Col. Martin Michael Mulhain began before the senate lobby investigation committee at Washington, D. C., the record of the legislative activities of the National Association of Manufacturers. The story tells of double-dealing and duplicity. Mulhain had not proceeded far enough in his tale to bring in the names of congressmen whom he claims to have controlled for the N. A. M.

The Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, which was introduced in the senate at Washington, is unique in the history of American tariff-making, in that a senate committee recommended even more drastic reduction than the original bill contained when adopted by the house of representatives.

At the request of Secretary Bryan, Secretary Garrison ordered Col. Edwin P. Brewer of the Fourteenth cavalry at Fort McIntosh, Tex., to demand the release of five Americans, together with the 350 cattle and 50 horses held by Mexican revolutionists at Hidalgo, Mex.

All the "wars" that have been fought between labor and capital; all the efforts that both have made to obtain legislation which would protect them, and the 350 cattle and 50 horses held by Mexican revolutionists in the last decade are to be investigated by congress. The senate lobby committee decided that the "wars" must be brought into Samuel Gompers will appear before the committee on July 25, and others will follow.

An investigation by the interstate commerce commission of the financial operations of New York Central lines was proposed in a resolution adopted by the senate at Washington. This action was taken without debate when the resolution was introduced by Senator Norris of Nebraska.

The government crop report for July indicates bountiful crops of all the cereals, but the production in the year will be far below the grand total for last year, when there were record yields of nearly all the leading grains compared with the year. However, the present crop promise is good. The total yield of the leading cereals is placed at 4,529,000,000 bushels, compared with 4,961,000,000 bushels a year ago.

David Lamar resumed the stand before the senate lobby committee at Washington at his taking up the recital of the motives back of his relations with Luterbach. "I realize perfectly that my life and character are on trial," he began. He argued that his testimony and Luterbach's had shown they were not engaged in any effort to get money from anyone.

Attorneys for Harry K. Thaw petitioned the orphan's court at Pittsburgh to require the Fidelity Title and Trust company, trustee for Thaw under the will of his father, to pay him $50,000. The petition asserts that in the last five years Thaw has not been paid his share out of the income of the estate.

FARM BOYS ENCAMPMENT

WITH ARRIVAL OF STRIKE BREAKERS LEXINGTON STREET CAR STRIKE BECOMES SERIOUS.

Both Sides Determined—All Kinds of Vehicles Pressed Into Service—Company Denounced.

Western Newspaper-Union News Service.—Lexington, Ky.—With the arrival of 110 strikebreakers from New York City the strike of the Lexington City and Interurban carmen assumed a serious turn. It is generally believed that the attempt to force the company to start the cars in the morning will result in violence, despite the assurances of the men that they intend to keep peace and refrain from any demonstration other than the picketing of the company's property and peaceful persuasion of the new men. The company gave out a statement to the effect that the new men would go to work and that city cars would be operated by the men.

Both sides are determined, and unless one or the other yields a clash practically is certain. The plan is to have the men picketed by the company and deputy sheriffs are aiding in preserving order and keeping the crowds back from the repair barns and power house. The men are being urged by officers of the law being allowed to go near the plant. An air of suppressed excitement pervaded the city. All kinds of vehicles were pressed into service, and automobile garages did a landlubber business, nearly every trolley in the city also being in use.

The boys are selected by competitive examination, and application blanks mailed out by, and to be returned to Secretary J. L. Dent, before August 1. The only stipulations are that the boys be engaged in some farm work, are between the ages of 15 and 18 years, and of good moral character. Any boy who has been enrolled in a College of Agriculture is of course, barred from competition. The successful applicants will be selected by an examining committee from the State Board of Agriculture and of the Faculty of the Agricultural College.

The boys during their encampment at the State Board of Agriculture and wards of the management and everything possible is done to make their trip in the nature of a gala event, as well as to give them a practical education through the various phases of agricultural and mechanical science are given free of charge.

