FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Jan. 10--W. H. "Honie" Rice, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds at Morehead State College since 1931, has been honored for his ingenuity by counterparts in 11 Southeastern states.

The Board of the South East Regional Association of Plant Administrators has awarded Rice the organization's "Ingenuity Award" for 1962.

Given for editing the official newsletter of the association, the award has been extended in the past four years for items ranging from a unique leaf raker attachment to research on the efficiency of different types of light bulbs.

Representatives of Vanderbilt University, North Carolina State, Mercer (Georgia) College and Morehead State College have received the award.

Rice's publication, now in its 13th issue, is a composite of plant news, construction ideas, announcements, a placement section and creative original writing including humor and bits of philosophy-- the basis for the award.

The S.E.R.A.P.A. is one of six regional plant administrator organizations composing the National Association. It is the only one which publishes a newsletter or presents an ingenuity award.

The idea for such a rotating award was conceived by members four years ago and a trophy was prepared in the shops of North Carolina State College by McCree Smith, Physical Plant Administrator.

Rice attended the University of Kentucky from 1921-25 where he played football and received an engineering degree. Prior to coming to Morehead, he was an engineer for a mining equipment company.

Morehead, Ky., Jan. 10--The Morehead State College Board of Regents authorized ~~the~~ <sup>SP</sup> ~~the~~ sale of bonds and approved a loan agreement, ~~in~~ <sup>SP</sup> ~~the~~ totalling ~~the~~ ~~amount~~ of $2,640,000, ~~made~~ <sup>who</sup> at its quarterly meeting today.

The Regents, <sup>SP</sup> ~~who~~ approved action on the two major projects at their afternoon meeting, also received a <sup>progress</sup> ~~report~~ from President Adron Doran on ~~the~~ <sup>five</sup> building projects which are currently under construction.

The Regents authorized the sale of bonds in the amount ~~of~~ <sup>SP</sup> ~~of~~ $940,000. The Series E ~~bonds~~ <sup>SP</sup> ~~are~~ revenue bonds, ~~are~~ <sup>totalling</sup> $215,000, for a 16-unit married housing project now under construction.

~~The~~ <sup>HFE</sup> Also approved by the Regents was a loan agreement with the ~~federal~~ <sup>HFE</sup> government for Series G bonds in the amount of $1,700,000 to finance two new residence halls. Each will house 200 students, with one being a men's hall and one a women's hall.

Final plans for each of the <sup>new</sup> ~~residence~~ residence halls have been complete and construction is expected to begin by Spring, Dr. Doran told the Regents.

Dr. Doran, in his report to the ~~the~~ <sup>SP</sup> Regents, told of renovative work which has been completed ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> is now underway on Lappin Hall, Fields Hall ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> Thompson Hall.

He also reported on <sup>construction</sup> ~~the~~ progress being made on: ~~the~~ ~~the~~ the $1,166,495 Mignon Hall, a 300-woman residence hall; the $473,744 addition to the Baird Music Building; the $404,347 administration building; and the $227,497 ~~addition~~ <sup>addition</sup> sixteen-unit addition to Lakewood Terrace.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 19--The formal opening of Mignon Hall on the Morehead State College campus will be held on Sunday, February 24, from 1:30 to 4:00.

Students, alumni and friends are invited to attend the opening of the magnificent six-story ~~structure~~ women's residence hall ~~named for Mignon Doran~~ named for Mignon Doran, wife of Morehead president Adron Doran.

The Morehead Board of Regents named the structure following requests from the Alumni Association and Student Council that Mrs. Doran be honored for her active participation in campus activities.

Apply ~~was~~ labelled "Mrs. Morehead State College" in a recent feature story, Mrs. Doran is just that as she is sponsor of Gwens and the Cosmopolitan Club and an honorary member of the Beaux Arts Club, FHA, Delta Kappa Gamma and Sigma Alpha Iota.

She directs the annual Better Dress Week on the campus and has been instrumental in the ~~success~~ success of the annual Human Relations Conference on the campus. Mrs. Doran also ~~plays~~ plays the organ for numerous campus activities and at all home basketball games.

