

The Morehead Independent

VOLUME III

MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 19, 1936.

NUMBER 12.

Morehead College To Benefit From New School Order

University Will Abandon First and Second Years Educational Training

TUITION FEES ARE RAISED

Enrollment at the Morehead State Teachers College is expected to be increased next year, college officials feel, following a recommendation of all state school heads which will eliminate the education department at the University of Kentucky for the freshman and sophomore years, and will prohibit all teachers colleges from giving post-graduate work. Heretofore the University of Kentucky has offered regular teachers' courses and many students in eastern Kentucky have been attending school at Lexington. In the future, they may obtain the first 2 years of this work only at a state teachers college.

Every state teachers college in the state, except Morehead, has been giving graduate work in the past, and the new ruling, which is expected to go into effect next fall, will put them all on a par.

Tuition fees will be raised at all state teachers colleges from $15 to $20. A program whereby all graduate work will be dropped by the four State Normal schools, and where by the university of Kentucky will abandon the first two grades of its college of education was worked out by heads of the schools and will become effective at the start of the next school year.

The program was described as an economy move. It was worked out at a conference at the executive mansion attended by Gov. A. B. Chandler, Dr. Frank L. McCoy, president of the University of Kentucky, James H. McMillan, president of the University of Tennessee, Harry A. Babb, president of Morehead State Teachers College, H. Dourson, president of Eastern State Teachers College, and H. H. Cherry, president of Western State Teachers College. One purpose of the change is (Continued on Page 4)

College Appropriation Lowered To $175,000

The Morehead State Teachers College will have $175,000 to operate on from the state appropriation, the budget submitted to the Legislature this morning disclosed. In 1935-36 Morehead was allotted $194,400, while this year they will receive a flat $175,000.

All other state schools and departments, with the possible exception of Murray, will receive appropriations lowered proportionately. Scholarships for ex-service men were discontinued. The proposed budget is for a two-year period.

Continue Christian Church Campaign

Sunday Proves Big Day For the Drive To Raise Funds

Sunday was another big day at the First Christian church. The Bible school and morning preaching services were marked by large attendances. A unified service was used, with an opportunity for those who could not remain to file out at close of Bible school hour and reports. The same order will be followed next Sunday. The Bible school opens promptly at 8:45. The change to the preaching or second feature of the service comes about 10:30. Reports of the campaign are made at this time. Divisions No. 3 and 5 are serving dinner in the reading room of the church following immediately after the close of the morning services next Sunday. Mr. Baitson and Mrs. Calvert are leaders of these divisions.

The reports last Sunday were fine, and the total for the three weeks in cash amounted to $177.63. Every one is interested in seeing how the drive will compare with the year last Sunday. Mr. Baitson, with a grand total in attendance, money reported and turned in, and a picture will be made of the attendance, which, in all probabilities, will be one of the largest in the history of the church. (Continued on Page 4)

Start Work on Gas Project For City Distribution Today

62 Men Put To Work By L. C. Young Company of Lexington

PROPOSED RATES QUOTED

Sixty-two men were put to work yesterday morning by the L. C. Young Company of Lexington, which has the contract for piping natural gas from the North Fork field into Morehead.

The crew began work preparatory to putting gas lines in near Wilcox and Bayes Avenue. They will continue to other sections of the city until lines have been laid to provide all residents and business houses with gas.

At the same time another crew will be laying the lines from North Fork to the city limits. This is also being handled by the L. C. Young Company. Mayor Harlan Blair said it was hoped to have gas ready for use in Morehead within four months. He said that the North Fork field had enough gas to amply supply the city.

The proposed rates for gas are:
First 1,000 cubic feet.....$1.00
Next 1,000 cubic feet......75
Next 1,000 cubic feet......50
Next 2,000 cubic feet......45
Next 5,000 cubic feet......42
Next 10,000 cubic feet......40
All over 20,000 cubic feet......35

Attorney Charged With Manslaughter

Widow of William Coburn Swears Out Warrant For Arrest of Franklin Reynolds.

Mr. Ethel M. Coburn, of Winchester, widow of the late William Coburn who died in the Montgomery County jail March 6th, has issued a warrant charging County Attorney Franklin Reynolds with manslaughter in connection with her husband's death. Mr. Coburn swore to the warrant before County Judge Earl W. Seif.

Immediately after hearing that the warrant had been issued, Mr. Reynolds surrendered to Judge Seif, waived examination and was released on bond. Mr. Coburn, a former C. and O. railway detective, who recently had been operating a filling station at Winchester, was arrested there by Mr. Sterling on the night of March 7. He was found dead in the jail the morning of March 8. An inquest held Friday. It was testified that Mr. Coburn was struck on the head by Mr. Reynolds while resisting arrest, and also that he fell from a bench at the jail. The cause of the man's death was not determined at the coroner's inquest.

Policeman Floyd Turpin and Jess Neal, of Mt. Sterling, reported that the county attorney tapped Mr. Coburn with a policeman's billy when the latter tried to get away from the officers while they were taking him to jail.

WORKING STUDENTS HAVE HIGHEST MARKS AT MTSU

Students working their way through college have the highest average marks at any step, a survey recently compiled at the Morehead State Teachers College reveals.

Students working their way through college have the highest average marks at any step, a survey recently compiled at the Morehead State Teachers College reveals.

One of the danger spots. The village of Huff, in Pennsylvania, was reported as washed out. The Ohio River was in flood stage today, and warnings were issued throughout Kentucky and Ohio. The river was reported as still rising.

The Maryland militia has been thrown in the field to save loss of life in that state. New York and Virginia are also in serious danger, with rivers already swollen out of their banks. Many homes in those states are completely inundated. Cables through the East are with electricity, telegraph and telephone service is the rampaging water's pole poles down.

All parts of Kentucky reported rivers at flood stage, but this state is not at as high as the eastern section.

Four Admitted By Lloyd Debate Club

The Lloyd Debate Club admitted four new members at a meeting held Tuesday night. Those taken into the organization were William Toran, Everett Sloan, Bruce Botts and Martha Nebbett.

Howard Eckles gave a vivid account of the debate trip to South Carolina. Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, Earl Dean and Alton Payne also spoke briefly on the southern trip.

The club decided to have a page in the annual reserved for the organization. The rest of a program which had been planned was deferred to the next meeting.

Jury Returns 62 True Bills

County Official Commended For Work; Adds Courtroom, Jail Repairs.

The Rowan county grand jury reported they had returned 62 true bills during a seven days' session. It was the first far-reaching final summary of their investigations. A recommendation that the "slot machine racket" and the methods of selling licensed whiskey in Rowan county be thoroughly investigated by the sheriff was made in the report. The grand jury pointed out specifically the statutes relative to the enforcement of liquor laws.

The grand jury reported that they found the county offices to be in good shape and the officers performed their duties. They reported the court-room and the jail were in need of repairs.

The complete report of the grand jury follows:

"Your grand jury for final report says: We have been in session 7 days and have reported in the following manner: We have examined the county and when the evidence authorized it, have reported true bills. We find that in many places slot-machines have been maintained and operated. These are gambling devices and where they are found and where they are reported true bills. This matter should be referred to the next grand jury to continue the investigation and indict all those who have suffered these machines to be operated on their premises.

"Liquor is now permitted to be sold under certain conditions which will require more diligent effort on the part of the law-enforcing officers, and we recommend that the sheriff and his deputies and the police officers keep constant guard that this liquor law is rigidly enforced. Each dispensary is permitted to be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 12 o'clock at night, but in no event to be open before 8 o'clock and not to be open at any time. We have learned something about this line of violation but not enough to authorize an indictment. We request that the attention of the next grand jury be called to this." (Continued on Page 4)

ATTEND FRANKFORT MEETING

President H. A. Babb, Dean W. H. Vaughan and Accountant C. B. Lane were in Frankfort yesterday before the signing of the budget for the Morehead State Teachers College. President Babb reported that a reduction of more than $19,000 had been recommended in the proposed budget for the Morehead institution.

LOCAL THEATRE TO SHOW FILM IN AUDIOSCOPIES

Hartley Baitson, manager of the Morehead Cox Theatre, announced today that his theatre will bring something new to Morehead moviegoers and thrill hunters next Wednesday and Thursday with a film in audioscopes. On these nights each patron is given a pair of colored lenses which give you the picture in the third dimension. The man on the screen throws a baseball and you dodge for you feel sure it is coming at you; another throws a bucket of water and you can feel yourself get splashed (almost)—That is the nature of the picture.

SHERIFF WARNS SLOT MACHINE OPERATORS OF COUNTY CLEAN-UP

Liquor Dispensaries, Roadhouses Included In the Campaign To Eradicate Lawlessness In This Section

A sweeping investigation of all night clubs, roadhouses, all-night restaurants, houses of ill-reform, gambling houses and liquor dispensaries was announced here this afternoon by Rowan Sheriff Mort May in a lengthy and prepared warning to those alleged law violators.

"This county-wide clean-up will begin immediately, and if necessary I shall place additional deputies on the job to see that it is done," May declared.

Sheriff May's statement came after a report of the grand jury had been made which set out that this form of lawlessness was being carried on in Rowan County. The Sheriff said, however, that plans for the clean-up had been under way for some time.

11-YEAR RECORD Broken In Circuit Court This Term

Rowan County matched an 11-year record yesterday as Circuit Judge D. B. Caudill sentenced not one person to the penitentiary, following a regular term of Circuit Court. The records reveal that this is the smallest number that has been sentenced here since 1925.

The one person to draw a penitentiary sentence was Albert Cooper, charged with stealing cattle. He was given a one-year term. The case of Mrs. Bessie Day, 44, charged with slaying her husband, Oscar Williams, on June 19, 1935, was continued until the 5th day of the June term, after a hung jury resulted. Members of the jury said they became deadlocked for 45 for acquittal and a hung jury conviction. This is the second time that a hung jury has resulted in the trial of this case.

John C. Caudill, the one of the best lawyers in the county, was for slaying Robert Hester, and John Robbert, cattle buyers, at Easton November 26, 1935. Judge Caudill said he would hear civil cases today (Wednesday) after which the term would be adjourned.