During their stay excellent camping quarters will be provided and meals served by the ladies of the Central Christian Church. Last year the boys were served a delightful banquet at the State Board of Agriculture. The B. F. Avery Plow Factory, were made really welcome at the Kentucky Wagon Works, and by the Evening Post and Home & Farm publications.

The Farm Boys' Encampment in this and other states is regarded as one of the most valuable as well as picturesque features of the State. Interesting expressions of approval from the boys themselves have followed their visits.

"Above everything else the Fair taught me to regard Kentucky as one of the foremost states of the Union." "What pleased me most was the discovery that there is more to be studied in agriculture than I had ever suspected."

"Education, as embodied in the State Fair trip is the pathfinder to success." As the coming Kentucky State Fair is destined to be the greatest in the history of the state, the boys who succeed in carrying the representation of their county will be fortunate, indeed, and may well look forward with anticipations of pride to the wearing of the white cap and badge which will mark them as one of the Farm Boys' Encampment of the Eleventh Annual Kentucky State Fair.

SEPARATE BALLOTS

WILL BE PREPARED BY COUNTY CLERKS SO THAT WOMEN CAN VOTE.

Western Newspaper-Union News Service.—Lexington, Ky.—(Special)—A letter has been sent out to all the county clerks of Lexington, Kan., by Col. John H. Allen, chief of election, attorney for the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, asking if they will prepare separate ballots for women who desire to participate in the election of county school superintendent at the primary to be held August 2nd. In the suit brought by Mrs. Walter Bullock vs. the Board of Education of Fayette county, the Fayette circuit court decided that all women who possessed the legal qualifications required of male voters in the common school election, and who in addition are able to read and write, are entitled to vote for county superintendent. The court of appeals decided to take jurisdiction in the case. So the judgment of the circuit court in Fayette is in full force and effect, and the county clerk thereupon prepared separate ballots for women voters.

GOOD WORK OF CANNING CLUBS

Girls and Women Taught to Save Vegetables.

AIDED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Experts Furnished to Give Instruction in Scientific Canning While Kentucky Agricultural Department Loans Modern Outfits—Women Are Also Showing Interest in the Work.

The garden behind each and every farmhouse produces each summer more vegetables than the family can use. When winter comes the farmer and his family have to buy canned tomatoes, peas, corn and beans at the cross roads store.

The Girls' Canning Clubs that the United States government is developing in nine counties in Kentucky this summer are part of a huge movement to check this huge loss in fine food and money that totals millions annually. Besides the saving in money there is another point which is commonly overlooked. In canning vegetables that are home grown the housewife is sure she has a first class article.

That the work may be done in the best possible manner, the United States government is furnishing experts to demonstrate this home can-

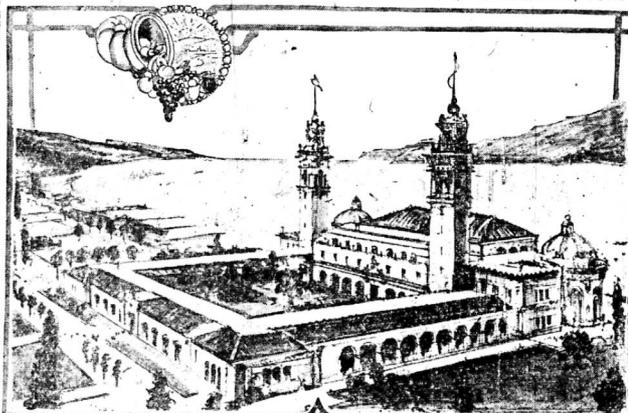

CANNING CLUB AT VALLEY STATION.
The state agricultural department is loaning each of the nine counties a home canning outfit, and the counties themselves are furnishing interested teachers, parents and wide awake country girls to form the clubs. In Jefferson county clubs have been organized at Valley Station, O'Banion and Okaloosa. During the latter part of May the government experts gave three demonstrations. Of course there was no ripe tomatoes or beans in the country that year in the south, so they were bought in the city and taken to the schoolhouses where the clubs were to meet. Besides the girls who were members of the clubs, many mothers and interested housekeepers came and brought their dinners so they might get the benefit of all the work that was done.

