FOR RELEASE Sunday, July 30, Morehead, Ky.--Although only a five watt radio station, WMSC provides a mammoth service to residents of North Men's Hall on the Morehead State College campus.

The station began broadcasting earlier this summer with equipment owned by Fred Wetzel, Van Lear, who has been a ham operator for a number of years. Wetzel and roommate Jim Norsworthy, West Liberty, managed the miniature station in their room until early this month.

From this meager beginning the station has become a highly popular project. It has been moved into a spacious studio room and a well-planned program has replaced the initial periodic broadcasting.

WMSC serves the purpose of providing an adequate medium of communication to the more than 400 students of the hall and to inform them of dormitory and campus activities as well as to entertain.

Announcers and crew members number five and include: Wetzel; Norsworthy; Joe Williams; Reading, Ohio; Jack Wicker, Wayland and Jan Wills, Brooksville.

Broadcasting time is from 7:00 until 11:00 in the evening at 570 on the dial. Morehead's fight song opens the programming and the college's alma mater is the "sign-off" theme.

The undertaking has been encouraged from the beginning by the dormitory council and the council members predict increased service to residents of the expansive hall during the next semester.

Morehead, Ky. - Twenty-three students from Robertson County are enrolled at Morehead State College for the summer term, President Adron Doran announced today.

Dr. Doran said that 1,694 students are enrolled for the summer term with 91% of the total from Kentucky. He pointed out that the 9% total from out-of-state is made up largely of persons who have left Kentucky to teach in other states or whose parents left Kentucky seeking job opportunities elsewhere.

Fifty-eight counties, 15 states and two foreign countries are represented with 1,512 Kentuckians and 166 out-of-state students enrolled.

The graduate program has 308 students enrolled while there are 619 seniors, 341 juniors, 250 sophomores and 163 freshmen enrolled for the eight-week term which ends on August 4.

The 1,694 total does not include participation in the annual Writers' Workshop (August 7-19), Hawaiian Field Trip (August 6-31), Kentucky Dance Institute (August 6-13) and on-campus post-summer session (August 7-25).

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., August 4 -- Just over three years ago, a youth from Middlesboro journeyed to the Morehead State College campus with a brand new diploma from the Kentucky School for the Blind and a heart full of courage and determination.

Thursday, Elwood Miracle proudly walked across the stage at Morehead's summer commencement exercises to receive his second diploma in three years -- signifying his completion of work for the Bachelor of Arts degree.

The 20-year-old walked across the stage without the help of anyone.

"That was the most exciting moment of my life," said the handsome youth who has been blind since the age of 16, or about 18 of his 20 years. "I had been looking forward to that moment for three years, and at times it appeared that it might not arrive."

During his three years at Morehead -- he attended summer terms to enable him to graduate in three years -- everything wasn't always rosy for Elwood.

"The first few weeks were exceptionally hard," he says, "as I had to make a great many adjustments. Everyone was helpful, but I had periods of despondency when I wanted to quit. But I knew that there would be another blind youngster who would wish to enroll in future years and if I had quit it would have been harder for other sightless youths."
One of the most popular figures on the Morehead campus, Elwood has a fine sense of humor and can always be found with a smile. He chuckles when he tells about the occasion when he stayed up all night typing a term paper which was due the next day.

"I took my paper to class the next day and was surprised to learn that the last four pages were nothing but dots and dashes," he said. "Sometime during the late hours the typewriter ribbon grew dim and I might as well have used a typewriter with no ribbon at all."

Elwood did not have the use of textbooks in Braille and his fellow students read his assignments to him. The State Rehabilitation Department paid for many of the reading hours but Elwood is quick to point out that he received a great deal of assistance in his reading from friendly students who were not paid.

He became an inspiration to the entire student body as he negotiated the gently sloping Morehead campus without aid. After three years he knows every nook and cranny on the campus but last summer had what he calls his "worst day."

"I left the dormitory and stumbled over a barricade surrounding an open manhole. About 200 yards farther, I ran into a truck which was parked across the sidewalk unloading displays for an audio-visual aids program. I turned around and bumped into a sign advertising the audio-visual program and topped off the whole experience by falling over a chair in the grill."

An English and History major, Elwood plans to teach. He has applied for positions at several schools although he may return to Morehead in September to begin work on his MA degree.

Dr. Adron Doran, Morehead's president, who admit Elwood to Morehead State after he had been refused admittance at several other institutions, calls him "a fine representative whose sense of humor and great determination have been an
One regret that Elwood has is that Morehead did not have a wrestling team during his undergraduate days. An outstanding wrestler at the Kentucky School for the Blind, Elwood was offered a wrestling scholarship at a Big 10 school but turned the offer down to enroll at Morehead.

An avid sports fan who didn't miss a football or basketball game while at Morehead, Elwood hopes to coach wrestling in high school.