The sheriff declared that owners and managers of places operating pin-ball machines will hereafter be placed under arrest.

"There will be no mercy shown to anyone, for the first offense will carry any recommendation that the license be revoked," he set out.

Business Records 2nd Week's Upward Trend

For the second consecutive week, retail trade was favorably sensitive to improved weather conditions and the margin of gain over the same period last year widened impressively. There were many exceptionally strong gains over the comparable 1935 week, and business in virtually every city was better than a year ago, according to reports from 32 cities to the Department of Commerce for the past week just received by its Louisville District Office. The report showed business continuing out of the lethargic winter doldrums. New York department stores registered the best weekly gains of the year, the turnover being 14.3 per cent above the 1935 period.

Louisville reported that with good weather retail sales are jumping ahead of same period year ago 15 to 20 per cent, men's and women's clothing in strong demand. Dry goods, notions and groceries lead advance in wholesale lines of some 15 per cent over last year at (Continued on Page 4)

Season Social Highlight To Be Climaxed Saturday With King and Queen Coronation

Morehead College's foremost second semester social function will be climaxed here Saturday evening with the crowning of the campus King and Queen at the annual winter carnival, sponsored by the Raucogator student year-book, and the Newator Club, girl's organization of Allie Young Hall. A huge parade through the streets of Morehead and across the college campus will officially open the carnival. Today, student politics at the school were at a fever pitch as balloting on the King and Queen choice was being made. Morehead business houses entered into the festive event with window displays appropriately advertising the event. Those nominated by petition at the college—For Queen: Thelma Carmichael, Paris; Nancy Botts, Garburbach; Alice Kirk Hall, Ashland; Esther Thomas, Paintsville; Mary Elizabeth Wheatley, Paintsville. For King: Gilbert Rose, Olive Hill; Leon Watson, Ashland; Clyde Wooten, Louisa; Paul Holman, Glasgow. President and Mrs. Babb will officiate during the coronation ceremony. Others who will take a prominent part in the ceremony are Nancy Barbour, court jester; Betty Lane, flower girl; Roy Graves, Jr., herald; Billy Vaughan and Patty Young, crown bearers, and Edith Barker, Marie Falk, Mary Caldwell, Hargan and Patty Caudill, train (Continued on Page 4)

Tabbin The News

The story is reliably told of a Morehead man who wrote to President Roosevelt protesting that he was being given no relief from the Rowan County officers. A "G-man" was in Morehead investigating the complaint. Two hours later he was gone.

Frank Jefferson, writing on "Divorce a Bachelor," says: "A study of divorce cases shows a lack of trust in husbands in wives. For the convenience of husbands a list of custody methods which in the past have proved effective is herewith printed. Use of any or all is recommended."

Physiologist Caudill says: "Four water on her at 4 a.m. Stay her in front of a theater. Toss her back and forth against the wall. Black her eye at the bridge table. Crown her with a dish of spinach. Lock her out of the house in her nightgown. Mentally Cruelty. Let her stay home all the time. Refuse to speak to her. Chase her with an electric iron. (A station will do). Drag about your girl friend. Kick about the food. Kick about her clothes. Kick about everything. Bring guests home to breakfast at 4 a. m. Go on jags. Stay on jags. Insult her friends. Insult her mother. Insult her. Tell her to quit 'running around' with other men. (If she has been, that burns her up. If she hasn't, it burns her up)."

The latest political rumors have (Continued on Page 4)

SPRING STYLE SHOW

GOLDE'S
Dept. Store

First Showing of New Spring Styles in A Glorious

GOLDE'S
Dept. Store

GRAND OPENING

LE'VINE DRESSES

New Spring Dresses

Just arrived from America's leading fashion centers . . . Just think! . . . Over 300 Frocks to select from . . . No two alike . . . New Jiggers . . . Suits made from men's materials . . . Short Suits with sport backs . . . 50 Le Vine Dresses -- $12.95 to $19.50 . . . 40 Dresses and Suits at $9.95 . . . 100 Dresses and Suits from $5.95 to $7.95 . . . Over 100 Dresses and Suits from $2.98 to $5.95.

AT ANY PRICE--YOU WILL FIND THE LARGEST SELECTION AND BEST VALUES HERE.

THE MARCH OF Fashion

Is headed by
Straight and Slim
Spring Coats
and 3-piece Suits

No matter how bouffant your evening dresses, slim, straight lines are the rule by day, as these smart new tweeds prove.

The 3-piece costume at left above anticipates your urge for a new suit of striking distinction. The full length coat is lined. Both suit and coat set a high standard of hand tailoring and line. Navy, brown and black. $16.50

Left, Above—This Coat of Regency inspiration, spells youth with its slender line. Its nipped-in waist and wide revers mark it definitely as an advance spring fashion. Expertly tailored. Navy, gray, and a fascinating new yellow—$16.50

At Right—When March behaves like a lion or April lives up to its rainy reputation, you'll thank your stars for this good-looking sport coat. It's snug and warm, and doesn't spot or shrink if it gets wet! Green, brown or navy tweed—$9.95

IT'S GOING TO BE A GAY SPRING

Exciting New . . . LE'VINES

The colors: Every new, vibrant hue! Watermelon red, flamingo rose, phantom blue, province blue. And, if you insist, black, brown and navy. Colors and styles that look expensive and are distinctive.

The first of the parade of thrilling new fashions . . . these sparkling new spring dresses! They're destined to become style successes of the season . . . as you'll quickly realize when you see how inspired and dramatic they are! All the newest ideas of high fashion for spring are represented in this brilliant collection. Frocks for ever occasion . . . exciting value at—

$12.95 to $19.50

for TOTS!

JUNE PRESTON MOVIE FROCKS
Dresses that will please the little girl. Bright, gay colors and styles as glamorous as those worn by children of the movie colony. Special values at only $1

Announcing . . . the biggest Spring line we have ever attempted. You will find no better selection in any city—no greater values anywhere.

New HOSE in all the Spring shades

Blouses . . . Sweaters . . . Skirts . . . Sportswear . . . Boucle Suits and a thousand more new things

'Yellow Dust' Spectacular Vehicle For Richard Dix As He-Man Hero

Thrilling Photoplay Portrays Drama of Roaring Sixties When the Lure of Virgin Gold Was Glamorous But Dangerous Business

"Yellow Dust," stirring melodrama of California gold rush days which opens Friday night at the College Theatre, is a thrilling entertainment for all tastes and provides Richard Dix with the kind of action role best suited to his vigorous talents.

Typical of the fortune-hunting argonaut of the 1860's, the star swagers through ardent romance and turbulent adventure with the dash and assurance which have marked his best offerings.

Played in the roaring mining camps and rugged mountains of the old gold lode that lured frenzied legions from all ends of the world seeking quick fortune, "Yellow Dust" re-creates one of the most dangerous and glamorous periods of American history.

It is swift and exciting, tense and comic, dreadful and romantic by turns as Dix, Lella Hyams, and their able fellow players unravel a drama of balancing love and passion, greed, misunderstandings and deadly retributions.

A young prospector strikes romance with a fascinating camp entertainer on the same day he strikes a fabulously rich mine. But his road to the girl's heart and to safe possession of the mining claim is blocked by a crooked town boss and leads through nerve-snapping dangers highlighted by stage coast hold-ups, claim jumping and gun duels.

Lella Hyams gives an exciting and warmly romantic performance as the singer who shatters rigid conventions and risks life and reputation to win love. Jessie Ralph, veteran of the New York stage who delighted filmgoers as Peggy in "David Copperfield," opposes Dix as Miss Hyams' money-grabbing mother with skill that should soon see her in highest ranks of screen players.

For Sunday, March 22, the College brings to the screen Carole Lombard, Preston Foster and Cesar Romero in a lively entertaining story titled "Love Before Breakfast." This is a modern, devil-may-care story full of wit and humor, spicy dialogue and up-to-the-minute modernism. The men folks will get a "kick" from the lovely scenes featuring Carole in up-to-the-minute fashions, while the women will like the sporty Romeo who make love to her.

An excellent selection of short subjects will make this an entertainment liked by all.

Advertising Credited In Rapid Growth of Federal Savings and Loan Associations As Important Factor in Home Financing

More than 31,000 new investors in January placed funds in 881 reporting Federal savings and loan associations, in 600 different cities in 40 states, increasing the entire number of shareholders in those institutions to more than 7 per cent in a single month, to 466,883, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board states. In January, $3,097,000 in new private savings was invested in 511 newly organized Federal associations. Total resources of all Federals exceed $500,000,000.

Reporting Federal savings and loan associations made new loans to home owners in January amounting to $9,318,000. Of this amount, $5,785,000 which would be sufficient to finance over 1,850 new homes with an average loan of $3,000, was lent for the purchase, building or reconducting of homes. The remaining $3,524,000 was lent for refinancing.

The number of new investors in the Federal associations has grown more in recent months at a rate which would more than double the number of shareholders in these private institutions in a year. There has also been a striking month-to-month rise in the average paid-in subscription. This rapid growth, both in number of investors and in total resources of this type of local thrift associations, is explained by several factors:

1. Every investor in a Federal association is automatically insured against loss up to $5,000.
2. The associations enjoy private, mutual ownership and management in making long-term home loans. Dividends currently paid range between 2 per cent and 4 1/2 per cent, averaging over 3 per cent.

3. The regulations governing Federal associations are a composite of the soundest home mortgage practices developed in the 48 states in more than a century of savings and loan experience.
4. The flexibility of the Federal share purchase plan meets the needs of small or large investors.
5. Close supervision of the Federal association's financial condition, management and actual lending operations, by the Federal Home Loan Bank of which it is a member.
6. The increasing extent to which Federal savings and loan associations are bringing their services before the people of their communities through informative advertising, largely in newspapers.

The various Federal associations placed over a quarter of a million dollars in newspaper advertising in 1935. This sum seems likely to be more than doubled in 1936, as many of them are undertaking more extensive advertising programs to future their home-loan facilities, and the insurance safeguards which their shareholders automatically receive.