After the first lot of tomatoes had been put through the canner by the expert in forty minutes the girls were thoroughly interested and continued the work. It was remarkable how fast the work went with five girls as busy as beavers. As one old farmer expressed it: "Every year I've been in my place I've made up my mind to plant fewer tomato vines, for I have more tomatoes than we can use and give away. But I don't believe I'll cut 'em down in number this year if I can do the work this fast. I've

O'BANION'S CANNING CLUB.
When figuring on it a little bit, and a little canner that'll set on top of a burner gasoline or coal oil stove it can save six quarts of tomatoes every three-quarters of an hour. That's one quart in a ten hour day."
The expert remarked one of the housekeepers, "and the great beauty of it is the temperature you can get in one of these canners, you can say and be sure of its being perfect all the time. You don't have to use any salt with beans, for instance, but a dash of salt and a little water."
"Well, it took a long time to get the idea in this part of the country to use thermometers to test their cream before churning, and I reckon it'll take some time to get them to use modern ones with thermometers so they will get the best results in canning."

Advantages of Night Schools

FOR years our large cities have recognized the absolute necessity for night schools, and they have become a part of each city's life. The rural districts have been slow to understand the great value of the energy that comes through the lack of education in each and every community. Of course a few counties in the past year or two have adopted "daylight" or night schools, but it is merely a beginning. In our own county (Lyon) it is naturally one would suppose that a county which had for its county seat a city the size and importance of Louisville would have seen the tremendous advantage of such schools, but such has not been the case. When it has been suggested some wise men have remarked sagely: "It don't pay to do it, it don't come. If they're too lazy to work they won't come out at all to learn at night, they'll be too tired at night to come. So they've done."

One day early last spring your correspondent happened to be in the office of the county superintendent at the courthouse in Louisville. When asked to be overheard a rural teacher ask: "If I set a school in my own district, interested in a night school proposition will you and the board stand by me and furnish light, heat and some new lamps?" Of course the superintendent at once agreed to the proposition but a farmer school was closed a few days and asked: "Who's going to pay for the extra work?"

The teacher finished for a moment and then returned to his home. "What he, what do you mean?"

"You mean, you don't intend to get the school closed because of the health, are you? What are you going to get for the extra work?"

"I'm going to get a big price for the work," she answered with a smile. "The price is to be my own satisfaction that I am doing my full duty to the good

SUGGESTIONS BY STATE EDITORS

How Kentucky Schools May Be Improved.

TO EXTEND TERM IN OFFICE.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Should Have More Time to Carry Out Reforms—Am Should Be Elected Rather Than Instruction—Importance of Electing Good Officials.

Why Not?
[From the Louisville Times.]
The awakened and more intelligent interest in all that pertains to education in the commonwealth suggests an inquiry in some quarters. Why not let them ask, so contrary as that non-utility of reform be made the more certain by permitting a second term to the superintendent of public instruction? Allowing for the time necessary for him to shake down in his office and become at home with the routine, how, in the brief space left, may he hope to shape and perfect plans that shall have time to blossom and bear fruit? Is it not essential that if those plans meet public approval and support they be given every widest opportunity to prove their worth by results?

The suggestion is worth consideration. There is much to be said for it and something, no doubt, on the other side. But, at first glance, we are free to state that it "distends" well.

Our Slogan—"Education is an investment; ignorance is a tax."

[From the Russell Democrat.]
Herein lies the importance of education. We should educate rather than instruct, because it is far more important to cultivate the mind than to store the memory, and instruction is only a part of education. Studies are a means and not an end.

Children are by nature eager for information. They are always putting questions, and this ought to be encouraged. Their instincts may be trusted to a great extent, and in that case they will do much to educate themselves.