On the state level, she is currently serving as president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs--a job which keeps her away from the campus more than she desires ~~but~~ although she still finds time for her many campus obligations.

The semi-circular building, which is the tallest structure on the Morehead campus, will house 300 coeds in suites for four. Each of the suites has a study-living room, a bedroom and a private bath and is luxuriously furnished.

Each suite has an outside entrance and all suites command a splendid view of the campus from the hillside location of the unusual residence hall.

The structure has a glass and natural wood enclosed lobby, a three-room director's apartment, a storage room, linen room, elevator, laundry room, sun deck and native stone patio.

The $1,166,495 structure, designed by McLoney, Tune, and Clark Architects, was constructed by the Pickens and Bond Construction Co.

It will be one of three high rise ~~buildings in a women's~~ buildings in a women's residence hall ~~complex~~ complex. The second structure, a five story hall, will be under construction in the Spring.

Mrs. Doran, when told of the Regents action, said, "I was overwhelmed to learn that this beautiful woman's residence hall has been named Mignon Hall. It is certainly an honor which I will always cherish and hold dear to my heart."

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 23--Four years ago, Morehead State College initiated a week-long program which placed emphasis on personal appearance on the campus. Since ~~that time~~<sup>then,</sup> the annual Better Dress Week has mushroomed into <sup>one of</sup> the highlights of ~~this time of year~~<sup>the school year</sup>.

Scheduled ~~for~~<sup>from</sup> February 25 to March 3, the fourth annual presentation includes such varied events as informal modeling, candlelight dinners, sporting events, church <sup>attendance</sup> and numerous other activities.

It all started with the ~~realization that college students needed guidance in this direction by~~ the Council of Presidents, a student group of organization presidents. The Council requested "~~the Morehead State College~~", as they refer to Mrs. Adron Doran, wife of ~~the~~<sup>Morehead</sup> President <sup>Adron Doran,</sup> to coordinate the activities.

"The week is not designed to persuade the ~~college body~~<sup>students</sup> to wear their best during the program," said Mrs. Doran, "but to demonstrate better dress habits throughout the year."

The Council's steering committee attempts to illustrate proper combinations of fabrics, colors and clothing types which complement each other.

The ~~college~~ <sup>student</sup> body at large will ~~organize~~ <sup>participate in</sup> the week's program with direction from Mrs. Doran and the Council. Informal modeling will be held in the cafeteria from 11:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 26-27.

A fashion show at 10:00 Thursday morning will highlight the daylight activity. Consisting of ten scenes depicting appropriate dress for every occasion, the fashion convocation has "MSC Styles Rocket to the Moon" as its theme.

Candlelight dinners in the college cafeteria will be held at 4:45 and 6:00 pm. Thursday. A semi-formal dance featuring the Ozzie Howard Orchestra <sup>of Louisville</sup> ~~a seven piece group from Louisville~~ will follow at 7:00. No admission will be charged.

Performances of "The Glass Menagerie" will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Concluding the week will be church on Sunday and dinner in the college cafeteria.

"The Better Dress Week programs started when I enrolled as a freshman," said Student Council President Paul West, "and they have played a tremendous role in encouraging better dress habits on the campus."

Morehead, Ky., Feb. 23--The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs will sponsor nine Self-improvement Seminars throughout Kentucky during ~~the~~ <sup>March,</sup> ~~the~~ <sup>one-day</sup> Mrs. A.D. KFWC president, announced today. The seminars, which will utilize outstanding authorities in the ~~area~~ <sup>and</sup> of speech, personality development, grooming, ~~and~~ human relations, will be ~~held~~ open to all women as well as members of the KFWC.

Governors of the nine KFWC districts will preside at the ~~seminars~~ seminars to be held on the campuses of the following colleges: Campbell's <sup>Kentucky,</sup> ville, Cumberland, Eastern <sup>State,</sup> Georgetown, Morehead <sup>State,</sup> Murray, Pikeville, Western Kentucky and the University of Louisville.