Tabbin' News

(Continued from Page 1)

W. C. Hamilton of Mt. Sterling and Lester Hogge, Morehead, as candidates for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney, respectively, at the next judicial election. However, it is four years until that race is run, and the political hot-spot boys are getting ahead of themselves.

Business Pickup

(Continued from Page 1)

this time; sales of automobile, accessories increasing.

National re-employment service found places for 383 persons during past week, exact number of week before. One hundred bricklayers have been put to work on new Sweeney distillery in Louisville; 1,200 men to be employed on two lost cost housing projects in Louisville. KERA lists 16,390 unemployed in Kentucky with 28,035 dependents. Percentage with respect to population is 1.7.

Louisville bank clearings registered 3.9 per cent increase over same week of year ago.

Barley planters burning beds for seed planting. Dealers report heavy sale of Barley seed and predictions of excessive crop are heard, officials warning farmers that low prices may be expected unless acreage is curtailed decidedly.

Kentucky reported to have led the Nation in increase of farm income amounting to 40 per cent in 1935.

Some sections in Kentucky report serious seed corn shortage, much of 1935 crop of seed corn falling to show permutation.

Richmond, Ky., Park-Fired Tobacco Growers' Association obtains approval of sale of half its pool to nicotine by-products companies; about 14,000,000 pounds involved.

Approximately $2,500,000 to be spent on the two low-cost housing projects in Louisville.

About $5,000 to be spent in Cloverport, Ky., for reconstruction of utility power lines.

New school building completed at Glasgow Junction, Ky., at cost of $40,000.

Thirty thousand dollars to be spent remodeling garage property in down-town Louisville.

Thirty new boxes being rushed to completion at Churchill Downs race course to provide for extra demands of Derby seats.

Flemingsburg, Ky., ice plant installing two heavy Diesel engine and other improvements.

Plans reported for construction of pipe line to supply Middleboro and Pineville, Ky., with natural gas. Operators leasing much acreage in Knox county to bore for gas.

Work starts on construction of new $200,000 health building at Murray, Ky. State Teachers College.

New ice manufactory to be erected at Somerset, Ky.

Sixteen thousand dollars to be spent for new municipal building at Junction City, Ky.

Zero days in February held responsible for slump of $65,027 in building permits compared with February, 1935, in Louisville.

Celina, Tenn., man to open new dimension timber mill in Adams county, Ky., dealing in ash, hickory or other hardwoods.

Loretto Distilling Company, with $50,000 capital, chartered in Kentucky.

Plans approved for annual dredging of 360 miles of Ohio river between Madison, Ind., and Cairo, Ill., at cost of approximately $400,000.

Inbound traffic needs of distilleries and their subsidiary industries in the United States have created a $15,000,000 a year new revenue for the railroads since prohibition repeal and railroad revenue from transportation of beverages has increased 741 per cent a year, general traffic manager of National Distillers' Products Corporation told Louisville Transportation Club at dinner last week.

Warehouse in Louisville purchased for $100,000 by local realty company and being prepared for mammoth wholesale grocery.

Pittsburg, Pa., company awarded contract for new U. S. dredge boat for Ohio river work at cost of $578,450.

R. M. Barker, prominent tobacco dealer of Carrollton, Ky., offers to give his city large tract for public park purposes.

TVA officials and army engineers discussed here building of dam on Tennessee river at Gilbertsville, Ky., to cost $50,000,000.

Control of Lexington, Ky., Water Company purchased by American Waterworks and Electric Company of New York.

Internal revenue receipts at Louisville office showed increase of $665,392 over same month last year.

MOREHEAD DEBATING CLUB COMMENDED ON RECORD

Placed above is the debating team of the Morehead State Teachers College, which recently placed second in a meet in which 30 teams from outstanding teams in the United States participated. The debating tournament was held at Rock Hill, S. C.

The Morehead club has gained during the past three years the reputation of being perhaps the outstanding debating organization in Kentucky. The team has won many, and decisions in their favor include verdicts over some of the Nation's best.

Jury Reports

(Continued from page one)

subject.

"We have examined the public buildings and the property and make the following suggestions. The public offices are in good shape and the county officers are performing their duties. We find the paper of the court room partly off and the remainder in bad condition and badly kept. We recommend that this room be repapered. The county jail appears to have toilet accommodations in the cells, mattresses for the prisoners, and that the windows need to have new heavy screening between the glass and the window bars; the same for the outside door of the jail, since as it is, it is an easy matter for the prisoners to be provided any kind of weapons or materials for their escape.

"We found the court and the jail for their help during our sittings, all of which is respectfully submitted.

"E. C. ROBERTS, Foreman."

Continue Campaign

(Continued from Page One)

the church. The following week the three losing divisions will be host to the two winning divisions, and a good time and party will be given. There were three additions to the church Sunday morning, making a total of six additions to the church thus far this month. Next Sunday will be a big day, probably the biggest day thus far in the campaign. And every member is urged to be present, and all friends are invited to come and enjoy the fellowship and inspiration of the occasion.

Winter Carnival

(Continued from Page One)

Former kings and queens will head the court procession, Claude Clayton and Marianna Thomas, sororities in 1934, and Roy Adams and Myrtle Davidson, last year's winners.

Many new features will be introduced into the carnival program this year, according to Ezer Robinson, general chairman of the event. One of the things which is expected to be very popular this year is the horse race which is scheduled to take place sometime during the festivities.

College to Benefit

(Continued from page one)

procedure, it was explained by those attending the conference, was to stop overlapping functions. Under the present program, graduate work may be taken at several of the teachers college, and teacher training work is taken at the University of Kentucky.

The new program, it was explained, was requested by Governor Chandler.

Under the new setup, the teachers colleges will increase their registration fees from $15 to $25 a semester and will cease giving graduate work, confining their activities to the regular four-year teachers college training courses. Masters degree no longer will be obtainable from the teacher colleges.

As its part of the arrangement, the University of Kentucky will drop the freshman and sophomore years of its College of Education, which is expected to result in increased attendance at the teachers colleges.

Rowan Bar Laments

(Continued from page one)

"I express our regrets, but whatever our regrets may be, we humbly bow and submit to the one Supreme Being that saw fit to take him.

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the Morehead Independent and Rowan County News of Morehead, Kentucky, for publication, and that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to his family and that same be spread at large upon the order book of this court, all of which we most respectfully submit."

LESTER HOGGE, JAMES CLAY, J. W. BILEY, E. HOGGE, D. R. CAUDILL, W. E. PROCTOR.

Winter Carnival

(Continued from Page One)

all school superintendents in central and southeastern Kentucky. It was announced by Glen Weinman, secretary of the Blue Grass Automobile Club.

The booklet which has been prepared by the motor organization is entitled "Sportsmanlike Driving" and will aid instructors in making the subject of safety a regular part of the school curriculum, Mr. Weinman stated.

The manual points out the need of safety education in the schools by showing the traffic accident records during period of 1922-1933. During the ten-year period, the traffic death rate for children in the five to nine-year group decreased 25 per cent; for the age group ten to fourteen increased 3 per cent; while in sharp contrast to these, the death rate for the fifteen to nineteen age group increased 130 per cent.

Facts are also shown that during the lives of every 100 youths 16 years old, 12 will be killed or seriously injured and 65 will sustain minor injuries or a total of 77 will be killed or injured in traffic accidents if the present trend continues.

Plumbing and Electric Shop
 WORK GUARANTEED
 Phone 274
Harlus Catron
 Manager

100% RECONDITIONED FROM RADIATOR TO REAR BUMPER

That is your assurance and guarantee when you purchase a Used Car from our floors.

Come In And Look These Bargains Over.

- 1935 Chevrolet Sport Sedan
- 1934 Plymouth De Luxe Coach
- 1933 Chevrolet Sport Coupe
- 1931 Chevrolet Sport Sedan
- 1929 Chevrolet Coach
- 1929 Chevrolet Sedan
- 1935 Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton Truck
- 1934 Dodge 1 1/2-ton Truck
- 1933 Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton Truck
- 1929 Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton Truck

MIDLAND TRAIL GARAGE
 Main Street Morehead, Ky.

DO YOU SMILE WHEN YOU FACE THE FUTURE?

Not unless you have some definite security behind you—a back log of savings that you can fall back on should sickness, unfortunate investments, or other difficulties impossible to foresee come your way. Start to insure your future today—by starting an account with us.

Peoples Bank of Morehead

Barnes-Lane Co.
 Funeral Directors
 Ambulance Service
 Phone: 49 (Day) 4-374 (Night)

MIDLAND TRAIL GARAGE
 Main Street Morehead, Ky.

ALL HAIL . . .

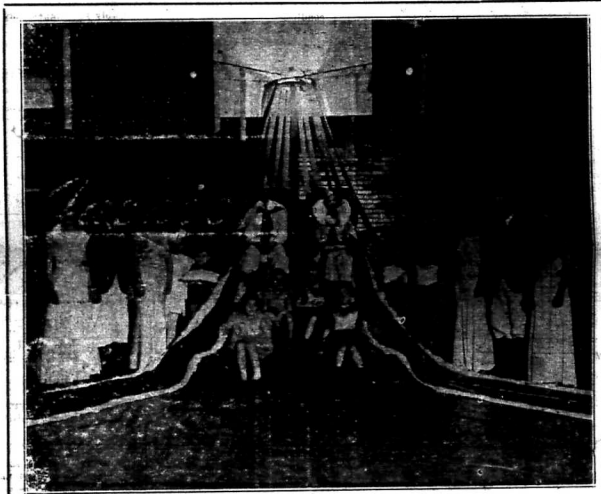

To Morehead College's -- THIRD ANNUAL -- W-I-N-T-E-R CARNIVAL

Featuring the Coronation of the Students Choice for Campus

King and Queen

Saturday
MARCH
21st

The Coronation of the King and Queen at the 1935 Winter Carnival

Morehead
College
Gymnasium
8:00 to 12:00

Clowns, Wheels-of-Chance, Minstrels, Concessions
Sideshows, Beautifully Costumed Girls, Fortune Tellers

THE SEASON'S SOCIAL HIGHLIGHT

The Following Merchants Have Provided This Space As A Portion Of Their Donation To The Success Of The Third Annual Winter Carnival At Morehead College—

- COLLEGE INN
- AMOS 'N' ANDY
- C. E. BISHOP DRUG CO.
- MOREHEAD LUMBER CO.
- CONSOLIDATED HDW. CO.
- BRUCE'S 5c, 10c and $1 Store

- EAGLES NEST CAFE
- CITIZENS BANK
- JOHN H. WEST
- DIXIE COTTAGE
- Woody Hinton's Service Station
- SHADY REST SERVICE STATION
- MOREHEAD INDEPENDENT

- DIXIE GRILL
- MODEL LAUNDRY
- A. B. McKINNEY'S
- MIDLAND BAKING CO.
- MIDLAND TRAIL GARAGE
- MOREHEAD ICE & COAL CO.

