and pains finally disappeared. That was two years ago. My improvement has been permanent. The good health which followed the taking of Cardui, is still with me, so I do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends."

SUCCESS OUT OF FAILURE

Most successful careers have started with small failures. When Marshall Field was a boy he went to work in a small country store located in Pittsfield, Massachusetts. After he had been at work for six weeks his boss wrote to his father and asked him to call at the store.

When the father appeared he was told to "take the boy back to the farm, he'll never make a merchant." And we are all familiar with the great merchandising institution he developed thereafter.

When Giuseppe Verdi, as a youth, wished to advance his musical education he applied for admission to the conservatory of music at Milan. After examining him the heads of that institution declared that he had no talent and could never become a musician. And yet the great opera he composed have thrilled and will continue to thrill millions of lovers of music throughout the world.

When Frederick the Great led his troops into battle for the first time he became terror stricken, mounted his horse and fled to the rear. No doubt these about the court declared that he would never become a general, and yet history long ago accorded him a place along with the few great military leaders of all time.

Thus it appears difficult to judge the qualities of a man on the basis of his early failures, and it follows also that no one should feel discouraged because someone in authority declares that he can never make good.

SIXTY ATTENDANTS AT ASYLUM FRIED

Sixty attendants at the Eastern State hospital for the insane have been dismissed this year because of inefficiency, neglect of duty or infraction of rules. It was brought out today in the court of inquiry investigation last Sunday of Charles Merchant, classified as a criminal insane.

This information was advanced by Dr. W. R. Thompson, assistant superintendent of the hospital, who also called attention to the fire hazard at the institution, making it necessary to keep one of the exits in the asylum wall open at all times in order to make a hurried entrance in case of fire.

Dr. Thompson also described ward No. 12, the "strong room" of the institution, which he said, was the most secure ward at the hospital, although the iron gratings over the windows are merely screwed into the rotten window frames that can easily be torn away by a strong patient.

WARNING IN REGARD TO DRESSING RABBITS

With the opening of the hunting season reports are being received of the occurrence of the disease, Tularemia, which is transmitted to human beings by rabbits. This rare disease is mainly transmitted to human beings from the handling of infected rabbits such as dressing rabbits for market or dressing rabbits for home cooking.

Infection occurs through a small cut on the hand when this cut becomes infected from an animal having the disease, or in eating an improperly cooked infected rabbit. In order to prevent the transmission of this disease, handlers are warned not to pick up or touch any rabbits which they kill which show the distinctive signs of the disease unless they are wearing gloves. Persons who handle rabbits for dressing or cooking are advised to use rubber gloves. Rabbits should be thoroughly cooked.

The distinctive signs of the disease in rabbits are the swelling of any of the glands of the body, particularly noticeable in the glands of the neck. The disease is not apparently transmittable from man to man.

The State Board of Health of Kentucky is prepared to make the test for determining the presence of the disease in man. Physicians should send in a specimen of blood, collected in the same manner as for the typhoid agglutination test, making a specific request to the Laboratory for the Tularemia test. Butchers and dealers in rabbits are warned to take care in buying rabbits which show signs of the disease. Care in following out these directions will prevent cases of this disease in human beings.

Just Sentiment!

A gift is only an expression of sentiment after all—it is the thought that makes life enjoyable—it is one of the few real enduring values.

"Electricity----- The New Helper on the Farm"

Says William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture:

"Electricity has already made important contributions both to labor saving on the farm and to a more modern, satisfying rural life. I am confident it is going to make further contributions of equal or greater importance."

What cheap and abundant electric power has done for the industrial worker and his family in the alleviation of drudgery and the betterment of living and economic conditions, it now promises to do for the farmer.

Three per cent in the number of farms using electricity in the last three years.

In simplifying the labor problem on the farm; lightening the load of physical toil; and increasing the comfort, convenience and cheer of the farm home, this extension of electrical facilities to rural communities is rendering a social and economic service of utmost national importance.

Through the activities of the Committee on Rural Electrification, with the co-operation of electric power companies, farm electrification is a fact today in twenty-three states.