Personnel from the various colleges will be used in the seminars which are expected to attract more than 2,000 women.

Mrs. Doran said, "We feel that our one day 'back to school' program will be a meaningful experience for all participants as it will aid in our efforts toward self improvement in speech, personal habits, attire and other areas. As a result, we as clubwomen should be better prepared to offer a higher quality of service to our communities."

Mrs. Doran pointed out that the seminar series is a part of the Federation's 1963 plan of work built around the theme 'Expanding horizons through quality service using education as a tool.'

She also said that the March series ~~of seminars~~ is the first step in a two-year program of seminars. "Next year the seminars will be focused around home life situations, including discussions of family economics, home <sup>management interior decorating,</sup> furnishings and child development," she added.

District Governors who will preside at the seminars are: Mrs. W.H. Beaman, Paducah, First District; Mrs. Paul Huddleston, Bowling Green second district; Mrs. J.W. Two Kentucky women's clubs have won national awards of $500 each for their roles in helping young people in their communities to further their education.

The winning clubs are the Lexington Woman's Club and the Murray Woman's Club, Mrs. Adeon Doran, president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs has announced,
The awards are among 100 made nationwide in 1963 through the General Federation of Women's Clubs - Shell Oil Company Education Program.

The awards were presented to Mrs. Edwin Denny, Educational Chairman of the Lexington, Kentucky Woman's Club and to Mrs. C. C. Lowry, President of the Murray, Kentucky Woman's Club, by V. F. Nightingale, Kentucky District Sales Manager for the Shell Oil Company, at the annual convention of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs ~~during their banquet last evening (Wed. The Lexington Woman's Club won its award for its aid-to-education programs, including the annual $200 scholarship to a local graduating high school senior. The woman's group also gives aid to eight foreign students and four Kentucky students attending local colleges. This aid is in the form of funds for room, board, and incidental expenses. In one of its largest projects, the club distributes clothing from a clothing center it maintains to needy children attending Lexington schools. In the past many children have been absent from school because of inadequate clothing. The 200-member club will spend more than $7,300 in the 1962-63 season for these and other educational and charitable activities. It raises funds through the annual Woman's Club Follies.

The Murray Woman's Club won the award for its projects designed to give a $50 scholarship to a qualified and needy music student at Murray State College and for providing two scholarships enabling high school students to attend a week-long music camp. The club also maintains a loan fund for senior music students at Murray State College. Funds for all of these projects are raised through an annual style show.

Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said, "The purpose of the awards is to reward and encourage General Federation of Women's Clubs in aid to education at the community level. This program represents another step in the growing community service of the General Federation and is a new extension of Shell's long established interest in education."

The awards are made through a $50,000 grant provided by Shell. Two $500 awards are made in each state. One is made to a Federated Women's Club in a city of more than 25,000; the other, to a club in a rural area or a community of less than 25,000. The Lexington Woman's Club won in the first category and the Murray Woman's Club in the second.

Any club in the General Federation conducting a program aiding young people in its community to further their education is eligible for an award. Leading state educators take part in judging. Winning clubs use the awards to further their aid-to-education programs.

~~WORKSHOP IS HUGE SUCCESS AT MOREHEAD~~
FOR Immediate Release.

Morehead, Ky. -- Two one-day workshops in overhead projectors and the production of overhead transparencies attracted overflow groups to each session May 15, 16 at Morehead State College. Sponsored by the Audio-Visual Department and the Industrial Arts Department, the workshop was conducted by Forrest Rieske and Ted Dunlap, visual communications specialists with Tecnifax Corporation. Dr. Norman Tant, audio-visual director at Morehead, assisted.

Proper utilization techniques were stressed as representatives from numerous school districts received individualized instruction in the production of transparencies, including multi-color overlays. Each participant actually produced several transparencies during the day.