SHIFTING SANDS

Sora Ware Bassett

"Let Me Go, Horrie! Let Me Go!" and tight in a grip she knew herself powerless to loosen.

"Let me go, Horrie! Let me go!" she pleaded.

"I shall, sweetheart. All in good time. Before I set you free, though, we must settle one trivial point. Are we engaged or are we not?"

"She made no answer.

"If we're not," he went on, "I intend to check you in the water. If we are, you shall tell me you love me and go free."

A swift, shy smile illuminated her face.

"I—I don't want to be ducked, Horrie," she murmured, raising her arms to his neck.

"You're kidding! You shan't be. Now the rest of it. Say you love me."

"I guess you know that."

"But I wish to hear you say it."

"I—I think I do."

"That's a half-hearted statement."

"I—I know I do, Horrie."

"Ah, that is better. And a love you, Sylvia. Love you in an old, old way with me—a sort of habit. I shall never change. You are too much a part of me, Sylvia. Now pay the boatman and you shall go. One is too cheap. Two is miserly. The fare is three. I won't take less."

"It Was Outrageous of You, Insulting to Leave a Thing of This Sort for Marcia."

Heath, we have come on a very painful errand. We are returning this check to you."

She extended it toward him, gingerly holding its corner in the tips of her fingers as if it were too hot to touch. "It was outrageous of you, insulting, to leave a thing of this sort for Marcia—to attempt to pay in cash my husband's share."

"I'm sorry," Heath stammered.

"Sorry! You couldn't have been very sorry, or you would have sensed such an act would hurt her terribly," Horatio Fuller frowned seriously with his teeth.

"You deserve," swept an young Sylvia with rising spirit, "to be thrashed, Horrie and I both think so—don't we, Horrie?"

Horatio Junior turned crimson.

"Oh, I say, Sylvia, go easy!" he protested. "Don't drag me into this. I don't know one darn thing about it. Suppose I just step inside and listen."

(Continued Next Week)

stone and two maples; thence south 52 west 12 poles to a pine, Leander Carpenter's upper corner of 5 acre tract; thence south 71 1/2 west 24.3 Branch; to a stone at edge of Mill Branch; thence south 88 west 15 1/2 poles to a set stone and double sycamore; thence with Mill branch and Carpenter's line north 60 1/2 west 12 poles to a stone and sycamore; north 43 1/2 west 9 1/2 poles to a set stone; thence south 81 west 3 1/2 poles to a stone; thence south 62 1/2 west 4 1/2 poles to the beginning containing 123 1/2 acres more or less, but subject to legal highways. Being the same farm conveyed to John H. Bradley by deed executed by Ivin Scott and wife, Darkie, bearing date the 21 day of Jan. 1925, recorded in DB 36, at page 412 of the Records of Rowan Co. in the office of the Clerk of the Rowan County Court.

Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

NELLE PROCTOR,
Master Commissioner,
Rowan Circuit Court.

Independent ads pay.

SUPREME QUALITY CHICKS
Day old or started. From U. S. Approved and Pullorum tested flocks. Leading breeds, production bred. Bargains in started chicks called for at hatchery for limited time. Write for prices and particulars.

FLEMINGSBURG HATCHERY
East Water St., near Postoffice
Flemingburg, Ky.

Dr. L. A. Wise
Optometrist
Hurt Building
FRIDAYS ONLY

BABY CHICKS

Commissioner's Sale

THE COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
ROWAN CIRCUIT COURT
THE FEDERAL LAND BANK
OF LOUISVILLE

Plaintiff
JOHN H. BRADLEY, Etc.,
Defendants

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Rowan Circuit Court rendered at the March Term thereof 1936 in the above cause, for the sum of TWELVE HUNDRED NINETY-FOUR and 58-100 ($1294.58) Dollars, with interest at the rate of 5% per annum from the 14th day of November 1935, until paid and its cost therein I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in the City of Morehead, Rowan County, Kentucky, to the highest bidder, at public auction on the 6th day of April 1936, at One O'Clock P. M., or thereabout, upon a credit of 6, 12, and 18 months, the following described property to-wit:

A certain tract of land lying and being in Rowan County, Kentucky, and consisting of 123 1/2 acres, lying between the walls of Mill Branch a tributary of the East Fork of Triple Creek.

Beginning at a cherry, old corner in Leander Carpenter line thence north 13 east 7 1/2 poles to Mill Branch at a stone and stump; thence meandering with and up the branch south 59 1/2 west 12 poles to a stone in the edge of hard road on south side of branch; thence south 41 west 20 poles to a stone on south bank of branch, thence south 49 1/2 west 28 1/2 poles to a planted stone and maple on the north bank of branch; thence south 62 west 17 poles to a planted stone and three chestnuts on one stump; thence up the point south 11 west 9 poles to a planted stone between two chestnut oaks; thence south 42 west 25 1/2 poles to top of high point and dividing ridge to a stone; thence leaving Carpenter's line and meandering with Stewart's Heirs' line and ridge south 22 1/2 west 8 poles to a stone; thence south 10 east 12 1/2 poles to a rock flat on the ground and small black-oak and same being S. M. Bradley, Stewart Heirs and Isaac Caudill's corner; thence with Isaac Caudill's line and running down the hill south 76 east 39 feet to a black oak old corner; thence south 82 1/2 east 104 poles to a set stone on the south side of drain, about two poles from Mill branch; thence crossing Mill branch and county road up the hill south 73 1/2 east 49 1/2 poles to a chestnut oak; Isaac Caudill's old corner on top of high knob; thence meandering with corner of dividing ridge and Isaac Caudill line south 72 1/2 east 29 poles to a planted stone and black oak bush; thence south 76 east 1 poles to a planted stone between pine and black-oak, corner Isaac Caudill and J. M. Lane; thence with the dividing ridge between Mill Branch and Morgan Fork and with J. M. Lane line north 29 east 23 poles to a set stone; thence north 50 east 18 1/2 poles to three hickories and set stone; thence north 33 east 13 1/2 poles to a chestnut oak and set stone; thence north 14 east 8 poles to twin black oaks; thence north 9 1/2 west 26 poles to a pine and chestnut-oak; thence north 54 west 15 poles to a stone; thence north 26 west 17 1/2 poles to history and stone; thence north 11 1/2 west 16 poles to a stone; thence north 32 east 18 poles to a stone between two hickory point-ers; thence north 5 east 5 1/2 poles to a stone, being Leander Carpenter's corner; thence down small drain with Carpenter's line to the beginning north 58 west 29 1/2 poles to a stone; thence south 76 1/2 west 1 poles to a sorwood and poplar; south 80 1/2 west 9 poles to a stone; thence south 76 west 14 poles to a

LANDRETH PLUMBING CO.

HEATING AND PLUMBING
GENERAL REPAIR WORK
Cecil Landreth
CONTRACTOR
Phone 204
Morehead

$190.00 WILL BUY A HECK OF A LOT OF ICE

Said the Ice User to the Ice Machine Salesman
DID YOU EVER THINK OF THAT?

The average Ice bill is less than $30 a year, with nothing to BURST, BURN OR GO ON THE BUM

Call 71
Morehead Ice & Coal Company

CLAIROL

Erase that shadow! Lift the gloom of gray that darkens your face and makes you look years older.

Whether you'd like to impart natural color or completely change the color of your hair, Clairol will do it quickly, naturally, and so secretly that your closest friend won't detect the change.

You mustn't think of Progressive Clairol and Instant Clairol as common, old-fashioned dyes. Clairol does what nothing else can! In one simple treatment Clairol shampoos, reconditions and TINTS.

Ask your beautician. Or write to us for FREE Clairol booklet. FREE advice on the care of hair, and FREE beauty analysis. Write NOW on coupon below.

Beverly King, Cosmetics
Clairol, Inc., 132 West 46th Street, New York City

Please send FREE Clairol booklet, FREE advice and FREE analysis.

Name.....
Address.....
City..... State.....
My Beautician is.....

"Stop, I said! Stop right where you are," bridled Sylvia. "One more word against Marcia and back home you go so fast you won't be able to see for dust. I'm in earnest, so watch your step."

"The woman has bewitched you," frowned Horatio.

"She has. She bewitches everybody. She'll bewitch you."

"Not on your life!"

"Wait and see. Mr. Heath will bewitch you, too."

"The—the?"

"Yes, the burglar, bandit, thief—whatever you choose to call him. You'll admit it when you meet him. We are going there now."

"To—to—call?"

"To return the check I just told you about. You're the stupidest man I ever engaged to, Horatio. Why can't you listen?"

"I don't you think it would be wiser if I took care of it for you, Horrie?" suggested she demurely. "You are dreadfully careless. The fellow who brought you had no idea where the money was. If it is on my finger you'll know exactly."

"This idea! No! I shall! Now tell me where you're going. You were in a frightful hurry when you burst through that door."

"So I was," agreed Sylvia. "And I'm dreadfully careless. The fellow who brought your errand. Come! We must hurry. I've got to go to town. Want to row me over?"

"You bet your life! Show me the boat."

Leading the way to the yellow dory, she took her place opposite him and he pushed off.

As they sat facing one another, her eyes roamed over his brown suit; his matching tie, handkerchief and socks; his immaculate linen; his general air of careful grooming and she could not but admit he wore his clothes well. He was not a small town product.