[From the Shelby Record.]
If our children are to improve at school there are two things their parents should bear in mind. There should be a progressive, energetic county school superintendent, and the school trustees must take interest in their work and do their very best to get the best results possible in their respective districts. There are not two more important officers in the county than that of superintendent and trustee. Bear this in mind when you are called on to elect them and vote for those who are qualified to fill these places.

[From the Berry Citizen.]
Physiology, hygiene and other features pertaining to sanitation should have a proper place in the curriculum of the school at this place and taught regularly each week. In order that these subjects may be properly handled the four physicians of Berry should be placed in charge. Each one of them would be willing to give an hour of his time each week to the school as an instructor upon sanitary or hygiene lessons. The mere teaching of physiology, while it may interest somewhat and tickle the fancy of many of the children, does not protect one against tuberculosis, typhoid fever and other infectious diseases. These subjects would not be too difficult to teach, and either of our physicians could make their understandable, interesting and valuable.

NIGHT SCHOOL IN LOUISVILLE.

folks that have kept me in one school for ten whole years. Don't you think I owe something to the people who have given me my bread and butter for ten years?"

That conversation made your correspondent vow that he would visit the little schoolhouse before the end of the spring term. He did ride out to the little building that is perched on a steep hillside to keep it out of the Ohio river during flood times. It was a dreary, rainy night. As he went to the railway station he felt that there would be no one there for work, but he was mistaken. Four boys out of the eighteen enrolled, were on hand and ready to go to school.

Not one of the four had walked less than a mile in the darkness of night, and all of them had been at work all day. Yet there they were, smiling and eager, youngsters who during the time they had been in school had not a tot had done practically nothing.

When the teacher said, "I am sorry it's a bad night and time already to go to bed," your correspondent thought: "Only four present! But if at this moment each and every school in the county had just this number at work it would mean that the state would be caught and held and developed into something to be proud of, and that they would be otherwise. If it could be kept up for an year or two, and that the county would have 4,000 made over citizens. In a few years it would mean a new state. It is most certainly very much worth working for."

For the benefit of those persons who do not know how the vote was cast in Carter county at the last general election, we give it here: Democratic, 1,506; Progressive, 1,345; Republican, 1,174. It will be observed that the Democratic party only cast 166 more votes than the Progressive party, while it cast 332 more votes than the Republican party, so that the Progressive party is the contending party against the Democrats, and the only one that can win in November.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals in the case of Hager vs Robinson, an appeal from the Johnson Circuit Court, reported in 154 Ky., 489, the opinion of the court being delivered by Judge Settle, has decided that no voter should be permitted to vote at a primary election of any political party unless he is a member of such party, and that the usual test is, did the voter vote the party ticket at the last preceding election.

On pages 606-7, 154, the Kentucky Court of Appeals says: "The object of holding a primary election by a political party is to select party candidates, and it is in plain argument that no voter should be permitted to vote at a primary election of a political party, unless he is a member of such party, and unless provision is made to prevent persons voting at a primary election for the candidates of a party who are not affiliated with such party, the whole scheme of nominating party candidates by a primary election would fall, because of being incapable of execution."

A primary election is one for the nomination of candidates in office of the respective political parties by the members thereof. If Republicans vote the Democratic party ballot, and Democrats vote the Republican party ballot, a socialist vote any ballot but their own, then nominations are made, and he is said to be party nominations. It is no argument for the position that to permit electors participating in a primary election to vote indiscriminately any party ballot they might choose to select, regardless of their party affiliations would be simply putting a premium upon deceit, dishonesty and would make it possible for the worst elements of the several political parties participating to direct and control their nominations. Obviously all of the provisions of the primary election law were enacted by the Legislature to prevent electors from voting any ballot except that of their respective parties, and thereby prevent fraud and preserve the purity of the ballot. The constitutional provision of the primary election law provides only for party elections.