His uncle, Ed Miracle, has been his idol in the sports world. As head football coach at Lynch High School, he has produced several championship teams and is serving as head coach for the East team in the annual East-West high school all-star game this summer.

"I only hope," says Elwood, "that I can achieve just a measure of the success as a wrestling coach that Ed has achieved as a football coach."

But whatever mark he makes in life, Elwood Miracle has proved to his fellow students at Morehead State College that he has progressed a great deal since the September day in 1958 when he arrived on the campus to the August 3, 1961 date when he became the first blind student in the history of Morehead State College to receive a degree.
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Aug. 5--Otto Ingram is a very unusual man.

The likable and folksy Ingram seems to earn such "firsts" as he recently was elected State Representative from the 69th district, becoming the first Menifee County Judge to be elected to another office after serving in the judges office.

But his accomplishments haven't changed the quite, unassuming Ingram who was elected to the State Legislature while carrying a full load of night classes at Morehead, helping run the Carter-Ingram Ford Company in Frenchburg and serving as Menifee County Judge.

Ingram isn't satisfied with just his AB degree from Morehead and plans to begin work on the MA degree in September. "I realize that we need people who are interested in our youth," said Ingram, "and I hope to go back into education after receiving the MA degree."

He received the provisional elementary certificate from Morehead State College in 1941 and taught school and farmed for a number of years. He was elected Menifee County Judge in 1958 and proudly points to his numerous accomplishments and philosophy of sharing government with the people through service to them.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., August 5—Otto Ingram, Menifee County Judge, became the first judge to receive a degree from Morehead State College while holding office at the college's summer commencement exercises Thursday.
He recalls as a youth riding a horse six miles to school and six miles back to the Frenchburg Presbyterian School, carrying his lunch of biscuits, jam and a sausage cake in his saddle bag.

A veteran of World War II, he started college at Berea but transferred to Morehead in 1937 where he regularly got up at 5 a.m. to help Schmidt do odd jobs at 10¢ an hour.

He is married to the former Ruby Williams, a school teacher who now "keeps the farm going and keeps me at the right places at the right time," says Ingram. Mrs. Ingram is a 1953 Morehead State College graduate.

Otto Ingram is one of seven children who has known the need for sharing all of his life. His success in business and government has only tempered his desire to share his experiences and training with the youth of Kentucky.

Yes, Otto Ingram is a very unusual man.

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 2--Harold E. Smith, son of Mrs. Ethel Smith of Frenchburg, has received a $100 scholarship to Morehead State College given by an anonymous donor.

Smith, a former basketball player at Menifee County High School, is president of the Frenchburg United Presbyterian Youth Fellowship and worked for the Menifee County Journal this summer.

A member of the debate team at Menifee County, the 20-year-old was named the most likely to succeed by his senior classmates.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, said Harold is a very deserving student and commended the anonymous donor for his interest in Harold and Morehead State College.

Morehead, Ky., - Dr. T. T. Dunagan, assistant professor of biology at Morehead State College, is one of 22 college teachers carefully selected to participate in a four-week institute in departmental biology at Brevard College, North Carolina.

The Institute, directed by Dr. James G. Wilson, head professor of anatomy at the University of Florida College of Medicine and president-elect of the American Teratology Association, will begin August 14.

"This group is a highly select one," said Morehead president Dr. Adron Doran, "and is indeed an honor to Dr. Dunagan and Morehead State College."

Dr. Dunagan has been at Morehead one year after studying at Texas A&M College and Purdue University.

The Institute, supported by the Division of General Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health, will feature 13 nationally known authorities as lecturers on various aspects of developmental biology.

Dr. Wilson said the Institute will permit biology teachers in the represented institutions to bring themselves up to date on the developments and progress being made in developmental biology.
"This should ultimately result in graduate biology students having more extensive knowledge of this area before they enter graduate or medical school," he said.

A $905,800 contract for construction of a three-story home economics and industrial arts building at Morehead State College has been awarded to Sullivan and Cozart Construction Company, Louisville.

Construction on the completely air-conditioned building will begin this week, Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, said today. The building is expected to be completed in 330 days.

The structure, containing 55,000 square feet of floor space, is being built adjacent to the new $1,425,000 classroom building which will be occupied in February.

Dr. Nelson Grote, Chairman of the Division of Applied Arts, said the structure is being built in two sections with an expansion joint and sound locks to decrease noise.

The building is divided mechanically by an expansion joint and physically by sound locks. Each of the programs has a separate entrance with the entrances to the building fed into a foyer which is adjacent to an office suite. There is a reception room in each wing leading into offices.