"Three years in an eastern preparatory school, followed by four years of college life had knocked all his ideas of provincial out of Horatio Junior."

Nevertheless these reflections, interesting though they were, proved nothing about his knowledge of the water. Then she suddenly became aware that the boat was being guided by a master hand.

"Why, Horrie Fuller, I had no idea you could row like this!" exclaimed she with admiration.

Horatio shrugged no response.

"Wherever did you learn to pull such a oar?"

"Oratory Crew."

"Of course. I had forgotten," she apologized, her eyes following as with each spindly stroke the craft shot forward.

Although the oarsman ignored her approbation he was not unmindful of it.

"Where do you land?" he asked.

"Anywhere." He bent forward and with one final magnificent sweep sent the nose of the dory out of the channel.

"Come on," he called, leaping to the beach.

"But—but, Horrie—I can't get ashore here. It'll wet my white shoes."

"Jump."

"It's too far. Pull the boat higher on the sand."

"Not on your life. Jump, darling! I'll catch you."

She stood up in the bow.

"I can't. It's too far."

"Nonsense! Where's your sporting blood? Don't be afraid. I'm right here."

"Suppose you shouldn't catch me?"

"But I shall."

Still she wavered. She was certain of it. "I don't want to jump," she pouted. "You'll have to. Come on, Beautiful. You're wasting time."

"You and you are perfectly horrid," she flung out as she sprang forward. An instant later she was in his arms

"Then the trouble is with your imagination," Sylvia said in her longest tone.

They walked on in silence until presently the girl stopped before the gate of a small, weather-beaten cottage.

"Well, here we are at Elisha's," she remarked, turning in at the gate.

"What's he got to do with it?"

"Mercy, Horrie! We'll wear me to a shreds if you let me stay in the rooming to coax him to let us see the prisoner."

"You don't mean the chap is jailed here?"

"My—my—" he clasped his hand over his mouth. "Why, any red-blooded man could knock the whole house flat to the ground with a single blow of his fist. I'd bet I could."

"There wasn't any other place to put him."

"Well, if he stays incarcerated in a detention cell like this, he's a noble-minded convict—that's all I have to say."

They walked up the narrow clambell path, bordered by iris and thirly perennials.

As they did so, the sound of a radio drifted through the open window.

Sylvia peeped in.

Horatio, too intent on the music to hear her step, was sitting before the loud speaker, smoking.

"I've come to see Mr. Heath," she shouted above the walls of a crooning orchestra.

"I ain't sure as I'd oughter let you see him," hesitated Elisha.

"I'll take the responsibility."

"Wal—walbe on second thought, 'twill do no harm," he drawled. "He's round on the back porch. I'd come with you, wasn't I waiting for the news flashes?"

"All that right. I can find him."

"Say, who you got with you?" called the sheriff over his shoulder.

"He's nobody. Just my fiancée."

"Your what?"

"The man I am going to marry."

"You don't tell me! So you're getting married, are you? Good looking fellow! I heard at the post office you had some chap in the offin'. But to let him see Mr. Heath—I dunno as 'twould be just."

"Where I got Horatio goes," Sylvia retorted.

Elisha weakened.

"Wal, in that case—" he began.

She waited to hear no more.

"Come on, Horrie," she called.

Leaving Elisha absorbed in a saxophone solo, the two rounded the corner of the cottage and found themselves in the presence of Stanley Heath.

CHAPTER XIII

"Sylvia!" he cried, springing up and advancing toward her with outstretched hand. "Sylvia! What a brick you are to come!"

Angry as she was, when face to face with him she could not resist the contagion of his smile.

"I'm glad to see you so well," she said. "This is Mr. Horatio Fuller of Alto City."

Horatio looked Heath up and down and then stepped forward and gripped his hand with unmistakable cordiality.

"Mighty glad to know you, sir," was his greeting. "You seem to have got yourself into a jam. If there is anything I can do—any way I can be of service."

"Horatio, you forget we are not here to make a social call," interrupted Sylvia, who had by this time regained her rouled chilliness and indignation. "On the contrary, Mr.

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

"Well, do you wonder that? What kind of a woman is your aunt? What sort of a gang have you got in with anyhow?"

"Horrie! You mustn't talk like that," Sylvia declared. "This affair is too serious. Marcia and the—the she and Mr. Heath love one another. It is terrible because, you see, he has a wife."

"I should call that a stroke of Providence, myself."

"Horatio, I think you are being very nasty. You are joking about something that is no joking matter."

"I beg your pardon, dear. I wasn't really joking. Don't be angry. But this yarn is unbelievable in preparation," explained the man, taking her hand and gently caressing it.

"Well, when Mr. Heath went away from the Honorable Court, I left behind him a hundred dollars in notes, for what Marcia had done for him. It almost killed her."

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

"Well, do you wonder that? What kind of a woman is your aunt? What sort of a gang have you got in with anyhow?"

"Horrie! You mustn't talk like that," Sylvia declared. "This affair is too serious. Marcia and the—the she and Mr. Heath love one another. It is terrible because, you see, he has a wife."

"I should call that a stroke of Providence, myself."

"Horatio, I think you are being very nasty. You are joking about something that is no joking matter."

"I beg your pardon, dear. I wasn't really joking. Don't be angry. But this yarn is unbelievable in preparation," explained the man, taking her hand and gently caressing it.

"Well, when Mr. Heath went away from the Honorable Court, I left behind him a hundred dollars in notes, for what Marcia had done for him. It almost killed her."

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

"Well, do you wonder that? What kind of a woman is your aunt? What sort of a gang have you got in with anyhow?"

"Horrie! You mustn't talk like that," Sylvia declared. "This affair is too serious. Marcia and the—the she and Mr. Heath love one another. It is terrible because, you see, he has a wife."

"I should call that a stroke of Providence, myself."

"Horatio, I think you are being very nasty. You are joking about something that is no joking matter."

"I beg your pardon, dear. I wasn't really joking. Don't be angry. But this yarn is unbelievable in preparation," explained the man, taking her hand and gently caressing it.

"Well, when Mr. Heath went away from the Honorable Court, I left behind him a hundred dollars in notes, for what Marcia had done for him. It almost killed her."

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

"Well, do you wonder that? What kind of a woman is your aunt? What sort of a gang have you got in with anyhow?"

"Horrie! You mustn't talk like that," Sylvia declared. "This affair is too serious. Marcia and the—the she and Mr. Heath love one another. It is terrible because, you see, he has a wife."

"I should call that a stroke of Providence, myself."

"Horatio, I think you are being very nasty. You are joking about something that is no joking matter."

"I beg your pardon, dear. I wasn't really joking. Don't be angry. But this yarn is unbelievable in preparation," explained the man, taking her hand and gently caressing it.

"Well, when Mr. Heath went away from the Honorable Court, I left behind him a hundred dollars in notes, for what Marcia had done for him. It almost killed her."

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

"Well, do you wonder that? What kind of a woman is your aunt? What sort of a gang have you got in with anyhow?"

"Horrie! You mustn't talk like that," Sylvia declared. "This affair is too serious. Marcia and the—the she and Mr. Heath love one another. It is terrible because, you see, he has a wife."

"I should call that a stroke of Providence, myself."

"Horatio, I think you are being very nasty. You are joking about something that is no joking matter."

"I beg your pardon, dear. I wasn't really joking. Don't be angry. But this yarn is unbelievable in preparation," explained the man, taking her hand and gently caressing it.

"Well, when Mr. Heath went away from the Honorable Court, I left behind him a hundred dollars in notes, for what Marcia had done for him. It almost killed her."

"I thought she ought to have had more money. She ought to have had more than a few hundred dollars is quite a sum in these days. She would better have grabbed it tight and been thankful. My respect for this bandit chap is rising. I should call him an honest gentleman."

"It is useless to talk with you, Horatio. I can see that," Sylvia said, sniffing. "A delicate affair like this is evidently beyond your comprehension. You cannot seem to understand it. You go to it to make light of every word I say."

"I'm not making light. On the contrary I fear I am taking the situation far more seriously than you are. I don't like the moral tone of this place at all. It looks to me as if it had got into most undesirable surroundings. The sooner you are married to me, young woman, and out of here the better."

"But—your—"

"I consider your methods despicable," announced the girl even at last but reluctantly put her down on her feet. "You blackmailed me."

"I know my Sylvia," he countered. "Perhaps you'd rather trundle back to New York tomorrow and offered the ring to Estelle."

"Shilly! I was only fooling," she growled quickly, flanking her arm in his. "This ring would never do. Estelle, dearest. Her hands are tremendous. Didn't you ever notice them? They are almost as large as a man's. I never saw such large hands."

"She's an awful nice girl just the same."

"I don't doubt that. Come. We must quit fooling now and hurry or we shall never get home. Marcia will be frantic."

"Marcia?"

"My aunt. I have so much to tell you I hardly know where to begin," sighed Sylvia. "Do listen carefully, for I need your advice."

"What about?"

"A lot of things. It is a long story. You see Marcia has fallen in love with the robber."

"A robber? You'r aunt?"

"Oh, no. I know it sounds odd, but you will understand it better after you have heard the details," nodded Sylvia. "This man, a Jew, thief, came to our house one day just wrecked and hurt, so we took him in. We didn't know then, of course, that he was a thief. Afterward, when he did, he was sick and we hadn't the heart to turn him out. In fact we couldn't have done it anyway. He was too fascinating. He was one of the most fascinating men you ever saw."

"He must have been," Horatio gazed.

"Oh, he was. I myself almost lost my heart to him," confessed Sylvia earnestly. "Marcia did."

"Yes. Don't look so horrified, Horrie. I realize it seems queer, unconventional; but you'll understand better when you see Marcia. She is no ordinary person."

"I shouldn't think she was."

Sylvia ignored the comment.

"Well, anyway, the robber hid the loot and of course Marcia and I did all we could to protect him."

"Then one day the Wilton sheriff heard over the radio there had been a jewel robbery Long Island, and stumbling upon the hidden gems, arrested Mr. Heath."

"Yes, Horrie!"

"The thief, Horrie! The thief! How can you be so stupid?"