Termed by many in educational materials circles as the most flexible teaching tool presently available, the overhead projector can be used in a fully lighted room. The teacher faces the class at his normal position in front while the image is projected on a screen behind him. The ten-inch transparency is large enough for the teacher to see clearly, point out special areas and to mark on with an erasable pencil. Concepts and problems can be shown step by step, in different colors for emphasis, with a great increase in learning and efficiency of the teacher. Repetition of steps or complete review of, say, a geometry problem, a diagramed sentence, a complex drawing in industrial arts, or the complete structure of a flower are possible on an "instant" basis through the use of an overhead projector, eliminating time-consuming writing or drawing on the teacher's part.

Dr. Tant announced to the workshop groups the establishment of photographic materials of instruction laboratories in the audio-visual department at Morehead. These new facilities, available for use by qualified teachers in the Morehead region, will include a graphics laboratory for the production of overhead transparencies by both diazo materials, high contrast positive photography, and continuous tone positive transparencies. Macrophotography, microphotography, and color copying equipment also have been installed. A professionally equipped photographic darkroom for the production of instructional materials adjoins the other laboratory<sup>TOPY</sup> and makes possible the most comprehensive production system available for such purposes in Kentucky.

The quotes are from his prepared text although he quite frequently varies from the text. Let me know if we can be of further aid. Ray Hornback, Assistant to the President for Public Affairs)

"It is only through the teaching-learning process that our horizons can be expanded to an extent that we will come to know the freedom of truth and to experience the liberty which this freedom provides," Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College told the Southern high school seniors this week.

The outstanding Kentucky educator, in his commencement address "The Journey to Now", discussed the great advancements made by man and said that now is the time to think big, to stand tall and to expand our horizons.

Dr. Doran predicted that in the lifetime of the graduating seniors of Southern high school there would be driverless autos, people on the moon, 80 million students in schools, 250 million people in the United States and the time would soon arrive when 3/4 of the profits of industry would come from things not being manufactured now.

He said that great emphasis should be placed upon education in America with education playing three major roles:

"1. Education must provide to every individual, regardless of his race or color, an opportunity to develop to his maximum according to his abilities, his interests and his needs."

Morehead, Ky., May 24-- Mildred Ryle has accumulated more honors as a student at Morehead State College than she knows what to do with---really!

Her Burlington, Ky. home is full of <sup>so many</sup> pins, certificates, letters and other awards to ~~the point~~ that her mother, Mrs. Julia Ryle, is storing them away.

Mildred, or "Millie" as her fellow students know her, ~~is~~ is the recipient of the Open Forum Citizenship Award, Morehead's highest honor presented a senior student.

At the college's annual ~~open~~ academic awards day, she won more awards than any of the 3,000 students enrolled. Among the awards were: Open Forum Citizenship Award, Outstanding Senior ~~Ma~~ Award given by the Kentucky Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Sigma Delta Award, membership in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, a member of the Dean's List, and a letter and pin in the Women's Recreation Association.

Millie's main interest is ~~in~~ physical education. She has been hired as elementary physical education ~~and~~ teacher and supervisor at Paris following graduation this June.

At Paris she will also be sponsor of the senior high cheerleaders and drill team. She organized and co-sponsored a drill team at Mason County as a student teacher ~~this year~~.

She has had a hand in organizing other ~~campus~~ organizations on the Morehead campus, too. A member of numerous ~~campus~~ campus clubs, more Mildred is a charter member of both the Lakotas, a social club, and Sigma Delta, a honorary physical education fraternity. She also holds membership in Kappa Delta Pi, W.R.A., ~~in~~ Morehead Players, Cosmopolitan Club, Council of Presidents, Diving Eagles, Forensic Union and Baptist Student Union.

She has been especially active in B.S.U. A member for four years, Millie has been president, vice-president, devotional chairman and served on the ~~Baptist~~ <sup>Kentucky</sup> Baptist Student Union Advisory Board ~~in~~ in 1962.

This past summer she was one of ~~the~~ <sup>20</sup> college students in the nation to live in Hawaii for ~~the~~ <sup>10</sup> weeks as a B.S.U. Student Missionary.

As a Boone County High School student, Millie was an award winner. ~~to~~ She was a cheerleader, the junior and senior outstanding girl athlete and in the upper ~~the~~ <sup>10</sup> percent of her class.