One hundred and forty practical applications of electricity to the farm have already been developed. As a result of the co-operation between farmers and the power companies there has been an increase of approximately eighty-

To insure the continued extension of farm service, it is essential that the American principle of individual initiative, by means of which these advantages have been made possible, should be encouraged and maintained.

COACH HEMBREE

RETRACTS STATEMENT

The Athletic Committee of Morehead State Teachers College received a letter from A. B. Coates, chairman of Committee on athletics of Eastern, in which he says that Coates disclaims all responsibility for the statement which appeared in the Lexington Herald on November 8, in which Hembree is quoted as charging G. D. Downie, coach at Morehead Teachers College, with playing a number on ineligible players in the football game at Morehead, November 5.

Mr. Hembree makes positive denial of any charges against Coach Downie. The letter from Mr. Coates, authorized by the athletic committee, says that any statement made by Mr. Hembree was only an expression of his personal feeling, and further states that Eastern has no desire to sever athletic relations with Morehead Teachers College.

The part of the letter relative to the former statement in the Lexington Herald follows:

"Mr. S. H. McGuire, Committee on Athletics, Morehead Teachers College, Ky.

"Dear Mr. McGuire:

"Your letter of November 4 has been presented to our committee on athletics and in reply we wish to say that we have no desire to sever athletic relations with Morehead Teachers College. Mr. Hembree may have expressed his personal feelings, but you will note that the coach has no jurisdiction in such matters, should such a contingency arise the matter would come before the committee on athletics and any action taken by the committee would be subject to faculty approval.

"In regard to certain statements that have appeared in the Lexington Herald and the Richmond Daily Register, we do not know who wrote them and since these were unauthenticated the committee on athletics disclaims any responsibility for them whatever. Mr. Sautley, owner of the Richmond Register, was in Morehead and saw the same, but we do not know whether he or someone else wrote these articles. We have found it a safe policy to say but very little attention to what the papers have to say concerning athletics in our institution. Mr. Hembree was present at the meeting and he positively denied any responsibility for the purported charges concerning Coach Downie. Mr. Hembree also denied any intentional discourtesy to Dean Chambers."

This letter is signed by

A. B. CARTER,
Chairman of Committee on Athletics.

SCHOOL NOTES

The sixth grade pupils met Friday and organized two literary societies with Alen Waltz and Catherine Jackson as presidents. Names for the societies have not been selected.

Mr. L. B. Porter, who has a position with the Wheeling Steel Corporation, Portsmouth, spent the week-end with his wife, who is in the sixth grade teacher.

Philip Johns is absent from school this week because of illness. There was no school on Friday following Thanksgiving.

This week is the end of the third month of school. One-third of the school term is gone. Each student should realize that there are only six weeks until the end of the first semester, when they will either receive or not receive credit for work done this fall.

The Jeffersonian Literary Society had its first program Tuesday. Nearly all members were present and from the laughter and applause, the program was greatly enjoyed. The program consisted of music, readings, stories and a joke paper. After the program Louise Caudill led some society yells. The Zetaphathians held a business meeting at the same time. They will give their first program soon. These two societies were formed by dividing the last six grades of the school into two equal groups. Names were submitted and each selected their name from the list.

The school is very grateful to Mrs. Dew Evans and Mrs. N. L. Wells who planted two nice shrubs and two fine grape trees on the school ground Monday. These are splendid contributions to the school besides the manifesting of a good spirit.

TO PATRONS:
I feel that you responded splendidly to my request last week, when I called on you to urge your children to be on time both in the morning and at noon. The number of tardies has been reduced more than half.

Let me call your attention to the fact that this week is the end of the third month and students will receive monthly report cards next Tuesday afternoon.

You can easily check up to see if your children have any absent or tardy marks that they should not have; if so investigate unit you know why.

Notice the report of the grades. This will encourage the boy or girl and also stimulate more work in other ways.

I shall be glad if you will sign the cards Tuesday night and see that they are returned Wednesday.

A. F. MCGUIRE, Principal.