"I get you now. You must admit, though, this is a some story to understand."

"I know it sounds confused, but in reality it is perfectly simple if you'll really pay attention. Well," the girl hurried on, "I cannot stop to explain all the twists and turns but to wit the sheriff brought the burglar to Wilton and Marcia is broken-hearted."

"Broken-hearted?" she should think of Marcia as the girl of his life."

"But you keep forgetting she's in love with him."

Soldier Proves Sensation of Fourteenth Regional

Russell Wins Tournament With Victory Over Panthers; Allie Holbrook's Five Defeats Ashland

Olive Hill and Mt. Sterling Lose In Opening Round Ties

OFFICIATING COMMENDED

Playing a cool, careful and calculating style of basketball, "Runt" Patterson and his band of Red Devils from Russell High School swept through the Regional Tournament at the Morehead State Teachers College last week-end, to earn a right to represent this section of the Commonwealth in the grand state finals at the University of Kentucky Gymnasium Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Despite the victory of the Russell boys, which was earned through a display of good high school basketball, Allie Holbrook and the Soldier High School Panthers proved the tournament sensation and accounted for the Morehead gymnasium being packed to the rafters at every session. Therefore, to Soldier—a game and hard-fighting combination of basketball—goes the nod as being the outstanding team in the meet, and the ones that did most to make the Fourteenth Regional a financial success.

In their first time out Soldier eliminated one of the tournament favorites in Olive Hill by 21-19. This was one of the hardest fought contests of the tourney and provided the biggest thrills. Kelly, Baser, Huston and Cunniff provided the impetus that put the Panthers over. At the same session Ashland's Tomcats eliminated Clark County High 25-23 in a grim overtime period. Clark County led most of the game and were caught a second time before the final shot by Tomcats. The regular playing time ended in a 21-21 deadlock.

Mt. Sterling proved no match for Russell Friday night and the Earl Citizens built up a steady lead that netted them a 25-15 victory. The Trojans missed on the final shot of the game, while the winners took advantage of every break. The Owsley County High team eliminated Heidelberg, from the same district, 27-18, in a game that saw both teams rump up and down the floor with little regard for the rules under which the court game is conducted.

Soldier again proved the "team of the hour" Saturday afternoon by cleanly outplaying and dependably earning a 20-10 victory over Ashland. It marked the first time that the team of the "Cats" were clipped in Regional meet since Mt. Sterling turned the trick back in 1931. Last year Ashland did not play in the tournament, being disqualified by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

Russell rested most of the time in defeating Booneville in the other semi-final. The rest proved possibly the deciding factor in their winning

BARKEE AND STULTZ CO-CAPTAINS ALL-TOURNEY

Bill Barker, elusive guard from Soldier, and Bruce Stultz, high-scoring captain of Russell, were named co-captains on the all-tournament team of the Fourteenth Region here Saturday. Both were unanimous choices.

Other members of the all-tournament five were Waldo Fritz, Olive Hill; Harry Caines, Ashland; and Bill Heron, Russell. The team was selected by Officials Hanes and Cover, Timor Boyd McCullough, Scooter Anstin Riddle, and Sports Writers Brady Black and W. E. Crutcher.

They were awarded gold basketballs. The members of the winning Russell team also were awarded gold basketballs. They were Ramsey, Leroy, Heron, Duncan, Stultz, Anderson, Sutherland, Sweet, Artie, Bess and Coach Patterson. The Soldier team which was runners-up, were awarded silver basketballs. Members of this team were Ely, Cundiff, Kelley, Barker, Huston, Cline, Fritz, J. Kelly, Smith, Lucas and Coach Holbrook.

the championship, for they were more alert in the final than was a tired but hard-fighting Soldier team. Soldier stayed on even terms most of the first half, but Russell pulled away at the last.

Hanes of Ironton, O., and Harry Cover, Aberdeen, O., officiated at the tournament, and turned in the best job that has been seen here for some time. Complaints were few, and out-of-order.

(Finals)
Russell (21) Soldier (18)
Ramsey (6) F. Ely (2)
LeRoy (3) F. Cundiff (1)
Fritz (2) F. Kelley (3)
Stultz (6) G. Barker (5)
Duncan (1) G. Huston (1)
Substitutes—Russell: Anderson, Soldier: Cline (2).

(Consolation Game)
Mt. Sterling (22) Olive Hill (14)
Palmer (5) F. McClave (1)
O. Henry (3) F. Williams (1)
E. Henry (2) C. Gearhart (2)
Greene (4) G. Fultz (5)
Barnes (1) G. Dings (1)
Substitutes—Mt. Sterling: Hainline (5), Doggett (3), Lockridge, Hainel, Olive Hill: Rose, Blizard, Prichard, Ernest.

(Semi-Finals)
Russell (27) Booneville (18)
Ramsey (7) F. Wilson (4)
LeRoy (4) F. Moyers (1)
Heron (4) C. M. Gabbard (1)
Stultz (4) G. J. Gabbard (7)
Duncan (1) G. Barrett (2)
Substitutes—Russell: Anderson (4), Sutherland (1), Sweet, Bess (1), Artie (3), Booneville: Isaacs.

(Semi-Finals)
Soldier (30) Ashland (15)
Ely (3) F. Adkins (2)
Cundiff (8) F. Hannecke (2)

Fields Hall Takes Intramural Meet

Fields Hall defeated the Town team by a score of 34 to 30 to annex the championship in the Girls' Intramural Basketball tourney Thursday night. The Fields Hall team had previously defeated the Allie Young team by 17 to 11, and the Town team had beaten Allie Young by 29 to 23.

Members of Fields, M. Borders, M. Neblett, R. Huns, and Jackson of the Town team were the outstanding players in the tournament and took high-scoring honors in the three contests.

Members of the teams were: Fields Hall—M. Neblett, R. Huns, J. Fields, L. Myhrer, M. Hammond, Blackburn, S. Bradley, V. Harpham, Allie Young—O. Borders, M. Borders, Hall, Barker, B. Moley, G. Motley, Tova Jackson, Corrette, Fair, Radd, Baseback, Thomas, Secret, Rudd.

H. M. Wheeler Will Select Softball 9

Rowan County Included In This District

H. M. Wheeler, of the Sandy Valley Grocery Co., of Ashland, Ky., has been appointed by J. W. Deaver, State Softball Commissioner of Kentucky, as commissioner of District Nine, and already is laying plans to hold a district tournament here in August, to pick a representative to compete in the state tournament.

District Nine embraces the counties of Wolfe, Rowan, Morgan, Elliott, Carter, Greenup, Boyd, Lawrence and Johnson, and managers of softball teams in those counties who are interested in entering the tournament are advised to get in touch with Mr. Wheeler for further information.

The winner of the state tournament will go to Chicago, Ill., to play in the World's Amateur Championships, Sept. 12, 13 and 14.

Kentucky has been divided into eleven districts, all of which will hold tournaments similar to the one scheduled in Ashland.

FIREMEN TO MEET

The second annual School for Firemen, under the auspices of the University of Kentucky Department of Extension, the Kentucky Municipal League and the Kentucky Firemen's Association, will be held on the campus of the University of Kentucky June 16, 17 and 18.

Eugene Seaton, Jr., a McCracken county 4-H club member, is carrying a 5-acre phosphate demonstration as well as a livestock project.

M. D. Royle, of Clark county, held a Duro-Jersey sale, where 45 head of gilts sold for an average of $47.35 a head.

Hay production will be increased by 15,000 or 20,000 acres in Lincoln county, according to farm leaders' plans.

W. S. Anderson and Huffstetter, Bond of Nicholas county, have bought several registered Hereford bulls.

Kelley (7) C. Johnson (9)
Barker (2) G. Rentroe
Huston (1) G. Caines (2)
Substitutes—Soldier: Clines, Ashland: Barker (1), Poffgram (Friday Night's Game)

Booneville Heidelberg
Wilson (9) F. Angel (2)
Moyers F. Back
M. Gabbard (7) G. Couch (2)
J. Gabbard (12) G. Quillen (12)
Garrett (4) G. Scott
Substitute—Heidelberg: Cecil (2)
Russell (26) Mt. Sterling (15)
LeRoy (8) F. Palmer (4)
Ramsey (4) F. O. Henry (2)
Cline (4) G. E. Henry (3)
Stultz (8) G. Greene (5)
Duncan (1) G. Hainline (1)
Substitutes—Russell: Anderson (1), Mt. Sterling: Barnes (1), Doggett, Lockridge.

(Friday Afternoon Game)
Ashland (25) Clark County (23)
Adkins (5) F. Gray (9)
Hannecke (7) F. P. Rupard (2)
Johnson (4) C. Johnson (8)
Renfroe (2) G. T. Rupard (2)
Galnes (2) G. May (2)
Substitutes—Ashland: Rucker (3), Fields (2), Clark County: Farris, Ballard.

Soldier (21) Olive Hill (19)
Ely (4) F. McClave (3)
Cundiff F. C. Gearhart (2)
Ely (6) C. G. Fultz (8)
Huston (6) G. Fultz (8)
Barker (5) G. Dings (4)
Substitutes—Olive Hill: Williams, Prithard (2), Ernest, Phillips.

Freshmen Finish Season With Best Record In History

Scroggins' Team Tallies More Than Twice As Many Points As Opponents

Possibilities for greater basketball teams in the future for the Morehead State Teachers College appear probable, with a wealth of freshman material coming up for next year's varsity. The Morehead varsity will be hard hit by graduation, but this year's freshman squad is expected to more than provide the necessary talent for a winning 1936-37 combination.

The Morehead Eaglets, coached by William (Cap) Scroggins, who is in his second year as freshman mentor at the Morehead Institution, won 11 games and lost 2. Both of its losses came at the hands of the yearlings of the University of Kentucky by non-decision margins. The Morehead Freshmen accounted for 564 points in 13 games, or better than 43 points a game. The opposition made 274 points, less than half as much as did the Morehead team, for an average of 21 points per game.