Monroe Wicker, Director of School Services at Morehead, ~~has~~ said all students are asked to make a complete list of honors and organization membership for placement files.

"We had to furnish Mildred with two forms," he quipped.

FIRST YOUTH GRADUATES UNDER FORESTRY PLAN

Raleigh, N. C. June 2--A scholarship program started in 1959 by wood-using industries of Kentucky paid its first dividend here Saturday when Governor Terry Sanford handed Samuel G. "Jerry" Mauk, Morehead, a bachelor-of-science degree in forestry from North Carolina State College.

Mauk, was awarded the first Kentucky Forest Industries Committee's preforestry Scholarship shortly after the program was started in 1959. The committee offers two preforestry scholarships each year worth $125 a semester for two years while the winners attend a Kentucky college and study preforestry.

The Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education then aids the youths under a reciprocal agreement with the Southern Regional Education Board by allowing them to study a forestry course at a member college, paying the greatly reduced resident tuition.

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, first proposed the plan to the forestry group. No Kentucky college or university offers a degree in forestry.

Mauk won a prescribed preforestry course at Morehead for two years before transferring to North Carolina State.

Mauk is a graduate of Morehead's Breckinridge Training School where he was described by teachers as an excellent student who finished in the upper third of his class. His father is employed by the United States Forest Service at Morehead. "I think forestry is a field that's just now opening up and it offers one of the most interesting career opportunities a Kentucky boy could want," he said.

Young Mauk plans to move to Berea where he has a temporary job with a U. S. Forest Service management team.

Applications for preforestry scholarships for the fall of 1963 are being accepted by the Kentucky Forest Industries Committee, according to E. E. Freeman, Jr., chairman of the committee and president of the George E. Tomlinson Company. One can get applications forms from Freeman at P. O. Box 233, Winchester, Ky.

Her 4-H career began as a fourth-grader at Deming High School in Mt. Olivet where she <sup>(was)</sup> salutatorian <sup>(of her class.)</sup> Her mother, Lucile, is librarian at Deming and her father, Herbert, is a Robertson County farmer.

During the six-month exchange period she will travel more than 20,000 miles here and abroad sharing the work and social life of her hosts.

After observing the customs, life and culture from her travels, she will give more than 100 talks to American audiences and take part in approximately 20 radio and television <sup>vis</sup> appearances.

Preparation for the trip has been difficult at times for the 21-year-old ambassador who has just completed a term at Morehead State College. "Arranging for numerous vaccinations, legal forms, and a compact wardrobe has been easy enough though," she <sup>SAID</sup> as compared to ~~the~~ effort to learn the Hebrew language.

Sandifer will return from Israel in mid-November after stop-overs in Italy and Austria. She will <sup>(resume study at)</sup> ~~return to~~ Morehead State College where she will graduate next year.

Many memories are connected with her 40 years of service at Morehead State College. Miss Carter said that there were so many that she could not begin to tell them all.

"However," she said, "I can say that Dr. Doran is certainly the most interesting president I ever worked for. He is a wonderful administrator, always on the alert, and he knows his own mind. With these qualifications and his training, I feel he is one of the outstanding college presidents in America."

Miss Carter, besides being one of the most unique secretaries in America, holds the distinction of having one of the longest extended terms as a Notary Public in Kentucky.

"I was commissioned a Notary Public in 191~~5~~<sup>5</sup>,<sup>1915</sup>" she said stated, "and my commission has been continually renewed. My present commission will not expire until April 6, 1964."

Miss Carter says that she has made no definite plans for retirement at the present time.

"Retirement is a thing of the future," she said, "because when I retire, I will have to leave behind me the most wonderful part of my life, over 40 years of memories and work at Morehead, and I have no desire to leave a place where I'm so happy."

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., June 21--James Still, nationally acclaimed poet, novelist, and short story writer, has been named to the Morehead State College English faculty as a permanent writer in residence.

Still, who will teach imaginative writing, short story, Southern literature and literature, will serve as an associate professor in the Division of Languages and Literature.