Industrial Arts facilities on the first floor include an Expanded Woods Laboratory, and Expanded Machine Tool Laboratory. Located near the are related classrooms for instruction leading to laboratory work.
Installation for the Industrial Arts Program on the second floor include a combined General Metals and Power and Transportation Laboratories. A Comprehensive General Shop will be constructed on this floor which will be a model high school shop for instruction. Related classrooms will be used in conjunction with laboratories and a receiving room for distribution of all materials and equipment will be located on the second floor. Also on this floor will be a library and materials center.

Third floor installations of the Industrial Arts Program consist of an Electricity/Electronics laboratory, a Communications Center containing a ham radio station, an Expanded General Drafting Room, a Graphic Arts Laboratory, and related classrooms.

Home Economics facilities on the first floor will be primarily food laboratories with a series of kitchens of numerous designs. An animal laboratory, check room, large social living area and an observation room are also on the ground floor. The observation room is equipped with one-way glass and hidden microphones.

Clothing laboratories and fitting rooms comprise the major portion of the second floor of the home-economics section. Other installations on the second floor are a lounge and conference room, a textiles laboratory, a multi-purpose room with raised platforms, and related classrooms.

Related Arts Classrooms, a large household equipment room, a home nursing room, and four general classrooms comprise the third floor.

The entire building has ample storage and auxiliary rooms with a centrally located elevator. There are a number of display cases throughout the structure.

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 18--Morehead State College is establishing an extension center at Prestonsburg this fall, President Adron Doran announced today.

Six courses on the freshman and sophomore levels will be offered three nights a week at Prestonsburg High School. "The center is being established to provide an opportunity for college work to those high school graduates who because of home and job responsibilities and a lack of financial resources could not go to a college campus this fall," said Dr. Doran.

Monroe Wicker, Director of the Division of School Services, will meet with persons interested in enrolling for the extension classes on Monday evening, Sept. 25, at 6:00 at Prestonsburg High School.

Classes to be offered are:

- Monday night: English 101--Writing and Speaking
  Commerce 160--Introduction to Business
- Tuesday night: History 241--American History
  General Psychology 153
- Thursday night: Mathematics 131--General mathematics
  Science 103--Physical Science

The classes will meet weekly from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. The fees are $27.00 for three hours, $42.00 for six hours and $54.00 for nine hours.

Each of the classes offers three semester hours credit and a student may earn up to nine hours a semester. Persons holding a high school diploma are eligible to enroll while those persons over 21 without a diploma may enroll as special students for credit.

Teachers and other persons above the freshman and sophomore levels may enroll if they have not previously earned credit in the courses being offered.
Morehead, Ky.,--The Northeastern Kentucky Celebrity Series will conduct its annual membership drive during the week of October 2, Dr. J. E. Duncan, Chairman of the Division of Fine Arts at Morehead State College, announced today.

Opening the 1961-62 concert series November 21 will be Eddie Condon and His Jazz All Stars. The Cleveland Playhouse, presenting George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," will perform January 15 and the world famous Italian Chamber Orchestra, I Musici, is scheduled for March 20.

"Three additional programs will be scheduled after the completion of the drive," Dr. Duncan said, "which we feel will provide a series of interest to everyone."

Concert programs are held in Button Auditorium on the Morehead State College campus. Membership dues for adults are $5 and $2.50 for students with family membership available to families in which there are more than two children for $15.

Applications for the Celebrity Series should be sent to Dr. J. E. Duncan, Morehead State College Division of Fine Arts.
Morehead, Ky.,--Morehead State College has an all-time high enrollment of 2885 students this fall, President Adron Doran said today.

The figure represents a 17.4 per cent increase in the total number of students enrolled over the same period last year in which 2458 students registered.

"As a result of the record enrollment," Dr. Doran said, "it has been necessary to operate all residence halls above capacity." Of the 2885 total there are 1609 men and 1276 women students.

Freshmen account for slightly under one-third of the total enrollment with 1553 attending classes, while graduate students are in the minority with 174 registered.

Sophomore students number 622, followed by juniors and seniors with 546 and 490 respectively.
Morehead, Ky.,--James Still Day will be celebrated on the Morehead State College campus Thursday, Oct. 12, which will be climaxed with in the dedication of the James Still Room in the Johnson Camden Library, president Adron Doran announced today.

Still, who spent the second semester of last year on the Morehead campus, is one of the first writers to serve in residence on a Southern college or university campus.

The widely acclaimed novelist, poet and short story writer has turned over his manuscripts, correspondence and mementos to the college which will be on exhibit in the James Still Room.

Harriett Arnow, noted Kentucky author of such popular novels as Mountain Path and Hunter's Horn, will deliver the dedication address before an expected audience of 2,000 persons in Button Auditorium at 9:45 Thursday morning. A reception will be given in Still's honor in the college library from 1 to 5 p.m.

Still lives alone in a 150-year-old, two-room log house near Hindman on Dead Mare Branch where he has written many short stories and poems which he has never submitted for publication even though there is always a waiting market for anything he writes.