Outstanding players on the Freshman squad were: Stanley Arsen, former Newport High School luminary, who averaged 15 points per game, besides being one of the fastest men to ever play at Morehead; H. C. Smith, of Hazel Green, a near-perfect rebound man, a high scorer and good guard; John Horton and James Lehman, Mt. Sterling, both high point-makers; Ed Kiser, Ashland, who controlled the tip-off most of the season and proved himself an excellent defensive player; Donald Fair, Donald Thornton and Ray Lacy. Other members of the squad saw considerable service and are good varsity prospects.

The Eaglets' season's record: Morehead 71; Clearfield CCC 6. Morehead 22; Georgetown 21. Morehead 19; Ky. Freshmen 25. Morehead 30; Georgetown 28. Morehead 42; Transylvania 24. Morehead 48; Centre 27. Morehead 57; Wesleyan 15. Morehead 51; Pikeville College 23. Morehead 36; Centre 23. Morehead 49; Pikeville College 16. Morehead 29; Ky. Freshmen 24. Total points: Morehead 564; opponents 274.

When our children face the debt that we have created for them, won't they be grateful!

Fifty Breathitt county farmers are liming their land, and using phosphate supplied by the TVA.

Rowan Cops First Tournament Game

The Rowan county intra-mural game last night in the tournament at the Morehead College gym, being Boyd County 15-14 in a "bit and miss" contest. Lawrence won over Johnson and Elliott succumbed to Knott in their first round games. Semi-final matches are scheduled for Thursday night, the first game getting under way at 7 o'clock. The final will not be played until 7:30 Monday evening.

Teams entered in the tournament are: Pike, Floyd (the defending champion), Rowan, Boyd, Morgan, Perry, Montgomery, Lawrence, Johnson, Knott, Elliott, Out-of-State, Greenup and Carter.

The tourney is managed by Athletic Director, G. D. Downing.

Romance, Race Thrills Feature Rogers Film

Will Rogers' last—and greatest—picture, "In Old Kentucky," comes Friday and Saturday to the Cozy Theatre.

Adapted from the play whose humor, sunny romance and tingling horse race drama have made it a favorite of three generations of Americans, "In Old Kentucky" stars Rogers in a role that presents his rich down-to-earth character in its most lovable light.

"In Old Kentucky" is being brought back to Morehead at the request of friends of movie-goers. Sam Hellman, famous humorist, and Gladys Lehman adapted the play to the screen in a modernized form, but preserved all of its drama and its rich comedy of character and incident.

In the picture, Rogers enacts a shrewd and genial trainer of horses, whose homely philosophy and keen wit sees right all the troubles of the impulsive people about him.

Russell Hardie and Dorothy Wilson play the romantic youngsters of "In Old Kentucky." She is the daughter of old Charles Sellen who is feuding with Charles Richman. Although his daughter fights to win Hardie for herself, it is Rogers' shrewd aid that finally brings the boy to Miss Wilson. Rogers' able assistant in the picture is Bill Robinson, the tap dancing genius, who teaches the comedian enough of his foot artistry to win a handsome widow, and thus provides one of the comedy punches of the picture.

Although "In Old Kentucky" is full of humor and drama in the feud situations and the wrangle with the crazy rain-maker, it reserves its great thrill for the pound-

Organize Gun Club For 1936

30 Members Join Morehead Rifle and Revolver Club

The Morehead Rifle and Revolver Club which has a membership of 30 has been re-organized for this year, and is now planning several meets with neighboring clubs.

Charles E. Jennings was elected president of the group. Other officers are H. A. Sprick, vice-president; J. H. Adams, executive officer, and Emmet Lewis, secretary-treasurer.

Morehead's club is affiliated with the National Rifle and Revolver Association, with its headquarters in Washington, D. C. The club is eligible for ammunition and supplies, furnished without cost by the United States War Department.

A drive is being started for the addition of members. Any of the above officers can furnish full particulars regarding membership. The fee is three dollars.

The club held its first pistol practice March 6. In addition to the rifle team, the club hopes to have a pistol team to compete with similar clubs over the state.

ing climax in which racing thoroughbreds pounded down the stretch carrying romance and drama in their saddle.

Louise Henry, Alvin Dinehart, Esther Dale and Etienne Girardot are the principal supporting players in "In Old Kentucky," which was directed by George Marshall.

Independent ads pay.

A. F. Ellington
DENTIST
Phone 26 Morehead

TWO NATURALS
STRAIGHT WHISKEY
GLENMORE DISTILLERS CO.

INTRODUCING
A World Renowned Whiskey for Over 225 Years
BLACK PRINCE
Distilled Gins and Liqueurs
We have added to our already complete stocks of wines, gins and liqueurs this famed brand, known everywhere to people who know and enjoy quality products.
Black Prince Dry Gin Black Prince Lemon Gin
Black Prince Sloe Gin Black Prince Coffee Liqueur
The Morehead Dispensary
221 Main Street Morehead, Ky.

Printing Press FOR SALE
We have a press, in perfect running condition, with new rollers, for sale. Ideal for printing a four-page weekly newspaper and circulars. We are installing a new press. We also have a paper cutter for sale.
THE MOREHEAD INDEPENDENT

SPORTS-HEADQUARTERS
FOR CORRECT
Fishing Tackle
FLIES
REELS
PLUGS
LINES
BOBS
SPOONS
SEINES
SPINNERS
TROT LINES
OUR SPECIAL
No. 2 PFLUEGEN
TANDEM SPINNERS
50¢
The most complete stock to select from in Eastern Kentucky.
N. E. Kennard Hardware Co.

SOCIETY NEWS

A Brief Mention of the Doing of Those We Are All Interested In

Announce Marriage of Daughter

Announcement is made this week of the marriage of Miss Esther Botts, former student at Morrhead Teachers College, to Mr. L. M. Phipps, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. F. Lyons Sunday morning, March 15, at the parsonage, with a few friends as witnesses. Mrs. Phipps, who has been residing and teaching school in Menifee county, returned to Cincinnati with her husband who owns a small barber shop on Vine street in that city.

Woman's Club

Met Tuesday
The Rowan County Woman's Club met Tuesday evening, March 17, at the home of Mrs. Guy Snyder on Sun street, with assisting hostesses Mrs. V. D. Flood, Jack H. Hogg and W. H. Flood. The meeting, which concerned strictly business, was in charge of the garden department. A lovely luncheon was served to approximately forty guests and members.

Spent Sunday in Morehead

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caudill and daughter, Lenora Janice, of Ashland, spent Sunday in Morehead with Mr. Caudill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Caudill of Fifth street. They were accompanied home by Mr. Caudill's sister, Miss Lenora, who plans to visit in Ashland this week.

Sunday Guests of Rev. and Mrs. Lyons

Rev. W. H. Hunt, pastor of the Church of God, Ashland, and Mr. J. Kiser, contractor, also of Ashland, were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Lyons. Mr. Kiser received the contract for the building of the tabernacle at Camargo, where the State camp meeting will be held.

Attend Funeral of Sister

Currae Smith, dean of women, attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. James M. Benton, wife of former Circuit Judge J. M. Benton, in Winchester, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Benton died at her home in Winchester, following an illness of six weeks. Funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. S. B. Lander officiating. Burial was in the Winchester cemetery.

Speaks at Men's Club

Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, head of the department of history, spoke at the dinner meeting of the Morrhead Men's Club held at the Methodist church Wednesday night. He took for his subject the reorganization bill and outlined in detail the provisions contained in it. The meeting was open to general discussion following Dr. Lloyd's talk.

Morrhead Student Married Saturday

John Clarkson, Morrhead freshman, was married to Dorothy Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Maddox, of Mayville, at the Christian church of Mayville last Saturday. John is back in school and receiving the felicitations of his friends.

Week-End Guest of Floods

Miss Frances Evelyn Flood had as her week-end guest at her home in West Morehead, Miss Mary Woodson Jacobs of Mt. Sterling. Her Saturday overnight guests were Misses Alma Barnard, of Mt. Sterling, and Helen Holbrook of this city.

O. L. Jackson is Improved

Mrs. O. L. Jackson, who fell in her home Wednesday morning and sustained a painful fracture of the left leg, was removed to a hospital in Huntington Wednesday afternoon. She is reported to be resting as well as could be expected.

Visit Mother in Lexington

Mr. G. D. Downing and children, Kathleen and George Dewey, Jr.,

left Wednesday for Lexington to spend the remainder of the week with Mrs. Downing's mother, Mrs. Emma Cramer. Mrs. Downing plans to attend the State tournament.

Mrs. Caudill Entertains Club

The Fortnight Bridge Club met Thursday evening, March 17, at the home of Mrs. Jimmie Wilson, of Wilson avenue with the hostess, Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill. Several rubbers of bridge were played, a delightful ice course, carrying out the color scheme of St. Patrick, was served to the members and guests. Mrs. Roy Corneice, Mrs. Roland Armstrong and Mrs. Frank Laughlin. The high score was won by Mrs. Jimmie Wilson, while second high was given to Mrs. Frank Laughlin.

Bridge Club Meets at Manuel's

The Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club met last Thursday afternoon, March 17, at the home of Mrs. Bud Manuel at the Blair apartments on Wilson avenue. After several rubbers of bridge were played, high score was awarded to Mrs. John Sydney Riley, while second high was won by Mrs. C. B. Daugherty. The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, March 19, with Mrs. John Sydney Riley at her home on Main street.

Return Home After Visit

Mrs. E. Hogge returned Sunday to her home on Wilson avenue after spending the greater part of last week in Lexington. She was accompanied home by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hogge and family, who spent Sunday in this city.

Mrs. V. D. Flood was the hostess for the Missionary society meeting of the Methodist church which was held at her home in West Morehead Thursday afternoon, March 12. The topic for discussion was "Our Young People and Missions" and was interestingly given by Mrs. C. P. Caudill. "My Task" was a special vocal solo, rendered by Mrs. Dennis Caudill. Mrs. E. L. Moore gave an interesting report concerning the Young's Convention which was held in Memphis, Tenn., last January. Mrs. Guy Snyder is the president of the missionary society and Mrs. Leora Hurt is chairman of the program committee.