No stranger to the campus, Still spent the Spring semester of 1961 as a writer in residence at Morehead. He has also served as a member of the Morehead State College Writer's Workshop staff for the past ten summers, helping to make the annual two-week workshop one of the finest in the United States.

Still has served as librarian at the Hindman Settlement School since 1932 with a four-year absence while serving in the Air Force. He lived in a 150-year-old two-room log house near Hindman on Dead Mare Branch where he did most of his writing--much of which has never been submitted for publication even though there is always a waiting market for anything he writes.

"I have no particular urge to publish," he said. "My urge is to write. There was a time when it seemed important to me to be constantly publishing, but not anymore."

Still was honored at Morehead in 1961 when the college dedicated the James Still Room in Johnson Camden Library. The author-poet turned over his manuscripts, correspondence and mementos to the college and they are now on exhibit in the library.

Dr. Adron Doran, President of Morehead State College, calls Still "one of the nation's outstanding writers."

He said, "We are exceedingly pleased that a man of Jim's stature has joined our faculty. He adds great strength to the Division of Languages and Literature."

Still has written three widely-acclaimed books and numerous short stories and poems which have been published in America's leading magazines.

His novel, River of Earth, received the Southern Author's Award as the best novel of the year in 1941 and his books "Hounds on the Mountain," a collection of poems, and "On Troublesome Creek," a collection of short stories, are classics.

Still has been a regular contributor to The Atlantic since 1936 and his short stories have appeared in numerous anthologies. "Mrs. Razor," a short story made into a television play, is one of three Still works to be selected to appear in Best American Short Stories.

Born in Alabama, the popular author earned the AB degree from Vanderbilt University and the BS degree in library science from the University of Illinois.

Morehead, Ky., ---- Few secretaries - if any - across the United States can say ~~that~~ they have worked for every president of <sup>one</sup> a college or university since its establishment and as a result have had a building named for them. But Miss Anna Carter of Morehead State College can make that claim.

She started working at Morehead State College, then called ~~the~~ the Morehead State Normal School, in 1923 as secretary to President Frank C. Button. Since then she has acted as secretary to all ~~the~~ presidents until June 1, 1960, when she retired under the administration of Dr. Adron Doran, the college's seventh President.

At that time, Miss Carter ~~was~~ thought her career as a secretary was over. However, after a month's inactivity Dr. Doran asked her to serve as secretary to the Board of Regents and the Alumni Office.

"Of course, I accepted," she said. "Taking shorthand and typing are a part of me. I love it and I'm at the height of my glory when I'm taking dictation."

I think she attended the Normal school before it became a State Normal school - 1922

Recently the Morehead State College Board of Regents voted unanimously to name one of the new college buildings in honor of Miss Carter for the outstanding contributions she has made to the college since 1923. The building, a $227,497, 16-unit married housing addition to Lakewood Terrace, was named Carter Hall.

Miss Carter, serving as secretary, was present at the Regents' meeting when the motion was made to name the new building for her.

"I was so suprised, I almost fell over," she said. "I think it's wonderful and a great honor."

"The growth of the college since I attended the old Morehead Normal School has been phenomenal," she added. "When I first began working at the college in 1923, there were only four buildings - a library, classroom building and a men's and women's dormitory - on the entire campus. Now they are so numerous I can't begin to count them and one has even been named for me. It's unbelievable."

Morehead State College is one of the fastest growing institutions of higher learning in the South. The beautiful college, located 70 miles from Lexington where the bluegrass meets the mountains, has grown from just over 600 students nine years ago to the present enrollment of over 3,000.

Under the able leadership of one of the nation's outstanding educators, Dr. Adron Doran, the instructional programs and faculty have kept pace with the great student population explosion.

Today, the college has a faculty of over 150 with high quality instructional programs available to the serious student who wishes to learn.

The physical facilities of the picturesque college are unsurpassed. An almost unbelievable building program has been conducted during the past nine years.