No specific provision is made by the primary law for testing the qualifications of the stand-patters. The stand-patters are trying to play another trick. We have been advised that some stand-patter candidates are going around among the Progressives trying to get them to vote in the Republican primary for such offices as are not being contested in the Progressive primary. That is, where there is but one candidate for an office before the Progressive primary, and that candidate sure of the nomination, they are trying to persuade members of the Progressive party that their votes are not needed in the primary, and that they can come over in the Republican primary and help some of the "lame ones" get the nomination.

The purpose of this move is two-fold. The first one is that such stand-patters are trying to get the nomination by illegal methods; the other is, by this device they hope to make a larger showing of votes in the primary election than the Progressive party for the purpose of using such results against the Progressives in the final election.

The old stand-pat guard is dying hard, but they will not be able to put such foolish projects off on Progressives.

will be found a quotation from the decision of the Court of Appeals which defines the qualifications in the primary and the various tickets.

The member of each party is compelled to vote in the primary of his own party, and no other, if he votes at all. Any one who undertakes to do otherwise will be challenged at the polls, and his conduct exposed.

The Progressive party is out for truth and principles, and does not propose to compromise with wrong under any circumstances. Nothing will come of this proposed trick.

It seems impossible for the stand-patters to comprehend the fact that the day of falsehood, trickery, deception and dishonesty in politics—and procuring nominations by fraud—has passed. But this fact will be well learned in the course of future events.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HELP EDUCATION

Suggestions by Louisville Commercial Club.

BENEFITS OF CO-OPERATION.

Kentucky Sunday School Association Has Done Excellent Work, and Its Influence Can Be Extended Through the Efficient Aid of Public School Teachers and Superintendents.

The educational wave is rising in our old state. For a long time each and every organization that was helping the movement has been working independently. Now there is a desire to get together. The following report of a special committee on the work of the Sunday school association and that of the Louisville Commercial Club, will explain itself.

The Kentucky Sunday School association has a splendid organization. Every county has some form of organization. Many of the people who are interested in all the best interests of the county are gathered about those who are connected with this association. These persons can be given a broader view of what the Sunday school, the public school and the home could do for the entire community, reaching into the physical, mental, social and spiritual development.

Not only the city pastors, but the rural pastors, who are in a measure leaders in the communities, are connected with the Sunday School association, and in many cases the public school teachers, superintendents of the county schools and others engaged in educational work.

The Commercial club is reaching through its wide system of publicity the prizes it has been offering, and the correspondence conducted, many who are interested in frugal education but whose viewpoint is different from that of Sunday school workers.

The Kentucky Sunday School association holds conventions in almost every county in the state every year, attended by thousands of the better citizens. In addition to this several hundred district conventions and near ly a thousand rallies and conferences are held. This association also publishes the Kentucky Sunday School Reporter with a circulation of about 5,000 per month.

These two organizations could greatly strengthen and advance the work both are doing by securing five or more persons in each county who could represent both organizations. Under the direction of such persons a survey of many counties might be made, finding the present conditions and forming a common basis for future work. At the conventions held time could be given for the discussion of topics of vital interest for the upbuilding of the community school, home and Sunday school and the length of the convention be increased to two or three days. The same thing could be done in district conventions, rallies and lectures. By holding conferences where a wider range of topics would be presented each would be able to reach points that have not yet become interested.

Then each could help the other.

Therefore we suggest:

First.—That in the future on all programs of institutes, conventions and rallies there be given a topic relating to the correlation of secular and religious education in the state along definite lines and that this topic be assigned to a person well informed on both religious and secular education. In such way there might be the opportunity of bringing to the attention of people who have never thought on the matter the value of such correlation. Because of the wide opportunity which the Sunday school speaker has of reaching audiences in the state this would be the surest way of arousing enlightened citizenship information and removing prejudice.

Second.—That in the future at all district, conventions, district, county and state there be chosen subject-matters which shall promote the cooperation of secular and religious educational forces along definite lines.

Third.—That whenever opportunities

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Theford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for the gripe, bad colic, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Theford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without