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Moore have as their guests this week at their home on Main street, Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin, of Brownsville, Tenn., and her sister, Mrs. Miller Marple, of Denver, Colo.

Miss Mabel Jones, formerly of Lexington, and sister of Mrs. B. H. Kasser, has accepted a position with the Lee Clay Products Company. The position was formerly held by Mrs. Lydia Amburgey Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Tinsley Barnard and children, of Mt. Sterling, were week-end guests of Mrs. Barnard's mother, Mrs. D. M. Holbrook, and attended the basketball tournament in the college gymnasium Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Johnny Green and little son, John Sydney, returned Sunday to their home in Sandy Hook after spending several weeks with Mrs. Green's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Syd Alfrey, at their home on College street.

Mrs. Pearl Murphy, of Mt. Sterling, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Murphy, of Ashland, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Riddle and family at their home on Bays avenue.

Mrs. J. H. Adams, of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Adkins and family, of Portsmouth, Ohio, spent Sunday in Elliottsville as the guests of Mrs. Adams' and Mr. Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Adkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Mert Ridge left Thursday for Cincinnati, where Mr. Ridge will resume his work after spending several days with Mrs. Ridge's mother, Mrs. J. A. Amburgy.

Miss Maxine Leady, who is living with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Caudill and attending college here, had as guest this week her sister, Miss Helen Leady, of Elliott county.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooksey and Miss Lucille Cooksey, of Ashland, were week-end guests of Mr. and Miss Cooksey's mother, Mrs. Pearl Cooksey, at her home on Main street.

Miss Grace Cassidy has returned to her home on Bays avenue after spending a few days in Mt. Sterling as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Caudill.

Mrs. P. S. Whitney, of Huntington, is visiting her sisters and brothers this week at the home of Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill of Second street.

Mrs. Edward Bishop and Miss Marguerite Bishop were week-end visitors in Lexington with friends and relatives.

Mr. Carl Henry, of West Liberty, was here Monday and Tuesday the guest of his sister, Mrs. Roland Armstrong at their home on Wilson avenue.

Mrs. Madames Wood Hinton, C. B. Daugherty, G. D. Downing and Bud Manuel were shopping in Lexington Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Goss, of Jackson, were week-end guests of their daughter, Mrs. Curtis Bruce, and Mr. Bruce and little Miss Eleanor, at their home on Bays avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fannin and daughter, Ruthanne, and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Fanning were visiting in Mayville Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. C. T. Warwick, of Cynthiana, was a weekend visitor in Morehead Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. M. M. McCormick and daughter, of Jenkins, are visiting Mrs. McCormick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Holbrook.

Mrs. John W. Wood, of Ashland, was the week-end guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Vaughan, and family.

Miss Louise O'Rourke spent the week-end in Grayson.

Harry Goldberg was a business visitor in Cincinnati Monday.

Mr. Shouse Martin, of Ashland, was in town Monday.

Mr. E. F. Mass and family, of farmers, left Sunday for Cincinnati, where they will make their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed Morrison are the proud parents of a daughter, born Tuesday, March 10. The little Miss has been named Betty Ann. This is Mr. and Mrs. Morrison's third child.

Mrs. C. O. Peratt is confined to her home on Wilson avenue with a severe attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Manuel are expecting Mrs. Manuel's sisters, Miss Katherine Buckley and Mrs. Ray Swinford, of Richmond, as guests for this week-end.

C. P. Duley and J. H. Powers attended a Masonic meeting in Winchester last Friday night.

Rev. E. H. Kasse and family spent last week in Magoffin county visiting relatives.

J. W. Hedden, editor of the Mt. Sterling Advocate, was in Morehead on business last Saturday.

George Martin Calvert, co-manager of the Independent, arrived in Morehead Saturday to assume his duties as this publication.

Miss Lucy Day, of Ashland, was a Sunday visitor in this city with friends.

Mrs. A. T. Tatum and Mrs. W. E. Kinney were shopping in Lexington Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Murrel Crossley and children, Helen and Johnny, and Miss Nancy Ward spent Saturday in Lexington shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady Black, of Ashland, were Friday dinner guests of Mrs. Dennis Caudill at their home on Main street.

Rev. H. L. Moore was a business visitor in Flemingsburg Wednesday.

Mrs. Edith Proctor, of Jenkins, is visiting this week with her mother, Mrs. A. L. Miller.

Mr. Ed Overman, of Ashland, and Miss Mary Frank Wiley, of Soldier, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed D. Patton.

President H. A. Babb, Dean W. H. Vaughan and Mr. C. B. Lane spent Monday in Frankfort on business.

Mr. Walter Winston Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Carr, had as his dinner guests Sunday, Messrs. Billy Ramsey and Bruce Raylans.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Caudill and Mr. Billy Rile spent Sunday afternoon in Mt. Sterling.

Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Fern entertained as the week-end guest of their son, Mr. Kenneth Fern, Mr. Gene Brock of Enging.

Mr. Lester Hogge was a business visitor in Frenchburg Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hook have returned to their home here after spending several days in Augusta with relatives.

Mrs. L. A. Fair is reported as being able to be out after an attack of influenza.

Miss Jean Thomas, of Ashland, was visiting in Morehead last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Kennard spent the week-end in Jamestown, Ohio, with her sister, Mrs. H. E. Lewis, and Mr. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hall announce

HE'S 4-H PRESIDENT

GIFFORD VARNEY

"To all farm boys and girls, I'll say you can't afford to stay out of 4-H club work," declares Gifford Varney, 4-H Club president of Pike county, 18-year-old president of the Kentucky Association of Junior 4-H Clubs, an organization with more than 26,000 active members.

"Previous to the organization of 4-H club work, many farm boys and girls grew up under the impression that living in the country was something to be shunned. Even school teachers, I have learned, held out clovingly the opportunities of the city but failed to mention the opportunities of farm life.

"The 4-H clubs are helping to break down such ideas about country life. They have happily shouldered the task of placing a vision before rural youth: a vision not only of improved plants and livestock and better homes and opportunities for making money, but a vision of the beauty of the row, the sunset, the robin's song, and an opportunity to develop an attitude of kindness, courtesy and generous deeds."

Mr. Varney will preside at the 16th annual Junior Week at the University of Kentucky June 8-12.

BOYS' LIFE HAD STEADY GROWTH IN ITS 25 YEARS

Boys' Life, the Boy Scouts' monthly magazine celebrates its 25th anniversary with its March issue. Since its start in 1911, it has grown and made conspicuous strides among America's publications. In a few years Boys' Life attained a readership in excess of 100,000 subscribers per issue.

Boys' Life is enjoyed by boys in all foreign lands and reaches even the most remote parts of the globe.

The arrival of a baby boy, born Friday evening, March 13, at their home here. The baby has been named Robert Franklin.

Have St. Patrick's Day Silver Tea

Group Number 2 of the Christian church sponsored a silver tea on St. Patrick's Day Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur Blair. Originally the tea was to be held at the home of Mrs. C. O. Peratt, but the place was changed owing to Mrs. Peratt's illness. Chairman of the different groups consisting of Mrs. Warren Lewis and Elizabeth Blair assisted with the service. Ruth Jean Henry and Mrs. Lucille Roberts assisted the hostess in receiving guests.

Commissioner's Sale

The Commonwealth of Kentucky, Rowan Circuit Court

H. Ellington and J. W. Crosswhite Plaintiffs, Versus J. D. Johnson, et al. Defendants

NOTICE OF SALE

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Rowan Circuit Court rendered at the March term thereof 1936, in the above cause, for the sums of six hundred and fifty-eight dollars and 12 cents ($658.12) with interest at the rate of 6 per cent from November 1, 1934, and for additional sum of $200.00, with legal interest from July 1, 1932, until paid and its cost therein I shall proceed to offer for sale at this court house door in the city of Morehead, Kentucky, to the highest bidder, at public auction on the 6th day of April, 1936, at one o'clock p. m. the following upon a credit of 6, 9, 12 and 18 months, the following described property, to-wit:

The home farm of the defendant, J. D. Johnson, bounded by lands of W. M. Martin, the John Hayes farm, the Jim Hines farm, the J. Brady farm, Joe Patton, J. W. Lewis, the home tract and the Isaac Day farm. For a more particular description of which reference is made to the papers in the above styled case in the office of the Clerk of the Rowan Circuit Court and to deed book 46, page 719 of the records of Rowan county in the office of the County Court Clerk.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sum of money so ordered to be made. For the purchase price, the purchaser must execute bond with approved securities, bearing legal interest from the day of sale, until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

NELLE PROCTOR, Master Commissioner Rowan Circuit Court.

FURNISHED ROOM FOR RENT - In most desirable location in Morehead. Steam heat, bath. Apply at INDEPENDENT OFFICE

COZY

Friday-Saturday, March 20-21 WARNER OLAND

"CHARLIE CHAN'S SECRETS" 3 REELS SHORTS

Sunday-Monday, March 22-23 WILL BOGERS

"IN OLD KENTUCKY" 3 REELS SHORTS

Tuesday, March 24 - TIM MCCOY

"JUSTICE OF THE RANGE"

Episode 3, Custer's Last Stand

Wed-Thursday, March 25-26 JEAN HARLOW

"RIFFRAFF" Also AUDIOSCOPIES

College THEATRE

FRIDAY, MARCH 20th -

Richard Dix

in

"Yellow Dust"

also

Color Cartoon Rolfe's Orchestra Ride Along Duke Seeing Stars Pathe News

SUNDAY, MARCH 22nd -

Carole Lombard

in

"Love Before Breakfast"

also

Felix the Cat P's and Q's Stop, Look and Guess Skits and Sketches

NOW . . . INSURANCE

For Your Long-Term Savings.

Safety of Your Investment in Shares of This Association Fully Insured up to $5,000

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

J. M. CLAYTON, Secretary

Dancing School For Children

Classes for Children from 2 to 5 years of age each Thursday from 9 to 10 o'clock.

Classes for Children from 6 to 8 years of age each Saturday from 10 to 11 o'clock.

Featuring tap, acrobatic and ballet dancing 50c PER LESSON Special Lessons By Appointment

Jean Luzader, Instructor