Just during the 1962-63 school year alone, six major structures were occupied for the first time. Completed in '62-63 were: the $1,042,340 home economics-industrial arts building; the 4-story, $838,080 Wilson Hall for men; the magnificent, 6-story, $1,166,495 Mignon Hall for women; the $473,744 addition to Baird Music Hall; the $227,497 sixteen-apartment addition to Lakewood Terrace and the $404,347 administration building.

Under construction now are: an $853,000 women's residence hall; and $800,000 men's residence hall; a $750,000 athletic center; access roads in the amount of $50,000 to the athletic center; and a $750,000 addition to the Johnson Camden Library.

Miss Carter graduated from the old Morehead Normal School in 1912, and then taught school at Christy School, Bratten Branch and Rodbourn in Rowan County, for three years. In 1915, she graduated from Portsmouth College of Business, now an extension school of Ohio State, and returned to Morehead to work for the Clearfield Lumber Company, Clearfield, and remained there until 1923 when she began work at the college.

Many memories are connected with her 40 years of service at

Dear Editor

As President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, I recently attended the General Federation of Women's Clubs national convention in Milwaukee with 24 other Kentucky clubwomen.

I am exceedingly happy to report that the KFWC received the only national award given for the promotion of safety belts--an award which went to the Loneoak Junior Woman's Club.

We are quite pleased with the efforts of Mrs. Dwayne Boyd and Mrs. James Ross and their fellow-members of the Loneoak club. And we also are proud of our state safety chairman, Mrs. Larue Byron, Owingsville, who has done an excellent job.

And while we are highly pleased with the safety efforts of our clubwomen, we cannot help but look toward the summer holiday season with justifiable fear and trembling.

As we all are aware of the mounting numbers of horrible accidents on the highways, we as members of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs would like to ask that all Kentuckians heed the following words of advice:

1. use safety belts
2. allow plenty of time for holiday travel
3. be sure your car is safe
4. always be courteous
5. be alert to hazards
6. watch out for others

Four years ago this week, Adron and I were involved in an accident which incapacitated me for six months. I do not wish to go through such an experience again nor do I wish such an experience for you.

So join me and the 15,000 members of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs in promoting safe and pleasant holiday motoring throughout Kentucky this summer.

Cordially

Mrs. Adron Doran
President, Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Morehead, Ky., June 28--Numerous adult education projects on the local level in the region served by Morehead State College are expected to follow Morehead's second annual Adult Education Workshop, Dr. C. Nelson Grote, director of the workshop said today.

Dr. Grote said participants in the comprehensive two-week workshop from June 17-28 would apply the techniques presented at the workshop in their local communities. The training program at Morehead is ~~one~~ one of ~~about~~ 12 held in the nation this summer and the only adult education program in Kentucky this summer.

Warren Shaver, an associate in adult education curriculum in the Bureau of Adult Education, ~~of~~ New York and a nation<sup>al</sup> figure in his field, is lecturing at the workshop this week! He emphasizes that a majority of our citizens are adults and that those activities which contribute to their personal growth and development must not be neglected.

"Our educational institutions have geared their programs toward terminal education for youth and the encouragement of continuing education for ~~young~~ adults has been slighted," Shaver said.

"Such workshops as these are very much needed in order to train adult education teachers," he said. "But from here we must go to the local level and teach our uneducated adult population wherever we can reach them."

He suggested churches, clubs, industrial sites and any other comparable place which can be utilized for adult teaching.

Forest Esham, General Adult Education Director, State Department of Education, Frankfort, and Ann Waggoner, his assistant, have been serving as consultants to the Morehead Workshop.

"Kentucky has a tremendous need for adult education," Esham said. "We are currently attempting to encourage adult education by making available immediate goals and employment-related situations."

Shaver added that adult education should be carried out on the national, state and local level. "It should be the purpose of agencies of all these levels to explain the need for continuing education, especially to less educated adults, because this must be accomplished before the program will be accepted by those who need it most," he said.

Morehead's Adult Education Workshop is presented by Morehead State College ~~with~~ in cooperation with ~~various~~<sup>VARIOUS</sup> adult education agencies.