"I have no particular urge to publish," he says, "my urge simply is to write. There was a time when it seemed important to me to be constantly publishing, but not anymore. This is not the spur nowadays. There are some things a man does just for himself and nobody else."

This great Kentucky author-poet has written three widely-acclaimed books, numerous short stories and poems which have been published in America's leading magazines and has received numerous awards.

His novel, River of Earth, received the Southern Author's award as the best novel of the year and his books Hounds on the Mountain, a collection of poems, and On Troublesome Creek, a collection of short stories, are classics.

Still has been a regular contributor to The Atlantic since 1936 and his short stories have appeared in numerous anthologies. "Mrs. Razor," a short story made into a television play, is one of three Still works to be selected to appear in Best American Short Stories.

Born in Alabama, the popular author has been at the Hindman Settlement School since 1932 with a four-year absence while serving in the Air Force. He earned the A.B. degree from Vanderbilt University and the B.S. degree in library science from the University of Illinois.

A member of the Morehead State College Writer's Workshop staff for the past nine summers, Still has helped make the annual two-week workshop one of the finest in the United States.

Albert Stewart, director of the Workshop, has been a close personal friend of Still for many years and owns a hillside farm only 15 miles from Still's Knot County home.

Morehead, Ky., Oct. 24--Over 150 high school students will participate in the second annual Morehead State College yearbook seminar, Friday, Oct. 27, in the Doran Student House.

Yearbook staff members and sponsors from 30 high schools have registered for the seminar which will feature talks by Matt McCormick, former sponsor of the Ohio State University yearbook, and Perry Ashley, sponsor of the University of Kentucky yearbook.

Registration is scheduled from 9:00 a.m. until 10:00 with Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, scheduled to give a welcoming address at 10:00.

McCormick will discuss "Financing and Planning a Yearbook" at 10:15 followed by Ashley's talk, "Let's Build a Better Yearbook" at 10:45.

Roundtable discussions will follow on the topics of staff organization, copy and outlines, photography and advisors' problems.

The afternoon session, beginning at 1:15, will feature a panel of high school advisors. The advisors and their topics are: Mary McClafferty, Paintsville--How to sell more books; Numia Lee Fouts, Russell--Developing a theme; Joan Anderson, Boone County--Special promotions; and Katherine White, Louisa--How to finance a yearbook without advertising.

Concluding the seminar will be a panel of yearbook experts including: John Mullany, Pogue Portrait Studios, Cincinnati; Paul Nortker and Gordon Caldwell, Taylor Publishing Co., Covington; Harry Weber, editor of the Morehead State College yearbook; McCormick and Ashley.
Ray Hornback, Director of Public Relations at Morehead, will serve as moderator during the seminar.

"The yearbook plays an important role in the overall program of the high school," said Hornback, "and we feel that a seminar of this type provides students and sponsors an opportunity to exchange ideas in an effort to improve the quality of their publications."

Members of the Raconteur, Morehead's yearbook, will assist with the seminar.

Morehead, Ky., Dec. 7 --- This week at Morehead State College saw the Morehead State College Press issue its first book of poetry.

Under the direction of Albert Stewart, "Poems/1951-61" by Robert Hazel, has been published and is on sale in bookstores throughout the region at $3.00.

Allen Tate, in the introductory notes, says that Hazel "ought to be one of the best of the second half of the century. There is no poet of his generation to whom more has been given."

Al Stewart, who has done a splendid job of editing "Kentucky Writing" and who has built the annual summer Writers' Workshop into a nationally recognized writers' gathering, is to be commended for his efforts in making the publication possible.

And while we're speaking of poetry, the sound of earth movers, cranes, brickmasons, carpenters and concrete trucks, is almost like the sound of music or the sight of poetry to us as major construction is now underway on four badly needed buildings.

As a result of President Adron Doran's tireless efforts, over $3,000,000 in construction is now underway and plans call for more construction in the immediate future.

The 4-story, $1,425,000 classroom building is nearing completion and is expected to be ready by the beginning of the second semester. Housing the Division of Languages and Literature, the Business Education program, speech and dramatic arts and providing general classrooms, the building will greatly relieve the present crowded conditions in those areas.

Construction on the $800,000 Home Economics and Industrial Arts building has been progressing rapidly and it is hoped that it may be ready for occupancy next year.

Two new residence halls are now underway. A magnificent, six-story women's residence hall will house 300 coeds in suites of four girls with each suite having a study room, sleeping room and private bath. The structure is costing $1,100,000.

The men's residence hall, costing $725,000, will house 200 men and is the third new men's residence hall to be built within the past three years.

A contract for a $400,000 addition to the Baird Music Hall is expected to be let after the first of the year while 19 more units of married housing are being added.

A new administration building is in the drawing board stage and is expected to be under construction within the next year.
